MUSSOLINI DISABLED

Federzoni Rules in Italy

Acting Government Head Has Hard Job; Opposes Extreme Fascisti

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, March 3.—Another victim of Europe's feverish days of reconstruction has all but passed out of the chaotic picture. Benito Mussolini, Italy's iron Premier, and impetuous leader of the now famous Fascisti, has been seriously stricken. He is suffering from the recrudescence of an old malady and his constitution has been so gravely impaired by overwork and worry that he has been forced to hand over the helm of the Italian ship of state to his close friend, Luigi Federzoni, who is now, in fact, the Prime Minister.

The optimistic daily bulletins concerning Mussolini's health are no longer able to conceal that the Premier's malady seriously menaces his future efficiency.

The truth appears to be that about the middle of February Mussolini had an attack of influenza. This in itself might not have been serious, but his constitution had been weakened by overwork and perhaps by serious mental strain following the Matteotti murder.

OPERATION PERFORMED

It is said also that a chronic disease of long standing affected Mussolini's digestive organs to such a degree as to demand an operation, which, in spite of the weakened condition of the patient, was performed last Thursday.

It is believed that for a long time Mussolini cannot again be the man he was. Even if he formally resumes his duties he must work on one cylinder—a difficult matter for a man of his impatient temperament.

It is reported that during the most acute phase of his illness he repeatedly pounded his fists on the table and insisted that he be permitted to return to work. He had to be physically restrained from doing so.

The news will be broken carefully to the Italian people that Federzoni, who "temporarily" assumes the Premiership, seems to be the man who is destined to take the reins of government, if Mussolini permanently retires. He is one of the leaders of the Nationalist party, which is now fused with the

SEIZED BEER SALE LAID TO POLICE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 3.—James Miller and Claud De Frain are beer-runners. On the night of February 20 they were arrested as they drove into Chicago. In their especially constructed Ford coupe they were transporting 700 pints of real beer, which was confiscated by the police.

In an affidavit made to Patrick Roche of the United States special intelligence unit today, Miller and De Frain say the police turned over but thirty-five pints of the confiscated beer to the Federal authorities for evidence. The remainder, they say, was sold in baskets to prisoners in the cells and to outsiders. Four police officers, the affidavit charges, were engaged in this lucrative trade. The affidavit specifically names Thomas Dunne, detective sergeant assigned to the station, who is said to have accepted four bills of currency from one prisoner to whom he delivered a basket of beer. It was 5 per cent beer and brought the top price.

Miller and De Frain were arrested when they were negotiating with the proprietor of the Rendezvous Hotel for the sale of twenty cases of the Detroit beer. The charges they make are being investigated by three police bodies and the Federal government.

Proposed Canal for Sacramento is Held Feasible

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—C. E. Grunsky, consulting engineer, today reported to the Sacramento Deepwater Commission that a ship canal which would connect Sacramento with the Sacramento River delta near Suisun Bay, capable of accommodating ocean-going vessels, is feasible. Such a canal, Grunsky said, should be constructed with a view to caring for the largest ocean vessels with a depth of from 26 to 30 feet.

Grunsky recommended prompt action so that the canal may be available by 1930 at the earliest. The cost would range from $17,383,170 to $20,534,585, depending upon depth and width.

MITCHELL TO LOSE POST

Center in Air Controversy Not on Weeks's Eligible List; Nomination to be Made Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Brig.-Gen. William Mitchell, about whom the air power controversy has revolved for some time, will not be continued as assistant chief of the Army Air Service when his present appointment expires the 26th inst.

It was learned authoritatively today that the next assistant army air chief will be selected from a brief list of names now before Secretary Weeks and that this list does not include Gen. Mitchell, who has been an ardent advocate of unification of the government air service, despite administration opposition.

SPECIAL SESSION

It was made known today that the nomination for the place would be sent by President Coolidge to the special session of the Senate which is called for noon tomorrow and that it would conform to any recommendation Secretary Weeks might make. Failure of Gen. Mitchell to receive the appointment, which carries the rank of Brigadier-General, will return him automatically to the rank of Colonel.

The brief list now before Secretary Weeks includes eligibles recommended by Maj.-Gen. Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service; Maj.-Gen. John L. Hines, chief of staff, and others whose advice Mr. Weeks has sought in his efforts to find a man whose qualifications for the assignment cannot be questioned.

TO CONFER AGAIN

The Secretary, who discussed the appointment with President Coolidge today, will confer with the Executive again before formally submitting his recommendation to the White House. As the nomination reaches the Senate, Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, chairman of the Military Committee, to which it will be referred, is expected to seek early confirmation of the officer named.

The House Aircraft Committee, before which Gen. Mitchell gave testimony that aroused the air-power controversy, received permission from the House late today to defer a report on its investigation until the next Congress meets.

The permission was granted on condition that the committee hold no further hearings and incur no additional expenses not contingent upon the drafting of its report and the completion of its record.

ROAD BONDS ARE URGED

Minority Report Hits Gas Tax

E. E. East Says Proposed Levy on Motorists Unfair to Southland

Issue of $43,776,973 Held Equitable Method for Raising Funds

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—Recommending that a bond issue of $43,776,973 for the construction of roads of the State trunk highway system be submitted to the voters at the 1926 election in lieu of increasing the present gasoline tax, E. E. East, chief engineer of the Automobile Club of Southern California and a member of the highway committee of nine, today filed with Gov. Richardson and the Legislature a minority report of the committee's findings. The majority report, recommending an increased gasoline tax, was filed some time ago with the Governor and the Legislature.

East's report contains twenty-two typewritten pages and is a comprehensive recitation of the months of investigation made by the committee, which visited every county in the State in making a study of the highway system with a view to future expansion and financing.

East charges in his report that "the unequal distribution of highways and construction funds imposes not only an unjust burden of taxation upon the south as a whole but it imposes an unjust and never-ending obligation upon the motorists of the south in the maintenance and upkeep of the State system."

UNJUST TO SOUTH

"Under the present system and the proposed expenditures," the report says, "these motorists will be called upon to contribute some 57 per cent of the motor vehicle funds and receive in return less than 35 per cent of the expenditures upon roads which they use."

East points out that the thirteen southern counties contain 47.8 per cent of the area, 46.5 per cent of the population, 51.3 per cent of taxable wealth of the State and in 1924 registered 57.2 per cent of the State's motor vehicles.

"In the face of these facts," continues the report, "it must be apparent that it is essential to the future welfare of our State highway development that some method of distributing revenue and benefits be set up that will insure justice to all sections of the State and avoid the development of one largely at the expense of the other.

GAS TAX INCREASE HIT

"I am convinced that the only sound solution is to eliminate the local problem from State-wide financing. I cannot believe that it is to the interest of the State to usurp the prerogative of the counties in the matter of solving their own road problems and in directing their local affairs."

Referring to the proposal of the majority report that the present gasoline tax be increased, East says:

"Regarding the financing of new road construction, consideration has been given to the proposal to place this burden upon the motorists of the State. I have failed to recognize any foundation for such a radical departure in the method of highway financing and consider such arguments as have been advanced in its favor as defense of political expedience rather than sound reason."

East declares the indications are the motorists will continue to pay increasingly heavy taxes for the maintenance, repair and reconstruction of highways, adding:

"If, in addition to this already substantial obligation, motor vehicle taxes are imposed for the purpose of providing revenue to construct new roads, the time will not be far distant when the combined operating cost and taxes will seriously restrict the use of the automobile."

THREE METHODS

East contends there are three methods which may be used to raise revenue to continue State highway construction, as follows: Direct appropriation from the general fund of the State; an advalorem tax on the general property of the State, and State bonds. He favors the latter method.

"In view of the many sound arguments against a tax levied by the State on property," the report says, "the bond method appears to be the most practical means of raising money for the construction of State-wide roads. This should be limited to such roads as can justify improvement.

"The taxing of personal and real property is a proper function of the county. A mill tax for State

COOLIDGE AND DAWES TAKE VOWS OF SERVICE TODAY

President to be Sworn on Bible From Which He Was Taught at Grandmother's Knee

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—With the Sixty-eighth Congress peacefully approaching its dissolution and with the capital filling with visitors, the nation awaits the thirty-fifth inauguration of a President and Vice-President at noon tomorrow. Calvin Coolidge, thirtieth President of the United States, will take the oath for the four-year term to which he was elected last November.

Charles Gates Dawes will be inducted into the office of vice-president and will begin functioning at once as presiding officer of the Senate.

The father of President Coolidge and the mother of Mrs. Coolidge are at the White House, proud of their children and not caring who knows it, the while they wait the crowning experience of their lives tomorrow.

The President's father arrived this afternoon and was met at the railway station by Frank W. Stearns, political discoverer of the President, with the most resplendent automobile in all Washington. Col. Coolidge hoped Frank wasn't putting on all that style just for his sake.

The town is full of Governors and their staffs; of Vermonters and other New Englanders come to celebrate the induction of the first native Yankee into the Presidency since Arthur.

The President is ready for the ceremony, having completed his inaugural address a week ago. He was transacting business as usual today while throngs jammed the executive office to pay their respects and shake his hand.

ON CHILDHOOD BIBLE

Mr. Coolidge will take the oath of office on a worn little Bible, which was given him by his grandmother when he was a child. It was the Bible from which he learned to read when he was but 4 or 5 years of age. For years thereafter the little Calvin was accustomed to read to his grandparents from this Bible. He remembers particularly a long illness of his grandfather during which the youngster's reading from the Bible was the old man's solace.

The President has even placed a book mark in this old Bible to guide him to a particular page at which he wishes to open the volume when he takes the oath. The place he has marked is the first chapter of the Gospel of St. John, his favorite Bible reading. The Gospel begins thus:

"In the beginning was the word and the word was with God, and the word was God."

Mr. Coolidge spent today signing bills and tomorrow he will go to the Capitol at 10:30 a.m. to act on measures passed in the last hour of the Sixty-eighth Congress. He signed 108 bills today.

DAWES TO START WORK

A few minutes before noon Gen. Dawes will be sworn into office by Senator Cummins, President pro tempore of the Senate. Then, when Senator Cummins has pronounced the Sixty-eighth Congress adjourned sine die, Gen. Dawes will take the gavel and convene the Senate of the Sixty-ninth Congress in extraordinary session and deliver a brief address.

This and the swearing in of new Senators which will follow, will take place in the presence of President Coolidge, his Cabinet, members of the Supreme Court and Diplomatic Corps.

With the preliminaries accomplished, President Coolidge will be escorted to the east front of the Capitol where, under a Roman portico erected for the occasion, he will take the oath of office, administered by Chief Justice Taft, and deliver his inaugural address. Fifteen years ago Mr. Taft himself took the oath of the Presidential office on this spot.

After the east front ceremony, Mr. Coolidge accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, will drive back to the White House, where a little later they will review the inaugural parade.

While the finishing touches were being put to preparations for the inauguration, Congress was droning along on last minute business.

HOUSE FOR ADHERENCE

World Court is Approved

Resolution, Adopted by Vote of 301 to 28, Favors Participation

Ready to Enact Necessary Legislation; Suggests Early Action

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The House today placed itself overwhelmingly on record in favor of "early adherence" by the United States to the World Court "with the reservations recommended by President Harding and President Coolidge."

No opposition was expressed to a resolution which was brought up by Representative Burton, Ohio, Republican, and requires neither Senate nor Presidential approval. Embodying proposals by Representatives Fish, Republican, New York, and Moore, Democrat, Virginia, it was adopted under suspension of the rules, requiring a two-thirds majority first by viva voce vote, then by a rising vote, 149 to 10, and finally on a roll call 301 to 28.

In addition to expressing its "earnest desire" for adherence to the court, the resolution states the readiness of the House "to participate in the enactment of such legislation as will necessarily follow such approval."

Representative Burton, in bringing up the proposal, alluded to contentions that only the Senate had a right under the Constitution to participate in foreign affairs, declaring the House had certain rights in this respect and citing many instances in which it had similarly expressed itself.

The resolution read:

"Whereas a World Court, known as the permanent court of international justice has been established and is now functioning at The Hague; and,

"Whereas, the traditional policy of the United States has earnestly favored the avoidance of war and the settlement of international controversies by arbitration or judicial process; and,

"Whereas, this court in its organization and probable development promises a new order in which controversies between nations will be settled in an orderly way, according to principles of right and justice: Therefore, be it,

"Resoled, that the House of Representatives desires to express its cordial approval of the said court and an earnest desire that the United States give early adherence to the protocol establishing the same with the reservations recommended by President Harding and President Coolidge.

"Resolved further, that the House expresses its readiness to participate in the enactment of such legislation as will necessarily follow such approval."

California Emerges From Session With Considerable Helpful Legislation

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—California emerges from this session of Congress with considerable Federal aid in recently enacted legislation. Los Angeles is granted $6,500,000 for a greater harbor in the harbor bill.

San Diego gets $1,010,000 for a pier.

Los Angeles county gets 5000 acres of additional forest lands near San Bernardino for park purposes.

Southern California is protected better than ever in its forest area against forest fires by the new laws giving the Forest Service control of the brush and chapparal lands heretofore beyond the jurisdiction.

Memorials of the jubilee celebration of California's admittance to the Union seventy-five years ago on September 9 will take the form of a special half dollar to commemorate this event and will be coined at the San Francisco mint.

The Colorado River dam to control flood waters of that stream and protect the Imperial Valley has reached a new chapter and the next session of Congress will enact some legislation to save the valley from disaster. The Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation will inspect the proposed dam sites and report back to the Senate. This inspection will probably take place in September or October.

Congressman Fredericks secured an appropriation of $1,500,000 for the immediate construction of a fireproof hospital at the Santa Monica Soldiers' Home.

Altogether California has fared well for a short session of Congress and the new and greater harbor will be one of the greatest possible stimulants to greater world trade and commerce that has yet been established on the Coast. With the contemplated development the world trade will be developed to a degree that will dominate the Coast regardless of the phenomenal petroleum shipments of the past and mark Los Angeles as the real distribution center of the entire Southwest.

STATE ROAD BONDS URGED

district road construction could be levied in each county by the proper county authorities and the proceeds deposited in the State highway district construction fund to be used by the State Highway Commission in and for the construction of district roads."

East says the result of the committee's study and survey has convinced him that the situation presents four basic problems for solution:

The setting up of some plan whereby the burden and benefits of State highway construction and maintenance may be equitably distributed among the people of the State of California.

The setting up of standards of measurement to be used in determining whether or not a highway should be built by the State as a whole or by local or district authorities and at local or district expense.

The establishment in the minds of the people that fundamental principle of highway improvement that highways should be improved only in the degree that there is traffic to justify such improvement.

A determination upon a sound method of financing.

In keeping with these conclusions, East makes the following recommendations:

That the State be divided for the purpose of highway construction and maintenance, into two districts; one to consist of the forty-five counties, including San Francisco, lying north of the north line of San Luis Obispo, Kern, Tulare and Mono counties, and the second to consist of the thirteen counties lying south of the lines of Monterey, Kings, Fresno and Alpine counties. That the roads of the State highway system be classified into State trunk highways and State district highways.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS

That the trunk highways be selected as to form in general, three continuous north-and-south highways through the State; one along the Coast, one through the central portion and one along the east slope of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and three east-and-west highways, connecting with the Federal aid system and transcontinental highways of and leading through Nevada and Arizona; also connecting between the north and south State trunk highway extending through the San Joaquin Valley and the Yosemite and the Sequoia national parks.

That there be submitted to the voters of the State a proposal to include in the State highway system as trunk highways, certain extensions and additions to the above recommended trunk system. The length of the extension roads he lists in the report is 2933 miles, 1391 miles of which are in District No. 1 and 1851 in District No. 2.

That all roads now in the State system and not included in his recommended State trunk system be classed as State district roads, divided as primary and secondary district roads.

That the cost of construction and maintenance of the State trunk highway system be assessed against the State as a whole, and the cost of district roads be assessed against the district in which they lie.

URGES BOND ISSUE

That a bond issue be submitted to the electors in 1926, the amount of which would be determined by the State Highway Commission but estimated at $43,776,973, to be divided as follows: $24,219,621 in District No. 1 and $19,557,352 in District No. 2.

That biennial appropriations be made by the Legislature from the general fund for the purpose of maintaining convict labor camps in the construction of State district highways.

That the State Highway Commission spend annually from the motor vehicle funds such sums as are needed for maintenance and reconstructions of the trunk highways and return the remainder to the districts in proportion to the number of vehicles registered therein.

INAUGURAL TO BE BROADCAST FOR PUBLIC

Lack of a radio set will not prevent residents of Los Angeles and Southern California from listening in on the inaugural in Washington this morning of President Coolidge. Hundreds of radio sets with loud speakers in public places in the Southland will be tuned in on the national event, so that the maximum number may listen to the Chief Executive's words and hear the voices of national leaders as the President is inducted into office.

The largest individual crowds of listeners-in are expected to be at the Pasadena Rose Bowl, in Hollywoodland and in the auditoriums of high schools, colleges and universities. Business houses, churches and others have also made arrangements to pick up the ceremony and send it out on loud speakers.

Officials of the Los Angeles Coliseum last night declared there will be no program there. This announcement was a correction of previous published statements that the President's speech would be received in the Coliseum.

The first of the ceremony, picked up by direct telephone connection with Washington, D. C., will be broadcast starting at 8 a.m., Pacific time, it was announced by Walter M. Murphy, Hudson and Essex distributor, who is financing the service by paying for a full two-hour direct line phone from the national capital.

President Coolidge's inaugural address is due to be broadcast at 8:20 a.m. The program at Hollywoodland will start at that time, and will be given in the demonstration home. It will be in charge of Fred Christian of the Electric Lighting Supply Company. Those who desire to listen in are requested to be there by 8 a.m. The demonstration home may be reached by automobile following Beachwood Drive north from Franklin avenue.

COURTS DELAY OPENING FOR INAUGURAL TALK

The criminal courts will not convene till 11 a.m. today, because of the radio broadcasting of the President's inaugural address and the inaugural ceremonies at Washington, it was announced yesterday at the Hall of Records. Dist.-Atty. Keyes sent word to all members of his department that a receiving set and loud spaker will be installed in the grand jury room and that reception of the address will begin at 8 a.m.

STUDENTS TO HEAR ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT

Early morning classes will not meet today at Metropolitan College, in the Transportation Building, in order that the day students may take advantage of the courtesy of Barker Brothers, who have installed in Bovard Auditorium of the University of Southern California a special radio so that the student body of the university may hear the President's inaugural address.

houses adjourned tonight. Each house will be in session for about two hours tomorrow before the Sixty-eighth Congress comes to an end at noon but there is little remaining to be done.

Controversial legislation continued to be sidetracked at today's session.

Senator Howell of Nebraska made an unsuccessful effort to attach the McNary-Haugen farmers' export corporation bill to the naval omnibus bill in the Senate. He had the floor for several hours in a speech in behalf of the proposition, but his measure was rejected by a vote of 17 to 69.

The rejection of the McNary-Haugen bill formed the final effort to enact agricultural legislation at this session.

Senator Capper of Kansas, who was in charge of the administration co-operative marketing bill, failed to find an opportunity to obtain consideration for this measure. There will scarcely be an opportunity in the brief session tomorrow. This means that the Capper-Haugen co-operative marketing bill as substituted yesterday by the Senate committee on agriculture for the Dickinson bill passed by the House, dies on the Senate calendar.

HELPS CATTLE MEN

The House during the day passed a Senate bill providing for an apportionment of administrative expenses of the Farm Loan Board among intermediate credit banks. An amendment attached by the House to the Senate bill makes provision for one of the recommendations of the President's agricultural conference. The amendment makes it possible for privately financed agricultural credit corporations to rediscount their paper at intermediate credit banks. This is designed to encourage the formation of agricultural credit corporations to assist in cattle financing in the West. This much of the recommendations of the President's conference will be salvaged if the Senate concurs tomorrow in House amendments.

Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, who has sought to obtain the enactment of the McFadden banking bill, passed some time ago by the House, finally conceded the defeat of the measure and made no effort to call it up. It would be useless to attempt to do anything with a comprehensive measure of this sort tomorrow.

The Cranton bill, creating a prohibition bureau in the treasury, also continued to slumber. Even the section placing employees of the present prohibition unit under civil service was conceded to be dead. The Anti-Saloon League forces had hoped to save that much of the bill as passed by the House last June and as pending in the Senate.

MUSCLE SHOALS DIES

There was no mention of Muscle Shoals legislation in the Senate during the day. The second conference report on the Muscle Shoals bill has not been called up for action, and it is now too late to do anything with it.

The chief concern of the leaders today was the deficiency appropriation bill. All other appropriation bills have gone to the President. The House early today added the Elliott $150,000,000 public building bill to the deficiency bill. This action, following yesterday's action by the Senate rejecting the conference report on this bill because conferees had knocked out the Senate amendment adding $7,900,000 for the completion of postoffice projects already authorized. The Senate today would not accept the $150,000,000 public building amendment, and served notice to that effect upon the House. The House then receded from its amendment under an understanding that the Senate would recede from its $7,900,000 amendment. The Senate will take that action tomorrow, and the bill will go to the President.

GENERAL'S PIPE CAUSES FUROR

Dawes's Smoke-Piece Makes Major-domo Sick

Puffs in Hotel Dining-Room, Which Can't be Done

But Who's Going to Go Up and Tell Him?

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The nerves of the major-domo at the New Willard Hotel are at a total loss. The traditions of that famous hostelry have been torn to shreds, stuffed into an upside-down pipe and blown up in wreaths of smoke. Decorum has fled, leaving the aforementioned major-domo weak and trembling before the sonorous chants of the Hamilton Club chorus.

The cause:

Vice-President-elect Charles G. Dawes and his famous pipe.

BOTH DIFFERENT

In the early days of the budget, Gen. Dawes, assistant director of the innovation, first invaded the dining-room at the New Willard with his pipe. Previous to that a pipe had never been smoked in that historic room—at least, not longer than it took the major-domo to reach the smoker's table. But a director of the budget was something new, and so was Gen. Dawes's style of pipe. So, the major-domo found out, was Gen. Dawes himself. Both smoker and pipe remained.

But as a compromise to tradition, Gen. Dawes thereafter was given a table over on one side, near a convenient window, where the smokey rings might mingle with the great outdoors. Thus did the major-domo reclaim his equanimity, and still manage to maintain a semblance of poise.

THAT'S ANOTHER HOSS

But tonight. There sat Gen. Dawes at a table in the very center of the dining-room, puffing as hard at his pipe as if he were still balancing staggering columns of figures under the Republican plan. To ask a Director of the Budget to sit at one side is one thing, and to make a suggestion to the next Vice-President of the United States is another. Tradition check-mated tradition. The major-domo was helpless. He wilted, a broken man. His friends are wondering whether he will survive the administration.

Shoemaker Friend of the President Sends Message; Silent on Contents

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NORTHAMPTON (Mass.) March 3.—Jim Lucey, 68 years of age, shoemaker and bosom friend of President Coolidge, is not going down to Washington to attend the inaugural services.

A reporter dropped into his little cobbling shop just as Jim adjusted a run-down shoe on a last.

"No," he replied to the reporter's question, "I'm not going down to Washington. I'm not feeling so well and I'm getting along in years," he said. "Of course, if I were feeling better I should certainly make the trip. But I'm sending a message to Cal by a friend."

"No, it's just a little personal note," he answered when asked if he would disclose the contents. And filling his mouth with nails, seizing a hammer and pointing to a pile of shoes awaiting attention he indicated the interview was at an end.

PLANES USED IN NAVY MANEUVER

Act as Eye for Attacking Black Fleet

Observers Take Off from Carrier Langley

Battleship Aircraft Not Practical at Sea

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

ABOARD U.S.S. SEATTLE, March 3.—The airplane is playing its integral part in the maneuvers of the Black and Blue fleets, a force of 110 Unitde States warships engaged in the problem off the coast of Mexico in the defense of the Pacific Coast. The airplane is the eye of the attacking Black Fleet, its most valued scout, particularly so since the ears of the fleet are somewhat stopped up by reason of the radio silence on both fleets for secrecy of movement.

The Black Fleet has no submarines, but it has fourteen airplanes in its aircraft squadron aboard the second-line aircraft carrier Langley, upon which they may alight, and the tenders Aroostook and Gannett. Also it has three airplanes on each battleship, one observation plane and two fighting or pursuit planes. These fighting planes, however, are not of the bombing type, being planes intended for protection of the aerial observers against pursuit planes of an opposing force.

Black Fleet officials intimated that the battleship airplanes will not be used. They must be catapulted from the deck of the battleships, and this is quite successful, even while the battleships are under way, officers say. But when the mission of the plane is accomplished it must return to the ship. Officers say that this is not quite so feasible for maneuvering, for the hazard of wreckage of the plane while picking it up at sea is too great to warrant that possible expense in maneuvers.

The fourteen planes of the aircraft-carrier Langley, however, are usable for scouting purposes, as they can land on her deck. The airplane's mission is to fly out to scout for enemy approach and warn its own forces by radio as soon as the enemy is sighted, giving its location, strength, speed, course and other naval intelligence concerning it. It does not attack; it merely observes, officers explain.

The Blue Fleet, the defense fleet, is without aircraft squadrons, these having been dispatched in advance to the Hawaiian Islands for use in connection with the joint Army-Navy maneuvers next month. But each scout cruiser has two airplanes and it is possible that they may be brought into play owing to the different formation conditions, under which the Blue Fleet operates.

Airplanes, in addition to their intelligence mission of observation may be used for dropping chemical smoke screens. Whether this enters the battle problem remains to be seen, for it is the character of information that comes within the strict limits of secret intelligence.

PREDICTION OF RAIN FOR INAUGURAL

But Coolidge's Traditional Luck May Keep Moisture Away Until Afternoon

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Unless all his traditional luck fails him President Calvin Coolidge will be inaugurated under clear skies and a warm sun. Rain or cloudy skires is predicted for the late afternoon, but it is the fervent hope of the weather man and all concerned that Jupiter Pluvius will withhold the dampness until after the inaugural parade.

The weather forecast for inauguration day reads:

"Increasing cloudiness and warmer, probably followed by rain in the afternoon."

Anticipation of Coolidge Speech Sends Stocks Up

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Speculators for the advance made another bullish demonstration in today's stock market in expectation that President Coolidge's inaugural message tomorrow will outine a program that, so far as the financial community is concerned, will be constructive in character.

Many leading issues were bid up one to three points with a few spectacular gains over ten points, both the rail and industrial averages establishing new record highs for all time. Total sales fell slightly short of 2,000,000 shares.

ARIZONA DELAYS APPROPRIATIONS

Legislature Has But Eight Days Left for Action

New Code to be Submitted to Next Year's Session

Senate Passes on Elliott's Administrative Measure

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 3. — With only eight days left of the session, the Legislature still has not touched the general appropriation bill. In the Senate a special committee is handing out bills considered most important, especially bills that correct statute errors before recodification. This new code is to be submitted to a special session declared for next year, though there is doubt whether the Legislature has the right to instruct the Governor in such matters.

This morning the Senate passed Senator Elliott's administrative bill, through which it is declared a saving of $500,000 a year will be made in State expense. Only Colter, Davis, Donnelly and St. Charles voted against the measure, the first named on the ground that it would make the Governor a mere figurehead and the last because it would put too much power in the hands of the Governor.

NEW BOARD

The bill creates a State Board of Administration, to succeed the Loan Board directors of State institutions and State purchasing agent. The new board would include all elected State officers with a State Comptroller, who is to be appointed by the Senate. University and normal-school expenditures would be passed upon by the board. While the Governor may have power to disapprove, he can be overridden by five members. Each member shall receive $2000 a year additional salary, one method for raising the admittedly inadequate compensation of State officials. The declaration was made today that the House will pass the bill, though the Governor may have a final veto in the last days of the session.

The House has refused to reconsider the MacMillin resolution approving the Colorado River compact with reservations of the Gila River and with demand for a supplemental agreement with California and Nevada. This resolution comes before the Senate tomorrow as a special order, though at the bottom of a list of resolutions ordered this afternoon out of the Committee on Agriculture, all dealing with the Colorado River. The first of five is the St. Charles Senate resolution approving the compact as written. A couple of the anticompact legislators have written lengthy protests which have been read into the record.

PARTISAN MEASURE

The partisan bill that sought to overturn the vote of last election against the plan to elect by 51 per cent of the vote at a primary today went into the discard in the House, where it was "retained on the calendar for the next Legislature." A new election bill would make it a misdemeanor for a qualified elector to fail to register to vote. Another would call elections to fill school trustee vacancies.

The much-touted bill for erection of a State cement mill, in which convict labor would be used, has been referred back and is considered dead. Though claimed of value in securing cheap material for State roads, its proponents failed to show where the necessary $250,000 would be secured. Senator Hardy called the bill rank Socialism.

The House late this afternoon finally recommended passage of a bill discriminating against outside building and loan associations.

GOV. HUNT THINKS SIX-STATE PACT ILLEGAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Mar. 3.—Gov. Hunt of Arizona does not believe that any six-State agreement concerning the distribution of the waters of the Colorado can be legal.

In a statement issued to the Associated Press today the Governor pointed out the provision of the Constitution regarding the entering into compacts or agreements and declared that the Congressand declared that the congressional authority for the Colorado River compact included all seven Colorado River basin States and that the time expired for the negotiation of that compact on January 31, 1923.

"A compact was negotiated," he said, "but had failed to receive the approval of the State of Arizona, one of the States most vitally concerned, as it contained 42 per cent of the drainage area of the Colorado River basin and as within the borders of Arizona, will be developed 80 per cent of the power in the river below Lee's Ferry, and the necessary storage and dam sites.

"I, therefore, take it that the action of the State of Colorado and such other States as may follow her lead in adopting an amendment compact," Gov. Hunt continued, "which would be a compact between six States and the Federal government, leaving Arizona out of consideration, is a mere gesture adopted for such effect as it may have on public opinion, but without any force or effect as there is no authority in law for it, as the consent of Congress has not been obtained and so far as Arizona is concerned the result of the action of the State of Colorado is immaterial, without any effect."

SEPARATIST MOVEMENT IS GAINING

Roman Catholic Priests Fight Division in Mexico; Constitution Adopted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHIHUAHUA CITY, March 3.—Priests of the Roman Catholic church here are earnestly preaching against a division of the faith but the Separatist movement seems to gain headway, according to government officials watching the situation. Additional followers, they say, are being added to the new Separatist party headed by Father Joaquin Perez, of Mexico City, but as yet no churches have been taken over.

The constitution of the new church as promulgated in Chihuahua reads:

"That the independence of the Mexican Catholic Church from the Roman church is recognized.

"The payment of the various kinds of taxes by the Roman Catholic church.

"The celebration of all kinds of ceremonies in an humble spirit, according to the spiritual doctrines of Christ.

"The absolute acknowledgment of the apostolic (new church) delegates.

"Abolition of the celibacy of the priests.

"The construction of sanitariums for poor people.

"Spiritual life and consolation for the suffering people.

"The moralization of all the churches and priests."

All the tenets of the platform were written by Perez and his followers in Mexico City and have been forwarded to various parts of the republic, it is said.

MUSSOLINI IS ABOUT THROUGH

Fascisti, and has been Minister of the Interior since the Matteotti murder.

Generally he has succeeded in keeping Italy orderly, and he had done so in spite of great difficulties. He is credited with having much political common sense, a clear level head, a firm will and great executive ability.

Since the Matteotti affair Federzoni has been the chief agent in the Mussolini Cabinet, standing for peace and normalization against the extreme Fascisti, who publicly threatened to kill their opponents. With Mussolini's personality withdrawn from the government Federzoni doubtless would soon come to grips with Fascisti "wild men" headed by one of their most violent leaders—Farinacci, recently chosen political secretary of the Fascist party.

Farinacci is idolized by the Fascist hotheads, to whom he has promised complete "realization of the revolution" in other words, political jobs for all prominent Fascisti, permanent suppression of the rights of the opposition press and of the right of assemblage.

It appears inevitable to many observers that the rivalry between Federzoni and Farinacci will result in a bitter fight between these representatives of opposing principles—government by law and government by violence.

It is hardly to be doubted that in a battle of that character almost the entire Italian nation would support Federzoni should he courageously fight for a return to normal conditions.

Obviously the situation holds serious possibilities since Mussolini has created a system which only he can work. Still if Federzoni proves to be as strong as he now appears to be, Italy could make the transition to normality without great civil or economic disturbance.

Special Session Talk is Opposed by Longworth

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Opposition to suggestions that there should be a special session of Congress before December, was expressed today by Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, who will be speaker of the next House.

As a result of the organization caucuses held by both House Republicans and Democrats, he pointed out, it would be possible for the Ways and Means Committee, the House Appropriations Committee and any other committees charged with framing important legislation for the December session, to begin work during the recess.

COURT RULING FAVORS STOKES

Co-Defendent and Nugent to be Excluded

Judge Holds Evidence is Not Convincing

Defense Seeks to Break Down Conspiracy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, March 3.—A defense attempt to destroy the Stokes conspiracy case by eliminatnig all defendants expect W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, on the charge of conspiring to defame Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes, his estranged wife, was partly successful today.

Daniel F. Nugent of New York, Stokes's former attorney, will be excluded because the State has failed to implicate him, Judge W. N. Gemmill said. Judge Gemmill indicated he might also exclude the evidence against Hattie Johnson, negress, another defendant, but refused to eliminate Robert Lee, negro, the fourth defendant.

Had he eliminated Lee, defense attorneys maintained that the conspiracy case would have collapsed because Stokes would have been the only defendant left, and defense counsel maintains that it takes more than one to make a conspiracy. The elimination of Nugent and the expected elimination of Lee and Hattie Johnson leave only Stokes and Lee on trial. Two others who were indicted were granted severances and while they testified for the State, they refused to incriminate themselves in the alleged conspiracy. A seventh man who was indicted has never been apprehended.

Indicating that a question of procedure was involved, Judge Gemmill said he would issue the formal ruling in the case of Nugent and Mrs. Johnson tomorrow.

STATE CLOSES CASE

The State closed its case today and the motions to dismiss were made after Nugent's attorneys had pointed out that only six of the State's witnesses had referred to Nugent at all and none of them had given incriminating evidence. Judge Gemmill indicated his decision after which W. W. Smth, assistant State's Attorney, remarked:

"I respect Your Honor's courage."

"I am not concerned with whether I have courage of whether my courage is respected," Judge Gemmill retorted, scowling and striking the bench. "I'm not thinking of courage at all. I'm thinking of my duty and my duty is to protect the innocent as well as to promote the punishment of the guilty. I am satisfied that this young lawyer, Nugent, is entirely innocent. I consider it a good deal of an outrage that a man should be taken from the bar and dragged into a case of this kind upon such flimsy testimony. In fact, there is in the testimony stressed by the State as much indication of Nugent's innocence as of his guilt. It is the duty of the court in such a case to choose the interpretation of the testimony favorable to the defendant and presume him innocent."

WILL CALL STOKES

Stokes is expected to be the first witness in his own behalf tomorrow. The State rested after Mrs. Alice Smith Ewing, girlhood friend of Mrs. Stokes, had testified about pictures which, the State maintains, Stokes tried to prove were taken in the Everleigh Club. The pictures, which showed Mrs. Stokes in various poses, were taken in National Park Seminary at Forest Glen, Md., near Washington, the witness said.

Mrs. Stokes, who left the courtroom after Judge Gemmill indicated he would dismiss Nugent, expressed surprise and said she would not appear in court again.

DAMAGE TO DESTROYER SURVEYED

Twisted Bow Indicates Collision With Langley Was Terrific

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—A survey of damage done to the destroyer Robert Smith, when she and the aircraft tender Langley collided forty miles south of this port yesterday, was being made here today to determine the extent of the repairs necessary for the destroyer.

The Robert Smith came into San Diego last night and tied up in the bay at the foot of Fifth street. Her bow was badly buckled and plates twisted to a considerable degree, indicating that the impact must have been terrible. War-time orders for secrecy, due to the present sham battle maneuvers between the Atlantic and Pacific navy forces, prevented the facts of the collision from being learned.

It is probable that the Robert Smith will be sent to the Mare Island Navy Yard because of the extent of the repairs required.

REDISTRICTING HEARINGS SET

Public Discussion of Issue to Start on 11th Inst.

Assemblyman Heisinger Says His Plan Meets Favor

Would Limit Los Angeles to Eight Senate Seats

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—Public hearings on reapportionment measures before the Assembly Committee on reapportionment will be conducted on the 11th inst. when any individuals or organizations will be invited to voice their opinions, it was announced by Assemblyman S. V. Wright, San Luis Obispo, comittee chairman. No consideration of legislative redistricting measures would be taken up by the Assembly committee until after the public hearings, which the Senate committee will be invited to attend. Senator Sample, San Diego, chairman of the Senate Reapportionment Committee, stated that his committee will begin work immediately on the consideration of these bills.

The Heisinger plan, using for a basis both population and territory has been amended by the author and would now give Los Angeles not more than eight Senators and twenty-one Assemblymen, San Francisco, not more than seven Senators and eighteen assemblymen and Alameda county not more than four Senators and ten Assemblymen. The proposal would thus give control of the Senate to rural districts and Assembly control to metropolitan areas and would make more flexible the adjustment of representation in future years, the author declared. In amending the bill, Assemblyman Heisinger stated:

The introduction of nine reapportionment measures indicates a lively interest. I now have in shape a measure that seems to satisfy a majority of the Legislators. Our present law classifies the counties according to population. My plan fixes this classification in the constitution and places a limit upon the several classes. Its results will make the least possible disturbance to present condition and will fix a balance between the big cities and the rural counties. The plan is very popular with the people but to get two-thirds of both Houses to see alike is a difficult problem.

FOR SCHOOL LUNCHES

Two bills were passed by the Senate today affecting the interests of school children of the State. One, by Lewis, Los Angeles, would give school boards the right to supply at not less than cost one warm meal a day to school children and employees. A similar bill was passed last session but was not signed by the Governor.

The other measure by Senator Slater, Santa Rosa, provides for the custody, by the governing board of schools, of funds arising from school activities not conducted at public expense. The bill would not interfere with the management by students of athletic contests, Slater declared, since the organization from whom the money was received, would have to authorize disbursements from such funds.

Under the provisions of a bill by Assemblyman Spence, Oakland, passed by the Lower House today, Superior Court judges would be authorized to call one or two alternate jurors in cases when the trial is likely to be a protracted one. The measure provides that if, before the final submission of the case, a juror becomes unable to perform his duty the court may order such member to be replaced by an alternate juror. Each party would be entitled to one peremptory challenge to the alternate jurors, the bill provides.

Among other bills passed by the Assembly is one by Assemblyman Little, Los Angeles, requiring public schools to conduct appropriate exercises in observance of gold discovery day, January 24.

County government bills approved by the Lower House were those of Mariposa, Mono, Tehama and Colusa counties.

AGE PENSION APPROVED

The Senate Committee on Public Charities and Corrections today recommended for passage Senator Murphy's bill providing for the creation of an old-age pension commission and an appropriation of $25,000 to be used in pensioning the aged. Persons over 70 years of age, unable to care for themselves and who have been residents of the State for fourteen years, would be entitled to benefits of the proposed measure under specified qualifications. In no case would the pension exceed $1 per day.

Assemblyman Edgar C. Levey, San Francisco, today introduced a bill to be known as the uniform arbitration law, which provides that all litigation involving contracts be decided by three arbitrators to be chosen by the two parties upon the order of a trial judge. The report of the arbitrators would constitute a full and conclusive decision.

The proposed law is sponsored by the American Bar Association and the motion-picture organization of which Will Hays is the head, Levey stated, and has proved successful in New York and New Jersey in avoiding extensive litigation.

OPERATION WILL AIM TO RESTORE MEMORY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—An operation will be performed today on Nils Fischer, 22 years of age, son of one of Sweden's wealthiest men, in an effort to restore the memory that left him last December. After wandering for weeks while police of many cities sought him, he recalled who he was when he saw his picture in a circular in the Bowery Y.M.C.A. last Saturday. Nearly $100,000 had been spent in search for him.

COURT CROWDED IN OWENS TRIAL

Toledo Society Woman Who Seeks Divorce Nervous

Millionaire Husband Laughs Aloud Over Testimony

Administrator Gives Estate Value as $1,779,428

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOLEDO (O.) March 3.—The Court of Domestic Relations was packed to capacity on Tuesday, the second day of trial of Mrs. Florence Whalen Owens's divorce suit against John Raymond Owens, millionaire club man.

Mrs. Owens, prominent in Toledo society, was plainly clad and held a rose-colored handkerchief to her face through most of the trial. She was extremely nervous.

Owens seemed to enjoy the experience. During the reading of his testimony in a deposition taken in another case at Los Angeles recently, Owens laughed with the spectators at some of the questions and the answers read.

When Attorney Frazier told of asking Owens if "he were the horrible example" in a prohibition motion-picture play that was being produced and on which he was working as assistant director, Owens's laugh rose above the spectators' chuckles.

OWENS FUSSED

He seemed considerably fussed when he was quoted in the deposition as giving his wife's age at 30.

"I never said she was 30 years old," he whispered to his attorney, Ed Lynch.

The first witness called Tuesday was John H. McNerney, of the administrators of the Owens estate. McNerney testified for more than two hours on Monday afternoon.

He said the Owens estate was valued at $1,779,428. The Owens home at 2345 Collingwood avenue is valued at $65,000, he declared.

McNerney was questioned closely by W. W. Campbell, Mrs. Owens's attorney, regarding every block of stock, each investment, all promissory notes, bonds and interests in concerns. McNerney was asked their, present-day valuation and the possible future earning power of the various items.

CHARACTER WITNESS

Mrs. Nellie Huber, the first character witness called by Mrs. Owens's attorneys, testified just before court adjourned at noon. She said she saw Mrs. Owens on the average of four times a week and that she never saw her with any men.

"Florence Whalen Owens is a wonderful mother to her little girl," Mrs. Huber said. "She gives the child wonderful care physically, mentally and morally. She has never neglected her baby. The baby adores her mother. Florence is a wonderful woman. I consider her as my own child. The baby is being raised in an ideal home."

Upon cross-examination Mrs. Huber said she had never seen Mrs. Owens with men named Gardella or Gasser. She said she did not know either of the men.

Mrs. George Steger, Mrs. Robert Sanford, Mrs. George Fisher, Mrs. L. W. Greiner, Mrs. John Fluhrer, Toledo society women, all testified as character witnesses for Mrs. Owens.

At the conclusion of character witnesses's testimony, Attorney Frazier states, Mrs. Owens will take the stand and tell her own story.

DAVIS PUTS HIGH COURT IN UPROAR

Even Justices Laugh at Remark on Ceremonies of Inauguration

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—John W. Davis took up in the Supreme Court today the practice of law he dropped last summer when he became the Democratic Presidential candidate.

Appearing as counsel for the Cement Manufacturers' Protective Association, he declared the government's charges squarely brought to issue the question how far manufacturers or producers could go through an association, in the exchange of trade information.

After proceeding briefly with his argument, he remarked that it would be cut in half by the court's adjournment.

Chief Justice Taft, himself a former President, pointed out to the recent candidate that the court would not hear argument tomorrow.

Mr. Davis, alluding to President Coolidge's inauguration, recalled that, of course, this would not be possible, because of certain "ceremonies tomorrow in which I shall not be called upon to participate."

The justices joined the spectators in the crowded courtroom in the laughter that followed until the serious marshal restored the usual decorum by vigorous rapping of his gavel.

MISSION BODY GETS RIGHT TO FILE BRIEF

The law would compel children between 8 and 16 years of age to attend public schools.

House Committee Says Funds Were Diverted

Recommends Investigation by Grand Jury

Disabled Soldiers' League Chiefs Scored

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The special committee which investigated the National Disabled Soldiers' League reported to the House today it was of the opinion that part of the funds raised by the organization had been diverted to improper uses and personal gain.

It was recommended that the Department of Justice be asked to present facts developed by the investigation to a Federal grand jury.

"The committee agrees," the report said, "that the league has not kept faith with the public in fulfilling the statements which it made in circulating its appeals for funds."

FUNDS SHORT

The report said uncontradicted testimony before the committee was that the proportion of cash contributed in the various pencil campaigns of the organization ranged from 25 to 30 per cent of the full amount received, but the bank deposits of the league disclosed less than 10 per cent cash deposited.

"The committee is of the opinion," the report continued, "that the small amount of cash reported as received from these campaigns would indicate that either the officers or the employees of the league misappropriated a part of these funds and failed to account for them."

So far as the committee could learn, the report said, "the entire management and control of the league is in the hands of Commander John T. Nolan; the treasurer, James F. McCann, and the adjutant, Kenneth D. Murphy.

NO ACTIVE MEMBERS

"The committee was unable to ascertain," the report continued, "the bona fide membership of the organization, and it is questionable whether there are any active members except the three above named officials and a small coterie depending upon them."

The report said it had never been proven "to the satisfaction of the committee" that the national adjutant, Kenneth D. Murphy, was in the "armed forces of the United States during any war."

ASKS PLACE FOR INSANE CRIMINALS

Academy's Plea Calls for Southland State Hospital on Island

A State hospital for the criminal insane, to be located in Southern California, preferably on an island, is advocated in a resolution which the Southern California Academy of Criminology adopted at its meeting in Science Hall, University of California, Southern Branch, last night.

Another resolution adopted by the body proposes the building of a southern branch of the State penitentiary in order to reduce prisoner transportation cost and hazard. W. G. Thorpe introduced both resolutions.

Fred C. Nelles, superintendent of the State school at Whittier, said the child welfare committee of the academy is preparing a report that will urge the building of a home in Los Angeles where children that are not delinquents, but who are under police or court care, can be cared for instead of, as now, being placed in Juvenile Hall, in company with delinquent children.

Narcotic laws were criticized by Capt. Clyde I. Plummer of Lincoln Heights Police Station, who said elimination of restrictions on the sale and handling of narcotics would result in reduction of the number of addicts and of the crimes that are committed by persons crazed by lack of drugs. His views were indorsed by Dr. Edward Huntington Williams.

Some of the executives in the Los Angeles Police Department show up better in intelligence tests than do many college men and executives in many other cities' police departments, Dr. E. B. Sullivan of the university faculty told the academy. She said that on the other hand some of the lowest results from the tests were found in the department.

Policemen in the city department, Jack Finlinson, superintendent of the city's police training school, said, are thoroughly instructed in the laws they are to enforce, in the manner of enforcement and courteous conduct.

SENATE THROWS OUT FARM BILL

Modified McNary-Haugen Grain Rider Rejected

Measure Was Not in Line With Administration Plan

Vote Decisive Against Export Corporation Scheme

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The modified McNary-Haugen bill to create a grain export corporation was rejected today by the Senate.

By a vote of 69-to-17 the bill was turned down as an amendment to the naval omnibus bill offered by Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska.

The measure is the first major farm bill voted on by the Senate at this session. It was not in line with the recommendations of President Coolidge's agricultural conference. A bill to carry out these recommendations offered by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, and approved by the Agriculture Committee, remains on the calendar with leaders holding out practically no hope for action.

Those who voted for the McNary-Haugen rider were:

Republicans: Brookhart, Capper, Frazier, Gooding, Howell, Johnson, of California, Ladd, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Sterling and Willis. Total, 12. Democrats: Ashurst, Copeland and Wheeler. Total 3. Farmer-Labor: Shipstead and Johnson of Minnesota. Total 2. Grand total 17.

FIREMEN IN STRIKE VOTE ON SANTA FE

Los Angeles Division Only Affected; Wage Increase Sought

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 3. One hundred and forty-five railroad firemen, members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of the Los Angeles division of the Santa Fe lines, voted on secret ballots here tonight on the proposition of calling a strike on the division in case the Santa Fe refuses to grant a 5 per cent increase in pay and to withdraw its demand for the abolition of the two-day rule between San Bernardino and Barstow. Although the ballot was secret, officers of the organization said they expected the men to vote 100 per cent in support of the demands. The result of the balloting will be known Friday.

It was also reported that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the same division was taking a similar vote.

It was explained that the two-day rule for crews running between Barstow and San Bernardino meant that at present the firemen receive two days' pay for the round trip, regardless of the time taken up by the run. The railroad, however, seeks to abolish this arrangement and substitute for it what is known as a continuous service basis, allowing the men pay for 162 miles of travel, which would amount to a wage cut of $3 a day. The firemen contend that the 5 per cent increase in salary sought by them is the same that was recently granted by the railroad of labor board to men on the Southern Pacific and other transcontinental lines.

TRAINMEN IN STRIKE VOTE ON SANTA FE

Five Per Cent Increase as Granted by Labor Board is Men's Demand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Brotherhood engineers and firemen employed on the Santa Fe Railroad are taking a secret strike vote, it was disclosed today. The men concerned are those employed on the lines west of Albuquerque and include California.

The vote is directly on the question of a strike to enforce the trainmen's demands for a 5 per cent wage increase granted to them last year by the Railroad Labor Board, and which the men demand shall be put into effect immediately.

The strike vote is an advisory one. The chiefs of the brotherhoods are now negotiating with the higher officials of the Santa Fe at headquarters in Chicago looking to an amicable settlement of the details of the wage increase. If the negotiations fail, the strike will come if the brotherhood chiefs believe they can obtain the wage increase in no other way.

Last winter the same method was followed in negotiations with the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific systems.

More than 1100 men are affected.

OLSON ACCUSES W. D. SHEPHERD

Says He is to Blame for McClintock's Death

Inquest is Continued to the 23rd Inst.

Judge Scores Prosecution for the Delay

BY J. P. GALLAGHER

"Times" Staff Correspondent

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 3.—Defeated in an attempt to close the inquest into the death of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan of Kenilworth, Judge Harry Olson, who calls himself "counsel for the dead," today in an impassioned speech directly charged William D. Shepherd of having caused his ward's death and announced he will go before the State Attorney-General to ask his intercession.

In his dramatic outburst, which failed to prevent Charles Kennedy, deputy coroner, from2continuing the inquest until the 23rd inst., the judge charged that two assistant State's attorneys had endeavored to have the inquest stopped with a verdict saying the death of the young millionaire was from natural causes, coupled with an apology to Shepherd, the boy's guardian and his principal heir, for exhuming the body.

Judge Olson later asked Assistant State's Attorney John Sbarbaro to present the matter immediately to the grand jury. The prosecutor refused, declaring he wanted to make an independent investigation.

Judge Olson's objection to the adjournment brought the first direct charge against Shepherd.

"Mr. Hedrick has had an abundance of time to disclose what they know about the death of McClintock," Judge Olson said. He emphasized his remarks by banging the desk, pleading with the Coroner, then turning savagely upon Shepherd.

ATTACKS SHEPHERD

"Mrs. Shepherd was the guardian of the boy until he became of age. He was in their custody and they surrounded him during his dying days. The Shepherds know more about what happened at that time than we can hope to get.

"Shepherd hired a number of household hags in preparation for getting rid of the boy.

"We are able to get only a glimpse of what happened, for the servants are his servants. We got a glimpse from the testimony of Louis Kies, the chauffeur.

"On three different occasions Shepherd gave indirect confessions of guilt—this is the moral evidence. Shepherd quoted Billy as telling him he was coming down with typhoid fever before the doctors even knew what it was and then Shepherd said: 'Yes, Billy will probably be able to tell us where it was that he was exposed to it.'

"This is borne out in the statements of witnesses, two of whom have appeared before you. Shepherd's knowledge of typhoid ten days before Billy died is guilty knowledge. It is an indirect confession of guilt.

"Here we have a three-pronged hook. He was not caught in the mouth. He was not caught in the gills. It fastened in the vitals of him. He opened his mouth so wide that he was caught by that line and he will never get off that three-pronged hook alive.

"That is the evidence against William D. Shepherd, the highest evidence known to law.

"Counsel wants a continuance. He wants to go to Cedar Rapids and St. Paul. He can go to the end of the earth but these three prongs will hold him fast unless some secret subtle force loosens their hold."

The continuance was granted on the advice of Assistant State's Attorney Meneely, following a petition by Attorney Hedrick, representing Shepherd. When Deputy Coroner Charles Kennedy announced that he would grant a twenty-day delay on this advice, Judge Olson was on his feet in an instant.

MISS ISABEL POPE HERE, SHUNS PUBLICITY

Miss Isabel Pope, fiancee of the late William B. McClintock, millionaire orphan of Chicago, is in Los Angeles resting from the strain to which she has been subjected in the sensational investigation that followed the death of her intended husband, it was disclosed yesterday.

Her whereabouts after she disappeared from Chicago during the second inquiry into the youth's death was a mystery. She came to Los Angeles with an aunt and is remaining in seclusion.

Contrary to reports that she is on the verge of a nervous collapse, relatives stated yesterday she is in good health and is merely shunning publicity because of weariness caused by the almost continual court sessions that have marked the investigation into McClintock's death, supposedly from typhoid fever.

FINE MARK IS MADE BY GUARD UNIT

Col. W. P. Story, regimental commander, conducted the regimental review and presided at the officers' dinner school, which was addressed by Col. Kelly.

The regiment is composed of nearly 1200 men.

Official adoption of the regiment as Los Angeles' own will take place the 17th inst., at Pershing Square.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) March 3. Government Hill yielded one of the largest tarantulas ever found in or near San Antonio. The insect's trunk was nearly three inches long, and its leg spread was more than seven inches. Mexicans grubbing stumps for Fred Green found the tarantula in its den. Green is sending it to Prof. John K. Stricker of Baylor University for examination.

WRAY, ILL, MAY QUIT FILM POST

Manager for Universal Has Occupied Position Only Three Weeks

Illness, it was stated last night, may necessitate John Griffith Wray, general manager of the Universal Pictures Corporation, to resign his post, which he has held only three weeks.

A persistent attack of influenza that has kept him absent a great deal of the time since he took charge of the Universal City organization and which his physicians declare may incapacitate him for several weeks, Wray admitted last night, might cause him to hand in his resignation. Further developments in his physical condition, he stated, would perhaps dictate his course.

Formerly a director under Thomas H. Ince, Wray assumed his new duties three weeks ago, and high hopes had been expressed for the future by both himself and Carl Laemmle, head of the Universal Pictures Corporation.

JAKE SCHAEFER REGAINS BILLIARD TITLE

CUE WIZARD VANQUISHES WILLIE HOPPE IN FINAL

Retiring World Champion Defeated by Score of 400 to 173 in International Tourney

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE].

CHICAGO, March 3.—Young Jake Schaefer, son of the wizard of the cue, of the same name, for the second wrested the 18.2 balk-line billiard world's championship from Willie Hoppe, who has held it for seventeen years for a few months when he beat the retiring champion, to 173, in eight innings in the closing match of the eleventh ternational 18.2 balk-line billiard championship tournament tonight. Schaefer ran out with 296.

Schaefer

Schaefer's record showed five victories and no defeats. had lost the championship before he entered tonight's match as he was eliminated yesterday when defeated by Edouard Horemans—the Belgian, who landed in second place today by defeating Erich Hagenlacher, the German champion, 400 to 254 in eight innings. To Schaefer goes the lion's share of the of the tournament because world's records he set in to winning the world's in a match against Hagenlacher he ran 400 from spot.

HITS STRIDE

Tonight he hit his stride in the inning with a high run of 296 equaled in brilliance of performance his work in any of his games.

In his early innings Schaefer was stroke and the speed on was not good, but in his innings he made more long many of them by choice, he did in any previous per

A few minutes after the match Hoppe was found wandering about the deserted

"Schaefer beat me and I deserved it," was his comment. "I had plenty of chances to win if I had only been in stroke."

To the winner goes $3000 in cash and the diamond medal emblematic of the championship. To Horemans winner of the second place goes $1500; to Hagenlacher, third, $1000; to Hoppe $750 and to Welker Cochran, winner of the fourth position goes $250. Kamekichi Suzuki who lost all his games, does not figure in the prize money. The scorings:

Hoppe—0, 84, 0, 5, 28, 26, 20; total, 173; innings, 7; averages, 24 5-7.

HOREMANS CONFIDENT

Horemans appeared supremely confident and did not seem at all worried by the high runs with which Hagenlacher started. Winning the bank, Hagenlacher ran 123 from spot, starting his run at the head rail and staying there until he had passed 80. Then he got going at the foot rail. The German left the ivories well gathered and Horemans started a session of close nursing and did not stop until he reached 144.

During one period he clicked off 100 billiards without making a table-length shot and finally missed a three-cushion shot. Hagenlacher made three runs of 40 or better in four times to the table, but Horemans came back with 122 for his second run and with 35 in his fourth after 18 in the third, led 319 to 204 in four innings. The Belgian maintained the lead from this point and in the last few in-

ANGELS HAVE GREAT STAFF

With Wright in Fold, Krug Will Have Good Hurler Every Day in Week; Horan Works Out

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Now that Wayne Wright has wired Los Angeles officials that he will report, Manager Marty Krug and Business Manager Oscar Reichow are more than willing to announce to the tax-burdened public that the Angels will have the best pitching staff in the loop this season.

"With Wright in line," says Reichow," we'll have a good pitcher for every day in the week. There'll be Payne, Crandall, Glazner, Myers, Ramsey, Hughes and Milstead. There is also a possibility that Bill Killefer might think Charley Root needs another year of seasoning and send him back to us. If Root should come back Krug will be something like the old lady that lived in the shoe, only he'll have so many pitchers that he won't know what to do."

Glazner is scheduled to drop in most any day now and should be working out before the week is over.

HORAN ARRIVES

Joe Horan, the outfielder purchased from the Yankees, joined the Seraph squad yesterday and impressed the large crowd of onlookers with his basball mannerisms. Horan takes a healthy poke at the ball and he is big enough, tipping the beam around the 185-pound mark, to get some power into his wallops.

The Seraphs have their second practice game scheduled for today, meeting the Mack Truck semipro outfit. The Truck team has a good semipro record, but should prove easy for the Angel tossers.

Tomorrow Marty Krug will send his squad against one of the fleet

ENGLISH RUNNERS INVITED

Four British Stars May Show in National A.A.U. Meet on Coast

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—An invitation was extended today by the Amateur Athletic Union on behalf of the Olympic Club of San Francisco to four of Great Britain's leading track athletes to partake in the American track and field championships at San Francisco, July 2, 3 and 4. This invitation was forwarded after a conference here between William Humphrey, president of the Olympic Club and Frederick W. Rubien, secretary of the A.A.U.

The athletes invited to come to the United States are:

Harold Abrams, who defeated the world's best sprinters at the Olympic Games in Paris last summer in the 100-meter championship; Eric Liddell, winner of the Olympic 400-meter championship; Douglas Lowe, Olympic 800-meter champion, and G. H. B. Stallard who ran second to Paavo Nurmi in the Olympic 1500-meter championship in which Nurmi established an Olympic record.

UNUSUAL FISTIC DUEL IN OFFING

Welter Champion Boxer May Face Heavyweight

Would Don Mittens With 215-Pound Fighter

Titleholder Refuses to Take Orders from Duffy

BY PAUL LOWRY

Proving that size, up or down, sideways or broadside, means nothing to him Mickey Walker yesterday burst forth with the rather startling announcement that he would like to meet Tony Fuente if the hot tamale champion makes a good showing against Eddie Huffman, the fighting sailor, at Doyle's next Tuesday.

Fuente weights 215 pounds stripped for action. Walker scales 147 pounds. The disparity is striking in other physical proportions—such as height, reach, biceps, etc. But all the apparent disadvantages cut no ice with Walker. The welter king has watched Fuente work in the gymnasium, and confident in his own ability as a socker, he is willing to match pokes with the Mexican who licked Fred Fulton, the falling plasterer, with three atmospheric swipes.

NO COUNTERPART

If the match is made, and it is as far as Walker is concerned, it will go down in history almost without a counterpart. The closest approach to such an odd contest, was the bout between Stanley Ketchell, when he wa smiddleweight champion, and Jack Johnson.

Ketchell weighed around 160 pounds and Johnson 220 when they tangled. There was a difference of 60 pounds. Ketchell hit the floor for keeps at the end of the twelfth round.

Against Fuente the welter king would be outweighed almost 70 pounds. But he has just as courageous heart as Ketchell, he can sock just as hard, and his proposed opponent hasn't got the class Johnson had by a long shot.

WALKER UP IN ARMS

It doesn't look like a half-bad match after you think it over, and it would certainly interest a lot of people. The pros and the cons would have a hectic time before such a scrap. Of course, everything hinges on Fuente's showing

McLARNIN AND SILVA TO TANGLE

Clever Scrappers Clash in Ten-Round Vernon Go on the 17th Inst.

Jimmy McLarnin, the young Vancouver scrapper whose three fights with Fidel La Barba provided local fight bugs with much food for thought and talk, and Teddy Silva, one of the best little bantams on the Pacific Coast, have been matched to box the ten-round main event of Jack Doyle's program on the evening of St. Patrick's Day at Vernon.

Silva agreed to the match, even though he will have to give away a lot of weight to the little Irishman. After the last La Barba battle, McLarnin announced that it was his last fight as a bantie, for he had had trouble making 118 pounds. Jimmy will do 126 for Silva.

McLarnin has met practically all of the best bantams of the Coast except Silva, and Teddy's manager, Jack Levy, claims that the clever Irishman has been side-stepping his boy.

McLarnin is one of the favorites at the Vernon arena, where he has fought most of the battles which brought him into prominence. Jimmy is rated as one of the cleverest boxers since the days of Abe Attell, although he is still in his teens.

DODE BERCOT UPSETS DOPE BY WINNING OVER BARRETT

Seattle Welterweight Knocked Down in Seventh Round, but Overcomes Lead by Wonderful Rally in Finale at Vernon Arena

Dode Bercot proved himself to be as game as they make 'em last night at Vernon when he stepped out and took a decision over Bobby Barrett, hard-hitting Philadelphia fighter, after ten rounds of furious scrapping. Bercot took all of Barrett's hardest punches and still had enough left to come back in the last two rounds and land sufficient punches to outscore the much-touted Quaker City battler.

Barrett scored the only knockdown in the seventh round; a short right to the chin coming out of a clinch made Bercot woozy and another hard right-hander to the head sent Dode down for the count of nine. Dode was tired, but managed to weather the round and then struggle through the eighth.

COMES BACK STRONG

Bercot came back in the ninth and landed enough straight rights and left crosses to earn a margin for the round. Barrett was waiting for an opening to put over his famous right and finish the struggle, but Dode was too wise to give the Philadelphian a chance to land his crusher. Then came the tenth and Bercot's great rally which clinched the verdict for him. Dode fought like a tiger and near the close of the stanza landed ten straight blows to Barrett's head without a return. He easily put over enough punches to overcome the lead Barrett had gathered by the seventh-round knockdown.

Bercot's victory made it a great night for Lonnie Austin, who also manages Bud Bercot and Roy Cliffe, winners in preliminary bouts.

The first round was fairly tame, Bercot winning a slight edge. Barrett spent most of the time stepping around and feeling Dode out, but in the meantime the Seattle scrapper was scoring with right jabs. Bercot also won the second stanza, landing a straight right and following with a left cross that rocked Bobby's head. Bercot put over a hard right just before the bell.

TIMING IS POOR

Barrett came out of his corner looking as if he were going to attempt to put Bercot away at the start of the third, but he was unable to time his blows and did little damage. Bercot continued to outscore the Philadelphian by landing frequent right jabs and an occasional left cross. Dode got a cut over his right eye just before the round closed, but it was from a butt by Barrett's head in a clinch. Bercot also took a shade in the fourth, landing lefts and rights, while Bobby was missing wild swings.

Barrett came to life in the fifth, which he won easily. Bobby started things by landing a long left and right that staggered Bercot. Bercot began to tire and took a right smash to the temple before the round ended. Barrett opened the cut over Dode's eye and the blood bothered the northerner's fighting. Barrett also nabbed the sixth, landing hard rights and lefts to the head and also sinking a right in Bercot's stomach that made Dode sick. Barrett won some cheers when, in a clinch, he reached up with his glove and wiped the blood off Bercot's cut eye.

Joe Ryder and Bill Hart, a pair of willing bantams, fought six furious rounds to a draw in the semi-wind-up, which had the fans on their feet most of the way. Ryder had a slight advantage when the sixth stanza opened, but Hart staged a hurricane finish and earned an even break. The pair started trading wallops in the opening round and kept it up all the way through. Both scrappers played for the body and were successful in landing most of their punches.

In the third scrap of the evening Roy Cliffe, a heavyweight from the Northwest, turned the tables on Harry Lee, who beat him about five or six weeks ago, by getting a technical knockout over the local heavy in the third round. Up until the third the scrap was even. In the final stanza Cliffe got Lee in a corner and then put over a terrific right to Harry's chin. Lee dropped like a young bride's biscuit, but arose at the count of four with a goofy gaze in his eyes that looked like an advertisement for Patton. Cliffe mauled Lee around the ring and Harry was hanging over the ropes like Monday's washing when the referee halted the proceedings by raising Cliffe's mitt.

Bud Bercot defeated Jimmy Powell after four rounds of milling in the second bout on the card. Bercot, brother of Dode, gained his margin of victory in

NEW YORK LEGISLATORS MAY GIVE BOXING JUDGES THE AIR

The bill wipes out the provision calling for the naming of two judges to officiate with a referee at all bouts.

Dynamiter Wins Quarter and Half in Fast Time

Jimmy Coyne Puts Shot Out Fifty-two Feet

Grabbing off a goodly quantity of firsts, some seconds and thirds, Glendale High's track and field performers took first honors in a triangular meet staged yesterday afternoon on Occidental College's field, making 62½ points to 30 for the Occidental freshmen and 14 for Franklin High.

Maydwell of the Glendale team proved to be the star of the meet making ten points by winning the 880-yard run and the 440, while Milt Nash of the Tiger Babes ran him a close second with nine digits to his credit. The Dynamiter was pressed rather closely in the 880 by Goodhart of the Yearling crew, whom he beat out at the finish. In the 440, however, he outdistanced all opposition with ease to win the event in the fast time of 51 8-10s.

Young Jimmy Coyne of the Freshmen put up the star performance of the afternoon when he heaved the twelve-pound shot out fifty-two feet.

Milt Nash of the peagreeners and Purdy of Glendale put on a thrilling exhibition in the 220-yard dash, the former barely nosing out the Black and Red runner at the tape. The summary:

880-yard dash—Maydwell (G.) first, Goodhart (O.F.) second, McClellan (F.) third. Time, 2m. 5 1-10s.

100-yard dash—Wykof (G.) first, Nash (O.F.) second, Slocum (F.) third. Time, 10 3-10s.

VENICE MERMEN IN BAY CITY MEET

Venice Plunge Swimming Association will be well represented in the senior national diving and swimming championships, to be conducted in San Francisco in April.

Wallace O'Connor, Olympic champion, Phillip Daubenspeck, a natator of proven prowess in these parts, and Harold Bandy, Pacific Coast outdoor springboard diving champion, will be the entries from the Canal City, announces Coach Elmer Orr.

THE OLD RELIABLE

Leo Harnett, catcher for the Chicago Cubs, rated as one of the most dependable backstops in the business, is getting into shape for the 1925 season at Avalon. He ranked seventh among National League hitters last season, and will resume his place behind the bat when the Cubs open the schedule next month.

Perkins Selected to Substitute for Van in Bout Against Sailor Snyder Tonight

With Charlie Van, Chicago heavyweight, shunted into the background suddenly as a result of an attack of flu, Matchmaker Moffett of the Wilmington Athletic Club will send Harry Perkins in to pinch hit for Van tonight against Sailor Ted Snyder. Van is on the shelf for at least a week on orders from his physician.

Perkins is the 180-pounder who fought a draw against Nick Newman at Hollywood last week. Many ringsiders credited him with shading Newman. Perkins won from Hughey Walker three times, defeated George Manley and Jack McAllister, and holds a flock of wins over other good boys. Perkins has been working out at the Newsboys' Club in Los Angeles and the railbirds say he'll give Snyder as stiff an argument as would Van.

Otto Floto, veteran sports writer, recently picked Perkins as light heavyweight champion of the Rocky Mountain district. He is highly regarded around Colorado and Wyoming where he has fought most of his bouts. The Hollywood engagement last week was his first start in the Southland and he'll be thoroughly acclimated when he faces the navy headliner at the Wilmington Bowl. The pair will step eight rounds or less in the main event.

K. O. Eddie Brown of Long Beach and Bert Tribby of Los Angeles will mix in the six-round semi-wind-up at 153 pounds. Jack Spencer of Venice and Ruby Lavine of Los Angeles are paired in the special event at 128 pounds. Bud Cougler of Long Beach meets Frankie Quigley in a four-rounder, and Dave Mustafo and Babe Orton will open the show.

STRANGERS MINGLE AT HOLLYWOOD

Newcomers in Welterweight Circles to Mix in Feature Bout Friday Night

Every so often it becomes necessary to introduce new faces into the fight racket. The cash customers who keep the sport alive by their weekly contributions demand new performers, and it is up to promoters and matchmakers to get them.

Tom Kennedy has two new welterweights fighting the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night. Jack Rappaport is one and Pete Latzo the other. These boys are very fast and clever. They also possess a sock, and it is the socker who is making the game today.

If Jim Corbett, Abe Attell, Johnny Kilbane and some of the other former champs were performing today, they would have a hard time pleasing the present day boxing fans.

Since Jack Dempsey busted Jess Willard on the beezer at Toledo, the game has changed all around. The socker came into his own with Dempsey at Toledo. He will continue to reign as long as the champion of all champs is Jack Dempsey.

Pete Latzo is of the socker type. He got his early training as a fighter in the mines of Pennsylvania. It was while a breaker boy in the coal mines that he had to fight.

Jack Rappaport is going to make a hit with the Hollywood fans. He is a classy performer with lots of color. He recently fought Bobby Barrett in the East, and he made Barrett look so bad that the fight was one-sided for seven rounds, being all Rappaport. Then it was that Rappaport got careless and Barrett took one of those "Mary Anns" from nowhere that landed on Rappaport's chin and the battle was over.

If Bobby Barrett is looking for fights he can have one with Jack Rappaport any old time, and Rappaport will guarantee to win or he doesn't want a dime for his services. Barrett is being boosted into a match with Jummy Duffy and Mickey Walker. He will be challenged by Jack Rappaport and Pete Latzo, as both of the main eventers at Hollywood Friday night would like to meet Barrett and then Walker.

BRILLIANT LIST OF MERMEN ENTER MEET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CORVALLIS, March 3.—Swimmers from all parts of Oregon will participate in the Amateur Athletic Union's swimming and diving championship meet at the Oregon Agricultural College Saturday night. Both men and women are entered. The events will be held in the big natatorium. Independent entries have been received from University of Oregon, Multnomah Club and the colleges.

SPORT-CASTS

by Walter Camp

The ball player who fans with two on in the ninth may be a yellow dog, but it isn't a bad idea to figure from time to time your own average as a pinch hitter.

Just how much do the athletic officials and track fans expect of Paavo Nurmi? This question is asked because there has been some criticism of Nurmi's insistence in choosing the distances he wished to run and where and when he wishes to run them.

WALTER CAMP

According to these grandstand critics the Finn really owes his great reputation to the officials and the public who take care of the financial support of the game.

Nurmi owes his reputation to plodding hours spent on the Finnish roads. He owes nothing to any track official or spectator except the best he has whenever he runs, and he is always a fine enough artist of sport to offer that at all times. He has been more than generous in the arrangement of his American schedule.

His visit here has resulted in the greatest indoor track season in history. It may be the inspiration that is needed to produce American distance runners who will equal the achievements of American sprinters.

Nurmi knows that if he doesn't burn himself out he will some day lower by full seconds the world's marks he now holds for the indoor and outdoor mile.

Just why then shouldn't he be allowed, in track meets which do not involve national championships, to run as he pleases and under conditions that are to his liking?

Any American youngster who may now be skimming over country roads or city pavements with the idea that he will some day duplicate the achievements of Nurmi ought not to forget that a Nurmi isn't built in a day. Distance running managed as Nurmi has managed his running campaign since his boyhood days is one of the finest of all builders of general health and stamina.

The danger to the youngsters who may have been inspired by Nurmi is that they will try to reach world-record speed in too great a hurry; that they will not take time enough to develop heart and lungs to the point where they can, without strain, take up the burden of world-record achievements.

It is a common fault with the enthusiastic youngster and the man who suddenly determines on a routine of physical exercise to try too hard at the start. The youngster hasn't the stamina to stand the strain of heavy physical effort.

"You want to get into good condition again, eh? All right, I'll put you there, but I'll warn you it's going to hurt for a while. I'm going to make you use some muscles you didn't know you had."

That speech, as delivered by a gymnasium director, is familiar to many a business man who has suddenly decided to rebuild a rundown body. No plan of exercise could be more harmful than one which so strains a man past 30 that muscles ache and call on energy to throw off the poison of fatigue.

Any cruising germ has its work made just that much easier when energy is used up in this manner. What these men need most in the beginning is stretching and gradual lengthening of the trunk muscles and plenty of fresh air. They never need any exercise so violent as to make them want to drop from sheer exhaustion.

Another point the youthful imitators of Nurmi should consider is that much of Nurmi's power is due to the perfect corset of trunk muscles which he has developed through years of effort. Nurmi never sways or wobbles on the track. He always runs straight.

No conscious effort is necessary to keep his body "set" from the time the pistol cracks until he breaks across the tape at the finish.

Gans-Chavez Clash Tonight at Assembly

A packed house is expected to witness the Baby Gans-Phil Chavez ten-round main event at the Assembly Athletic Club tonight. Chavez has been beating some good boys around here since his arrival from Texas. Gans is a flashy 138-pounder with a good future in the rink business. He boxed at Vernon a couple of weeks back and made a hit with the fans. The boys will meet at catchweights as Chavez is a little heavier than Gans.

Sailor Larry, who has long been considered a top-notch middleweight, will start in his second bout since the ten round law has been in effect. Larry won his last battle by lacing Perry Blivens for ten rounds. He looked to be in his old form and is scheduled to clash with Joe Spain in tonight's six-round semifinal. Spain is an old Vernon four-rounder and was one of the toughest middleweights around here some years back. Should Larry win tonight, he might get a crack at Ernie Owens, Fred Neumerkle's lanky 165-pounder. Three other good bouts comprise the Assembly bill. They are as follows:

Bobby Pierce vs. Kid Barrington, 130 pounds, six rounds.

Eddie Hubeck vs. Kid Smith, 150 pounds, four rounds.

Kid Garcia vs. Kid Lucero, 125 pounds, four rounds, will raise the curtain. The Auditorium is located between Eighth and Ninth on Central avenue. Frank Holborow will referee the main event.

PAIRINGS IN RING EVENT ANNOUNCED

New York Commissioners Arrange Second Round of Elimination Tourney

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Pairings in the second round in the lightweight elimination boxing tournament under the auspices of the New York Boxing Commission were made today at the offices of the commission. Three of the four bouts will be held at Madison Square Garden next Monday night as follows:

Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, vs. Clyde (K.O.) Jeakle of Toledo.

Benny Valgar of New York, vs. Basil Galliano of New Orleans.

Charley O'Connell of Cleveland, vs. Solly Seeman of New York.

The fourth pairing finds Tommy O'Brien of Milwaukee and Joe Benjamin of California as opponents. O'Brien's injured hand prevents him from fighting at present and the commission decided to postpone this bout until April 30, when it was held outdoors.

Ashmore Meets Freddy Wilder at Crown City

Sailor Ashmore, hard-hitting local 138-pounder gets his big test tomorrow night when he clashes with Freddy Wilder, classy Chicago lightweight in the ten-round main event at the Pasadena Armory fight show. Ashmore was one of the top-notch fighters in his class in California a few years ago, and he is attempting a come-back now. If he can lick Wilder, he will be in line for bigger bouts.

Wilder is a fancy boxer and has a long record of victories to his credit. He can hit and get away before his opponent knows what it is all about. Wilder is strongly favored to win over Ashmore, but there is going to be trouble before it's all over. Ashmore has an edge when it comes to staying power, and it is thought that he will wear Wilder down.

Sailor Kid Thorne and Jimmy Powell have the semi-wind-up. Both are at the top of their class and should display plenty of excitement. They will go over the six-round route. Joe Woods, former L.A.A.C. boxer and Chris Romo are on the card in the special event. Two other bouts complete the card.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

JIMMY DAUGHERTY with his lumbago back wasn't very keen about refereeing the recent Benjamin-Silver two-man elimination affair in San Francisco, but since the lumbago has gone merrily on its way and flattering words about his work have rolled in by the score he feels like a man with a new wife before she begins naming his hours out.

Daugherty didn't seek the assignment in the first place; it sought him. Because of the intense rivalry between Benjamin and Silver and because the match was very important, deciding who should enter the second round in the chase for Benny Leonard's crown, there was a lot of loose and bitter talk about the referee.

Commissioner William S. Hanlon decided the only way to settle the argument was to select a man of national reputation. He chose Daugherty, a man who has worked many of the biggest battles of the last decade, including the Dempsey-Gibbons brawl at Shelby—a man who has a gilt-edge reputation for integrity, zeal and courage.

The first answer Hanlon received was a decided "no." The commissioner tacked and struck a vital blow; it was for the good of the boxing game that Daugherty's services were needed. The shot found its mark. Daugherty recapitulated. He loves the boxing game, and he wanted to see it get the right kind of a start in California. He went into the ring in spite of a back that scarcely permitted him to walk without almost doubling up. Charley Harvey put him in plasters before the bout, and Daugherty scored perfectly all day.

Among the many nice things said about Daugherty was the dandy letter he received from Commissioner Hanlon. It runs as follows:

"Dear Mr. Daugherty:

"Sorry I did not have the opportunity of personally thanking you for the very valuable service you rendered the boxing game in California, Harry Morrison (promoter of Benjamin-Silver bout) and myself.

"It is most unfortunate that you have not been present to hear the million nice things that have been said and are being said (and most deservedly) regarding you.

"Please accept my mere 'thanks' until I can in some other way reciprocate.

"Very truly yours,

"W. S. HANLON."

Jimmy McLarnin, the "Dublin Flash," is back in the city, providing an occasion for several of the ambitious boys hereabouts to rise up and squawk about a match with him.

There is Pal Moore, the Memphis bantie, who probably has more reason for desiring a match than most of the other contenders. Pal fought a four-round draw with Jimmy before the holidays, but the decision was not unanimous, as many of the ringsiders believed Moore deserved the decision.

Pal is traveling back to El Paso for a return bout with McCoy next Monday night, but after that he is eager to tackle McLarnin, particularly, or Fidel LaBarba, Silva or any others who want his meat.

A sports writer in the El Paso Herald gives Moore credit for being pursued by a jinx that enables him to win fights and lose the decision. He cites two fights that came under his observation—the Jimmy Wilde fight in London and the recent McCoy bout. His comment follows:

"Pal Moore is chased by a persistent jinx that enables him time and again to win a fight and lose a decision.

"On July 17, 1919, the writer saw the Memphis bantam fight fifteen fast rounds with Jimmy Wilde in London. The following day the city watched the victory parade of the Allied forces. It was England's hour of rejoicing and the evening papers carried detailed accounts of the splendor of the manifestation, but gave equal space to the story of how an American fighter battled the greatest little boxer in England's history all over the ring, and then lost out through the poor judgment of a referee.

"Moore fought at Fort Bliss last night in much the same style as on the occasion that the writer last saw him in action, but he won the fight by a wider margin. McCoy was given the decision.

"In his London fight Pal Moore carried away a $15,000 cut on the gate receipts. His share of last night's receipts was less than one-tenth that amount; but it was the same Pal Moore that whipped Wilde, and if he has lost any of his speed or cleverness it is not apparent."

San Gabriel, 7; Hillcrest, 2.
Flintridge, 6; California, 3.
Los Angeles, 6; Hollywood, 3.
Brentwood, 8; Annandale, 1.

The Midwick Country Club's golf team seems to be making a runaway thing of the interclub championship, having held the lead since the first matches were played, and drawing away from the other clubs in yesterday's competition by an emphatic victory over the Wilshire Country Club players at Midwick, 8 1-2 to 1-2. The Los Angeles Country Club climbed within a half-point of the Hollywood Country Club players by trimming them on their own links yesterday, 6 to 3. Except that Annandale moved into a tie with Wilshire for seventh place, the positions of the various clubs remain unchanged.

Miss Ann Webster and Miss Ruth Kilian, playing in the first foursome for Hollywood, maintained their undefeated record by defeating Mrs. G. M. Midgley and Mrs. George Weber, 2 1-2 to 1-2, while Los Angeles won the other two matches, Mrs. H. B. Hammond and Mrs. John Worley defeating Mrs. E. F. Stanton and Mrs. A. F. Trabue, 2 1-2 to 1-2, and Mrs. H. Voorhees and Mrs. A. Shore downing Mrs. A. C. Lillie and Mrs. W. P. Lohman, 3 to 0.

Flintridge climbed close to the leaders with a victory over California at California, 6 to 3, as follows: Mrs. Gregg Lifur and Mrs. Green defeated Mrs. F. S. Hardin and Mrs. Bishop of Flintridge, 3 to 0. Mrs. Witmer and Mrs. Robbins defeated Mrs. Pryor and Mrs. Nelson, 3 to 0, and Mrs. A. W. Maine and Mrs. Julia Lockwood defeated Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Converse, 3 to 0.

Midwick won every match, the invulnerable combination of Mrs. Dorothy B. Hill and Miss Margaret scoring a 3-to-0 victory over Mrs. J. H. Meyering and Mrs. Ted Haas of Wilshire, Mrs. Guy Cochran and Miss Maude Bell winning, 2½ to ½ from Mrs. T. H. Pike and Mrs. H. Belden, while Miss M. Bush and Mrs. Bradley defeated Mrs. A. G. Wilkes and Mrs. Glen Duncan, 3 to 0.

San Gabriel triumphed, 7 to 2 over Hillcrest at Hillcrest. Miss Marion Adler and Mrs. Adolf Frankel won Hillcrest's only points, by downing Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Sheppard, 2 to 1, while Mrs. John Clark and Mrs. C. W. Cook scored a 3-to-0 victory over Mrs. H. Grossman and Mrs. Curt Rosenthal, and Mrs. Baruch and Mrs. Lee losing all 3 points to San Gabriel in the final foursome.

WALKER DEFIES TONY FUENTE

Tuesday. If he should knock Huffman out he would be a tremendous card with Walker. But if he turns out to be a false alarm with a carefully prepared reputation, as a lot of wise ones suspect, Tony can start looking for another bean-picking job.

Walker is all heated up over the attempt of Duffy to dictate to him where their proposed match shall be held. Duffy has been offered $10,000 by Doyle to fight Walker here. Duffy wants to switch it to San Francisco.

Walker says nothing doing. He's champion and if Duffy won't listen to the champion's dictation he's out of luck and more thousands in money than he ever saw before in his life.

As Walker points out, Duffy can't make $10,000 with any other three-middleweights in the business. He's cutting off his tongue to spite his face by turning down a Walker match here.

Solly Harris Talks

Solly Harris, one-half the managerial firm of Peary and Harris, which looks after the destinies of "Skyscraper" Ralph Smith, takes us to task over a sad error in our columns yesterday morning.

On Doyle's heavyweight elimination card next Tuesday we referred to the Bob Roper-Smith go as a semi-wind-up. "Peewee" Solly says it ain't so, that it's a double main event, with Roper and Smith probably furnishing more real fighting than the other half of the main event—Fuente and Huffman.

Incidentally Bob Peary is feeding Smith a lot of beans and molasses this week. He says the Americans won a war from the Mexicans on beans and molasses many years ago, and he believes mebbe Smith can lick Roper the same way next Tuesday.

Champ Goes North

The featherweight champion, Kid Kaplan, and his staff got away last night and will be in San Francisco this morning to start training at the Royal Athletic Club for the go with Johnny Farr in Oakland next Wednesday.

Scotty Montieth, his manager, goes north tonight. Those who left with Kaplan were Jackie Snyder, Tracy Ferguson, Joe Beasley, the financial manager of the Kaplan party, and Benn Judd, rubber. Snyder and Ferguson are on the same card as Kaplan.

DETROIT NEVER LAST

In twenty-four years of the American League baseball race the Detroit team never finished last.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

UNLESS we miss our guess, there is likely to be a whole flock of brand-new intercollegiate track and field records made this year during the course of the season. It is perfectly true that U.S.C. with its horde of wonderful athletes is able to overshadow the situation locally as far as team competition is concerned, but the smaller schools have enough young demons in various events to—through individual competition — force somebody to bust a few records.

The only records that really look safe are those made by the distinguished and fleet-footed Mr. Paddock over the sprint distance. Nobody is likely to crack those for some little time to come without the aid of a motorcycle or other means of locomotion. But there are some other records which, while fast, are likely to go by the boards this year.

Unless we're mistaken, Yale Martz holds the existing record in Southern California for the 400 meters at 49.9, and in all probability tied the mark of 49s. flat made several years ago by Colin Kilby of Redlands University. Unfortunately Martz was not timed over that distance when he made his famous race with Johnny Powers at the Coliseum.

This year Martz ought to run the quarter in less than 49s. if he gets any competition. He'll probably have to run that fast up at Palo Alto, but that won't count as a Southern California record. There doesn't seem to be another quarter-miler down here capable of pushing him to such a record, unless young Mr. Torkelson breaks loose again as he did for a couple of races last season.

Our recollection of the 880-yard record is likewise somewhat dim. When Beebe of Anaheim was running for U.S.C. many years ago he made the 880 in 1:56 4-5, unless we're mistaken, on the old Bovard Field track, which ran through a tunnel. Last year Niersbach of U.S.C. got under 1:57, but it seems to us that it was over the 800-meter rather than the half-mile.

Anyhow, there ought to be considerable of a race this year between Niersbach and little Montgomery from Occidental. Montgomery was sick last year and didn't get going until way late in the season, when he sprang a big surprise by capturing the conference half-mile. This year he has been sick again, but showed his mettle when he clipped off the final 440 in the relay meet the other day in less than 51s. He ought to make Niersbach ramble.

Young Nick Carter of Occidental, running his final year, should get under Bill Himrod's long-standing mile record of 4:26 4-5 this season. Last year Nick came pretty close to it, with nobody anywhere near him, and this year, with Mike Ellwood, Carl Plate and Les Hellman of U.S.C., and that new young Pomona miler, Rentschler, to push him, he ought to break it or make one of them do it.

If either Les Hellman of U.S.C. or Bill Snyder of Pomona doesn't get under 10 minutes in the two-mile this year, it certainly looks bad, as both came close to it last year. Dye has already beaten 15s. for the 120-yard hurdles, and Morton Kaer, after he gets through fussing around with basketball, ought to get down to 24s. flat over the low sticks, with the assistance of Maxwell of Pomona.

Chariot Race Featured at Ascot Sunday

Determined to cause the combination horse and auto racing program scheduled for next Sunday afternoon at Ascot Speedway to be replete with equine and gasoline thrillers Bob Anderson, director-general of the affair, last night added a three-cornered chariot race to the long program.

The event will be titled the Ben Hur Dash and Fred Niblo, director of the film production bearing that name, recently completed in Italy, has been invited to start the race. One of the best chariot drivers in the country, Bob Clark of Ventura, has filed his entry. The other contestants will be selected from among experienced handlers of the four-horse sport.

Among the owners of fast horses who have entered the seven-horse events are R. H. Baker, of Los Angeles; Frank Gacedes and Charles Duncan of Puente; Tom Mangan of Riverside; Al Meyers, Leslie Warner C. Eagles, J. C. Flores and Harry Preston.

HARRY DEFTY PICKED TO SUCCEED NELSON

Defty succeeds Harry Nelson, who held the position for several years, Nelson is taking a position in a baseball league at Mesa, Ariz.

COOLIDGE SEES MARATHON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Coolidge found time today at the end of the regular brief Cabinet session to witness the finish of the ten-mile modified Marathon race staged by the Washington Post, which ended at the White House grounds. White Michelsen of East Portchester, N. Y., led the field of 150 runners to the finish line. President Coolidge congratulated him.

J. A. RANKIN TO DEFEND TITLE

Coast Senior Championship at Stake in Tourney

A. D. S. Johnston Looms as a Strong Contender

Silver Putter to be Given to Medalist

Over 100 golfers who have passed the half-century mark will compete today and tomorrow in the annual Pacific Coast Senior championship at the Midwick Country Club. The field is the largest in the history of the event, and is much stronger than last year, so it looks as though the defending champion, J. A. Rankin, is faced with a tremendous task in defending his title.

The affair will be a medal play handicap event, with competition divided into five classes, according to age. Golfers of 70 and over will hold the spotlight, competing in Class E, while the four other classes will be made up of golfers separated into divisions at five-year intervals beginning at fifty.

Moreover, there will be a grand prize competition in addition to the contest by age groups. The player who makes the best score for thirty-six holes, irrespective of his age group classification, will win the grand prize and acquire the senior championship title of the Pacific Coast.

Then there will be prizes in each of the age groups, from 50 years up. The first group will be players of 50 to 54 years, inclusive; the second from 55 to 59, inclusive; the third from 60 to 64, inclusive; the fourth from 65 to 69, inclusive; and the fifth from 70 years up.

In each group a trophy will be awarded for the best gross score for thirty-six holes, another for the best net score for this distance and still another for the best eighteen-hole score selected from the two days play.

Everybody has a chance. Josiah Collins, senior Northwest champion and president of the Senior Northwest Association, is here and is going to try and take the silver putter north with him. A. D. S. Johnston of Midwick hopes to keep it here and will play in the tournament as will Arthur Braley, member of the Wilshire Inter-Club team. Lew Hamilton of LaCumbre Golf and Country Club of Santa Barbara and John Perrin of Midwick and San Francisco are also expected.

Annandale will send W. W. Leithead, W. K. Jewett, Tom Collins, Tom Sizer, J. M. Marshall, W. S. Severance, George P. Crafts, J. J. Crawley, J. R. Martin, F. W. Goakes, Bert and Frank Smith.

Other entrants are F. E. McGuerrin of Sequoyah golf club, Oakland; Wm. F. Luick and Harry B. Fuller of Milwaukee, Robert Pitcairn, Harold McWilliams, F. P. Hixon, George Mouser, George P. Doan, Thos. H. Stevens, C. F. Burnsides, T. C. Denehy and H. M. Taggart of Midwick.

Answering the request of winter visitors who are not members of local clubs, the Greens Committee has decided to open the tournament to visitors who are members of any club which in turn is a member of the U.S.G.A.

teams. Games are scheduled for the remainder of the week.

Bill Essick's Tigers will have their first practice tilt Sunday at Maier Park, where they tangle with Harry Johnson's White King Soaps, Winter League champs. The Soapsters should give the Bengals some competition, but they will be without the services of Wally Hood, Doc Crandall, George Payne and Buzz Arlett, who are not allowed to take part in any games with outside clubs now that spring training has started.

PETE HITS HARD

Pete Schneider, the Bengal bambino, continues his hard hitting at Maier Park. Pete hit one clear over the outside fence for the longest drive ever seen at the Vernon playgrounds.

The Vernon hold-outs are slowly, but surely, getting into line. Ed Bryan and Denny Murphy have agreed to terms, so Ike Wolfer, Red Oldham, Ken Penner and Charley Deal are now the only ones balking at signing contracts. Secretary Howard Lorenz believes that these four will join the ranks soon.

Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who are doing their training at Stockton, believes in giving his players plenty of work. The Cards have played a practice game every day since their fourth day in camp. Most of the contests are with Sacramento, but next Monday the St. Louis gang will travel to Hanford for a crack at the Kansas City Blues.

LINCOLN HIGH NINE JOURNEYS TO VENICE

Lincoln High School's diamond team will journey Venice-ward this afternoon for a tussle with the Venice preps on the latters diamond. The Gondoliers are causing quite a little commotion in Bay League circles. They split two games with Jefferson.

On Thursday afternoon the seaside nine will come to Los Angeles to take on the L. A. High aggregation. The Venetians face the coming season with optimism.

RICHARDS GIVEN BEST CHANCE TO TOPPLE TILDEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Until last season's stirring season the experts who had been predicting annually that Vincent Richards would break through to the top of the tennis heap had little real cause for satisfaction. In fact, a conviction became pretty well grounded that he would never reach the ultimate peak, but as though reaching his second wind, Richards leaped forward in 1924 with such startling strides that he dislodged "Little Bill" Johnston from the number 2 ranking position and came perilously close to topping Big Bill Tilden in the national championship singles.

There remained no doubt in the minds of observers at the close of last session that Richards had "arrived." This year, with the natural expectation of further improvement in his game he stands out as the one player having the best chance of threatening Tilden's five-year reign. Observers here do not overlook the possibility of a comeback by Johnston, who forms the remaining link in America's "Big Three," but the Californian has passed his peak while Richards, young, ambitious, is on the upgrade.

Much of Richards's improvement last season was due to development of a stronger service and the addition of weight which increased his power and endurance. These were factors he most needed to reinforce the versatility he had acquired as a protege of Tilden.

Most of Richards's meteoric progress has linked with the influence of the present national champion. His first national triumph came in 1917, when, as a youth of 14, he won the boys' championship. A year later he startled the tennis world by winning the national turf court doubles with Tilden, a victory which was repeated in 1921 and 1922.

Micko Wins in Feature Race at Ice Palace

Johnny Micko, one of the fastest skaters in the world, thrilled a crowd estimated at more than 3500 when he won the Harold Lloyd Trophy at the Palais de Glace, finishing first in the long grind. Micko turned in one of the best victories ever seen on the ice and was given a big hand when he finished. Al Jacobson of Los Angeles was second and Hal Raphael of New York came in third.

Micko got away to a fast start and, with the exception of a few times when either Jacobson or Raphael challenged his lead, had little trouble. Although there were several other famous skaters entered, the fast pace set by the other three soon outdistanced them.

Bert Clarke, the famous ice comedian, entertained the crowd before the race with a few queer antics. Officials of the Palais de Glace declared that it is probably a new record for attendance at any skating entertainment.

Young-Garcia Box Tonight at San Fernando

Matchmaker John Sweeney of the San Fernando Valley Coliseum has carded Frankie Garcia, the flashy Mexican featherweight from these parts, with Billy Young, the Vancouver slugger, for tonight's ten-round main event.

Both of these lads like the heavy milling and are not roommates, and are very popular in the valley district and should play to a capacity house. Teddy Adams and Johnny Holly hold the limelight in the semi-wind-up over the six-round route. They are middleweights.

Willie O'Brien and Battling Check, two fairly fast featherweights, have a date with each other in the special event scheduled for six rounds.

Teddy Roberts will mix it with Mel Manning at 120 pounds. Four rounds. Ray Sotelo and Al Medrano will open the thirty rounds of boxing. They are bantams. Four rounds. Johnny Schiff, referee. John Sweeney, announcer.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALGARY, March 3.—Burton H. Buck, a farmer in the Camrose (Alberta,) district, went to Buffalo for New Year.

Last seen when he left that city, he was not heard of until he walked into his home and quietly hung up his hat on the familiar old peg six weeks later. Meantime police in Chicago, Buffalo and Canadian cities had been looking for Burton, fearing foul play.

Burton has given no explanation of his absence to the outside world. He says he wrote his wife, but apparently the letter did not reach her.

But Burton is now back on the job. His first question was to ask when dinner would be ready and where his wife had put his corncob pipe. He can't for the life of him see what all the fuss was about.

HERB-BILL BRIBE SCHEME DENIED

Brackett Says No Money for Legislators Was Asked

Asserts He Fixed $5000 for Lobbying Expenes Only

Chinese Witness Declares He's Afraid to Testify

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—Flatly denying that he had told Chinese herb dealers there would be a division of money among himself, Senator Hurley and Assemblyman Smith, William R. Brackett, former Assemblyman, today took the witness stand before the Graves investigating committee and told of his dealings with herb doctors, claiming he sought only to be employed as a lobbyist to defeat the Smith herb bill.

The former Assemblyman testified that he informed Fong Wan, Oakland herb doctor, that of the $5000 he had asked of them, $2500 would be used in engaging an attorney, $500 for his expenses in traveling about the State during the recess to confer with Legislators, $500 to bring witnesses that had been benefited by herb treatments to Sacramento, and the balance for his fee as a lobbyist and other expenses.

Fong Wan previously had testified that Brackett told him that Smith was to receive $2500, Hurley $750, Brackett $750 and $500 for expenses. The amount asked at the time of this conversation, Wan said, was $4500.

Brackett admitted telling Wan that if a professional attorney were engaged to fight the bill, the fee probably would be $10,000, but denied that he asked more than $5000 if the Chinese wanted him to represent them and that half this amount would be used to retain some attorney.

STATEMENTS VARY

The committee frequently referred to Brackett's testimony given to Dist.-Atty. Warren of Alameda county, and called attention to variences. It was pointed out by Brackett's attorney that the witness was not under oath when these statements were made before Warren. Brackett told the committee that he was excited at the time and he may not have spoken accurately. "I came here today to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. I was excited then," the witness explained.

According to the transcript prepared by Warren, Brackett stated he had never called Senator Hurley at Sacramento about the Smith bill. The former Assemblyman testified before the committee that on February 23 he telephoned Hurley and asked for a copy of the bill. Other inconsistencies in his testimony pointed out by the committee referred chiefly to dates.

Asked about conversations he had with Hurley in Oakland, Brackett testified that at one time Hurley told him he thought someone in Sacramento had tried to reach Smith on the bill, and some man named Wilkinson had telephoned about it, "and if there is anything wrong with it you had better keep out of it," the witness said Hurley advised him.

DENIES SEEING SMITH

Brackett said he had never seen Smith in his life and when asked why he did not go to Smith and take up the matter of the Smith bill the witness testified:

"I would have if I had been employed to work against the bill."

Throughout his testimony, Brackett held that the only reason he took Hurley to Fong Wan was that the Senator was a friend of his and would recommend him to represent the Chinese in a lobbying capacity and that at no time did he mention that Hurley or Smith were to receive part of the money he solicited.

The small committee-room in which the hearing was conducted was crowded almost to the point of suffocation. Both branches of the Legislature met only briefly and all of the members, who could pack into the hearing, were there, the work of legislation apparently having given away for the time being to the inquiry in which names of lawmakers and former legislators had been brought by published statements.

WITNESS RETICENT

An hour's attempt to elicit information that could be classed as pertinent to the investigation found T. Wah Hing, Sacramento herb doctor, still reticent, but admitting that he was afraid to testify. Hing explained most minutely details of talks with C. H. Wilkinson, sergeant-at-arms of the Assembly, over the matter of securing copies of the Smith bill, the buying of $20 worth of stamps for mailing out these bills, with a letter opposing passage of the measure, the spending of 10 cents to telephone, the exact amount of money he was called on to pay two stenographers and other matters of like importance but when finally brought to the point seemingly of telling anything which might shed light on the alleged extortion he sealed his lips and nodded affirmatively when asked if he was afraid to testify.

Hing further indicated his reluctance to give testimony by stating that he didn't want to get anybody in trouble. He denied knowing Smith or having talked with him, having had no direct dealings with him. The witness said, however, that through Wilkinson he had made an appointment to meet Smith in Wilkinson's room in a hotel, having consented to pay Smith's expenses for coming to Sacramento during the legislative recess, but that Smith changed his mind about coming and the two did not meet.

Numerous questions were asked him concerning the banquet given by Chinese to the San Francisco legislative delegation at which, Hing said, white wine was served and "nobody got more than half-drunk."

CHIEF CLERK QUESTIONED

Arthur Ohnimus, chief clerk of the House, asserted that when he informed Assemblyman Smith there was money in the herb bill he meant there had been a fund raised to defeat it. Ohnimus said he resented Smith's interpretation that he was being "propositioned" and that later Smith apologized for thinking that this was the intent.

Ohnimus denied having told Smith: "There is $500 in the bill if you will lay off," or that Smith then said: "I could get $5000, but I'm not taking a dime," to which Ohnimus was reported at the Warren hearing to have replied: "Smith, you are foolish if you don't take the $5000."

Dist.-Atty. Warren explained that as regards the statement supplied by him to the committee that portion applying to Smith and Ohnimus was not a transcript prepared by a stenographer, but was his own account of what took place in conversations written from recollection.

During the examination of Brackett Committeeman Cleveland declared that, in his opinion, Senator Hurley had not exceeded the bounds of propriety in going to visit a Chinese herb dealer to recommend employment of Brackett as a lobbyist.

Scientist Swallows Test Tube Full of Germs to Make Experiment

LONDON, March 3.—In order to discover the action of food poisons on the human stomach, Bruce White, young English scientist at Bristol University, last night drank a test tube filled with microbes. He is a brilliant bacteriologist and already has brought out a number of advances and discoveries. His recent studies of food adulteration were balked when he was unable to find subjects willing to submit to the experiment, so he decided to sacrifice himself, with a chance of death, by swallowing germs such as poison impure foods.

AMERICAN MANIKINS RESENTED

French Models Alarmed at Success of Imported Rivals in Paris

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 3.—The French Manikin's Union, recently organized, at a meeting today discussed the matter of importing foreign girls to fill their jobs and to envisage action against the dressmaker, Jean Patou, who brought over eight American girls.

Since M. Patou's success with models from the United States, several others are planning to have American girls pose for gowns for their American clientele. The French girls are fearful that the invasion will take their jobs away.

The French manikians have decided to formulate a system whereby four out of five girls in any one shop must be French. Thus M. Patou with eight American girls would have to employ thirty-two French models, which would be no drawback, as he actually has fifty manikins in all.

CITES HACKFELD COMPANY VALUE

Atherton Testifies as to Price-Fixing Methods

Palmer Said to Have Cut Down Final Estimates

American Factors' Financial Statement Shown

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Further testimony tending to justify the price of $7,500,000 as a fair valuation on the assets of H. Hackfeld & Co. in 1918 was introduced today by defendants in the Hackfeld accounting suit.

Frank C. Atherton, continuing his cross examination testified the business would have been valued at only $6,900,000 had he and his associates adhered strictly to the price-fixing methods employed by the January 11 reorganizers.

The witness said he never agreed with R. H. Trent, Hawaiian representative of the alien property custodian, that the Hackfeld sugar agency contracts were worth $1,000,000, ~~or that~~ certain stocks in the Hackfeld treasury were worth $2,000,000 in excess of their book value.

Notwithstanding that he held these views, Atherton said, he did not so inform A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian.

"I did not think any value should be placed on the agency contracts because we had legal advice that they were not assignable," the witness testified.

Atherton pointed out what he termed overvaluations in the report of $833,000, and undervaluations of $833,000.

A financial statement of American Factors was admitted in evidence over objection of plaintiffs' counsel. The defense sought to establish from this and other exhibits that book values as well as earnings must be taken into consideration to determine the true value of a corporation's assets. This was done by Trent, Atherton and their associates in fixing a tentative value on the Hackfeld assets, it was brought out.

Many exhibits were introduced for the purpose of disproving the plaintiffs' contention that Palmer's representatives, including Atherton, based their valuation figures on insufficient information and that vital information was withheld from the alien property custodian.

"Every scrap of information we could gather which we thought might be of assistance to Palmer was forwarded to him by Trent," Atherton declared. "I know of no additional data within our power to obtain which were not laid before the custodian."

Palmer, the evidence indicated, believed the Audit Company's figures of $8,400,000 as a price for the Hackfeld business, too high and reduced it to $7,500,000, taking as a basis for his action the fact that a portion of the Hackfeld stock had been sold under the original reorganization plan for $180, which would have made a total of only $7,200,000 for the business.

Cross-examination of Atherton will be resumed tomorrow. The witness was compelled to postpone his return to Honolulu. He had planned to sail Wednesday.

CHILD-WOMAN'S SUICIDE DENIED

Sister Says Strength Lacking to Give Self Poison

First-Degree Murder Charge Filed Against Father

Dr. Blazer Recovering from Attempts on Own Life

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, March 3.—Mrs. Frances Bishop, sister of Hazel Blazer, crippled "child-woman" who died of poisoning, testified at the inquest today that the 32-year-old victim did not have sufficient physical strength to self-administer the fatal dose.

Only a few hours before Mrs. Bishop told the Coroner's jury of the condition of her sister, a charge of first degree murder had been filed against Dr. Harold E. Blazer, retired physician, in connection with his daughter's death. Dr. Blazer is recovering from the effects of three attempts to take his own life.

"We took care of Hazel altogether," Mrs. Bishop testified at the inquest.

"She could not walk or use her arms or hands and consequently we had to feed her like she was an infant."

She said her sister had suffered from a paralytic illness ever since she had been an infant of 3 months.

The only movements the deformed "child-woman" could make were to roll and crawl about the floor in the manner of an infant, Mrs. Bishop continued.

The accused father was left alone with his invalid daughter on the day of the asserted slaying, Mrs. Bishop and her husband, Roy E. Bishop, disclosed in their testimony.

Late last Tuesday afternoon, they testified, they found the Blazer house locked and after forcing open a window, discovered the bodies of the deformed daughter and her father on the bed.

"I immediately rushed over to Hazel and lifted her from the bed where she was lying with her face buried in a pillow and found that she was without life," declared Mrs. Bishop. "I asked father, who had raised himself on his elbow, what he had done. 'I don't know,' was his faint reply."

Dr. Hugh H. Alldredge, the physician summoned to the Blazer home upon the discovery of the tragedy, testified that from the result of his examination of the Blazer girl and her father that he surmised that the father had killed her.

Commenting on the many changes that have occurred during her lifetime, she said that she was especially sorry that women vote.

Hearing Often Restored in 24 Hours by Amazing New Method Sent on Trial

Often in just a few minutes a great improvement is seen and in many cases deaf people who have not heard for years can hear ordinary talk.

No deaf person should lose hope. No matter what you have used to relieve your deafness, do not be discouraged. Even though you have tried ear phones, drums, electrical devices and oils, dont think that you are doomed to deafness for the balance of your life. Ach, du Lieber August! More Taxes on Beer

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, March 3. — Foaming beer is the newest victim of the German government. The man in the streets and in the saloons is indignant. The government needs money to balance its burget, and of all the things it could have taxed it chose beer and tobacco, holding they are not necessities of life.

Not that beer drinkers had dodged paying their taxes. Their passion for beer netted the government $48,000,000 in 1924, and now the government is demanding a 100 per cent increase of the beer tax.

The beer drinkers are threatening a general strike. Their clan is sadly depleted, since the consumption of beer in Germany dropped from 6,800,000,000 quarts to 3,600,000,000 quarts in 1924. The new tax is bound to cause another drop in production.

The price per quart of beer averages from 15 to 40 cents, including a tax of 3 cents on every quart.

Mexico Opens Brisk War on Grasshoppers

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 3.—A figth on the grasshopper plague by the Department of Agriculture began today in Jalapa, capital of the State of Vera Cruz, the center of the insect ravages. Grasshoppers have invaded all the hot lands of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, including fourteen of the twenty-eight Mexican States, and are now camped in Tamaulipas, overlooking the American border.

Already agents of the department have gone to all the States affected to direct the fight. The general plan of campaign, elaborated by the Department of Agriculture will be applied in the fourteen States. All localities have promised to help in the fight. The decision of the government to attempt to exterminate the grasshopper is of great interest to the American border territory, as experts assert the insects would easily this spring cross the border from Tamaulipas.

RURAL POWER PLANT ADDS TO CAPACITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 3.—Following a meeting in Los Angeles of directors and stockholders, announcement has been made that the Pima Farms Company will increase its 1600-kilowatt power plant to 2350 kilowatts, to provide water for the irrigation of at least 10,000 acres of cotton, as well as for other crops. Last year was a successful one on the project, with high prices received for good crops. The cotton averaged a bale to the acre, though the season was the dryest known for many years.

CRUELTY TO SON GETS FATHER PRISON TERM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—After his 19-year-old wife had testified in the First Criminal Court in Jersey City that he had twisted the arm of their 5-months-old boy, Walter, until it broke, Jesse Timens was convicted of assault and battery. Judge Sullivan sentenced him to serve eighteen months in the county penitentiary. Timens admitted striking the child, but said that the breaking of the arm was an accident. Judge Sullivan said that it was the worst case of cruelty that had ever come before him.

The Democrats and their friends demand that a Vice-President be elected immediately to fill the Presidential post until election day, and that the Reichstag amend the Constitution to provide for the post the "same as the American Constitution." The enthusiasm over the American Constitution is not only theoretic, but has a practical side. The Democrats fear Chancellor Luther will endeavor to run as a Presidential candidate whil acting as President, thus wielding an overwhelming power. They also demand that the Presidential election take place at the end of this month while the conservatives are using all their influence to postpone the elections until April, hoping for a wave of reaction strong enough to sweep the country.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, March 3.—The soviet government today took steps to excavate under the towers of the Kremlin for the famous hidden library of Ivan the Terrible (1530-1584,) said to include 800 volumes bound in pure gold and many Arabian, Persian, Assyrian and Byzantine manuscripts and parchments of priceless value.

The existence of such a library has been known for centuries, but its precise location has never been accurately determined.

FIND EVIDENCE IN MURDER CASE

Officers Weave Web About Suspects

Men in Jail Said to Have Come from Chicago

Police Fail to Locate Wife of Accused Man

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—Working with the same swiftness today that resulted in the discovery of the house where George Brynes, otherwise known as Frank J. Harrington, is believed to have been murdered Saturday night, the police strengthened their mass of evidence against Thomas A. Johnson and Hugh McGovern, who are held in connection with the brutal crime.

The pistol used to club Brynes to death was found in an attractive residence in the fashionable Burlingame district, where every indication points to the murder having been committed. A small patch of blood and clotted hair was found on the pistol butt. The hair, police said, has been identified as that of Brynes's.

Attempts to question Johnson today brought no further information about the pair in custody, about the man known as Brynes or about Johnson's wife, her child and her father, who have been traced as far as Los Angeles, for which destination the trio departed Saturday night in a taxicab.

"I have nothing to say," was all the police could get out of Johnson. Johnson told the police today that he formerly lived at the Atlantic Hotel, Chicago, and conducted a cigar store while he was there. McGovern gave his home address as 511 Fifty-fifth street, Chicago.

Johnson and McGovern were arrested yesterday in the Burlingame home when they returned in an automobile. Detectives were secreted in the house. The two men calmly submitted to arrest. While waiting for the men to return, detectives searched the bungalow and found blood-stained clothing and carpets, and several loaded weapons.

Efforts to locate Johnson's wife, who left here at 11:15 o'clock Saturday night with her father and son, have proved futile. A taxicab driver told of taking them to the Lankershim Hotel, Los Angeles, where they arrived at 4 a.m. Sunday. Captain of Detectives George K. Home of the Los Angeles police department telephoned this morning that they never registered at the Lankershim, and it is now believed that they stopped in front of that hotel merely as a blind, walking to some other hotel as soon as the San Diego taxi driver left that vicinity.

TO PROTECT VOTERS

League at Glendale to Aid in Solving City Problems

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, March 3.—Organization of the Glendale Municipal League was perfected last night at a meeting in the Wilson-avenue school, when representatives of various civic and service bodies met at the call of the Glendale Republican Club to perfect the details of a committee that would exercise supervision over municipal activities and candidates on a strictly nonpartisan basis.

The league will not nominate any candidates at any municipal election, it was declared, but will confine itself to a study of municipal problems, especially those dealing with taxation, proposed bond issues, municipal expenditures and improvements, and investigating the qualifications of any candidates who may present themselves to the Glendale voters.

A committee on organization, headed by H. M. Butts, submitted a report on the plans of the league and the objects for which it has been formed, and an election will be called at an early date to choose officers for the coming year.

VALLEY TOWN AFTER ICE MANUFACTORY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALIPATRIA, March 3.—Joining other Imperial Valley towns, Calipatria Chamber of Commerce is urging the establishment of an ice plant here. For years the only ice manufactories in the valley were at Brawley, El Centro and Calexico. Because of the increased volume of produce being shipped from the valley the demand for ice has grown to such an extent that several additional ice plants have been installed in the last few months.

At present all of Calipatria's domestic ice supply comes from Brawley, ten miles distant. It is believed the demand for ice here would warrant the construction of a plant of thirty tons capacity.

INCLUDE YUMA IN EL CENTRO TERRITORY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

EN CENTRO, March 3.—Yuma has been added to the territory in the jurisdiction of the El Centro office of the United States Immigration Service. It is believed this move will aid the inspectors materially in preventing illegal entry of aliens into this country.

There are fourteen inspectors connected with the border patrol operating out of the El Centro office and their jurisdiction now extends from Yuma to Tecate. M. L. Chaffin, formerly stationed at Indio, has taken charge of the El Centro office, succeeding Frank Ellis, who was promoted to the Los Angeles office.

FIRE BURNS LANDMARK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, March 3.—The Sam Biddle residence, an old landmark, erected more than thirty years ago, was destroyed by fire about 11:30 o'clock last night. The building was enveloped in flames before the fire department could reach the scene. It had been unoccupied for some time and was partly furnished.

Purchase and Present Park Site to City

SOUTH PASADENA, March 3. Acquisition of six acres of land owned by Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, on which a new city park may be constructed, was made possible today when a group of fifteen prominent South Pasadena men purchased the land for a sum of $21,700 and will turn it over to the city at any time within a period of a year.

Announcement of this transaction was favorably received in this city since, now it will be unnecessary for the municipality to go to the expense of condemning the land. The acreage is located adjacent to the Garfield-avenue reservoir and plans have been in progress for some time to form a park on the land if it was ever acquired.

The fifteen men who bought the land and will hold it in trust for the city are E. H. Rust, W. J. Filley, E. H. Crippen, John Macfarland, Donald O'Melveny, C. W. Upton, R. E. Austin, A. C. Ong, W. W. Cottle, C. M. Church, L. A. Norris, O. M. Clanton, E. C. Sterling, H. C. Mason and Dr. F. H. Speik. When the city is ready to take over the tract the local men will turn it over for the same price they are now paying for it, it was announced.

Would Recall City Trustees at South Gate

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH GATE, March 3.—Two adidtional petitions for the recall of City Trustees Asa Sines and C. J. Stirdivant have been circulated here and have been filed with City Clerk L. A. Griley to be presented before the City Board of Trustees.

The petition presented against Trustee Sines has 141 names and the one against Trustee Stirdivant, 146 names. Two weeks ago a petition for the recall of Trustee F. A. Schmidt was before the City Trustees and it was turned over to the city clerk for checking. It contained 256 names. All three trustees were elected at the last city election, and they had been serving in that capacity prior to the election last April. Trustee Ward was recently appointed as a member of the board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Moore, who was re-elected at the April election, being the only member of the board that was elected when the city was incorporated. A. J. Scobey is president of the board.

If the election is called and the three present trustees are recalled, it will mean that the only member of the board remaining who was elected at the April election, will be Mayor Scobey.

OPEN ROBBERY TRIAL AT SANTA BARBARA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, March 3.—Louis Romero, charged on ten counts with forging pay warrants drawn on the Santa Barbara County Treasury, today went on trial before Superior Judge Crow.

Romero, according to officers, forged fifty warrants during a period of three years, although he had not worked for the county for five years. He steadfastly protests his innocence and charges a frame-up, although witnesses at the preliminary examination identified him as the person who had cashed the warrants in Santa Barbara stores.

Difficulty was had this morning in selecting the jury and attorneys do not believe that the prosecution will open its case before tomorrow afternoon.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, March 3.—When Francisco Oliver, 45 years of age, Twenty-fourth street and Santa Monica Boulevard, chained the mouth of a cow and beat it with a club to make it follow behind a horse and buggy, he was arrested by Humane Officer G. E. Anderson, and lodged in the City Jail, according to police records. Oliver is being held on a charge of extreme cruelty to a dumb animal in default of $100 bail. Anderson changes that the animal was severely lacerated as a result of Oliver's treatment and states the case as one of the worst yet brought to the attention of the Santa Monica Bay Humane Society.

Petitioners Ask Improvements in Beach City

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, March 3.—According to an announcement of Ivor Grant, president of the Federation of Venice Civic associations, who are sponsoring a gigantic improvement program for the city, petitions are today being circulated for the opening of Trolleyway from Avenue 35 to Del Rey. Grant, also president of the South Beach Improvement association, states the project is one of the most important before the people of the South Beach in order that a direct thoroughfare sufficient to care for the rapidly increasing traffic between Venice proper and the Palisades Del Rey, may be established.

One of the petitions now in circulation will be signed by property owners along the Trolleyway, while the other will be brought to the attention of all persons living in the South Beach area.

The petitions ask that City Trustees improve this section of the city by condemning the right-of-way of the Pacific Electric Railway and opening the street to a width of forty feet, with the installation of sidewalks, culverts and curbs.

Residents of the southern district of the city, have virtually agreed, according to Grant, that the above mentioned width is sufficient to care for the traffic until such time as the growth of the city warrants another street through the area.

ACCUSE VETERAN

Hold Resident of Soldiers' Home For Burglary

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAWTELLE, March 3.—That Harry Guthrie, arrested by division police while in the act of ransacking the home of E. W. Brewer of Manning avenue, may be responsible for more than half a dozen burglaries in the West Los Angeles district is revealed by police investigations being made here.

Guthrie, a member of the Pacific branch of the soldiers' home for the last two months, is being held in connection with seven robberies in the Westwood district, during the past two months, while eight others are yet to be explained. Officers assert that Guthrie had little difficulty in gaining entrance to Westwood homes owing to the distance between residences in that district. In every instance residents were absent when homes were entered.

The apprehension of Guthrie was made when Mrs. Brewer returned home Friday afternoon to find him leaving her house. A description of the man together with the direction in which he was traveling was immediately given at division police headquarters.

Loot found in the asserted housebreaker's possession included diamonds, watches, cameras and valuable jewelry of all description, which is believed to be the property of the victims of recent robberies in West Los Angeles.

The new editor was, until recently, managing editor and assistant manager of the El Paso Herald, with which paper he had a service of twenty-two years. Mr. Martin last year was district governor of Rotary Clubs in the eighth district, comprising Arizona, New Mexico, West Texas and Needles, Cal.

WHOLESALE MOONSHINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—A 100-gallon still, one of the largest yet taken in this vicinity, was found in a house raided this afternoon by Federal and city officers. Fifteen barrels of mash and thirty-five gallons of whisky were seized, the officers reported.

John L. Hawkins, 28 years of age, a truck driver, who was in the house at the time, was arrested. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

ALFORD'S PAROLE SCORED

Ontario Officials Hint Commitment Records Were Altered by Convicted City Manager

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, March 3.—A strong resolution asking for an investigation of the action of the State prison board in granting parole to Fred T. Alford, defaulting former city service manager, and commending the action of the San Bernardino county grand jury in vigorously urging such an investigation, was unanimously adopted by the City Council today.

Adoption of the resolutions followed reading before the Council of a letter from Gov. Friend W. Richardson to City Attorney T. H. Jolliffe, in which the executive declared that his hands were tied in regard to the action of the prison board, in which he expressed full confidence. Mayor Willard D. Ball declared before the Council that statements credited to George A. Van Smith, president of the State Board of Prison Directors, to the effect that Alford was sentenced to serve concurrent and not consecutive sentences, were wholly erroneous, since he was in the courtroom when the former city official was sentenced and heard very distinctly that the terms were to be served consecutively.

The Mayor stated further that under the laws of California, the prison board was without power to parole Alford, sentenced to serve consecutive sentences, until the expiration of two years following his incarceration. Other members of the Council who were present when Alford was sentenced substantiateo Mayor Ball's declaration regarding the consecutive sentences and all expressed the opinion that if Alford has been paroled through a misunderstanding of his sentence on one part of the prison board, that parole should at once be canceled.

Members of the Council and City Attorney Joliffe gave it as their opinion that if Alford had access to them as office trusty it was quite possible that the prison records regarding his commitment had been altered and it was also held not unlikely that he was directly responsible for the failure of the District Attorney's and Sheriff's offices in San Bernardino to receive copies of the parole proceedings.

The resolution asking investigation of the parole follows: Whereas F. E. Alford has been heretofore convicted of misappropriation of large sums of money belonging to the city of Ontario and sentenced to an indeterminate term of from two to twenty years in San Quentin, and whereas, the evidence adduced at the trial of said Alford showed that he was a very dangerous criminal and in the opinion of this board, he is the worst and most dangerous criminal we ever had in Ontario;

Resolved, that we regard Alford's release at this time as a very unwise and ill-advised exercise of the powers of parole, that such action defeats the ends of justice and is well calculated to bring the criminal laws of the State of California into disrepute, and we ask that a full and thorough investigation of the circumstances of said parole be made by the proper committee of the Legislature.

Resolved, further that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Governor of the State of California, also a copy to the Hon. Thomas L. Dodge, chairman of the Committee on Prisons and Reformatories, and to the Hon. Isaac Jones, member from Fifty-seventh Assembly District.

FIGHT AGAINST RABIES

Santa Barbara Council Passes Emergency Ordinance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, March 3.—The City Council today put an ordinance into force requiring the innoculation of all dogs in the city against rabies as a precautionary measure against the spread of the disease.

Three children were bitten yesterday and twenty-five dogs running at large were impounded, according to health officers. While several animals have died of the disease no humans have yet contracted it owing to the preventive measures launched by the Health Department as soon as the first case was reported.

The ordinance was passed as an emergency measure last night over the objection of the Santa Barbara Kennel Club.

RAID SAFE OF BUREAU IN FRESNO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, March 3.—Smashing the combination dial with a sledge hammer and prying the tumblers open with a jimmy, burglars, last night, looted the safe of the Fresno branch of the State Division of Motor Vehicles of $100 in cash and 750 applications for registration of motor cars with accompanying checks and money orders. The safe cracking is the second suffered by the office in three years. On the former occasion the safe was wrecked by explosives and $650 in cash taken.

The robbery last night was marked by no disorder other than the smashing of the locks. It was discovered by office attendants today when they found a tray containing $75 in stamps on the floor near the safe. The most serious result of the burglary, according to Mrs. Ethel Kay Collins, office manager, will be the inconvenience to motorists whose applications were taken, unless the yeggmen, realizing the papers are valueless to them, mail them back to the department.

With yesterday the last day for obtaining licenses before the 100 per cent penalty became effective, several hundred dollars in cash was received, but most of it was taken to the bank yesterday afternoon.

CITY TO CELEBRATE

Glendale People Join in Boulevard Opening Ceremonies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLENDALE, March 3.—The completion of the widening and improvement of Central avenue, from West Broadway south to San Fernando Road, is to be celebrated with a street carnival Saturday night, in which the entire city will participate. Two bands will furnish music, 8000 "hot dogs" will be given away to the roisterers, ice cream cones will be distributed and the residents along Central avenue will illuminate their houses and decorate their lawns with strings of Japanese lanterns, besides dispensing refreshments to their particular friends. A bonfire, for which materials are now being gathered, will be set alight, and double-decked busses will be in service from 7:30 until midnight to carry passengers up and down the boulevard, which now has a width of eighty feet between curbs.

The celebration will be staged under the auspices of the Central Avenue Improvement Association, and Mayor Spencer Robinson and other speakers will deliver addresses from a rostrum to be erected at the corner of Central avenue and Magnolia street.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, March 3.—Students of Visalia Union High School will assemble in the auditorium of the high school in the morning at 9 o'clock, to hear the inaugural address of President Coolidge over a radio set installed by L. W. Chaffee.

Similar arrangements have been made by a number of the other high schools of Tulare county in addition to various local firms and individual fans.

CITY REFUSES CHURCH PERMITS

Pasadena Turns Down Two Congregations

Officials Heed Petitions Filed by Citizens

Establishes New Precedent in Crown City

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 3.—Applications for permission to build two more churches in the city of Pasadena were denied by the Pasadena Board of City Directors at a meeting today. This is the first time on record that permission to build a church in Pasadena has been denied. There are already seventy-eight churches in the city limits.

The first application to be denied was made by S. H. Athens, representing the Nazarene Church. It was the desire of the Nazarenes to build an auxiliary church building at Forrest avenue and Del Monte street to take care of the Mexican members. At the present time the Mexicans are forced to rent a hall in another section of the city in which to hold their Sunday worship. Due to the numerous protests against the church by property owners in that vicinity, the application was denied.

The directors also denied a permit to Mrs. Julia Taylor who represented a congregation of Negro churchgoers who would build an edifice on Manzanita avenue. At the same time, a protest signed by eighty-three residents was presented the board and the application was also denied.

Motorist Fires Shot Into Tire of Pursuit Auto

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, March 3.—Reported disturbance of alleged "petting parties" in a park along the highway between this city and Claremont by youthful motorists armed with a brilliant spotlight on a long cord, reached a climax today when Royal C. Hendricks, employee of the City Engineer's office, appealed to the Ontario police for the arrest of a youth or man who, last night shot a hole in his tire and splintered a spoke in one of the wheels in his motor car.

According to Hendricks's story, he and a young woman were seated in his car, which had been halted in the park, which is said to be a rendezvous of youths and maidens, when another machine drew up near by, and a bright spotlight was turned on the couple. Considerably annoyed, Hendricks started up his car and started in pursuit of the other machine.

As he drew alongside, according to the young engineer, occupants of the other machine started shooting with a revolver, with the result that one of Hendricks's front tires was punctured and a spoke of the wheel splintered, compelling him to give up the chase. Hendricks secured the number of the other car, which is said to have been registered in the name of H. F. Bradburne of Benson avenue. Hendricks has requested an investigation to ascertain who was occupying the machine at the time of the shooting.

Police of Ontario and Uplands are said to have received several previous reports of the occupants of parked motor cars being disturbed by the spotlight process, but this is the first time that shooting has figured in the complaints.

FRUIT THIEVES WORK IN ORANGE GROVES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, March 3.—With the harvest of the citrus crop at its height in this district, wholesale orange thieves commenced their depredations in Upland early today when they made away with twenty-eight field boxes of fruit from the ranch of D. C. Schmitt of Wilson avenue above Sixteenth street. The oranges were valued at $100.

Officers are of the opinion that the theft was accomplished by a well organized gang which sends scouts into the citrus districts to locate picking operations in outlying orchards. Indications were this morning that the thieves had parked a truck in a vacant field across the street from the Schmitt grove and had carried off the boxes, which were stacked ready for transportation to the packing house. The empty field boxes were left behind.

COTTON SOURCE OF ENORMOUS RETURNS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALEXICO, March 3.—Final figures submitted by cotton ginners in Imperial Valley indicate a total of approximately 95,000 bales of cotton ginned this season. Of this total, 70,000 bales were grown in Lower California and the remaining 25,000 bales were produced in Imperial county. The value of the Imperial county crop is given at $4,000,000, while that in Lower California was worth $8,000,000. The yield on the smaller acreages farmed in this county was declared to have been higher than on the larger plantations in Mexico.

Planting for the new season is said to indicate a decrease of acreage in this county, with an increase in Lower California.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.—[Advertisement.

Porto Bello Gold

Arthur D. Howden Smith

Synopsis: Ormerod, a merchant, his son Robert and Peter Corlaer, his chief fur trader, conclude that the pirate lately attacking ships making port is Capt. Rip-Rap, a grand uncle of Robert's. Their house is surrounded, the pirate chief appearing and claiming Robert's services. They kidnap Robert and Corlaer—the abductors stealing through the city at night—led by John Silver. Silver delivers the captives on deck.

Silver pulled the tarpaulin from over our heads.

"If Flint said that 'twas the best speech he ever made," he returned. "All I knows is that Murray came on deck before us all and says as how he has a mission of danger to perform and he knowed there was no daredevils like the old Walrus hands, and would a score volunteer?

"'For what do we volunteer, captain, if I may make so bold?' says I.

"'A fair question merits a fair answer, John,' says he. 'And I'll say to all you lads I'm planning a cruise as'll make the fortune of the last one o' you and set us in such a position that those as desires to go ashore and enjoy their ease in comfort can look to receiving free pardons.'

"'Ah, yes, sir, says I; 'but what might be the nature o' this cruise, and why does we go into New York, where there's sojers, and maybe King's ships?'

"'The sojers won't hurt you, John,' says he, 'and if there's King's ships we'll try again. We are goin' in for me to meet one man for a talk under cover, and while I'm ameetin' of him we'll crimp a likely youth I have my eye upon.'

"And that was all I had out o' him, Bill. I volunteered for blind curiosity, hopin' for to discover what he was up to, and I'm free to say I've had my trouble for my pains."

"You're no worse off'n the rest o' us," growled Bones. "Belay that guff, and get these carcases aboardship. If we miss the ebb there'll be —— to pay. He's no friend o' mine, Murray; but he's kept me in rum and 'backy and spendin' money since I joined up with him."

"Give Flint some o' the credit, Bill," objected Silver.

"I give him plenty," snarled Bones. "He's a rare fighter, Flint is. But he never had Murray's head to plan—and he knows that as well as me. Aye, for I've heard him say it.

"'Curse me if I like to bob and prance for the old hellion, Bill,' says he; 'but he has the skill o' the Fiend at our lay. He's lasted twice as long as me or any other.'"

"Skill is right," admitted Silver. "D'ye mind, when we was overhaulin' the brig, he ran up alongside the Walrus wi' his speakin' trumpet out and hailed?

"'Ahoy, Walrus!' says he. 'Don't touch her spars or riggin'. Give her a couple o' round shots across her decks. We've got to get rid of her crew, anyway.'"

He chuckled enviously.

"But this isn't gettin' us all back to the Walrus, Bill," he added. "Here, George Merry, can't you and your mates handle the big fellow? Two to his head and two to his feet—and drop him easy or he'll stove in the boat. Now, my gentleman—" this to me —"we'll pass you down, too. You must pull a strong oar with the captain for him to be so anxious to get you offshore hale and whole. It'll be place and rank for you, messmate, or a chance to swim wi' the sharks.

"Where's the red-headed little Irisher, Bill?"

"I sent him off with the captain," replied Bones. "Down wi' you, John. We'll cast off."

From where I now lay, propped up in the bow with my head resting on Peter's huge stomach, I could see the wharf a few feet above and the vague figures of the pirates and behind them the shadowy outline of the warehouses and an occasional dim light. Silver—I knew him by his height and a certain hunching of the shoulder under which he rested his crutch—turned away as Bones addressed him.

"What of the cart?" he asked.

"That's easy," returned Bones.

And he gave it a shove that sent it splashing into the water off the wharf's end.

"No incriminatin' evidence or what the lawyer sharks calls clues," remarked Silver. "A good job well done, Bill, if you asks me."

He lowered himself to a seat upon the stringpiece of the wharf, dropped the butt of his crutch to the forward thwart, felt about with his one leg and came to rest in front of Peter and me. The crutch he allowed to ship to the bottom of the boat, and in its place he took an oar. Bill Bones found a seat in the stern sheets.

"All clear," muttered Bill. "Give way."

The oars fended off from the wharf, and the boat crept out into the stream, where it felt the full strength of the tide, just beginning to turn. The bow bounced up as the first wave hit it, and Peter, beneath me, emitted a dismal groan through his gag. Silver, bending diligently to his oar, looked over his shoulder.

"You would come, messmate," he said. "'Tis nobody's fault but your own."

Peter gave a convulsive wiggle which almost knocked me out of the boat.

"Here, here," admonished Silver. "That's no way to act. D'ye want to drown us all?"

Another groan from Peter, and he lay still.

"Look sharp," called Bones. "The brig's just ahead."

A riding light gleamed high above us in the velvet gloom. I heard the faint slap-slap-slap of water against an anchored hull. Other lights appeared, the square pattern of stern windows, a great lanthorn hung in the waist. A gruff hail reached us.

"Boat ahoy!"

"Bones comin' aboard."

"Aye, aye, Bill."

As we rounded under her counter a couple of ropes rattled down to us, and I heard the creaking of tackle and hoist. We ground against the dripping black hull, and one of the oarsmen seized the rungs of a ladder which dribbled in the waves.

"Make fast the young 'un first," rasped Bones as he went up the wooden rungs monkey-fashion.

"Aye, aye, Bill," answered Silver, and I became conscious that the one-legged man and another were knotting a loose rope beneath my arm-pits. "All right, above there," called Silver presently.

And to me as the block began to whine:

"Watch out for your head, my master. Up you go! All the sensations as come to a poor, honest pirate as is hung in chains at Execution Dock."

The rope tautened; the unseen block whined louder; and I rose involuntarily from my position across Peter's belly. My feet were jerked from athwart, and I kicked the air. The grunts of men hauling in unison floated from the brig's deck, and as I rose faster I commenced to swing like a pendulum.

And now I understood Silver's warning as to my head, for I came into violent collision with the brig's hull and by mere luck escaped with a bruised shoulder instead of a broken skull. I would have cried out, I think, but the gag restrained me; and inside of a minute I was dangling over the bulwarks, feet kicking frantically for standing room. A man caught be by one arm and drew me inboard, shouting the while to "slacken away!" and so I came down again with a bump that was like to crack my knee caps, deposited as so much cargo upon the pitchy deck.

Dazed by treatment I had never sustained before, I stood heedless as the ropes were unfastened beneath my armpits, my bonds slipped off and the gag extracted from my aching jaws. I was just beginning to take in the aspect of my surroundings when Corlaer's cask of a body topped the bulwarks, swung with ludicrous unconcern for an instant as I dare say mine had done and then lurched in and crashed to the deck. The Dutchman was purple in the face, with white spots dotting the congested areas of his cheeks, and gasping for breath. His stomach heaved tumultuously as the gag was removed.

"What ails you, Peter?" I cried.

"Der water," he moaned. "It makes me sick."

And sick he was—violently.

I helped him to the side as a whistle trilled.

"Capstan men for'ard," shouted a voice.

"What d'ye say?" called Bill Bones. "Who ordered the anchor up? The long boat's still alongside."

"Captain's orders," rumbled the answer from the darkness. "Said to cat the anchor, Bill, and get sail on her. We'm to start so soon as the Spanisher goes off—his boat's under the sta'b'd gangway."

Bones ripped off an admirable stream of oaths.

"Might ha' told me," he complained. "Slack aft the longboat, a pair o' you. Is the jollyboat hove up? Aloft, topmen! Clear the braces. John, you'd better take the helm. I s'pose his lordship'll come up to con us out when he gets good and ready, seein' he's the only one o' us as knows his way about this blasted harbor!"

"Aye, aye, Bill."

Silver stumped out of the shadow for'ard into the glare of the big lanthorn that swung from a lower yard of the mainmast over the waist.

"But what about our pris'ners?" Silver asked.

Mr. Bones cast an uneasy glance at us.

"I can't have that there bloomin' volcano amuckin' up the decks, let alone cabin or fo'c'sle. Leave 'em be, John. They can't do no harm, and any man as goes into that water tonight will freeze before he makes the shore."

"Spoke most accurate," Silver agreed in his cheerful way.

The rascal had a manner which contrived to invest whatever he said to you—to any one—with the implication that you were the most intelligent person he had ever had to do with and that it was an honor to obey and serve you.

He disappeared aft now, and Bones with him. I heard the latter continuing to shout orders; and there was a constant bustle of men running back and forth over the decks, a clattering of ropes and shrieking of falls and blocks. For'ard sounded an ordered trampling of feet and a chorus of rough voices bellowing the wild sea-song I had heard in the Whale's Head Tavern:

"Fifteen men on the Dead man's chest—
Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!
Drink and the devil had done for the rest—
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!"

Corlaer, weak as a rag, sank in a heap of buckskin in a dark corner by the bulwarks.

"Neen, neen," he answered when I would have helped him. "Not'ings, Bob. I get better by and by. Der salt water—it is always so with me."

"I'll get you some rum," I said firmly.

And, rising, I was on the point of seeking the nearest man to ask where a drink might be obtained when footsteps clicked on the deck behind me.

"They are a dangerous company," said a voice with an unmistakable brogue to it.

"What would you?" returned my great-uncle.

I could imagine the graceful shrug which went with the words.

"We could not employ his Majesty's people in such a business. And all things considered, my fellows can handle it far better and more expeditiously."

They passed through the rays of the lanthorn which swung from the mainyard. Aye, the first speaker was Col. O'Donnell. The little Irish maid: His daughter. My father had been right in his suspicions.

But what could be the tie of interest between a colonel in the army of the King of Spain and an outlaw who had defied the whole structure of civilization? A Jacobite plot? It seemed preposterous!

"'Tis my daughter I was thinking of," explained O'Donnell as they reached the starboard gangway close by where I stood over Peter's prostrate form.

"Ah!"

My great-uncle went through his courtly formula of taking snuff, and I watched him, fascinated.

"Your forebodings do you credit, chevalier. But you have no cause for concern. For reasons which I need not go into I have with me here men from the crew of my associate. On board the Royal James I think I may promise you and your daughter all the deference you might receive upon a King's ship. I will go so far as to say that I have taken steps to secure you additional protection. My great-nephew—and heir—of whom I have spoken to you, sails with me, a fine youth who shall yet make his mark in the world."

"But a woman on a pirate ship!" protested O'Donnell anew.

El Viaje de Doce Estrellas Termina en un Fracaso

OMAHA, Marzo 3.—La jira triunfal de una docena de estrellas de la compañía cinematográfica Cosmic Production Company, jira que fue emprendida, tanto para anuncio personal de las propias estrellas, como para el de las películas venideras de la compañía, no ha resultado del todo satisfactoria, según pormenores que dieron a conocerse hoy aquí. Está anunciado que las estrellas se presentaran esta noche en un baile de los Templarios en Omaha. Esta tarde celebraron una sesión de tres horas con los directores de la jira, H. A. Devaux y H. L. Tighe, en la que Tighe pidió un poco más de tiempo para resarcirse de las pérdidas sufridas hasta aquí a causa de la falta de entusiasmo por parte del público para ver a las estrellas.

Antes de que se levantara la sesión, se le dijo a la señorita Phyllis Haver, una de las estrellas, que había terminado su compromiso, y a la señorita Anna May Wong, la estrella oriental de la compañía, se le hizo saber que podía marcharse a California si no quería dejar de hablar tanto. A Bryant Washburn, Cullen Landis, Ena Gregory, Ruth Stonehouse, Carl Miller, Jack Dougherty, Katherine McGuire, Helen Holmes, Joe Murphy y muchos otros, les dijo Tighe que, si querían seguir con él hasta que llegara la compañía a campos más fructíferos en el Este, estaría en posibilidad de pagarles sus sueldos completos.

"De hoy en adelante", dijo Tighe, "voy a ser el presidente y no una figura decorativa, y voy a hacer marchar las cosas. Si a alguien no le parece bien, mejor será que se salga de la excursión en este mismo momento."

Devaux manifestó que, hasta ahora, habían tenido grandes pérdidas personales en la jira.

Se Ha Vaticinado Lluvia para la Toma de Posesión

WASHINGTON, Marzo 3. — A menos que su tradicional buena suerte sufra una quiebra, el Presidente Calvin Coolidge tomará posesión de su puesto bajo un firmamento azul y sol caluroso. La predicción meteorológica es que a última hora de la tarde habrá lluvia o se encapotará el cielo; pero, tanto el meteorologista, como todos los interesados, tienen la esperanza ferviente de que Jupiter Pluvius detenga la humedad hasta después del desfile inaugural.

El boletín del observatorio promete lo siguiente para el día de la toma de posesión:

"Nublazón creciente y temperatura más alta, seguida probablemente de lluvia en la tarde."

Amenazan Volar el Templo de Aimee McPherson

Después de haber amenazado con volar el Templo del Angelus, sito en el Bulevar de Glendale, a menos de que Aimee McPherson, pastora del mismo, le permitiera imprimirle en los labios "un beso enviado por Dios", el doctor Bell Pendleton, de 50 años, herrero de oficio, y que vive en la calle Olive Norte, 225, fue aprehendido ayer y alojado en la cárcel del condado.

En cartas que ha dirigido a la señora McPherson, le dice que, cuando vivía el año pasado en Cheynewelles, Colorado, se la paró una mariposa en los labios a las dos de una madrugada, y depositó en ellos un beso que había de ser entregado al pastor femenino del Templo del Angelus.

Al llegar a Los Angeles, Pendleton comenzó a escribirle una serie de cartas a la señora McPherson, tratando de cumplir con lo que evidentemente creía era su misión divina, y, al no serle contestadas, se puso amenazador e hiriente, según manifiestan los detectives Eaton y Chirse, de la Fiscalía, que fueron los que lo aprehendieron.

Después de puesto a buen recaudo el sospechoso, el detective Eaton se presentó ante la Comisión de Demencia y suscribió una queja contra el herrero por locura. Por tal motivo, éste fue removido de la cárcel del condado a la sala psicopática del Hospital General.

Las misivas de Pendleton a la señora McPherson comenzaron en Agosto próximo pasado, y hasta la fecha han llegado treinta a la destinataria. Como no recibiera respuesta, Pendleton, que dio como dirección postal la Lista de Correos, empezó a amenazar con que iba a volar la casa de correos. Tal refiere el detective Eaton.

La señora McPherson entrego las cartas a los inspectores federales de correos, quienes las pasaron a la Fiscalía. Declaró el detective Eaton que ha revelado una investigación que Pendleton había sido varias veces arrestado en St. Joseph, Mo., por escribir cartas amenazantes. Dícese que fue casado en una época, y que ahora tiene una hija de 13 años que vive en Seattle, Washington.

Pendleton nada dijo cuando fue detenido, según aseguran los policías, y parecía razonable y estar sano, no obstante que no negó ser el autor de las cartas recibidas por la señora McPherson.

Espérase que el inmejorable tiempo haga salir hoy y mañana a muchos miembros del Club del Arco Iris, de Pescadores de Caña. Por informes que da el club, parece que está buena la pesca, y los miembros de dicha asociación que han acudido al club de pescar, la han cogido en cantidad máxima.

Boxeo

Créese que estará atestado el circo donde van a combatir Baby Gans y Phil Chávez esta noche en el Assembly Athletic Club. Desde que llegó de Tejas, Chávez ha estado aporreando por aquí a buenos muchachos. Gans es un brillante púgil de 122 libras, con buen porvenir en el tablado. Boxeó en Vernon hace dos semanas y entusiasmó a los aficionados.

El marinero Larry, que ha sido considerado desde hace mucho como un pesomedio de primera categoría, va a tener su segundo encuentro desde que se puso en vigor la ley de los diez asaltos. Parece estar en su antigua buena forma, y está anunciado para afrontar a Joe Spain en la penúltima pelea de esta noche, a seis asaltos. Spain es un antiguo boxeador de cuatro asaltos de Vernon, y era uno de los más duros pesomedios que había aquí hace algunos años. Si Larry ganare hoy en la noche, podría tal vez vérselas después con Ernie Owens, el púgil de 165 libras que tiene Fred Neumerkle. Otros tres buenos encuentros figuran en el programa del Assembly y lo completan.

GAIN SHOWN IN EDISON INCOME

January Earnings Reflect Healthy Business

Bond Sales of Exchange Set Strong Pace

Output of Auto Factory to be Centered on Closed Jobs

An accurate reflection of business conditions in Southern California is found in the report of January earnings of the Southern California Edison Company, yesterday released by the company, showing an increase of 23 per cent in net income over the same month of last year. Net income amounted to $977,460.36 and gross earnings totaled $1,813,945.66, a gain of 9 per cent over January, 1924.

By the introduction of stringent operating economies the company was enabled to reduce operating expenses 4 per cent in January from the corresponding month a year ago. Balance available for dividends and depreciation is shown at $533,248.79, an increase of 43 per cent over the previous January.

Even in the face of subnormal water conditions in the year of 1924 the company's sales of electric energy increased 15 per cent over 1923. Abnormal operating expenses caused by the necessity of producing a large amount of power from steam plants cut heavily into earnings, but the company will show in the annual report that the balance available for dividends, including the contingency reserve provided in advance for low-water conditions, was 7.6 times the requirements on all preferred stock outstanding during the year. Based on average rainfall and with steam operation confined to modern, efficient plants, it is estimated that the balance available for dividends would have been nearly six times the preferred-stock dividends.

This year the company reports that the rainfall in the Sierras is already in excess of average conditions at this time of the season, pointing to satisfactory operations throughout 1925.

While it is carrying on one of the greatest construction projects in the world in its Florence-tunnel work, the Edison company has so arranged its program as to bring new power units into operation as needed. This program is expected to offset increases in capitalization each year by corresponding increases in earning power.

As an evidence of the ease of money conditions in Southern and Central California the company states that of its recent issue of $10,000,000 7 per cent cumulative preferred offered for sale in December, 1924, over $8,000,000 already has been sold to the public, chiefly in this part of the State.

WAR YEAR EXCEEDED

Bond sales of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange during the first two months of 1925 amounted to $6,241,200 in excess of the entire twelve months of 1918, which was $5,567,968, and within $2,000,000 of the entire sales in 1922, which were $8,458,993.

The sales totals by years since 1913 follow:

1914	368,730.00
1915	290,102.00
1916	372,296.00
1917	666,676.00
1918	5,567,968.00
1919	8,607,220.00
1920	11,695,680.00
1921	12,756,080.00
1922	8,458,993.00
1923	17,338,465.14

FACTORY QUOTA SET

For the first six months of 1925 the Oakland Motor Car Company, a division of General Motors, will devote 80 per cent of its output to closed cars. Factory schedules have already been set for this figure. A. P. Glancy, president and general manager of Oakland, estimates that more than half of all cars built in 1925 will be in the closed-body types.

SMALL LOANS INCREASE

Reports to the Industrial Finance Corporation, New York, indicate that loans on the Morris Plan in 1924 numbered 510,500, being 27,000 more than in 1923. The amount lent by the 108 banks and branches throughout the country was $121,650,000, or $17,000,000 more than in the preceding year. In eleven years $610,500,000 has been lent to 3,040,000 small borrowers on the Morris Plan. Losses on these loans are so small as to be entirely negligible.

BUSINESS COURSE TO OPEN

A practical course in business statistics is to be given here by the University of California extension division. It will be of value to business executives, revealing how statistics may be used to determine the facts involved in business problems, how to take up an examination of the methods of preparing statistical indices of business conditions and gives attention to financial and advertising statistics and the various methods of graphical presentation. Walton Roland Smith, manager of the Hood Rubber Products Company, will give this course.

MERGER TALK PROGRESSES

Market Prices of California Oils Reflect Prospects of Consolidation; Pan American Figures

BY EARLE E. CROWE

If any reliance can be placed in stock market gossip, a petroleum consolidation of formidable proportions is under way embracing three of the outstanding California companies. From the volume of buying in General Petroleum, Pan American and California Petroleum it seems that a few people at least believe these stories, all three having broke through for new high prices yesterday. It seems generally agreed that conversations looking to such a consolidation have been in progress and that market conditions are propitious at this time for a combination of this sort.

Pan American is popularly credited with the initiative in the reputed negotiations, and Blair & Co., Inc., the investment bankers, are supposed to represent the Doheny interests. Private reports received here yesterday indicate that Blair & Co., Inc., is the heavy buyer in General Petroleum common, which touched a new high price of 57 1-2. At this price, the stock yields 3.5 per cent, which is a return apparently away out of line for an oil stock, and suggests that the buyers have developments in mind that will warrant the present price of the stock.

HIGH PRICE ASKED

The General Petroleum management repeatedly has said that there is no intention of raising the dividend rate, and such an action will not be considered until funded debt has been retired. It also is no secret that Capt. Barneson has always placed a high price on his stock in previous merger negotiations, at one time asking $70 a share. Whether a lower price has been agreed upon in the present instance is debatable, but it is evident that some group has been buying stock in the open market for several months past.

In the case of California Petroleum, the wiseacres in the brokerage houses always have believed that it offered an attractive purchase for some one of the larger companies. The bankers for the company are Blair & Co., who also handle the financing for Pan American. As an aggressive producing unit, and possessing valuable manufacturing facilities, California Petroleum would fit in suitably in any large consolidation involving companies in this State. The common climbed through for a new high yesterday at 30 1-4.

DOHENY UNIT IS BASIS

As for Pan-American, it is the logical company around which a large consolidation can be built. Since its entrance into the marketing end of the business, the company has had surprising success. The Doheny company already was well known to the public and it apparently has acquired a following among the motorists with relative ease. Its system of retail stations now spreading over the country offer a valuable outlet for gasoline production of such companies as General Petroleum and California Petroleum, the former of which only retails a portion of its output and the latter is not identified in any way with the retail end of the business.

While there is no direct corroboration of the merger reports, it is true that such an organization would present an especially strong position in volume of crude oil production and refining capacity. California Petroleum is producing around 36,000 barrels daily from its Southern California and Kern county wells, and recently completed refining facilities at the harbor that measureably increase earning capacity. A valuable asset is the company's contract with the Standard Oil of New Jersey by which crude oil and refined products are shipped at favorable prices.

General Petroleum now is producing about 27,000 barrels each day, with a considerable amount shut in. Its refinery at Vernon handles about 50,000 barrels daily, and also the company operates a fleet of nineteen tankers, seven of which are owned. Marketing is especially active in the Northwest.

MEXICAN OUTPUT LARGE

Obviously the production that these two companies could bring to a new combination have an important bearing on consolidation talk. Pan American is hardly one of the leading producers in the State, its output, according to estimates, running between 25,000 and 28,000 barrels daily of its own production and purchases from other companies. But in Mexico, the Doheny company is strongly intrenched. From the Ebano field alone it is producing 130,000 bar-Federal taxes, not including profit from the sale of investments, for the quarter ended, September 31, 1924, was $8,045,016. Dividend requirements were $2,785,132, leaving a surplus balance of $21,135,326.

Several months ago the company sold its 26 per cent interest in the Union Oil Company of California to a banking syndicate headed by Dillon, Read & Co. The price paid was reported in the neighborhood of $30,000,000, which remains in the treasury of the company.

Stock of the company is listed on the New York and Los Angeles stock exchanges and quoted in the unlisted department of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange. During 1924 Shell Union common opened the year on the local exchange at 19 3-4, attained a high of 22, fell to a low of 16 1-4 and closed the year at 22. Yesterday it sold around 26 3-8.

Shortage of wool in China has greatly curtailed the production of the famous rugs of that country.

Its subsidiaries are the Shell Company of California, Roxana Petroleum Corporation, Ozark Pipe Line Corporation, Matador Petroleum Company and the Wolverine Petroleum Company.

Operations of the company are at present centered in the Mid-Continent fields of Oklahoma and in the California fields. In the Mid-Continent fields' operations are being conducted through a subsidiary, the Roxana Petroleum Corporation, and the Comar Oil Company, in which the Roxana owns a half interest. On December 31, 1923, the company had, through its constituent companies, 2212 oil-producing wells and thirty-two gas producing wells; in addition to which there were 282 completed wells temporarily closed in California and thirty-two drilling wells temporarily closed down in the Mid-Continent field.

The combined properties of the Shell Union Oil Corporation as of December 31, 1923, show an actual daily production of 106,656 barrels net, as against a daily net production on December 31, 1922, of about 69,000 barrels.

REFINERY AT HARBOR

The company has a refinery at Martinez, on San Francisco Bay, and a new refinery of 22,500-barrel capacity at Los Angeles Harbor. Another refinery with a daily capacity of 10,000 barrels has recently been completed at Arkansas City, Kan. There also is a 24,000-barrel refinery at Wood River, Ill., which gives the company a total daily refinery capacity of 100,000 barrels as compared with 50,000 in 1922.

As of December 31, 1923, the company owned and controlled 968 miles of main and trunk lines. The Mid-Continent pipe-line system, totaling 750 miles, extends from the Cushing, Hewitt and Healdton fields in Oklahoma, with gathering lines from Duncan and the Texas territory, to the refinery at Wood River, Ill., and from the Tonkawa and Burbank fields in Oklahoma to the refinery at Arkansas City, Kan.

Pipe lines in California have a daily capacity of 142,500 barrels, and those in the Mid-Continent field, 41,000 barrels, a total capacity of 183,500 barrels a day. In addition the company has complete facilities on the Pacific Coast for the distribution and marketing of its products. Production in 1922 amounted to 12,818,846 barrels, exclusive of 15,000 barrels a day shut in. Tank steamers, tank cars and an extensive distribution and marketing system also are owned.

Kessler, Dr. Augusta Philips, Sir Robert Waley-Cohen, W. H. Samuel.

The annual meeting is on the third Thursday in May. General offices are at Wilmington, Del.

As of January 15, last, Shell Union Oil Company had paid $25,474,512 in dividends since the organization's incorporation. Common stockholders had received $22,500,000 and the preferred stockholders $2,974,512. During 1924, $10,000,000 was paid to the common stockholders and $1,174,512 to the preferred, a total during the year of $11,174,512. Ten dividends on both common and preferred stock have been disbursed.

DIVIDENDS QUARTERLY

Shell Union has 10,000,000 shares of common stock, no par, outstanding, and 191,504 preferred shares, par $100, of the 200,000 authorized shares are outstanding. Dividends following an increase in February 28 from 25 cents will be 35 cents a share each quarter. Preferred is at the rate of 6 per cent, payable quarterly.

Assets as of December 31, 1923, were fixed at $244,353,521, a gain of nearly $30,000,000 over 1922. Income before providing for 1924 rels daily, which compares with 6000 to 8000 barrels taken from this area a year ago.

On the refining angle, Pan American has its new plant here at the harbor, which has a capacity of 40,000 barrels daily and one each at Tampico and New Orleans. The Tampico plant handles 135,000 barrels a day. Adding the refining capacity of General Petroleum and California Petroleum, an inviting picture is offered from the standpoint of competition in gasoline production with some of the other large combinations in the industry.

If a combination between these three companies actually is effected, the form it will assume is not definitely known. A new holding company has been suggested in some quarters which may include some of the Mid-Continent companies before the project is finally completed. One fact, however, seems certain, and that is the existing prices for the stocks evidently fully discount the advantages of consolidation.

BOND QUOTATIONS

St. Pauls Weaken

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Heavy selling of the St. Paul 4 per cent bonds maturing this year, based on speculative nervousness over the course to be adopted by the road in meeting its refunding problems, was an outstanding feature of today's bond market, which displayed a generally firm tone.

With selling pressure concentrated against this issue the bonds were driven down 3½ points below 65, within a point or so of the low record established last year. In the absence of any new developments it was reported that today's decline, which accompanied weakness in the road's stock, was in anticipation of an unfavorable report by engineers who have been studying the road's problems.

Contrasting price movements marked trading in other sections of the list. An early outburst of buying carried many of the active oil liens to new high records, but some of the gains were later canceled or materially reduced. High-grade railroad issues worked higher under the leadership of New York Central convertible 6s, which advanced 1⅝ points, and some more of the speculative liens, including those of the "Katy," Wabash and Chicago and Alton railroads, also were in demand. Other strong spots were the Wilson & Co. and Magma Copper obligations, which gained 2 to 3 points. A rise of Great Consolidated Electric Power Company of Japan bonds was linked with reports that bankers soon would float a new loan for this company as well as for other Japanese public utilities.

[Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. These quotations are received over Associated Press wires, and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.]

NEW YORK CURB

Oils Buoyant

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Profit taking sales checked the upward rise in prices in today's curb market with the result that closing prices disclosed considerable irregularity. Oils displayed a firm undertone, with buying influenced by rumors of an impending increase in crude prices. Vacuum jumped nearly 3 points to 94⅛ and Ohio Oil showed a net gain of 1¼ at 73½.

Public utilities with few exceptions lost ground. American Gas and Electric moved up 1⅝ to 79⅛, but American Light and Traction, Commonwealth and Electric Bond and Share dropped a point or so. Radios were mixed, a gain of 1⅝ in Hazeltine being counteracted by losses of a point each in Charles Freshman and Thermiodyne.

Kelvinator, which attained a new peak at 81½ on Monday after a spectacular advance from the subscription price of $16 a share, fell back to 28½, off 1⅝ on the day on realizing sales. Car Lighting and Power, the other electrical refrigeration issue, held firm around its recent high level. Initial trading took place in the new art loom issues, the common ranging from 43⅞ to 43 and the preferred 101¾ to 101½.

SANTA FE VALLEY LAND CO.
FIRST MORTGAGE 7% SINKING FUND BONDS

Dated February 1, 1925. Due February 1, 1938.

EXEMPT FROM PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX IN CALIFORNIA

Application will be made to certify these bonds as legal investments for California Savings Banks

HELLMAN COMMERCIAL TRUST & SAVINGS BANK, LOS ANGELES, TRUSTEE

Callable in whole or in part on any interest date at 105%, on 60 days' notice. Interest payable semi-annually, February 1 and August 1, at Hellman Commercial Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, California, without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax not exceeding 2%. Principal payable at the office of the Trustee. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1000 and $500 with privilege of registration as to principal.

A letter addressed to us by the President of the Company, to which reference is made for details, has been summarized by him as follows:

SECURITY:

This issue of bonds is secured by a closed First Mortgage on 1336 acres of highly developed farming property, located four miles from Del Mar, San Diego County, California, and which has been appraised by Mr. Thos. O'Hallaran, expert appraiser of San Diego, Calif., as having a present value of $654,300 or $2974 of security for each $1000 bond of this issue.

Nine hundred acres of the Company's properties lies in the valley of the San Dieguito River, and are ideally adapted for vegetables and all types of garden truck production. Irrigation is afforded this acreage through a new underground concrete distributing system. The water supply for this property is obtained from the large underground water bearing beds of the San Dieguito River. Four pumps supply approximately 450 inches of water, with a maximum lift of 27 feet, thereby affording a cheap water service to the lands of this Company. The Company's properties were formerly a portion of the Rancho Santa Fe, and due to the extensive development of that property by the Santa Fe Improvement Company (a subsidiary of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad), property values in this locality are thoroughly stabilized and should, as development proceeds, greatly increase in value.

EARNINGS:

Nine hundred acres of land now under irrigation have been leased to responsible tenants for the purpose of growing such highly profitable crops as tomatoes, sweet potatoes, sweet corn, Irish potatoes and lima beans. Based upon a conservative estimate, the net income to the Company from these high-priced products for the year 1925, will not be less than five times interest charges or approximately 2¾ times the greatest annual interest and sinking fund requirements of this bond issue.

SINKING FUND:

The Indenture provides that commencing December 1, 1925, $10,500 a year will be used for the retirement of $10,000 par value of bonds, through call by lot at a price of 105%. The amount of money payable into this sinking fund increases over the 13-year period of the life of this loan, in a sufficient amount to retire all the bonds by maturity at par, plus a premium of 5%. This insures to the purchaser of these bonds a yield on his investment from 7.23% to 11.80% dependent upon the date of call.

FURTHER PARTICULARS:

The Indenture provides, in the event of sale of a part of the property, for the payment to the Trustee, in cash, of an amount sufficient to liquidate 150% of the original bonded indebtedness, these payments to be used for the retirement of bonds through operation of the sinking fund.

A certificate of title guarantee has been issued in the amount of $220,000 by the Union Title & Insurance Company of San Diego. All legal proceedings incident to the creation of these bonds have been passed upon by Messrs. Knight & Reynolds, attorneys-at-law, Los Angeles.

NEW HIGH MADE IN INDUSTRIALS

Averages Establish Peak in Active Sessions

Coolidge Inaugural Taken as Bullish Factor

California Oils Elevated to New High Marks

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Vigorous bullish demonstrations continued in today's stock market, the general industrial average being elevated to another record high level. Net gains in many active issues ranged from 1 to 3 points, with a few specialties scoring sensational advances of over 10 points. The heavy demand for stocks, which resulted in total sales in excess of 1,750,000 shares was generally ascribed to the belief that President Coolidge's inaugural message tomorrow will outline policies which the financial interests characterize as constructive.

One of the features of the session was another sensational advance in Ludlum Steel, which added 11 points to its 7-point gain of yesterday and touched a record top at 54 a share.

The spirited demand for this issue was based on reports of important developments concerning patents of a monopolistic nature in connection with steel production. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe showed an extreme gain of 14 points by touching 244¾, closing just below the top. American Car and Foundry was run up 12 points to 221.

RAIL STOCKS LAG

Railroad shares failed to participate in the advance as extensively as the industrial because of the further liquidation of St. Paul issues, which were carried down a point to within a small fraction of the year's low. Atchison dropped nearly 2 points to 125⅝, but net gains of a point or more were recorded by Rock Island common, "Katy" common, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, Peoria and Eastern and a few others.

The so-called pivotal industrials showed mixed changes. U. S. Steel common touched 125 and then slipped back to 124½, up ⅝ on the day, and Baldwin closed at 141¾ for a net loss of 1¾ after selling 3 points above that figure. American Can established a record top at 184½ and then eased to 182⅝, up 1 point on the day. Studebaker closed a point lower at 45.

Shares of oil companies operating on the Pacific Coast were again in brisk demand. New peak prices since 1923 or longer were established by Pan-American "A" and "B," California Petroleum common and preferred, Barnsdall "A" and General Petroleum, although some of the gains were canceled or reduced in the late wave of profit taking.

MANY PEAKS HIT

Two-score issues, nine of them rails, attained new peak prices for the year, the list including American Locomotive, Dupont, Texas, Gulf Sulphur, Savage Arms, Allied Chemical, Century Ribbon, Loose Wiles Biscuit, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, Tobacco Products and the "A" stock, United Stores, Jordan Motors, Maxwell Motors "B" and Goodrich Rubber common and preferred.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent despite the fact that little money was sent here from the interior. The time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with no change in rates.

Further weakness in French francs, which carried them to another new low record for the year below 5.05 cents, was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held fairly steady around 4.76. Most of the other European rates showed only nominal changes.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Today's action of prices on the stock exchange in general suggested the probability that the market was preparing a demonstration for tomorrow's inauguration of Mr. Coolidge and in response to his inaugural speech.

In Wall street the fact that the event itself and the nature of the address to the people are foregone conclusions has no bearing in the matter. When the stock exchange is in a complacent mood it "responds" to anything that attracts public attention. There have been occasions in the past on which a Presidential message distributed in advance but nevertheless treated as a state secret, when it was formally released was greeted by the stock market with a movement of prices which expressed complete and ingenuous surprise.

Coupled, as the inauguration is, however, with a nine months' vacation of Congress and the definite ending of the unhappy performance of the present legislative body, it is not altogether unreasonable that the double event should impart a spirit of relief to conservative finance. It was displayed with some irregularity today, for the general run of prices changed very little and a few stocks declined. But the familiar bidding up of what are usually described as the "speculatice favorites" was much inevidence.

In New York money rates there was no further change today. At London the money market's movement was more or less confused in trend. This is natural enough when nobody positively knows how much the advance in the Bank of England rate will be on Thursday, even supposing an advance to be a certainty. Sterling rose fractionally, but dropped back again and the franc got to the lowest rate since last July. Apparently the French government has as yet made no move to support the rate.

At least one influence in the reaction of sterling rates was indicated by today's government figures on our Jannuary foreign trade by countries of origin and destination. The month's excess of exports to Europe is shown to have exceeded January, 1924, by $51,929,000, to which export surplus England alone contributed $23,929,000. On the other hand, the persistent flow of gold to India finds some explanation in the figures. We imported from India last January $3,500,000 more goods than we sent her. Our import surplus in trade with the whole Asiatic continent was $50,500,000 greater than in January, 1924.

Although the first of the monthly index numbers given out today shows a decrease of 1 1-3 per cent in average commodity prices during February, the decrease is mostly accounted for by reaction in grain prices. But the figures have a significant bearing on another aspect of the discussion of prices. The London contention is that sterling's rise since the middle of 1924 and our own subsequent export of gold were primarily due to the extreme rapid advance in all American prices, while England's prices were virtually standing still.

BUDDING CROPS SHOW PROMISE

Southwest on Way to Good Agricultural Earnings

Live Stock of California is in Excellent Shape

Arizona Irrigation Assured of Ample Moisture

Crops in the twelve States of the Southwest served by the Santa Fe Railroad are showing early promise of unusually heavy yield, according to a report just issued by the railroad.

Bountiful rains and heavy snows have fallen in Northern California during the last few weeks. In the southern part the rainfall has been heavier than that of last year, but additional moisture is needed to properly take care of all crops. In the southern part of the San Joaquin Valley the rain fall has been slightly under normal.

Live stock throughout the State is in excellent condition, the lamb crop alone being worth $18,000,000. It is estimated that 900,000 lambs will be shipped out of California between the 15th inst. and June 1, of which 600,000 will go to eastern markets. There is a fairly heavy movement of cattle from near by States into the San Joaquin Valley for feeding. The dairy industry is improving steadily; so is the egg business, with heavy carload movements to eastern markets.

The celery movement from the Antioch district is about cleared up, and there is a fair movement from the San Diego district. Asparagus is now moving from and Antioch and Stockton sections, and as there has been an increase in the acreage, this movement will exceed that of 1924. Almond trees are in full bloom and indications point to a normal crop. The citrus fruit movement so far this year is in excess of that of the same period last year.

MINING GOOD

The mining industry as a whole is good. Increases in the price of lead have resulted in old mines, long idle, being reopened, while the State still leads the nation in the production of gold. Heavy orders from the East indicate that 1925 will be a banner year for California lumbermen, although the export market is slow. Recent price advances have done much to stimulate oil production. Wholesale trade is sluggish, but the retail trade is showing improvement particularly in agricultural districts.

Practically no rain has fallen in Arizona in the last four weeks, but there is plenty of snow in the mountains. The Salt River Valley, under the Roosevelt dam, is well under way with its crops. The first lettuce, totaling 1600 cars, was of good quality and demanded good prices. The second crop will move the last of March. The State produced 95,000 bales of cotton in 1924, mainly in the Salt River Valley. The cotton acreage this year will be about what it was last year. Lack of rain on the ranges has sent most of the sheep to the feed lots. Sheep shearing has been under way for several weeks, the price of wool touching 50 cents a pound.

The agricultural outlook in New Mexico is better than it has been since the war. While wheat has suffered for want of moisture in the so-called dry-farming districts, heavy snows in the mountains and in the northern and central parts of the State insure water for most of the valleys which depend on irrigation. There will be an increase in the acreage of such crops as lettuce, cabbage, cantaloupes, sweet potatoes and sugar beets, and at least a normal acreage of cotton and other crops. Oil development is making progress in the Artesia district, and there is activity in both mining and lumbering.

WHEAT STAND EXCELLENT

In Kansas the condition of the 10,500,000 acres of wheat planted last fall is as good as it ever was at this season of the year, and in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Colorado, better than the five-year average.

Oklahoma needs rain, especially in the northern part, for its wheat, but the growing crop will not suffer for a month, and in Oklahoma there is rain in nine Marches out of ten.

Texas has been in need of rain, not only for wheat in the north and northwest, but in the corn belt and the fruit and vegetable areas. Encouraging reports within the last few days indicate that the dry spell has been broken in many localities and there is general expectation of more rain.

Conditions in the southwestern part of Louisiana are satisfactory. Steady development is reported in the cut-over timber country.

Nearly all of the 32,000 radio receiving sets in Mexico are from this country.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The Barnsdall Oil Company yesterday completed two wells in the Rosecrans field, with an estimated combined initial production of about 2500 barrels a day, according to R. A. Broomfield, general manager.

The Barnsdall's Rosecrans No. 4, offsetting the Marland-Miley No. 1, was brought in from a depth of 4404 feet, making a flow which was estimated yesterday at about 400 or 500 barrels a day. The well had not cleaned up yesterday afternoon, but is expected to make about 800 barrels a day when the mud is eliminated.

O'Dea No. 3, the Barnsdall's other completion, flowed 763 barrels during an actual gauge of nine hours, or at the rate of about 2000 barrels a day. Gravity of the oil is 42.4 deg., the cut being less than 1 per cent. The well is 4340 feet deep, and is an offset to the Union Oil Company's Rosecrans No. 1, the well which first found the oil sand in the Rosecrans field. O'Dea No. 3 is making about 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas in addition to the oil production, it is said, and the pressure is registering 600 pounds on the casinghead, and 300 pounds on the tubing.

Oil Exports Jump

Exports of petroleum from Los Angeles Harbor during the month of February registered a substantial increase over exports for the month of January, in spite of the fact that the latter month had three more days in it, and showed an increase of approximately 25 per cent over exports for February, 1924, according to official reports.

Figures compiled by the marine exchange of the Chamber of Commerce show that a total of 8,179,886 barrels of oil was shipped from the local port during last month. During January a total of 7,808,920 barrels of oil was shipped, while the figures for February last year showed exports of 6,534,131 barrels. Exports for February, 1924, were the lowest for any month of the year.

Exports from Los Angeles Harbor during February were as follows:

Crude	4,213,908
Fuel	2,740,745
Gasoline	920,648
Distillate	7,532
Diesel	79,230
Kerosene	138,058
Naphtha	79,757
Total	8,179,886

Making Hole Again

The Union Oil Company has drilled out the cement in its Newlin wildcat well at Ocean Park Heights, and is again drilling ahead at 1584 feet, according to official reports. That the Union does not intend to pass up anything, is indicated by the fact the drillers are already taking cores, although no oil sands are expected at this shallow depth. A gray sand was taken out in the core barrel yesterday, which, according to geologists who examined it, is likely to carry water.

Gets Showing

The Union Oil Company is nearing the productive horizon in its Escolle No. 15 well in the northern end of the Santa Maria fields, according to field reports. The well is in proven territory, where production is found at about 3000 feet. A core carrying good showings of oil sand was taken out of the hole yesterday at 2391 feet.

Buys Race-Track Area

The St. Helens Petroleum Corporation, controlled by British interests, and operating in the northern and southern fields of California, has acquired a twenty-acre tract of land in the northwestern district of the Inglewood field, according to reports. The property is located southwest of the Oscar Howard well, and includes a portion of the area covered by the Culver City race track.

No Showings Yet

The Universal Consolidated well in the Inglewood field, located on the Youngworth lease in the Culver City area, is down 2050 feet, and has had no oil showings at this depth, according to field reports. Formation so far has been chiefly sandy shale, it is said. This well is located farther down on the plunge of the Inglewood structure than most of the other drilling projects in the field, and is not expected to pick up the sand as shallow as the wells already completed.

Production Jumps

California daily production jumped 3000 barrels during the week ending February 21, according to estimates of the American Petroleum Institute, released yesterday. The production for the State was reported at 601,000 barrels a day, as against 598,100 barrels for the previous week.

National production increased 12,500 barrels, from 1,933,100 barrels to 1,947,600 barrels, Oklahoma's daily output increased from 483,200 to 484,200 barrels.

Test Ocean Field

Summerland, one of the oldest oil fields in Santa Barbara county, is to be immediately developed by the drilling of the first deep well. The town is four miles south of Santa Barbara and oil has been produced there from shallow wells since 1893. Ninety lots in the town were sold at public-tax collector's auction yesterday and later it was announced that oil leases had been taken on virtually all of them.

The action to dispose of the lots which had been held by the State for more than thirty years was backed by oil promoters. The present production of the shallow Summerland oil wells, many of which are drilled in the ocean, average about three barrels a day. George F. Becker, Summerland oil promoter, obtained the majority of the leases on the property sold yesterday and, according to records, he controls a large amount of the land soon to be tested.

Unpropitious Indian Report Bolsters Grain

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 3.—Unfavorable crop reports from India, with private cables claiming that there would probably be no wheat for export from that country this season, combined with dry weather and crop damage talk from the American Northwest, advanced prices sharply, but failed to get into new ground for any delivery. Closing trades were within a fraction of the top, with net gains of 2⅝@3½c, with July leading. May finished at 1.99¼@1.99⅜, July 1.73⅝@1.74 and September 1.56@1.56¼. Corn gained ⅝@⅞c, with May 1.35⅝@1.35¾, July 1.37¼@1.37 and September 1.36@1.35⅞. Oats were ⅝@⅞c higher and rye up 1¼@1½c.

The greater part of the trade in May wheat was between 1.98 and 1.99, the market running into heavy profit-taking sales on swells above the latter figure, and offerings were quickly absorbed around the inside price. The top price of 1.99⅝ was reached shortly before the close in sympathy with July. There was aggressive buying of the latter delivery by strong commission houses and it went to around 25½c under May, against 32c under recently. Houses with southwestern connections led the buying of the July and much new buying is coming into that delivery.

Broomhall has revised his estimate on world's import requirements of wheat upward by 32,000,000 bushels and now figures them at 752,000,000 bushels, of which 294,000,000 bushels must be secured between the 1st inst. and July 30. He figures the United States can clear 60,000,000 bushels, Canada 84,000,000 bushels, Argentine 78,000,000 bushels, Australia 54,000,000 bushels, India 15,000,000 bushels and other countries 2,000,000. His estimate was regarded as bullish, especially in view of official cables indicating some damage in India, while the figures on the United States are above any of the private estimates as to the quantities this country has to spare after allowing for a carry over of 75,000,000 bushels.

Unfavorable crop reports from India were largely responsible for the advance of ⅝@1½d in wheat in Liverpool. The latter is due to come 1@1½d higher on the basis on the action in American markets today. Russia was reported buying Canadian wheat at the Pacific Coast, but the general foreign demand at the Atlantic seaboard was slow, with sales of 250,000 to 300,000 bushels. The official Kansas weekly crop report confirmed damage to the new winter crop in parts of that State.

Outside interest in corn is not nearly as large as in wheat, but there was fair support on all dips, and the close was within a fraction of the top. The cash basis was 1@6c lower, as compared with May, with No. 5 grades leading the decline, while the eastern demand continues very slow.

Oat and rye markets were influenced largely by the action of other grains, with no improvement in the domestic or export demand reported. Fully 50 per cent of the Kansas oats acreage has been seeded in the southern countries. Nothing was heard regarding export sales of rye at the seaboard.

Provisions ranged higher in the face of heavy profit-taking sales of lard by commission houses, the selling being offset by a sharp advance in hog prices and the strength in grains. Lard closed 2½@5c higher, with ribs up 12½@15c and bellies 27½@30c. Deliveries on March contracts were 50,000 pounds.

LIVE-STOCK MARKET

LOS ANGELES MARKET

Cattle—Moderately active demand developed for yesterday's small supply and a fair clearance was made at barely steady prices. Steers predominated in the run and spots on these showed some weakness. The bulk of steers, mostly 850 to 1140 pounds weights, cleared from 7.40 to 8.00, the latter price being paid for two loads of good 1137 pound Utahs. Two loads of good light sold at 8.40. Common steers sold downward from 6.50, with a few on the canner order as low as 3.25.

A load of 831 pounds northern heifers realized 6.15, with small lots upward to 6.75. The price spread of 4.50 to 5.75 took in the bulk of fat cows and heifers. Canners and cutters turned largely from 2.25 to 3.75. Bulls held about steady, most bolognas clearing from 4.00 to 4.75, with beef bulls, largely fed kinds, from 5.00 to 5.10.

Calves—Yesterday's small supply, mostly holdovers, sold readily at around steady prices. Two loads of Texas calves averaging 198 and 262 pounds cleared for 6.00 and 7.00, respectively, the lower priced kinds going out for a short turn in the feed lot. Odd head of milk calves sold upward to 11.00, with "bobs" from 4.00 to 5.00.

Hogs—Packers stubbornly resisted any advance yesterday and only about half the offerings had sold at a late hour. Prices were very uneven, mostly steady to 10 cents lower. Today's top was 13.60, paid for 165 to 190 pound butchers; however, several loads of butchers were held around 14.00 but remained unsold at a late hour. The price spread of 13.50 to 13.60 took in the bulk of 165 to 190 pound weights. Light lights sold downward to 13.15, while a load of 110-pound pigs realized 11.60. Packing sows held around steady, the small supply going over around 10.75.

Sheep—Nothing was offered in the ovine division and in the general opinion of the trade, choice handy weight wooled lambs are quotable from 16.00 to 16.50.

COTTON FUTURES IN REACTION AFTER GAIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Cotton futures reacted today after an early advance to new high levels for the movement, and the near positions ended 2 points higher to 1 point lower, while new crop months were down 15 to 18 points. The liquidating by southern houses and local profit taking which brought about the decline was counteracted by renewed speculative purchases which served to mitigate the reaction.

Spot cotton, 26.05, unchanged.

"BROWNINGS AIN'T SUCH A MUCH"

Swain Thought He Could do Better Than Famous High-brow Poet Pair if Another Man's Wife Would be His; He's So Harmless Husband is Denied Decree testimony in the suit of Otto for divorce from Clara did not do much harm Mr. Leesman's reputation—for Summerfield denied a di- to her husband—but some was certainly rough on the poetry team of Brown- & Browning.

For there was a co-respondent the one who, according to a Leesman brought into court, himself several para- in advance of either of the as a producer of verse in support of which he submitted brief samples own art.

thus singing his love- the writer of the letter the efforts of the with the following com-

"I don't think enough of their poetry to have a volume of their poems in my collection."

The Brownings entered the lives of the Leesmans and Breeden by way of the latter's ambition, as set forth in the letter, to become one of a twosome to outshine them.

"My own precious one, your poetry is fine. Maybe, darling, we will be another Robert and Mrs. Browning. I'll tell you what we'll do. We'll take a course in the University of California in writing. You know the Brownings were poets and were married and wrote together. Why not we?" the letter suggested. "I think I write better verse than either one, and you would think so, too, when you read them."

"We must just meet at dances once in a while and dance and dance. Be firm with our souls and control our lives and appear to the world as just good, kind friends, even though our poor souls are seething like vo'canoes, and our lips are trembling to meet—trembling to meet—one pure, esthetic kiss," the letter admonished.

Leesman enlightened the court as to his wife and the "other man" as follows:

"He is a little runt.

"She has been my wife twenty-one years."

DOG OUSTS JUDGE FROM BENCH

"Wolfheart" Shows Court Some of His Tricks in Suit of Trainer for Fees; Producer Declares Canine Fell Down on Job for Film Purposes

German police dog, open in a canine grin, court for a few brief yesterday from the bench Marchetti's court.

dog ousted Justice Mar- the bench in one great ordered by his master his tricks. He remained possession until called off owner, O. C. Jungwirth.

Wolfheart, as the dog is known, taken into court by Jung- to bolster up his suit for which he asks as a train- from Charles R. Seeling, -picture producer. In his Jungwirth charged that he another dog for Seel- that the latter had re- to pay him his fee. Seeling, however, maintains that the animal trained by Jungwirth had proved useless for film purposes and that Wolfheart himself had fallen down on the job when he attempted to use him in a picture.

To show that Wolfheart was an expertly trained dog Jungwirth had the animal go through his paces in the courtroom. Then he gave him an order to mount the bench. The dog sprang through the air directly at Justice Marchetti. The latter rose with some alacrity and retreated, leaving the dog in sole possession of the bench.

The demonstration of the animal's prowess sufficed for the court. Justice Marchetti continued the hearing until today.

BUSINESS CONTINUES PROSPEROUS

Some Hesitation Reported in Bank Review, But Basis is Well Grounded

Commenting on business conditions in the United States, the Mechanics and Metals National Bank of New York reports, in its March review:

"Business throughout the United States is active, but it has to some extent slackened the pace of the forward movement that began shortly after November's election. The logic of the situation suggests some reduction in the manufacture and movement of goods, but this does not signify a culmination of any major business cycle. The reasons underlying the recent forward movement have been too well grounded for that. Measured by all normal standards, the country is in a prosperous condition, and the prospect is one of continuing activity.

"There is a strong buying power which is being favorably and intelligently employed. Output and demand are well balanced, and inventories are relatively small. The banking and credit structure is thoroughly sound, with money quoted at rates lower than the average in a number of years. Politics, national and international, are encouraging to constructive business.

"So many known factors favor good times that with the country's entrance upon spring, bringing moderate weather and opportunities for open-air work, it is not possible to be pessimistic over the immediate prospect. In every part of the country there is a large accumulation of wealth and an abundant energy and capacity, while so far as export markets are concerned, depression abroad has been turned into definite progress. The West, which was unhappily situated up to the middle of 1924, has had a large measure of purchasing power restored to it, and what is more, there has come about a correction of an important weakness, namely, the glaring inequality in the American price structure which existed from the time of the depression in 1921 up to last year. Prices for farm products as a whole are higher than at any time since 1922, and many farmers have paid off obligations and find themselves again on a solid financial basis."

Existing Call Rate to Stand Until March 15

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Wall street bankers expect the present high rates for call money to continue until after the 15th inst. The relatively scarcity of funds for stock market purposes at present is due to the unusually heavy demands for funds for month-end disbursements and quarterly interest and dividend requirements.

Traffic on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe since the first of the year shows improvement over the same period last year, loadings to February 27 totaling 273,528 cars against 255,354 in the corresponding period of 1923.

Class A and Class B stocks of Armour & Co. are now listed on the San Francisco Stock Exchange due to the large oversubscription from Pacific Coast buyers under the recent stock offering. The shares also are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange and application soon will be made to list them on the New York Stock Exchange.

February bank clearings reported to Bradstreet's from 124 cities aggregated $36,729,074,000, a decrease of 18.86 per cent from January, but a gain of 11.5 per cent over January a year ago.

Weakness of St. Paul Railway stocks and bonds today aroused further disquieting rumors in the financial district that court proceedings might be resorted to in order to solve the road's refunding problems. Unless a satisfactory plan can be devised to take care of the road's $48,000,000 bond maturities, this year, St. Paul officials already have indicated that a reorganization will be the only alternative.

R. G. Dun & Co. reports 1793 commercial failures, involving $40,123,017, in February, as compared with 2317 defaults, involving $54,354,053, in January, and 1730, totaling $35,942,037, in February, 1924.

New corporations formed in February numbered 543 and represented a total capital investment of $431,200,200, according to a compilation of the Journal of Commerce. Many of the new enterprises were oil and gas companies, which had an aggregate capitalization of $45,607,000.

Red Cross to Accept Bed in Maternity Home

Formal acceptance will be voted tomorrow by the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Red Cross of an offer of a free bed for the wives of American war veterans at the new Sylvan Lodge Maternity Home, Hoover street and Santa Monica Boulevard. According to D. C. MacWatters, president of the local Red Cross, the offer of the Sylvan Lodge Hospital is the first received by the Red Cross of this nature and one which meets a definite need.

Every facility that science affords will be at the disposal of the veteran's dependant during confinement, the director of the hospital, Mrs. Donna E. Bell, said yesterday. The hospital is the latest to be constructed in Los Angeles, comprising seventy beds and including prenatal and postnatal care.

Plans are in preparation for the dedication of the hospital bed for the Red Cross on the occasion of the formal opening of the institution, Saturday, March 14. Mabel Boardman, national head of the organization, is expected to be present at the exercises of presentation.

FLAXSEED IS WEAKER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DULUTH (Minn.) March 3.—The local market for flaxseed displayed a weak tone throughout the session today but buying on all breaks by crushers held the declines within comparatively narrow range, losses of 1 to 2 cents being shown at the close with March, 3.11; April, 3.11; May, 3.11½; July, 3.08; track, 3.11@3.17; arrive, 3.11. Minneapolis flaxseed demand very good; No. 1 seed spot, 3.14@3.22; to arrive, 3.11@3.16; receipts, 86 cars; last year, 7 cars.

GAIN PREDICTED IN CHINA TRADE

Steamship Man Forecasts Benefits Due to Pacts

Southland Products Export Stimulation Seen

Great Norwegian Tankship on Maiden Trip Due Today

Recent trade agreements between the United States and China will result in the re-establishment of better credits with that country which, in turn, will be reflected by a stimulated export trade from Los Angeles Harbor of much additional cotton, petroleum products and a number of other Southland items, according to John McLaurin, representative of a number of steamship lines, operator of a brokerage office and freight forwarding offices in the city and at the harbor.

This, he said, would transpire despite the revolutionary activities, which have served as a distinct setback and a temporary discontinuance of much credit. This was particularly true of foreign credit which Mr. McLaurin asserts by its momentary withdrawal gave American houses a rare opening, and the Yankees have made the most of the opportunity.

Los Angeles Harbor also daily witnesses the growth of an indirect trade with the Orient, that of transshipment freight, both from the Orient to the Atlantic Coast by way of the Pacific Coast, and from the Atlantic to the Orient, via this Coast.

Another move is in contemplation by one of Japan's largest steamship companies, calling for direct sailings eastbound from the Orient to this port, proceeding thence to San Francisco, instead of going first to San Francisco and then calling here. Should such arrangement be made, and it is based on representations of a saving of two or three days' sailing time per ship per trip, Los Angeles would benefit by much transshipment freight which at present is handled at San Francisco.

VARANGAR COMING HERE FROM AMSTERDAM

The new Norwegian motor tankship Varangar is scheduled to arrive on her maiden voyage today, fresh from the shipyards at Amsterdam, and one of the greatest tankships afloat, according to local officials. She is the first of two built at the Amsterdam yards, the second being scheduled for arrival here shortly, both said to be under long-time charter to the General Petroleum Corporation, and both expected to operate out of this port indefinitely. She will sail for Europe tomorrow with her first cargo in the gasoline trade.

The gasoline launch Elvira, which has swung at anchor at the California Yacht Club since its owner, I. Katz, was mysteriously slain in his apartments at Los Angeles six months ago, will be sold at public auction at 11 a.m. the 6th inst., at the yacht club, by A. C. Sittel, United States Marshal. The Elvira was a post-war built craft, built in Germany, is of steel hull and has cabin accommodations for upward of a dozen persons. She was purchased a year and a half ago by a Seattle theatrical man, and after a cruise to Alaska was brought here and sold to Mr. Katz. The purse seiner Thaddeus also will go under Sittel's hammer at Catalina Terminal, Wilmington, at 11 a.m. on the 17th inst.

Librarian Ruth M. Moore of the San Pedro Public Library announces a special exhibit for nautically inclined persons at the library. A number of marine paintings, and models of full-rigged ships are on exhibition, and the library is calling particular attention to the hundreds of volumes on the shelves devoted to many forms of maritime intelligence, from navigation to the study of sea life.

The Transmarine freighter Sugillenco discharged a large number of automobile bodies in 1800 tons of cargo consigned to this port, following her arrival from Newark, N. J., yesterday. The Sudawsonco of the same line will stop for bunkers eastbound tomorrow with 3,000,000 board feet of Northwest lumber and a large consignment of ore, and on the same day the Sulanierco is due from Cuba en route to Vancouver with 5000 tons of sugar.

George Leary, who has been first officer on the Hammond Lumber Company steamer San Pedro, sailed north yesterday in command of the Trinidad, succeeding Capt. John Biecha, who has left the Hammond service after years in their employ.

LOCAL LINE TO HAVE CITY PASSENGER AGENT

In order that the present travel, both on the coastwise liners Yale and Harvard and the Honolulu liners City of Los Angeles and Calawaii, may be handled with greatest possible efficiency, and in anticipation of even heavier bookings for the spring and summer months, the office of city passenger agent for the Los Angeles Steamship Company has been created to be filled immediately by Paul L. Beemer, former general agent for the Yosemite Transportation System, Yosemite National Park, according to an announcement by R. F. Cullen, general passenger agent for the steamship company. Prior to his long association with the Yosemite Transportation System, Beemer was general agent at Ogden, Utah, for the Union Pacific Railroad.

From all indications, travel between the coast ports of San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego on the Yale and Harvard is steadily increasing, Cullen stated. World-traveled passengers recently arriving at Wilmington aboard one of these liners remarked that not even on the Mediterranean along the shores of sunny Italy, had they view deeper-hued or more placid waters with bluer skies and a more picturesque white shoreline in the distance than they had just experienced on their trip down the California coast.

The men under arrest are William Hunt, 22 years of age, alias William Melody, 23, a former pugilist, and Lawrence Bryan.

The suspects were traced through two girl companions.

When their cases came up before Police Judge Jacks this morning, the matter was continued over to next Saturday and the girls were permitted to go free. Detectives shadowed the young women upon their departure from court and heard them telephone to Hunt to "ditch" his glasses, because they were mentioned in the description of the bandits.

Part of the jewelry taken in the hold-up was found in rooms of the suspects.

Ban Dogs After Vicious Attack by Mad Coyote

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YREKA, March 3.—Unless ranchers, Indians and other owners of miscellaneous and sundry dogs in Siskiyou county get rid of the animals within a limited time, a quarantine on dogs will be sought by Dr. Charles Pius, county health officer.

The pronouncement by the physician came as the climax to the attack by a mad coyote on Mrs. Arthur P. Williams and John Sissel of Gazelle. The coyote, virulent with rabies, bit Sissel about the legs and later jumped to the back of a horse on which Mrs. Williams was riding and bit her severely about the hands before she choked the animal unconscious, and it was later beaten to death with a club. The injured people were taken to Weed, where the Pasteur treatment is being administered.

The ban on dogs is to anticipate an outbreak of rabies with the coming of warm weather.

CHILD LABOR ACT REPORT GIVEN HOUSE

Hughes Lists Fourteen Rejections; Amendment Fate Still Undecided

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A letter from Secretary Hughes naming fourteen States which have formally registered with the State Department their rejection of the child labor amendment to the Constitution was read into the Congressional Record today by Representative Andrew, Republican, Massachusetts.

The States listed by Secretary Hughes were: Georgia, Kansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Connecticut, Delaware, Louisiana, South Caroline, Vermont, Massachusetts, Texas and South Dakota. With respect to North Dakota and Massachussetts, he added that the department was informed of the rejection by the Senate of the amendment, and in the case of Louisiana, by House.

Mr. Hughes's letter threw no light on the question of whether the action of these States in view of the three-fourth majority requirement for ratification of constitutional amendments, has definitely killed the proposal. The right of a State to reconsider a decision on an amendment, it was recalled, never has been passed upon by the Supreme Court.

C. C. The actual number was 1,736,699 persons, as compared with 1,793,779 a year ago.

RANT INTERESTS WIN IN TRUST SUIT FOR $1,200,000

ederal Court Holds Easton Failed to Show Secret Agreement With Man Now Dead

Following a trial that began last September and that con- twenty trial days in court, Federal Judge McCormick found for the defense in the suit for $1,200,000 by E. E. Easton against Mrs. Susan T. Brant, the River Land Company and others. Judge McCormick the plaintiff had failed to establish his claim that in No- 1917, a secret express trust was entered into between and O. F. Brant by which Brant agreed to hold Mex- land and manage and sell it for Easton's account and bene-

Judge McCormick gave his opin- after six hours of argu- had closed late in the after- Attorneys E. E. Millikin L. Lewinson of Los Angeles for the defendant, and At- M. P. Fraiser of Los An- and E. E. Hendee of San for the plaintiff. In the argument Attorney Lew- referred to the fact that the included twenty volumes and 102 exhibits.

ISSUE OF FACT

Lewinson said the one of fact in the case could be briefly by the question: "Is a fabricator?" He said plaintiff relied on—his allega- on vague and general oral of a deceased person, O. F. Brant, former vice- and general manager of Title Insurance and Trust who died in 1922.

Millikin made an ex- reference in his argument charge previously made by that Easton had lured Mr. from his office on March 1920, to inspect some lands vicinity of Beverly, and then had taken Mr. Brant to a garage on West Pico street the city limits and there, assistance of another bound and gagged Mr. The alleged kidnaping, ac- to the defense, was for of forcing Mr. Brant five documents consisting agreement signed by Brant he promised to give in bonds to Easton if valuable Mexican lands sold to interests on the side of the border, a denouncing certain business of Brant's, a request Brant to Easton asking the to accompany him on a Mexico, and two notes for each.

McCormick stated he was prepared to say he believed testimony as to the alleged He said it might be in view of the fact that occurrences often came to in court. Some features of alleged kidnaping, he said, not quite in accordance with facts of the case. He said, it was evident some of documents signed by Brant had been signed voluntarily.

"I can't believe Easton gave the a true account of the situation when he said he left certain matters with Mr. Brant to be handled as he saw fit," the court explained.

Judge McCormick said there were features of the case concerning the truth of which he would never be able to satisfy himself. These, however, he added, were incidental to the main issue. The relation between Easton and Brant, he said, may never be known.

Reviewing the evidence, Judge McCormick referred to the fact that Brant had become acquainted with Easton when the latter came from San Francisco where he had lost property by fire. The court said it appeared from the circumstances that Brant, being well off, had associated himself with Easton not so much with a view of profiting thereby as for the purpose of aiding the latter.

It was the conclusion of the court that Easton had experienced a change of attitude toward Brant because Easton became chagrined over an improvident deal. He said it was unusual that Easton, with so much at stake, had waited until after Brant's death before presenting his claims to a court. Being a shrewd business man, Judge McCormick said, it was not likely that Easton would have been deceived by such a secret trust as was said to have been entered into between him and Brant in November, 1917.

OPINION OF COURT

In reviewing the evidence and the various phases of the case, Judge McCormick said, in part, in his opinion:

"I cannot help but feel that some matter has been concealed or some matter is unknown. I cannot think that it is unknown to Mr. Easton. I am satisfied that the defendant's counsel are not apprised of it and have not been given any information . . . I feel that both sides have been very frank and fair in the presentation of the case. There is something in the relation existing between Mr. Easton and Mr. Brant that has not been disclosed in the case. There was some power that Mr. Easton had over this deceased, who was known as a man of business acumen and who surely was successful in the conduct of material business, who was able to amass, by reason of his ingenuity and skill, a considerable fortune.

"I think there was a common impulse, a common disposition between the two men. I think they were alike in many respects. They had this promoting genius, or, at least, they had the promoting propensity in common. One of them, as the evidence shows, was perhaps more successful than the other.

"The principle of law that the

WEBB ATTACKS SPIRITUALISTS

State to Ask Association's Charter be Revoked

City Prosecutor Also Signs Complaint

Organization is Accused of Violating Law

Entrance of Atty.-Gen. Webb on behalf of the people of the State of California, into the tangled affairs of the National Independent Spiritualist Association, Inc., will come today with the filing of quo warranto proceedings in Superior Court asking the revocation of the organization's charter, according to an announcement by Dep. Atty.-Gen. Widney yesterday.

In the complaint, which is jointly signed by the Attorney-General and City Prosecutor Friedlander, a group of offenses, all of which are averred to be in violation of the association's charter rights, are charged.

The first four sections of the complaint are devoted to verbatim extracts from the charter and by-laws of the organization in which it is set forth that the spiritualist body was incorporated as a non-profit organization and chartered to issue ordination certificates and perform other duties of a bona fide church corporation with that purpose only in view.

In Section 5, it is set forth that the corporation was prohibited "from engaging in or carrying on business for profit and was and is further prohibited by said laws from engaging in or exercising any other function or activity than those for which it was organized and incorporated."

STATE'S ACCUSATION

Notwithstanding which and in violation of the laws of the State of California and the provisions of its constitution and by-laws, for two or three years last past, defendant has engaged in the business of bartering and selling: Certificates of ordination as a Minister of the Gospel and Philosophy of Spiritualism, commissions as spiritual healers, commissions as missionaries, auxiliary charters for the conduction of National Independent Spiritualist Association Churches, lyceums, schools and demonstration circles, and in bartering and selling said certificates, commissions and charters at the best obtainable price for profit to any person and persons regardless of character, reputation and qualification, thereby misusing the franchise conferred upon it by the State of California and aiding, abetting and protecting criminals, bunko workers, fakers and frauds to such an extent that it has worked a substantial injury to the public of the State of California, in violation of the fundamental conditions of the contract by which the franchise was granted and is held, and defeating the purposes and intent of said grant.

"Wherefore, plaintiff prays judgment that this defendant be excluded from all corporate rights, privileges and franchises and that said defendant corporation be dissolved and that plaintiff have such further relief as may be proper in the premises, together with its costs incurred therein."

FIRST FILED IN YEARS

The complaint, to be filed directly by the Attorney-General, is the first to be so filed in the past several years, it was learned yesterday.

"We hope that this matter may be brought to an issue at the earliest possible time so that the illegal acts of this association and its officers can no longer be done under color of law," Prosecutor Friedlander said last night. "It is our intention to render the Attorney-General and his assistants ev-

LIES' DAMAGE PROVED REAL

Letter and Interview Indicate Harm Done to State; Friendship Contest's Value Made Evident

How widespread is the damage done to California by recent adverse publicity and what the Friendship Contest of letter-writing is accomplishing toward offsetting it is shown in news and comment published herewith from Key West, Fla., Santa Barbara, Pasadena and Albany, N. Y.

In other words, here is proof that the damage is real and substantial and accompanying it is evidence that friendship letters can counteract it. If you have not written that letter back east, do it today. Write another tomorrow. Write one each of the six more days of the Friendship Contest. It closes at 6 p.m. next Tuesday.

Get in line for the distribution of prizes. Enter a copy of your letter in the contest. There is no reason why you should not make yourself eligible with the others. Of course, you are going to write. Then take the slight added trouble necessary—the rules appear in an adjoining column—to qualify for a share in the $3250 offered in cash prizes.

And keep on writing, after the contest is over, whenever the occasion for a helpful letter shows itself. It will take a long time to prevail over the evil done before the contest began.

A. L. Richmond, president of the Arlington Hotel at Santa Barbara, sends The Times a letter written from the Casa Marina, Key West, Fla., under date of January 27, last, by Harry E. Knapp, a former guest at the Arlington, showing the state of mind provoked by the income tax canard that went the rounds of the press earlier this year. Mr. Knapp had intended to come to Southern California for a stay of two years or more.

"And now, behold!" he writes, "what has your Legislature done? Arranged to tax all visitors for every cent they own back home and

OIL FIRE SMOKE PALL BRINGS DARKNESS, TIES UP TRAFFIC, HINDERS BABIES' BREATHING

Traffic congestion and smoke that hung in a heavy blanket over different parts of the city followed a fire that burned over more than fifty acres of the old La Brea oil fields in West Hollywood yesterday afternoon.

The black smoke grew so thick in different sections of Hollywood, particularly near the fire, that motorists were reported unable to proceed on account of poor visibility and two calls were sent in to the Sheriff's office for men to clear the traffic.

Considerable inconvenience to residents of West Hollywood was also reported. In some instances mothers declared their babies had difficulty in breathing and lights were reported out in certain sections as a result of light-wire poles catching fire. The city fire department was flooded with calls asking for information about the blaze.

The largest blazes and blackest smoke developed, it was reported, when the fire crept into oil-sump holes. Many of the old derricks that thickly covered the acreage were burned, as was a barn used by a construction crew.

No one was injured by the fire and no serious damage was reported. The ground was recently purchased by a real estate firm that intends to improve it for subdivision purposes, it was said by county fire fighters who last night worked to prevent the spread of the flames. The first alarm of the fire sent several companies of city fire apparatus to the scene. The smoke, driven by the wind, settled heavily in Glendale, Highland Park and South Pasadena, clouding the sky so densely that motorists had to use their headlights long before sunset.

TRIUMPHAL STAR TOUR IS HARD HIT

Public Indifferent and Losses Delay Salaries; Miss Haver Released

Dispatches from Omaha yesterday reported that the triumphal tour of a dozen film celebrities of the Cosmic Production Company, undertaken to advertise the stars and the coming pictures of the company, is not altogether satisfactory.

The difficulties encountered on the tour were disclosed, according to dispatches, at the close of a three-hour session of the stars and the managers of the tour, H. A. Devaux and H. L. Tighe. The managers are reported to have asked for more time to make up losses sustained so far because of lack of enthusiasm on the part of the public to see the stars. The stars were scheduled to have appeared last night at a Shrine ball in Omaha.

Before the close of the meeting Miss Phyllis Haver, one of the stars, was given her release, and Miss Anna May Wong, the oriental star of the organization, was told she could go back to California if she did not want to stop talking so much. To Bryant Washburn, Cullen Landis, Ena Gregory, Ruth Stonehouse, Carl Miller, Jack Dougherty, Katherine McGuire, Helen Holmes, Joe Murphy and a number of others, Tighe said if they would stick by him until the party reached richer fields in the East, he would be able to pay salaries in full.

CITY TELEPHONE 'IMPRACTICABLE'

Mayor's Campaign Issue Gets Setback

Utilities Board's Experts Report Against It

Not Feasible Nor Desirable Declares Leeds

Mayor Cryer's campaign proposal for municipal ownership of the telephone system received a serious setback yesterday in the report of Chief Engineer Marsh of the Board of Public Utilities, which was made public, and an accompanying comment by Walter R. Leeds, acting president of the utilities board, which declared the plan is "neither feasible nor desirable."

The Mayor had asked the board for a report by its engineer on the desirability and feasibility of the taking over by the city of the properties of the Southern California Telephone Company, and expected, it was believed, that he would get considerable campaign material in this way.

The Mayor had asked certain specific questions which are answered by Mr. Marsh. While the engineer does not express an opinion regarding the matter, he connects certain detached facts in his report with fatal result to the whole scheme, if it should ever reach the point of realization.

For instance there is a slight obstacle such as this: The unused bonding capacity of the city, "conservatively estimated" by the City Auditor is $81,000,000. The telephone property acquisition would require a bond issue of from $90,700,000, as estimated by the Railroad Commission, and $101,000,000, the company's own claim of fair value.

Mr. Marsh in his report says: "The service rendered by the Southern California Telephone Company is not as good as an old and established city the size of Los Angeles has a right to expect. On account of the rapid growth of this city, the plant of the company is continuing to undergo vast changes and additions, and these changes and additions to a certain extent are derogatory to the furnishing of the best service, and to that degree the service will be impaired, no matter by whom the plant is operated. However, all indications and checks available show that the service has been considerably improved over the deplorable condition existing two years ago."

"It may also be well to consider that in the next few years, demands for funds, which can only be supplied from the sale of the city's bonds, will be many and insistent and it is certain that they can not all be met. This means that the city will have to make a choice as to which desires shall be realized—those for things which we do not possess, or those for merely bettering existing conditions.

"While it may be admitted that the public ownership and operation or the public ownership with private operation of certain public utilities may be more advantageous to the consumers as to rates or service, or both, if such ownership is to result only in a mere betterment of conditions of one utility and can be had only at the sacrifice of the enjoyment in its entirety of some other desirable public acquisitions, there might arise a grave question as to the desirability of acquiring the one that is only to be improved.

"For instance: if the purchase of the telephone system for its possible betterment only should operate to prevent the acquisition of a rapid transit system, it might prove to be too great a sacrifice for the relatively small gain. There is a practical certainty that more money will be needed in the near future for harbor improvements, for further water development, for railway rapid transit, for civic center, for necessary grade separations, for help on street openings and widenings and perhaps other things, and as stated above, this money can only be obtained from the sale of city bonds. It is not with any desire to belittle the possible advantage of public ownership of public utilities that attention is drawn to these considerations."

President Leeds in explaining his position, said:

"I concur in this report entirely out of deference to my associates.

"The Mayor has asked us cer-

CITY HALL DEADLOCK HOLDS

Council Votes to Instruct Public Service Board to Employ Curlett & Beelman

The deadlock over selection of architects for the new City Hall continued yesterday. The City Council voted to instruct the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance instructing the Board of Public Works to employ Curlett & Beelman to construct the building.

It is understood on good authority that the Board of Public Works, which wants to employ John C. Austin, John Parkinson and Albert C. Martin, will not follow the instructions of this ordinance, holding that the board has full power to select an architect.

Members of the City Council feel that under the present city charter the Council has the right to instruct any board except the Civil Service Board. The new city charter, which will not become effective until July, admittedly would give the Board of Public Works the power in a case like the present one. In the vote yesterday Councilman Allan alone opposed the motion to attempt to force the Board of Public Works to accept the architects the Council wants. Mr. Gregory was absent. Mr. Allan said that while he preferred Curlett & Beelman for a job of this kind, for the sake of harmony he thought the Council should acquiesce. He said nobody on the Council doubted the ability of Messrs. Austin, Parkinson and Martin to construct a building of this magnitude. Mr. Mallard also recommended some compromise that might prevent a delay of construction of the new City Hall. He hinted that the Board of Public Works might tie the matter up in the courts until after the new charter goes into effect.

No statement was forthcoming from the Board of Public Works. It will be several days before the ordinance is returned to the Council. It is understood to be the consensus of the Board of Public Works members that they have both the legal and the moral right to select an architect, the latter because they must supervise the construction of the $5,000,000 building and be responsible for the work.

The Mayor has final power in the matter. He may veto the ordinance instructing the board what architect to employ; or, with the Council's sanction, he may remove the Board of Public Works for failing to comply with the ordi-

LOS ANGELES PORT BILL IS SIGNED BY COOLIDGE

Joint Harbor Committee Starts Work to Meet Conditions on $6,500,000 Measure

President Coolidge last night signed the bill passed Monday by the Senate authorizing the expenditure of $6,500,000 of Federal funds for improvement of Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor, according to Associated Press dispatches, from Washington. This item was contained in the $41,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization measure.

Details of the steps which must be taken by this city to conform to the provisions of the appropriation were given yesterday by Burt A. Heinly, executive secretary of the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred.

The Federal appropriation is divided into two parcels, one of $3,500,000 being for the construction of two arms of a proposed breakwater which, when linked with the existing breakwater, will provide a completely inclosed harbor. This appropriation is conditional and in no event will the money be available before June 30, 1926, Mr. Heinly said. The second appropriation, of $3,000,000, is for dredging and allied improvement costs, available for use unconditionally.

The conditions which must be fulfilled to utilize the breakwater appropriation are two, namely:

Establishment of a port district.

Unification of railroad facilities serving the port, either through municipal acquisition or harmonized co-operation of existing facilities.

Inasmuch as the creation of the port district is the foremost consideration and is a matter which must ultimately be decided upon at the polls by popular vote, whereas the problem of serving lines is one to be determined by the municipalities and corporations involved, the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred is focusing its attention on the machinery necessary to supply the port district demanded.

LEGISLATIVE BILL

To this end, a bill has been prepared by the committee, through a subcommittee, which is to be presented at the present session of the State Legislature by a delegation from Los Angeles and Long Beach. Actual drafting of the document was done by former Judge Leslie R. Hewitt, in consultation with the following subcommittee members: City Attorney Jess E. Stephens of Los Angeles, with whom was associated Clyde Leach, attorney for the Harbor Bureau; City Attorney Bruce Mason of Long Beach; Shannon Crandall, vice-president and manager of the California Hardware Company; Henry S. McKee, president of Barker Bros.; Attorney Harry Bauer, C. A. Buffum, president of the Buffum Department Store, and former Mayor of Long Beach; and C. E. Gordon, Harbor Commissioner of Long Beach.

The bill is known as a "permissive" measure designed to create a port district and suggesting the form of government for such a district. There is no legislation in California at the present time covering a port district, so a precedent must be set in this respect.

If the bill meets with the favor of the Legislature, it will then revert to the people of the State, the voters deciding by their ballots whether or not the port district shall become an established fact. A majority vote is necessary to carry the measure at the polls.

PROVISIONS OF BILL

As drafted, the measure covers some fifty printed pages. Summarized, its provisions follow:

The port district should consist of the municipalities of Los Angeles and Long Beach. Determination of the area so involved is based upon the tax roll of the coun-

Commerce Body to Reach Capital of Mexico Today

After a delightful trip through Arizona and the northern part of Mexico, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursionists, under the direction of Charles P. Bayer, manager of the excursion department of the chamber, will arrive at Mexico City this morning at 9 o'clock.

The party, on its way to the Mexican capital, had short visits at Tucson, Bisbee, Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Gomez Palacio, Terreon and Iraputato. While a day stop was made at El Paso and a day and a night were spent in Guadalajara. From that city the party's next stop is to be Mexico City, which is the Mecca of the excursionists.

The party will be in Mexico City for the next six days, after that the trip home will begin. On the return trip stops are planned for Queretaro, San Potosi, Aguascalientes, Durango, Ciudad Juarez and El Paso. The excursionists will arrive in Los Angeles at 4:30 p.m. on the 14th inst.

Mulholland Dam to be Dedicated by Public Fete

The Mulholland Dam, situated in the Hollywood Hills, will be dedicated at public ceremonies on the 17th inst., at 2:30 p.m., it was decided yesterday by the Board of Public Service Commissioners.

The dam, which was constructed under direction of William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Municipal Water Bureau, is nearly 200 feet high, and is considered not only one of the highest, but one of the most beautiful dams, architecturally, in the country. It is of solid concrete, being of the gravity type, arched upstream for additional safety. The dam is more than 160 feet thick at its base, 960 feet wide across the crest, and creates a reservoir for storage aqueduct water with a capacity of 8000 acre-feet.

The dam will serve nearly all of the Hollywood foothill area by gravity flow.

The Water Bureau is completing construction of an automobile driveway across the crest of the dam. This will be linked with the Mulholland Skyline Drive.

CHARGE AGAINST FILM DIRECTOR DISMISSED

A charge of disturbing the peace, made against A. E. Gillstrom, a motion-picture director with the Fine Arts Studio, was dismissed yesterday in Police Judge Chambers's court when the complainant, Mrs. Ethel Gillstrom, failed to appear. Mrs. Gillstrom lived at 5800 Carleton Way when she had her husband arrested last week, but the court was informed she has gone to New York.

CHURCHMEN FOR BLEDSOE

United Brotherhood Adopts Resolution of Indorsement; Clean Fight Promised

The United Church Brotherhood at a meeting in the First Methodist Church attended by about 200 persons last night indorsed United States District Judge Bledsoe for Mayor and pledged itself to work for his election and to support him throughout his candidacy and term of office if elected.

The indorsement came as an aftermath to a regular meeting of the organization at which the judge was scheduled to speak before he became a candidate. After he had concluded his scheduled talk on help for the country's youth, he was importuned to speak on his candidacy. He questioned the appropriateness of such a speech under the circumstances, but on insistence from his hearers he did so.

"When I agreed to speak here," Judge Bledsoe said, "I had no more intention of becoming a candidate for Mayor than I had of jumping off this building; but certain

MORE than any other people, the Japanese know what makes life worth while.

It would be impossible to think of a more charming idea than the birthday that all the little Japanese girls of Los Angeles celebrated together on Monday.

That the cherry blossoms come when girlhood blooms is a beautiful thought.

JAP DEBUTANTES

Tsuru Aoki, the Japanese actress, has told me much of the poetry of Japanese life.

She says that the training of a Japanese girl of high social position is terrible. I have written elsewhere of the ordeal of the tea-pouring ceremony. Tsuru says that the training in floral decorating is worse.

To say you understand the Japanese language of flowers is like saying you "know music." It is a never-ending study for every Japanese society girl.

"SAY IT WITH FLOWERS"

A Japanese hostess says everything she has to say with flowers.

For instance you go to a Japanese soiree some afternoon and you see from the floral decorations that the hostess has a son who is a lieutenant commander in the navy and that his ship is about to sail. Or that a daughter is about to be married.

They "say it with flowers" with a vengeance.

UNSEEN FORCES

Miss Aoki's husband is Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese actor.

Hayakawa's real profession is that of a navy officer. He is on the navy reserve list and play-acts to make money. He too has told me many strange things.

One day, we talked of the strange life forces of the East.

"You western people," he said, "Rely upon the forces you can see. We of the Orient rely upon unseen forces that you wouldn't even understand."

THE PHANTOM SHIP

He sat looking at me for a long time then he said slowly.

"I am going to tell you something that no one outside the Japanese Navy has ever known, but which is common knowledge there.

"Do you know the reason the Japanese absolutely wiped out the Russian fleet at the battle of Tsushima Straits? Well, it was because the Russians were firing at a vessel they thought they saw but which had no actual existence."

When I asked Hayakawa how come; he replied simply: "That I could not explain to you; you are not sufficiently educated."

STRANGE VIBRATIONS

There is an amazing man at the Orpheum this week who hints at the same thing.

He blows out a flame protected under a glass case by singing its key-note.

He has a tuning fork with a note so high you can't hear it; but its vibrations go through the audience like the stab of a knife. It would be unendurable to sit there were he to continue using it for more than the length of a breath. Hayakawa says that is why the walls of Jericho fell. It is easy to believe it.

INDIAN MYSTERIES

According to this Mr. Kellogg, the Indians send radio messages—and have sent them for ages—over immense distances by speaking words in a certain key into a patch of water which has a twin patch of water—perhaps hundreds of miles away.

Jim Jeffries told me once of floating down the swift current of the Colorado on a boat. He knew no runner could have made the trip in half the time; no boat passed him on the river; yet when he arrived in the wild jungles of the lower Colorado, the wild tribes were waiting for him; they knew all about him; who he was and why he was coming.

British soldiers in Egypt and India know to their cost that primitive people have some strange methods of communication beyond the white man's ken. At the mouth of the Nile, the natives all knew of the death of "Chinese Gordon"—days before the British could get the news down the river.

Altogether, there are some dern queer things in this old world.

SIGNING OF BILL IS ANTICIPATED

Conditions Must be Met to Get Breakwater

Railroad Facilities Are to be Unified

ty for 1924 and 1925. The 1924 roll, according to the compilations given by Mr. Heinly, showed Los Angeles city and Long Beach city paying 73 per cent of the county taxes. For the 1925 period, these two cities will pay 83 per cent of the county taxes. Hence, the two cities are considered the most logical areas to form the port district.

The method of establishment of the port district should be for each City Council to pass an ordinance of its own initiative, stating the name, area and other conditions of port district formation and providing for submission of the question to the people at a general or a special election. The alternative to this is for proceedings to be started by the people by the filing of petitions signed by 15 per cent of the qualified electors.

Control of the port district should be vested in a Board of Port Commissioners, five in number, each member serving for five years without salary but entitled to $25 per meeting, not to exceed four meetings per month. Two of these commissioners should be appointed by the Mayor and City Council of Los Angeles and two more by the Mayor and City Council of Long Beach. The fifth member, it is provided, should be named by the other four within sixty days following their appointments. Failure to so appoint the fifth member would automatically vacate their respective offices, with the added penalty that none might be reappointed during a period of not less than two years.

SUBJECT TO REMOVAL

Any appointed commissioner should be subject to removal from office at any time by the appointing body, subject to the approval of the confirming body, or by popular recall initiated by the electorate. It is planned to have such a Board of Port Commissioners succeed the existing governing board of Harbor Commissioners of Los Angeles, five in number, and the corresponding controlling board at Long Beach, of three members.

The commissioners should have the authority to call bond issues, subject to ratification by the people, a two-thirds vote being necessary, as under present conditions governing bond issues. In this respect also provision is made for each municipality forming the port district to vote bonds for individual harbor improvement work, such action by any integral part of the port district as a whole being independent of all other units of the district. In this connection, also, it is provided that there shall be no retroactive control of existing municipal appropriations. In other words, funds which have been voted for harbor work, either by Los Angeles or Long Beach, and not yet exhausted, shall remain as a sinking fund to the credit of the individual municipalities. In this way it is expected to avoid unequitable taxation or distribution of funds.

The bill calls for executive officers—the auditor, treasurer, chief engineer, attorney and manager of the Board of Port Commissioners—to be exempt from civil service requirements, but that all other employees of the board shall be selected by civil service.

TIDELAND RIGHTS

It provides further that all tideland rights shall rest under their existing titles but that the port board shall have the management of the property within the boundaries of the port district.

The powers of the port board in the granting of franchises, permits and leases for use of waters, water frontage, tide or submerged lands should be subject to provisions of city charters as they provide for the reservation of such property for commerce, navigation or fisheries; prohibition of grant, sale, conveyance; reservation of any lands for public use; regulation of the granting of franchises, leases and the like. In this connection, Mr. Heinly pointed out that the provisions of the proposed bill are closely aligned with the provisions of the new Los Angeles city charter, which becomes effective July 1, next, and, furthermore, that Long Beach statutes conform in the main with the provisions of the new Los Angeles charter. Therefore, there will be no waste motion in unifying the two.

The port district should disburse its funds by the budget system and, following its adoption by the port board, shall be referred to the people in public hearing.

The foregoing complete the high lights in the creation of the port district. Such a district is the first requirement of the Federal government to make available the $3,500,000 for harbor improvement work, the appropriation amounting to a Federal gift. The total cost of the proposed all-embracing breakwater is placed at $14,000,000, of which the Federal treasury has been asked for $7,000,000. By passing the bill which makes $3,500,000 of the requested total conditionally available, local boosters for an unexcelled Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor feel that the government has committed itself to the complete program and that ultimately the remaining appropriations up to the $7,000,000 asked will be forthcoming. The remaining half of the total cost is expected to be raised in the port district itself, providing a harbor with facilities second to none in the world at what is declared to be an amazingly small cost.

SHOOTING IS LAID TO RUM BY ALIENIST

Dr. Bowers Says McCoy Suffered from Effects of Long Debauch

Norman Selby, better known as Kid McCoy, was not insane when he shot up the Mors antique shop the morning of August 13, 1924, but was suffering from the effects of a prolonged debauch, in the opinion of Dr. Paul Bowers, alienist. Dr. Bowers testified yesterday as a rebuttal witness in McCoy's trial before Judge Crail and a jury on four counts of robbery and three of assault with intent to murder, and was on the stand nearly all day.

George Shreve and Fred Thompson, defense attorneys, cross-examined the witness from many angles but did not succeed in shaking his declaration that McCoy knew what he was about. A short time before the scene in the antique shop, according to the charge on which McCoy was recently convicted of manslaughter, McCoy shot and killed his sweetheart, Mrs. Teresa Mors.

The case will continue today.

MORE PETITIONS ARE TAKEN OUT

Charles E. Downs, 2418 South Hope street; P. M. Abbott, 2618 Ellendale Place. Mark A. Pierce.

Eleventh Councilmanic District—George W. Rochester, 925 South Alvarado street.

Thirteenth Councilmanic District—Bearl Sprott, 4101 Alhambra avenue; F. L. Meyer, 4823 Gambier street.

Of the new candidates who took the field yesterday E. E. Lampton, who seeks election from the San Fernando Valley district, is secretary-treasurer of the local carpenters' union, a brother of County Clerk Lampton, and was a member of the committee of the Nonpartisan Association which nominated Judge Bledsoe for Mayor.

GREENOUGH CHANGE

A change was made yesterday in the petition of Joseph F. Greenough of 138 West Sixtieth street. The petition originally read that Greenough was a candidate from the Fifteenth Councilmanic District. This was changed yesterday by Greenough to place him as a candidate from the Eighth Councilmanic District.

Public Works Commissioner Arthur Eldridge announced yesterday that he had been asked to enter the contest for Controller in opposition to Councilman Mushet and City Auditor Myers. Eldridge said he would make a decision in the matter this week.

Of the candidates who have taken out nominating petitions for Mayor, Miles Gregory is a member of the present City Council, Mayor Cryer is now serving his second term as Mayor, and Edgar McKee was former president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

Candidates for Controller include W. C. Mushet, now serving his second term in the City Council, and as chairman of the Council's Finance Committee. He was formerly City Auditor and is a certified public accountant. John S. Myers now serving his seventh term as City Auditor also seeks nomination for Controller.

City Attorney Stephens who seeks nomination and re-election was unopposed at the primaries two years ago. He is the only candidate in the field so far for City Attorney.

Of the Councilmanic candidates, Charles T. Wardlaw of the First District was a candidate for the Council two years ago before the district-representation plan was in effect. He received the solid support of the San Fernando Valley section of the city, and polled 32,480 votes at the June election.

HOLLYWOOD DISTRICT

From the Hollywood district, Councilman Robert M. Allan, now serving his second term in the City Council, is a candidate. He was high man among the eighteen candidates for the City Council at the June election two years ago. Harry D. Brown, also a candidate from the Hollywood district, is an executive of the Cinema Supply Company, and is well known in the motion-picture industry.

In the Third District, which includes West Washington street, Westgate and Sawtelle sections, the candidates include I. F. Hughes, now a member of the Playground Commission and a candidate for the Council two years ago; Edwin O. Loucks, former Assemblyman; William Vinson McCoy, a Westgate real estate dealer; Attorney William A. La Plante; Fred H. Leavitt, real estate dealer and for fifteen years a resident of Los Angeles; Frank Shannon, for twenty years a resident of the Westgate district and former justice of the peace and police judge.

From the Fourth District, which includes the Wilshire Boulevard and Pico Heights sections, petitions have been filed by Boyle Workman, president of the present City Council and Dr. C. D. Ray, who has been for the past eight years chief clerk of the city health department. J. L. Van Norman, a brother of City Engineer Van Norman and for many years head of the insurance department of R. A. Rowan & Co., may also enter the race from this district.

In the Fifth District which includes the West Adams and Exposition Park sections the principal candidates are both former Councilmen—R. S. (Cupid) Sparks and John Topham.

WOMAN IS CANDIDATE

Former President of the City Council, Bert L. Farmer, is a candidate from the Sixth District, which includes the Angeles Mesa and Hyde Park sections and among his opponents is a woman—Sarah Hawley—who was active in bringing about the consolidation of Hyde Park with Los Angeles.

The strongest candidate who has taken out a petition from the Seventh District so far is Councilman Ralph L. Criswell, who was high man at the election four years ago.

A large number of candidates have taken out petitions for circulation in the Eighth District in the outlying southwestern section of the city, and these include Greely Kolts, who was a candidate for the Council two years ago.

The contest in the Ninth District promises to be an exciting one as Councilman W. J. Sanborn will be opposed for re-election by Thomas L. Dodge of the King Edward Hotel, who recently announced his candidacy for Mayor and then withdrew, and by Winchester G. Browning, for thirty years a resident of Los Angeles and president of the Community Council of the Hazard Playground.

In the Tenth District, the strongest candidate in sight is Assemblyman Mark Pierce, son of former Assemblyman Fred E. Pierce of Pierce Brothers. The petition blanks for the Assemblyman will be circulated by his friends. They will file the petitions and make a strong campaign for Pierce until he returns from Sacramento to personally conduct his campaign.

Attorney Pierson M. Hall will battle with former Councilman F. C. Langdon in the Eleventh District, which includes the Westlake-avenue section of the city, as will also Sidney W. Neighbors, former coach of the Athletic Club's football team.

TWELFTH DISTRICT

Councilman Fred C. Wheeler will have a flock of opponents in the Twelfth District, judging from the petitions already taken out for circulation, including W. H. Hartman, a well-known property owner and builder of the district; Attorney Earl J. McCully, who has been active in opposing, for the property owners of that section, zoning changes, and Lin William Price, long identified with the Citizens' Committee of Ten Thousand.

In the Thirteenth District, Senator Joseph L. Pedrotti will have a number of opponents, including Thomas L. Coughlin, who ran for the Council at the primaries two years ago and who is active in Rose Hill district affairs.

Councilman and former Assemblyman Edwin Baker, candidate from the Fourteenth District, which includes Garvanza, Highland Park and Eagle Rock sections, will have a number of opponents, including Charles S. Lamb, secretary of the Playground Commission.

The San Fernando Valley and harbor sections of the city have long battled for representation in the Council, and now that the district representation plan is in effect, a number of candidates have taken out petitions from the harbor district. The valley section is expected to unite on a strong candidate and this may also be done in the harbor section. The harbor candidate will probably be Assemblyman and Former Senator Henry E. Carter. A number have taken out petitions for candidates residing in the northerly end of the district, which extends to Florence avenue.

LUDLOW DENIES HE IS COUNCIL CANDIDATE

Among the eighty-nine names of prospective candidates for City Council, which appeared in The Times yesterday, was listed the name of J. W. Ludlow, former harbor engineer, as a candidate from the Fifteenth Councilmanic District, comprised of Los Angeles Harbor and Gardena. The filing of the petition, according to Mr. Ludlow, was done without his knowledge and against his desire.

"I have no aspirations to run for City Council and I haven't the slightest idea who filed the petition. It was filed by some person without my knowledge. Though I am taking an active part in getting good candidates into office, I don't want to be a Councilman," Mr. Ludlow stated yesterday.

Fourteen Years Meted to Third in Robbery Trio

Otis Molen, an ex-convict, yesterday was sentenced to serve fourteen years in Folsom Penitentiary by Judge Collier for the part he was asserted to have played in the robbery and shooting December 8, 1924, of Officer A. S. Carney in a house on Stanford avenue.

Molen, Fred Johnson and Raphael Richard, the two latter also said to be ex-convicts, were charged with the attack on Carney. Johnson and Richard pleaded guilty to charges of assault with a deadly weapon several weeks ago, admitted they had served previous prison terms and were sent to Folsom for fourteen years each.

Molen withdrew his former plea of not guilty to the assault charge, when his case was called for trial yesterday. The robbery counts against the trio were ordered off calendar.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Howell Richardson, Officer Carney was stationed in the Stanford-avenue house to guard some stolen property that had been located there. While he was alone the three men entered, held him up, took his revolver, handcuffs and flashlight and then one of them shot the officer through the chest. Carney was confined to his bed for several weeks with the wound.

ARGUE OVER EXTRADITION FOR PEPALL

Attorneys Debate Case of Long Beach Man Said to Face Canadian Charge

The question of whether an extradition order can be issued against A. H. Pepall, former president of the Long Beach Glass Company, on information of an embezzlement charge asserted to be pending against him in Toronto, Can., was taken up in arguments begun yesterday before United States Commissioner Turney. Pepall has been held in jail without bond since his arrest a month ago. The extradition hearing has been continued several times on agreement of counsel. Commissioner Turney yesterday denied a motion that the case be dismissed.

It is asserted, according to information from Canadian officials, that Pepall embezzled $365,000 in commissions obtained by him while acting as a government agent in the sale of war bonds. Pepall says he saved the government more than $2,000,000, that he did not accept commissions while acting as a government agent, and that the charge against him grows out of an effort to discredit former government officials. Last summer the Canadian authorities tried unsuccessfully to have Pepall deported.

Representing the prosecution before Commissioner Turney are Godfrey Fisher, British Consul; H. A. Massey and E. C. Meserve. The defendant is represented by Jud R. Rush and A. I. McCormick. Arguments will be continued today.

Attorney Cosby Accused by Wife in Cross-Action

George Fairfax Cosby, attorney, not only insisted on going out with other women, but made it a point to tell her of his amours, according to a separate maintenance complaint filed yesterday by his wife, Evelyn Cosby.

Last November, she said, he told her he was going to take a Mrs. Rea to a prize fight. She objected, she said, and he replied that the other woman knew he was married and that he would go with her whenever he so desired.

Some time later, she set forth, he showed her a letter from Alice Pedlar in which the latter stated that she was heartbroken because Cosby had not come to visit her. At that time Mrs. Cosby declared, he told her that he was sorry they had married. He also flew into a rage one day, she stated, because she had told a feminine client of his that he was married.

Cosby, on January 27, last, filed suit in San Francisco to have his marriage to Mrs. Cosby annulled on the grounds that he was induced into marriage on false representation. Mrs. Cosby in her suit asks $250 a month alimony.

WOMAN IN DEATH LEAP FROM BOAT

Despondent Over Ill Health, Mrs. D. B. Dick Dives Off Steamer Newport

Believed to have been despondent over ill health, Mrs. Rosie E. Dick, 43 years of age, wife of David B. Dick, 1909 Preston avenue, committed suicide by diving off the boat Newport, after it left San Pedro for San Francisco Thursday, according to reports received here yesterday.

Mrs. Dick disappeared February 26 last, after attending a service at the Angelus Temple. She is said to have phoned her husband she was leaving for San Francisco, but it was too late for him to act. She disappeared off the boat, leaving a note, the contents of which have not yet been revealed.

According to friends of the family, Mrs. Dick had been suffering from a nervous breakdown. She is said to have disappeared before, the last time about a month ago, when she was found after two days. Brooding over her condition is said to have led her to threaten suicide before.

The Dicks have been here a year. They formerly lived in Pawtuckett, R. I. They have no children.

for which they have paid their home town, State, etc. Double taxation.

"Not for me, thank you! We do not have to go; there are other places. We want to go to Santa Barbara, but you will not expect us while such laws are in force, will you?

"Naturally the papers in the East are commenting severely on this state of affairs, and, as a sample of the mildest, I am mailing you a copy of the Miami Herald. Draw your own conclusions."

Mr. Knapp asks Mr. Richmond to let him know when the "objectionable laws are repealed or declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court." He was informed, of course, that the whole tale was a fabrication.

The Pasadena Post publishes an interview with J. O. Peterson, manager of the Monrovia store of J. C. Penney & Co., on his return from a trip which took him as far east as Hartford, Ct. He gives the following as a sample of the greetings he soon learned to expect:

"Oh, you're from California? Say, I hear conditions out there are something awful—trees and flowers dying, no work for anybody and not a drop of rain for almost a year. I was figuring on going to California, but I guess I'll go to Florida instead."

"Finally," he continues, "I became so disgusted with the attitude of the whole country that I refused to let my brother introduce me as coming from California, for as sure as he did, the man to whom I was introduced would begin to ask about hard times in California."

What the Friendship Contest is accomplishing to set California right and make true conditions here known is shown in part by an editorial republished in the Puente Journal from the Knickerbocker Press of Albany, N. Y., as follows:

"From several chambers of commerce in California come letters protesting against a syndicated news story recently appearing in the Knickerbocker Press and other newspapers of the country, concerning taxation of the California tourists. One of these letters setting forth the facts from California's angle appears in another column.

"The incident indicates the live, wide-awake nature of the California civic organizations. It indicates, too, that the tourist is most wanted and welcome in the Golden State. There is occasionally a disposition to twit California about its almost blatant self-advertising, but the quick reaction that follows anything that may be considered prejudicial to the interests of the Coast cities is a fine commentary upon a militant State consciousness. New York State has little of it, perhaps, because it is so well established that it needs nothing of the sort. The Capitol District shows an increasing tendency to a real consciousness most gratifying in this period of development and expansion.

"The trumpets of self-advertisement may be of brass, but they have golden echoes."

MRS. M'PHERSON IS THREATENED

Man Accused of Plan to Blow Up Angelus Temple

Demands Pastor Let Him Give Her "Kiss from God"

Suspect Placed in Hospital on Insanity Charge

After he had threatened to blow up Angelus Temple on Glendale Boulevard unless Aimee Semple McPherson, the pastor, would permit him to implant "a kiss from God" on her lips, Victor Hall Pendleton, 50 years of age, a blacksmith living at 225 North [illegible] street, was arrested yesterday and lodged in the County Jail.

In letters to Mrs. McPherson, Pendleton declared that while living in Cheynewellen, Colo., last year, a butterfly alighted on his [illegible] at 2 o'clock one morning and imparted a kiss with the instructions to relay it to the feminine pastor of Angelus Temple.

Coming to Los Angeles, Pendleton began writing Mrs. McPherson a series of letters, seeking to carry out what he evidently believed was his divine mission, and when they went unanswered, became threatening and abusive, according to Detectives Eaton and [illegible], of the District Attorney's office, who took him into custody. After his arrest, Detective Eaton appeared before the Lunacy Commission and swore out an insanity complaint against the blacksmith, and he was removed from the County Jail to the psycopathic ward of the General Hospital.

The letters from Pendleton to Mrs. McPherson began last August and thirty of them has been received up to date. When no answers were received, Pendleton, who gave his address as General Delivery in the letters, then threatened to shoot up the postoffice, according to Detective Eaton.

Mrs. McPherson turned the letters over to Federal postoffice inspectors, who in turn handed them over to the District Attorney's office. Detective Eaton declared that investigation revealed that Pendleton had been arrested several times in St. Joseph, Mo., for writing threatening letters. He is said to have at one time been married and now has a 13-year-old daughter living in Seattle, Wash.

Pendleton had nothing to say when arrested, according to the officers, and appeared rational and sane, despite not denying that he was the author of the letters received by Mrs. McPherson.

DEBATE ON WAR CAUSE OF SLAYING

Witness Tells of Verbal Fight Which Preceded Fatal Stabbing

The World War was fought over until the night before Mike Miskich stabbed Josip Pecar to death, witnesses testified yesterday in Miskich's trial in Judge Reeve's court. Pecar favored the side of the Allies and Miskich defended the Central Powers, it was said, while the feast of St. Lucy was celebrated with chestnuts and wine December 13, 1924, in San Pedro. Both men were fishermen.

Miskich is charged with murder and is being defended by Miss [illegible] Jacobson, recently admitted to the bar. This is her first criminal case. Selection of the jury took up most of the day, and in it Miss Jacobson sought the advice of Deputy Public Defender [illegible], but did all the questioning herself. In her examination of witnesses Miss Jacobson was a stickler for detail.

Witnesses heard yesterday were [illegible] Jugum, who identified the body; Roko Usich, who attended the party and saw the slaying, and Police Officer Farrell. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and Murray and will continue today.

LAYS KIDNAPING TO EX-MATE

Mrs. W. M. Blevins Reports Her Divorced Husband Beat and Choked Her and Hurled Her from Car

An unusual report in local police records was that filed yesterday charging William M. Blevins with the kidnaping of his former wife, Claudia. The asserted abduction is said to have occurred late Monday night.

Members of the family, in discussing the affair yesterday, declared that Mrs. Blevins, who is the mother of two small children, will seek a complaint charging kidnaping and assault through her attorney, John C. Miles.

They said that Mrs. Blevins was beaten and choked and finally flung from an automobile several miles from her home. She was said to be at work yesterday, despite her injuries, in order to support her two children.

According to the story told by members of Mrs. Blevins's family, Mrs. Blevins had just alighted from a street car on Fifty-fourth street near Central avenue Monday night and was walking to her home at 5316 Latham street, when a small coupe containing two men drove up alongside her. One of the men, declared to be her divorced husband, forcibly seized her and dragged her into the car.

Mrs. Blevins told her relatives that shortly afterward the other man got out of the car, leaving her alone with her former husband. Then, it was said, Blevins repeatedly choked her, saying he would continue to do so until she declared she loved him.

The struggle, it was said, continued until the car reached Sixty-first street and Western avenue, where Mrs. Blevins is said to have been thrown from the automobile, which promptly speeded away.

Mrs. Blevins was said to have obtained a divorce from her husband on the grounds of nonsupport and desertion, the final decree having been entered last November. Since that time, it was charged, she has been annoyed and threatened by her former spouse. He could not be located yesterday for his version of the affair.

MAIL THEFT CASE NEAR END

Fate of Trio in Robbery Trial May be in Hands of Jury Today; Judge Strikes Testimony

Arguments will be continued today before Federal Judge James in the case of Jack Elerick, Joe Bertsche and Frank Wilson, charged with conspiracy to rob the mails. Judge James yesterday gave counsel for the government three hours in which to present their arguments, and the defense counsel four hours. It is expected instructions to the jury will consume one hour and that the case will go to the jury tomorrow.

Only three witnesses were examined when court convened yesterday. Harry Grenager, former pal of Herbert Wilson, the government's chief witness and M. R. Ballas, deputy sheriff of Hopewell, Va., testified they did not confer as to the identity of Elerick before Grenager identified Elerick as one of the men he had met in Oakland on December 19, 1921. W. H. Donahue, former District Attorney of Alameda county, testified he signed the name "W. H. Donahue" on the register of the Oakland Hotel in November, 1921. Herbert Wilson previously had testified the name was signed either by his brother, Louis Wilson or by Bertsche, when, he said, the two Wilsons, Bertsche and Elerick were there to divide loot obtained when a mail truck was robbed at Fifth and Los Angeles street on November 3, 1921.

JURY TO BE JUDGE

Arguments for a directed verdict in favor of the defendants, and on motions to strike certain evidence from the record were made after the three witnesses were examined. Judge James ruled the jury should decide as to the credibility of Herbert Wilson and Harry Grenager both of whom are held in prison, the former at San Quentin for the murder of Herbert Cox. It was argued for the defendants that the government had not introduced evidence corroborating either Wilson or Grenager.

The court ordered a part of Grenager's testimony stricken from the record. It related to December 17, 1921, when Grenager said he met Elerick at an Oakland railroad station and gave him some gold that had been stolen from the Mother Lode Mine near Stockton.

COURT SATISFIED

Judge James said he was satisfied there was not sufficient evidence to show the alleged mail robbery conspiracy was alive at that time. The evidence indicated, he said, that the spoils from the mail robberies of March 3 and November 3 had been divided at that time and that no further robberies were contemplated.

Court adjourned yesterday afternoon after Maurice Norcop spent one hour in presenting the government's opening argument. The closing argument will be presented today by David V. Cahill. Arguments for the defendants will be made by Byron C. Hanna, representing Elerick; Otto Christensen, Sorin Christensen, P. J. Cooney and Arthur Verge, representing Bertsche, and Hugh Dickson, representing Frank Wilson.

tain direct questions and inasmuch as he seems uninformed concerning a problem which has worried us for the past four years we should give him a more definite expression of our opinion.

"The acquisition of the telephone system through a bond issue is neither feasible nor desirable at the present time. Telephones are a semi-luxury and must give way to such essentials as water, power, harbor, civic center, major highway and transportation necessities.

"The efficient operation of the present telephone system depends upon certain standard equipment and patent improvements controlled by the parent Bell Telephone Company, which would probably not be available to the city. Part of the system is inside the city and part outside, and part of the city is served by this company and part by the Pacific Telephone Company, which does not operate under a franchise. An attempted municipal acquisition and operation would probably result in endless litigation and confusion. There is no precedent for such a scheme and Los Angeles cannot afford, at this time, to become a pioneer.

"All students of these problems are agreed that such specialized utilities as telephones best serve the public if kept in private ownership, with proper public regulation by competent officials.

"To me the acquisition of this plant at this time in unthinkable."

Warner's Radio Will Broadcast Cafe Orchestra

The orchestra of the Montmartre in Hollywood, under direction of Mel Pedesky, will be a nightly feature over the air from the new Warner Brothers' broadcasting station to be opened in Hollywood this evening, according to the announcement made yesterday by the Montmartre management.

The opening of the new radio station will be celebrated in the Montmartre by the Warner Brothers and their friends, included in which are many prominent motion-picture stars, who have made reservations there for supper Wednesday evening.

It has been arranged by Eddie Brandstatter, proprietor of the Montmartre, to give photographs by Witzel of the Montmartre orchestra to all radio fans upon request.

WATER COLOR EXHIBIT OPENS AT UNIVERSITY

An exhibition of water-color paintings will open today in the architectural department of the University of Southern California under the auspices of the Architectural Club. The exhibition will be open to the public from 2 to 6 p.m., until and including Friday. Exhibitors include K. E. Carpenter, fellow of the American Academy at Rome; F. Tolles Chamberlain, fellow of the American Academy at Rome; J. E. Garnsey, former student of the Ecole de Beaux Arts; Miss Lucile Hinkle, and Donald Parkinson.

CITY HALL ROW IS DEADLOCKED

nance if he considers the law clear.

HOFFMAN FILES REPORT

Paul G. Hoffman as vice-chairman of the Major Highways Committee of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission filed a communication with the Council strongly urging that the new City Hall be located in such a man as not to interfere with the street treatment as set forth in the Civic Center plan of the Allied Architects' Association. This was based on a survey and report made by Harland Bartholomew, consulting engineer of the Traffic Commission, upon the relative merits of the Cook and Hall plan and the Allied Architects' plan for a Civic Center. This report says, in part:

"The Cook and Hall plan substitutes and improves the Major Traffic Street Plan to the extent of extending Spring street to Sunset Boulevard.

"The Allied Architects' plan provides for extensive additions to the Major Traffic Street Plan, as follows:

(a) Spring street is continued north across the Los Angeles River to a connection with North Broadway.

(b) Los Angeles street is extended north across the Los Angeles River to a connection with North Broadway.

(c) Temple street is continued eastward to Santa Fe avenue.

(d) The elevated plaza proposed for the Administrative Center provides for certain separated street grade intersections, and access to numerous public buildings without interference with traffic movement upon main thoroughfares, thus considerably increasing total street traffic capacity.

STREET ENTRANCES

The Cook and Hall plan is principally subject to the criticism that both the proposed City Hall and County Courts Building have their principal entrances (i.e. east and west) upon heavily traveled streets. They could not effectively be reached by vehicles except at the expense of moving traffic upon Main, Spring, Broadway and Hill streets, thus limiting the increased capacity of these streets provided by their suggested widening.

"The Allied Architects' plan is subject to the criticism that tunnels of approximately 1200 feet are created on Main and Spring streets and one of approximately 1800 feet on Broadway. The Cook and Hall plan, however, also contains a tunnel on Spring street. It is believed that 40 or 50 per cent of the coverage of these tunnels could be left open without detriment to the design of the center and thus materially obviate these objections. The separated street grades would greatly expedite vehicle movements.

"Broadly speaking, the Cook and Hall plan may be said neither to augment nor injure the Major Traffic Street Plan. The Allied Architects' plan provides considerable increased opportunity for traffic movement. The former practically accepts present conditions, the latter considerably adds to existing facilities."

RULING BY STEPHENS

City Attorney Stephens in May, 1923, gave an opinion to the effect that the Board of Public Works had full authority of its own volition in awarding contracts in connection with the new City Hall; however, he suggested authorizing resolutions by the City Council as a precautionary measure to assure the validity of the contract. It is the belief of members of the Public Works Board this holds in the present controversy, and all that the City Council may do is to adopt a resolution authorizing the works board to award a contract to whomever it considers capable.

Hollywood Will Fight Motorbus Rate Increase

A strenuous effort wil be made by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, it was announced yesterday, to prevent the Board of Public Utilities from granting the Los Angeles Motorbus Company permission to increase its fares to 15 cents where 10 cents is now charged. The company has applied for permission to increase its 6-cent fare to 10 cents and its 10-cent fare to 15.

The Chamber of Commerce believes a straight 10-cent fare in the Hollywood district would be much preferable to two different fares in the same district.

The transportation company, in support of its request, has prepared a financial statement for the year 1924, showing a loss of $95.-000.

TRIBUTE TO BE PAID DIRECTOR JOHN FORD

ASSOCIATION TO GIVE PARTY TO CREATOR OF FILM "THE IRON HORSE"

Members of the Moving Picture Directors' Association will honor John Ford in a St. Patrick's Day party the night of the 17th inst. in the clubrooms in Hollywood. Ford's original family name is O'Fearna and the directors are planning to entertain him in genuine Irish fashion.

The celebration is arranged in recognition of Ford's accomplishment in making "The Iron Horse," the screen production of the winning of the West.

As the 17th inst. is the birthday of Sid Grauman, in whose Ekyptian theater the film is now being shown, the directors have asked him to share the honors with the director.

Hinson Captured in Texas City in Haines Slaying

W. A. Hinson, 51 years of age, was arrested in El Paso yesterday on a warrant from Los Angeles charging him with the murder on February 28, last, of W. H. Haines, according to a telegram received by local police. According to a complaint issued Monday against Hinson by the District-Attorney's office, he is accused of stabbing Haines fatally in an altercation in a rooming house at 3½62 South Main street. The fight is declared to have arisen over the affections of Mrs. Frances Parker, the landlady at the rooming house.

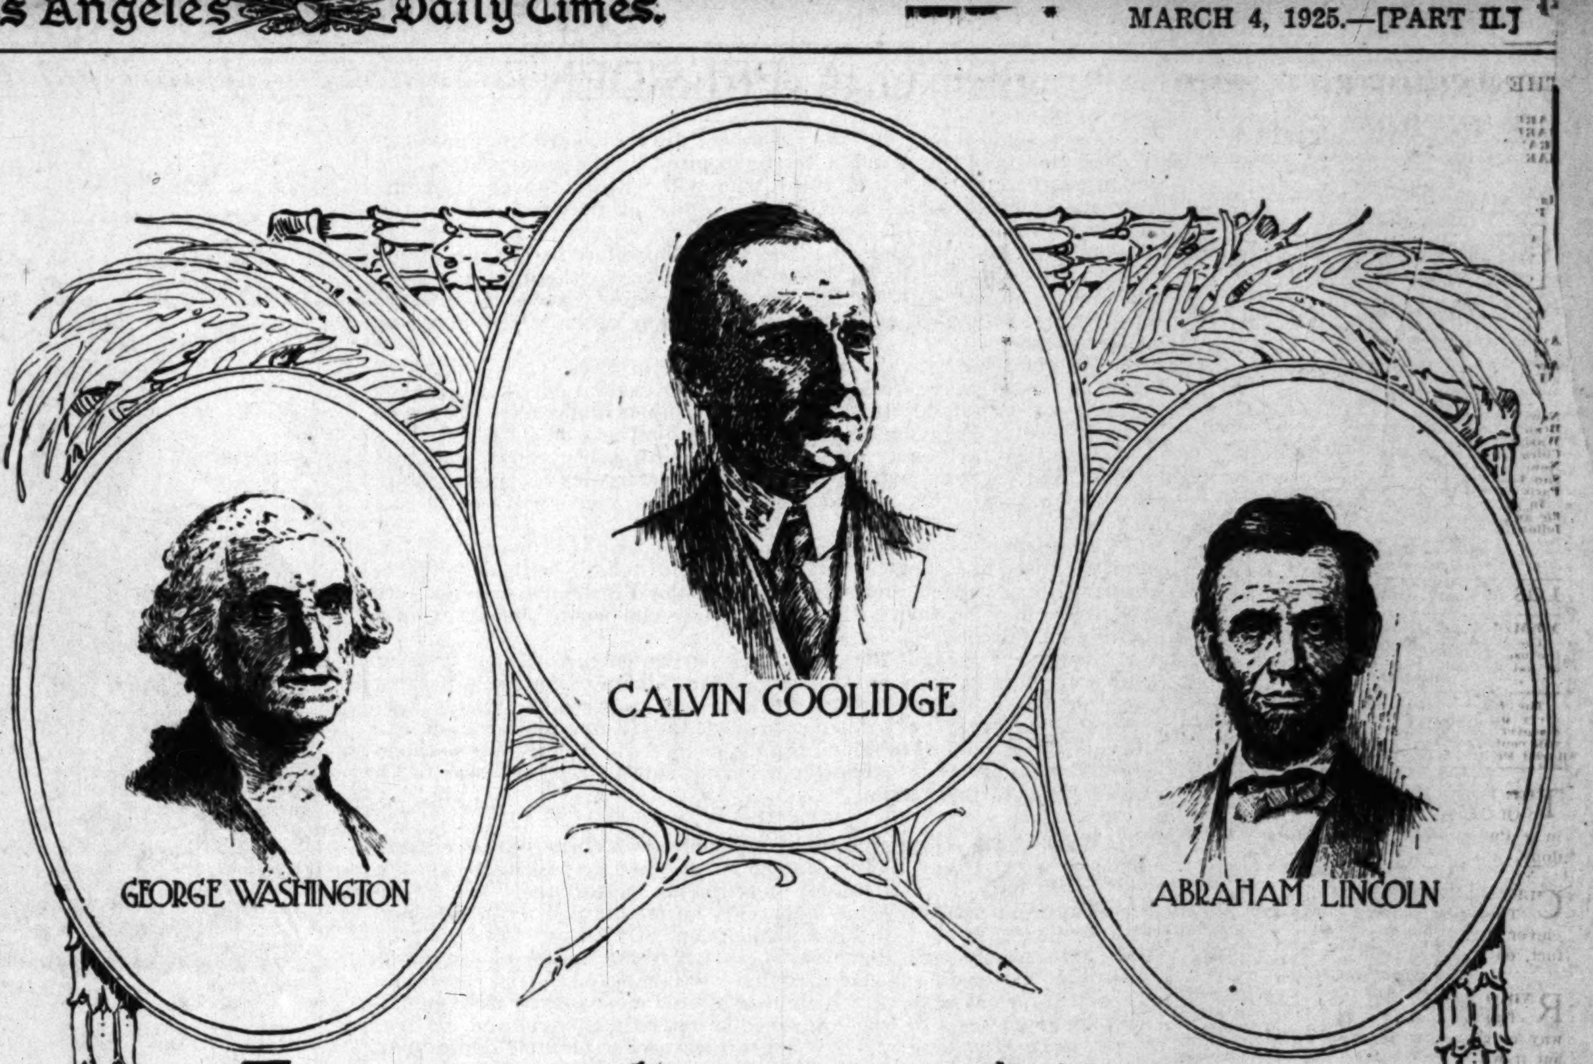
According to police, Hinson fled after the stabbing, but was identified by persons at the rooming house. Detective Lieutenant Thompson of the police homicide squad will leave today for El Paso to return the prisoner to this city.

POLICE COMMENDED IN BANDIT SLAYING

Commendation for the police officers who shot and killed two bandits at the Blaine Drug Store, Main street and Fifty-ninth Place, was given in the verdict of a Coroner's jury which heard the case yesterday at the morgue of the Washington Undertakers. The verdict was justifiable homicide and the jury found that the police officers had withheld their fire and given the bandits a chance to surrender. One of the men has been identified as Elmer Frost of Owensound, Ont., the other has not been identified, but papers in his pockets describe him as Jack Marley.

BRITISH CLUB TO ELECT

Officers will be elected by the British Adventurers' Club this evening at 1233 Trenton street. A reunion will also be a feature of the evening's program.



Inauguration
March 4 ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ 1925

To Calvin Coolidge:

The good wishes of Bullock's and of Los Angeles go out across our broad land to you today, echoing a lusty Godspeed to the undertaking upon which you are about to re-enter.

That Bullock's will start a New Year today, the first of Bullock's Eighteenth Inauguration Month, is significant.

That the history of America holds much of Wisdom and Valor for our guidance is a fact of which we are fully cognizant.

May the voice of Washington sound again in our hearts;
May the spirit of the Great Emancipator continue to influence our activities;

May the Vigor of Theodore Roosevelt, under whose Presidency Bullock's became a reality, March 4, 1907, live within us.

The thoughts that are yours today will be translated into deeds and again into the welfare and advancement of the American Nation.

The Occasion becomes inspiration for a devotion renewed and rededicated to America, and for an expression of loyalty to a higher destiny for an American institution—Bullock's, Los Angeles.

THE LONG WAY
Of course, it is possible to go to heaven in a Pullman car, but it isn't often being done.

CLEVER SWINDLERS
There are a great many swindlers so clever that they are very hard to catch. In fact, our penitentiaries are full of them.

RADIO CHURCHES
The radio church can reach out a long way to give sinners an earful of salvation, but it will have a hard time reaching those same people with the collection basket.

OFF AGAIN
Four years more of Calvin Coolidge. It sounds like a message of good cheer to the great American taxpayer. This time the President is traveling under his own power.

BABY TALK
One of the big universities is trying to correct the baby-talk habit indulged by some of the flappers. This may not be the general conception of the business of a university, but it is a vast and complicated task, at that.

BOBBED QUEENS
The Queen of the Belgians has bobbed her hair—being the first representative of European royalty to pass under the shears. Diplomats are wondering if the Belgians will not be wanting more reparations now that their queen has been docked.

DOUBLE HEADERS
Motorists who have delayed in obtaining their license plates may now appreciate the penalty of paying double price—if they escape being pinched for their delinquency. The issuance of more than 1,000,000 plates is quite a task and the authorities are disposed to be patient and lenient, but there must be a limit—and now it has expired. The round-up must begin.

AMONG THE TRAPPERS
There is a nation-wide movement to prevent the use of steel traps in the taking of fur-bearing animals. If they must give their pelts to the ladies they are entitled to a gentlemanly death with the rifle rather than the lingering and painful end provided by the trap. While we are saving our beavers from the metallic snare we might also provide our widows with some protection from the traps laid by wily promoters and fake salesmen. Trapping is the most ancient of pursuits.

LADY PRESIDENTS
The National Women's party is looking forward to the day when a woman will dominate the White House. The leaders hope to elect her, not so much because she would be competent as that she would be a woman. It is a sex triumph they hope for. The Presidency is a hard job and has killed several exceptionally powerful men. The office calls for long hours and many contacts. The doctors agree that the average woman's store of nervous energy exceeds that of the average man and, therefore, she might undergo the main hazards of the Presidential office without shrinking. Some day we may find out.

WHISKERS AND GRIEF
Scientists studying the tablets and friezes left behind by the Pharaohs say that the ancient Egyptians were a smooth-shaven people. They didn't have any safety razors, but they had their barber shops or their personal equipment for scraping their chins. The reason why some of the old-timers were depicted with beards is that whiskers were a sign of mourning. Even when the queen's mother died the king would have to let his fringe grow. When the alfalfa gained its proper stand Pharaoh would have his picture taken and file it away in his private morgue. The idea of raising a beard as a sign and token of family grief is not bad. The only trouble is that it rather leaves out the ladies. In spite of the Nineteenth Amendment, women cannot raise whiskers—even for their loved ones.

A DOG'S LIFE
Now that a beauty shop for dogs has been established in Hollywood it is well to note some of the accomplishments of the canine hospitals. In one of them a Japanese spaniel has been equipped with a very life-like glass eye to replace one lost in a scuffle with an irate tom cat. There are a number of cases in which favored dogs have had false teeth inserted to substitute for those lost through years of service. Other dogs have had grafts of skin on their bodies to replace sections torn from them in battles with their kind. Recently an actress brought her Tyrolean bloodhound to the hospital for an appendicitis operation. She wasn't certain that the dog had an appendix or not, but went away when the doctor offered to lop Pansy's tail. Nevertheless the dogs are getting doctored and surgeoned almost as efficiently as if they were humans. A dog's life is worth while.

BEING A PRESIDENT

Once again the eyes of the nation are drawn toward the Capitol at Washington with the patriotic fervor inspired by the inauguration of a chief magistrate. Many of those who will witness the great public ceremony attending the induction into office of Calvin Coolidge, the thirtieth President of the United States, for a second term, will be reminded that his first oath of office was administered over the family Bible by his father in the old Vermont farmhouse by the light of a kerosene lamp on the night of the death of Harding—a ceremony more crudely simple than that of swearing-in of any other of our long line of Presidents.

No glamor of royalty marks the office of President of this, the greatest nation in the world, yet it is such an exalted one that it is seen to possess a majesty all its own. He who occupies it may have the native simplicity of a Jefferson or a Lincoln, the bluffness of a Jackson or a Roosevelt, the taciturnity of a Grant or the affability and geniality of a Taft, and yet whatever his personal characteristics or predilections, the very nature of his exalted position sets him above and apart from other men.

To be chief magistrate of our nation is to be one of many millions, and yet there are countless schoolboys who today, with reasonable warrant, may regard themselves as potential Presidents, though here and there may be found a very small one who would prefer to be a policeman.

Being a President does not imply urban birth. All but two of ours were born in quiet rural places. The fathers of fourteen of them were farmers. Besides others, we have had in the office twelve lawyers, five teachers, four soldiers and three tailors, one publicist and one journalist. A man of humble origin is as likely to become our national chieftain as any other. One of our very greatest Presidents was in his earlier years a farm hand.

II.

Washington established many precedents which most of our Presidents have observed. Before entering the office he had made himself conversant with the best usages of European courts, and while he rejected all which smacked of monarchy, he maintained an official dignity well in keeping with his high position. Of all our Presidents he was, perhaps, the least democratic—that is in the matter of approachability and informality. He accepted no invitations. His receptions were stiff, formal affairs in which he exhibited more gravity than geniality, though at heart he was known to be friendly enough, and his eyes were "grave and kindly." His conception of Presidential deportment was essentially different from that of most Presidents, some of whom have been criticised for their lack of dignity.

With no great ambition to become President, Washington preferred a life of quiet rustic retirement. He doubted his capacity in civil affairs. "My movements toward the chair of government," he told Henry Knox, "are accompanied by feelings not unlike those of a culprit going to the place of execution."

III.

On the day of his inauguration Jefferson rode to the Capitol on horseback, without a single guard or servant in his train. He dismounted and, hitching the bridle to a post, walked to the inaugural platform unattended. He held no stiff levees, like Washington's, but was easily accessible to all callers. He told Baron von Humboldt that he considered himself public property. His simple bearing was held by some to be a pose and there were those who considered him a disgrace to the nation. He received the British Minister in his dressing gown and in slippers run down at the heels, "looking," as the Minister said, "like a raw-boned farmer."

By way of contrast with Jefferson, his three immediate successors, Madison, Monroe and Adams, were statesmanlike men and each made an excellent impression on foreign dignitaries. The scholarly Madison, known as "the father of the Constitution," was not a strong executive. In the conflict with England in 1812 he did not distinguish himself, lacking vigor as a war President.

Jackson's concept of chief ruler of this country was not much unlike that of a Caesar. He was a rough diamond. He had received but little schooling and never could write correct English. Bluff, headstrong, pugnacious, he sought to enlarge the powers of President far beyond those granted by the Constitution. He made the members of his Cabinet simply heads of departments. His advisers, when he had any, were his intimate friends in private life. He was openly hostile to the United States Supreme Court and refused to let some of its decrees be executed. Still, his splendid services as a soldier caused many of his countrymen to overlook his high-handed acts.

Jackson's successors, Van Buren, Tyler, Polk and Taylor, were intellectual men. They wielded no big stick and were more gracious in their dealings with their colleagues and the people.

Buchanan was well beloved. He was a mild-mannered, polished gentleman and a good lawyer, but his confessed inability to cope with the slavery question made him glad to turn the reins of government over to Lincoln, the former farm hand, who shone resplendently as an executive.

IV.

Lincoln's concept of the Presidency was that of faithful governmental service and strict regard for principle. No politics was permitted to be talked in his presence. His favorite phrase was "We must stick to American principles." In him was seen the soul of democracy. Like Jefferson, he would receive visitors at the White House in his dressing gown. Emerson wrote of him that his manner seemed to say, "Here I am. If you don't like me the worse for you." And yet he was free from any suggestion of pomposity. Private Secretary Hay said after Lincoln's death that he could recall no instance in which he referred to himself as President.

Grant, the silent, went to his inauguration unaccompanied by Johnson, his predecessor, with whom he had broken and who refused to ride with him. He made a good record in the White House, but he was a better soldier than President. Of Johnson it may be said that he was uneducated, egotistical and tactless—attributes which nearly resulted in his impeachment when he removed Secretary of War Stanton without the consent of the Senate.

Garfield and McKinley, each of whom, like Lincoln, suffered death by assassination, were serious, manly characters. Garfield was inaugurated on a Friday and was in office for the shortest period of any President save W. H. Harrison—only six and one-half months. Harrison served but a month before he died.

Cleveland made a departure from precedent by delivering his inaugural address without notes. He had a perfect passion for work, seldom leaving his desk before 2 a.m. and being at it again at 9. He wrote official letters in his own hand. He closely examined every important bill passed by Congress and was noted for his many vetoes.

Roosevelt's idea of the Presidency was that of firm, aggressive leadership. Like Cleveland, he was "strictly business." Visitors had no chance to make prepared speeches. Roosevelt did the talking and it was to the point. His official movements seemed to be regulated by a timecard. Unlike other Presidents, he did not wait for public opinion, but struck out with a bold hand. He was for "a square deal" and hated hypocrisy and humbug.

The modest, amiable Taft lacked the magnetism and dramatic force of his predecessor, but had a deeper sense of his official limitations. Presidents all have their disappointments. Taft's lay in the failure of his dream of trade reciprocity with Canada.

V.

Wilson wanted to deal with affairs at first hand. He was the only President to make addresses and conduct business with Congress at short range. He confessed most poignantly to the loneliness which is the lot of all Presidents. He tried, but often failed, to subtract his personality from the subject in hand and was fond of referring to his "impersonal view." Importunate politicians regarded him as lacking in warm human qualities.

Wilson's successors, Harding and Coolidge—men of fine official capacity—stand out as strong executives. The keynote of Calvin Coolidge—the President who in this electric age took his first oath of office under that kerosene lamp and was sworn in by that sternly religious father who had ingrained in him ideas of strict morality and old-fashioned thrift—is fair play. Part of that fair play he conceives to be rigid economy. All his acts are governed by the sovereignty of ethics, which has ruled the minds of our greatest Presidents.

The American people are glad to renew Coolidge's term of office, as they are confident that his leadership represents the highest type of fair and efficient service.

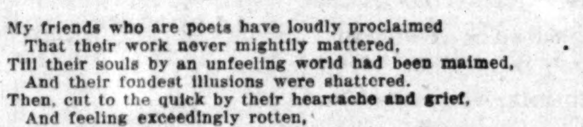
Just About It
by James J. Montague



NO HOPE

I often have heard that a person who writes,
  Must always remain a mere duffer,
And never rise to magnificent heights,
  Unless he has learned how to suffer.
I was told that the light and the lilting refrain,
  Which seems like a booklet to bubble,
Is always the product of bodily pain,
  Or of some sort of personal trouble.

My friends who are poets have loudly proclaimed
  That their work never mightily mattered,
Till their souls by an unfeeling world had been maimed,
  And their fondest illusions were shattered.
Then, cut to the quick by their heartache and grief,
  And feeling exceedingly rotten,
They took up their pencils and sought for relief
  In lays that cannot be forgotten.

I haven't been sick a great deal in my time,
  Or known any heart-racking anguish,
So I feared my ambition to write a great rhyme,
  Seemed certain to wither and languish,
Unless I knew pain, and the marvelous way,
  Those poets declared it reacted;
So I took myself down to a dentist one day
  And had all my molars extracted.

But, alas, for the beautiful dreams that I had!
  Such pains through my tortured jaws caper,
That by day and by night they are driving me mad
  And I cannot set pencil to paper.
And so, though I hear that a poet's career,
  If great, is uncommonly gainful,
I never can write deathless poems, I fear,
  For getting in form is too painful!

THE CONSTITUTION
The nation's best minds agree that last year's oratorical contest on the American Constitution furnished a most resultful training in patriotism for the young people of this generation. Its influence was not only felt in every school, but in a majority of American homes. The activities of the young, moreover, led to a larger contemplation of the Constitution by their elders.

Those who read and study this immortal document cannot but carry away a larger respect for its coherent mandates. They must, in the very nature of things, become better citizens. Respect for the Constitution impels reverence for the flag and fidelity to the home. It is well that the students of America are to be again brought into friendly rivalry in the oratorical interpretation of this great document, an intellectual tourney which should be made an annual event.

The President and the Supreme Court of the United States not only give it their whole-souled indorsement, but lend their time and assistance to its progress. For the next two months it will engage the minds and efforts of millions of studious young Americans of both sexes. The rewards are substantial and the honors accruing to the winners are great, but its highest benefit is the ultimate effect upon the nation and the race. Understanding of and regard for the American Constitution are the best security we can offer for the ultimate peace of the world and the upholding of justice with humanity.

AN INITIAL MISTAKE
There are times when Mr. W. E. D. Stokes, the New York millionaire, must wish most devoutly he never had been W.E.D.

SECRETS

I would rather have an old house
  With mellowed paint and stains,
An old, old house grown intimate
  With tears and sun and rains,
Than any fine new house that's built
  With unreceptive gaze,
Though goodly may it be to view
  In countless clever ways.

A new house claims no sentiment,
  But stands aloof and cold,
For love has not enveloped it,
  Nor life its story told;
An old house speaks of many things,
  It holds an echo, too,
Its very roof a friendship claims,
  For it once sheltered you.

The homing pigeons topped these boughs
  Now bending neath the snow
Of myriad blossoms creamy-white
  Wind-flaunting row on row;
The lilacs whispered secrets then
  With honey-petaled tongue,
And whisper still if you but heed,
  For dreams are ever young.

STOOPED SHOULDERS

BY MARY OLMSTED LOTSPEICH

When a woman has seen three score years—and half of more of allotted time—come and go she also sees the time to d of the things that were crowded out of the busier days. That's the compensations that white hair and wrinkles bring. So I am ing books now that have been in the family longer than I have, them "Paradise Lost" and Milton's description of the "God of mon."

Mammon, "the least erect of all the spirits that fell from heaven," least erect because of the fact that in that perfect place his gaze had been downward, admiring the glittering gold of the pavement rather than "aught divine or holy else enjoyed, in beauty beatific."

But I know by experience that one can't always judge by appearances, for I've seen shoulders—and so have you—that bent far over big, generous hearts as ever beat in a human body. Bodies that were bent by back-breaking work of years. And then I read our old home-town paper and I thought some thoughts when I saw the list of donors to their community chest. Opposite the name of one of the moneyed men was the munificent sum of $50 a year! One could not excuse him by thinking he was giving largely in other directions. Not those that knew him as a boy and know that the boy was father to the man. Looks as though he finds Mammon's coat a pretty good fit for himself! But he couldn't kill the enterprise. Teachers and clerks and others of the workaday world who thought more of the needs of others than their own helped to swell the sum that "went over the top" in record-breaking time.

Later I read an absorbingly interesting article in a current magazine, a page written by an enterprising woman who looked well to the ways of her household, so that the money that her good man had earned and the two together had saved and invested wisely and put them far beyond the reach of want. But the last item of her budget made me wonder how she could be so blind to the needs of others less fortunate. For out of their weekly income of $56—or was it $65—$2 was the amount to be divided between amusements, magazines and charity—and the last of these was charity! One-third of $2—66 cents or less—probably less—out of more than a half-hundred dollars. A pretty poor showing for the needy ones!

The God of Mammon will get them "ef they don't watch out."

But that isn't my business, it's theirs. It keeps me busy watching the set of my own shoulders.

In this money-mad age it might be well for all to measure ourselves before a mental mirror "ever and anon, and sometimes oftener," with that picture that Milton painted. I expect to be found at that measuring place. Wonder if I'll find any of my friends there!

PAYING THE PRICE

By the Foothill Philosopher

Juvenile crime furnishes a foundation upon which is being erected a Babel of opinions. May we add one more stone to the structure before it gets so top-heavy that it falls? Briefly, then—

Society, composed mostly of parents and children, is paying the price of lack of self-discipline and failure to carefully direct those in its charge. We pay for failure, as well as for success, in every line of activity.

Generally speaking, our ideas of freedom have become inverted. It is not blood nor wealth nor rulers that hold the 110,000,000 persons of America together. We are bound by ideals. If these ideals are shattered our unity is broken.

Apparently, we are coming to believe and to teach (by example if not by precept) that freedom consists in doing as one pleases. Nothing is further from truth. Freedom consists in doing as one wills to do when he has learned to will to do that which conduces to individual and social harmony. The wild animal does pretty much as he pleases, but he has no freedom, for he has no choice to act otherwise than as his instinctual desires dictate.

That "there is no excellence without great labor" is as true today as it was when we gave our fond parents "an example of our penmanship" by copying the sentence from our copy-books in the long ago. Freedom presupposes apprenticeship. True liberty must be earned.

Freedom of thought and action are attained through that apprenticeship necessary for the development of the will and the direction of faculties in the line of our choice. Glad acceptance of discipline is the joyous road to freedom. Rebellion against discipline is slavery—yet even slavery is necessary until we are ready to see and walk the way to freedom. I have heard and read of persons who became master artists, poets, mechanics and musicians following a sudden inspiration of an hour of "meditation"—but I never met any of them.

HIGHEST TELEPHONE

What is said to be the highest telephone system in the world is located at Sorata, Bolivia, in South America. This installation is for the use of a mining company and connects the various parts of the mines and the town of Yani. The total length of the line is just over ten miles and the whole of the installation stands at no less a height than 15,500 feet, or nearly three miles above sea level.—[Telephone Press.

TEACHER-GRAVEDIGGERS

According to an old record, the duties of an English schoolmaster of 1861 were as follows: "To act as court messenger, to serve summonses, to conduct certain ceremonial services of the church, to lead the Sunday choir, to ring the bell for public worship, to dig graves, to perform other occasional duties." — [Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

HOSPITAL PHYSICIANS AID FUND

Clara Barton Doctors Hold Session to Boost for New Building

That the 112 physicians on the staff of the Clara Barton Hospital are out to help get the proposed Clara Barton Memorial Hospital by raising $1,000,000 for a building fund was in evidence last night at a staff meeting of the doctors held at the hospital.

Dr. A. B. Cooke, chief of staff of the Clara Barton Hospital, presided and introduced C. L. Johnson, campaign organizer, who represented Judge Bledsoe, chairman of the board of trustees, in appealing to the doctors to get their subscriptions in without delay.

Dr. F. K. Collins was given charge of the securing of subscriptions from doctors and announced last evening that subscriptions thus far received indicated with practical certainty that the physicians of the Clara Barton staff would subscribe a minimum of $50,000 to the building fund for the Clara Barton Memorial Hospital.

"This disposition on the part of the medical fraternity to support the building campaign with substantial subscriptions is outstanding proof of the need for this downtown public nonprofit hospital," declared Judge Bledsoe this morning on receiving the report from last night's meeting. "I appreciate sincerely, as does every other citizen and business man, this support from the doctors."

Judge Bledsoe announced this morning that the subscription of $31,000 made by Dr. H. P. Barton, superintendent of the present Clara Barton Hospital, as a nucleus with which to start the new hospital, represented an associated ownership, in which the following are owners: Dr. H. P. Barton, Dr. C. A. Smalley, Dr. E. E. Sherrard, Dr. David Beatty, Dr. R. Wernigk, Dr. R. A. Campbell, Dr. Charles Sexton, Dr. E. R. Frost, Mrs. D. C. Barbar, C. W. Barton and L. C. Barton.

Dr. Barton owns the controlling interest in the hospital, and the eleven stockholders have voted unanimously to turn all assets of the institution over to the new hospital when the building is completed.

CHAUFFEUR SLAIN BY GARDENER

Killer is Believed Insane; Had Delusion He Was to be Lured Away and Beaten

Delusions that he was to be lured downtown and subjected to a beating led Lewis Schuler, a gardener, to slay Godfrey Pensek, a chauffeur, yesterday afternoon while the latter was beneath an automobile repairing the car. The shooting occurred at 2330 Hillhurst Drive, Hollywood.

Schuler walked into the garage while Pensek was at work and fired two shots from a .25-caliber automatic pistol without uttering a word. He then walked to his room, lay down on the bed and fired one shot into his own head. There he was found by Sergt. Stevens of the Hollywood police station.

At the Receiving Hospital where he was taken for treatment Schuler admitted he had shot the chauffeur, according to the police.

"I was suspicious of him, that's all," he said. "I had no quarrel with him. We never had any words. I just walked into the garage and shot him twice in the head while he was under the car. He wanted me to go downtown and I was afraid he meant to beat me up."

Schuler, Detective Lieutenant Finn believes, is insane. Both men were employed at the Hillhurst Drive home of Harry Chandler. The body of Pensek was removed to the Gates, Crane & Earl funeral parlors, 1724 Highland avenue. Schuler was held at the Receiving Hospital on a murder charge.

FIVE NABBED IN DRIVE ON SOLICITORS

Police Make War on Bus Loaders Who Clutter Up Downtown Sidewalks

The new police drive against overly energetic real-estate solicitors who clutter up the sidewalks in their efforts to drum up business netted five arrests yesterday and an even $65 in fines. Four persons were arrested in front of 456 South Olive street and the fifth at Sixth and Olive streets. C. J. Von Asweigan paid a fine of $25 and James R. Manning, E. S. Martin, Walter Renyon and Miss Betty Homedew paid fines of $10 each.

The drive opened Monday afternoon with the arrest of seven men and women along Olive and Hill streets. Mrs. Anna Riley and Mrs. Zena Banchard, the two women in the batch of seven prisoners, paid $5 fines and the five men paid $10 each. Police officials stated that the drive would continue until the solicitors were broken of the habit of darting out on the sidewalk beyond their property lines and accosting pedestrians in violation of the city ordinance against this practice.

FURNITURE REMOVED BY TRUCK BURGLARS

Two trips were made by three burglars equipped with a light truck to steal all the furniture from the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Drennan of North Glencoe street, near Long Beach Boulevard, in the vicinity of Compton. The furniture was stolen Monday, when Mr. and Mrs. Drennan were both in Wilmington. Neighbors saw the burglars at work, but supposed the Drennans were moving.

Delegates From Kindergartens to Hold Session

The California State Kindergarten Primary Association will conduct its first annual convention at Santa Barbara next Saturday evening at the Hotel Arlington. Delegates from all over the State and representatives from each teachers' college in California will be in attendance. The session will follow a banquet which will be preceded by the regular monthly meeting of the southern section of the association in the afternoon.

Dr. Katherine Cox, director of educational research at the Whittier State School, will speak. Dr. Cox recently completed a scientific study of 340 of the world's greatest geniuses, going back as far as the fourteenth century. She made this study under direction of Dr. Lewis Terman of Stanford, and data compiled as the result of her analysis of these geniuses are being used in the study of 1000 "superior" children in California by Dr. Terman.

Miss Barbara Greenwood of Los Angeles will talk on "Nursery Education and Its Progress In Eastern School Centers;" Miss Elga Shearer of Long Beach, on "How Are We Progressing In Primary Education," and Miss Madeline Veverka of Los Angeles, chairman of the California hostess committee of the International Kindergarten Union, will outline plans for the coming international convention here July 8 to 11.

MANY HOUSEKEEPERS TOO ILL TO WORK

How Many Are Finding Relief from Weakness and Pain. Mrs. Brandenburg a Notable Case

MRS. EMIL O. BRANDENBURG
651 37TH STREET, MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I was in a badly run-down condition and I would get weak spells and terrible headaches. I felt so badly last year that I could not do any housecleaning. The minute I would lift or stoop it seemed as if I was going to fall to pieces. I told a neighbor how I felt and she said that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was surely the right thing for me. I took four bottles then and in the fall of the year I took three. I had been treated by a doctor, but he gave me an iron tonic and that did not help me. It seemed that the tonic did not have in it what the Vegetable Compound did. That gave me the strength and ambition I needed and I have gained in weight. This year before I started to clean house I got four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and am taking it right along. I tell all my friends about it and how much good it does me. They can notice it because I have gained in weight. I weigh 118 now and do all my work myself again." —Mrs. EMIL O. BRANDENBURG, 651 37th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Earl's Recovery

Horace, Nebraska.—"I had terrible pains and backache, so bad that I could hardly move, and I would have to lie down at times. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was so sick that I thought I would try it. My husband knew it was good as he knew a woman it had helped. It took all my pains away and I don't have any backache now. I do my own housework, take care of a few chickens and my garden, and have a little girl three years old to look out for. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and I will answer all the questions I can, if any one writes to me." — Mrs. ADA EARL, Box 22, Horace, Nebraska.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the events of much interest to local society is the wedding this evening of Miss Wilma Atkinson, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Atkinson of 224 Muirfield Road, to Arthur Earle Holt, the ceremony taking place at the family home at 8 o'clock, Rev. Merle Smith of Pasadena officiating. Miss Margaret Benedict will assist the bride as maid of honor, while the bridesmaids will be Miss Vaughn Atkinson, sister of the bride, Miss Marjorie Howland and Miss Kathryn Nelson, both of Los Angeles. Thomas Tousley will serve Mr. Holt as best man. Mt. Atkinson will give his daughter in marriage and following the ceremony a wedding supper will be served. Mr. Holt and his bride will take an extended wedding trip and after their return will make their home here.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin P. Werner are entertaining this evening with a dinner party at their beautiful new home in Los Feliz Boulevard, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mr. and Mrs. Tully Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart French, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shepherd and Rafael Herman. This is the second of a series of charming affairs with which Mrs. Werner is entertaining this spring.

For Bride

In honor of Mrs. Byron C. Foy (Thelma Chrysler,) a recent bride, Miss Florence Grece of Gramercy Place is giving a luncheon at the Biltmore Tuesday afternoon, the 10th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Foy are domiciled indefinitely at the Ambassador until the plans for their own home are completed. Mrs. Foy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chrysler of Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y.

For Kiddies

Among the interesting affairs of the day will be the bridge and mah jongg tea with which Miss Polly Schoder is entertaining this afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Schoder, 400 South Plymouth Boulevard, the affairs being given for the benefit of the League for Convalescent Children. Miss Schoder is one of the charter members of the league, which was organized to take care of the little kiddies who have been released from the Children's Hospital, and yet are not strong enough to go home and give them delicacies and nourishing foods until they are strong and well. The games are called for 2:30 o'clock, and each guest is taxed $1.50, which includes the card games and tea afterward. As is usual in the organization, each of the thirty members has pledged herself to raise $100 before Easter Sunday, the way to be her own idea, and this is Miss Schoder's method of procedure.

Among the committees already selected for the furtherance of the success of the league are: House committee, Mrs. Edward Laurence Doheny, Jr., assisted by Miss Dorothy Wellborn; building committee, Mrs. Arthur Letts, assisted by Miss Katherine Phillips, Miss Marguerita Schneider and Miss Doris Braly; while the publicity is under the direction of Miss Katherine Thomas, assisted by Mrs. Hays Busch and Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Jr. Other committees are being named as they are needed. Mrs. Charles Gardner Bullis is president, Miss Katherine Thomas, vice-president; Mrs. Van Buren Jarvis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Loren Hillman, recording secretary and Mrs. Thomas Weeks Banks, treasurer.

For Brides-Elect

Among the brides-elect, who are being much entertained since the recent announcements of their engagements, are Miss Dorothy Gray and Miss Margaret Gray, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Waldo Gray of Berkeley Square. Miss Dorothy Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Sumner Brown of New Hampshire avenue, is giving a tea in their honor Tuesday afternoon the 10th inst.

Church Wedding

The marriage of Miss Margaret Kilgariff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kilgariff of Sacramento, to Thomas Edgar Workman, youngest son of the late William H. Workman and Mrs. Workman of 2424 Gramercy Park, was one of the beautifully planned events of February 24, the ceremony taking place in the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament in Sacramento, Rt. Rev. Bishop Kane of Sacramento, officiating also at the Nuptial Mass.

The dainty bride was assisted by her sister as maid of honor, while A. Shafer, cousin of Mr. Workman, served him as best man. The bride wore a charming creation of white satin and lace, the veil being held in place by orange blossoms and she carried orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the relatives and bridal party in the Empire Room of the Sacramento Hotel. After a honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Workman will make their home here, being domiciled in La Salle avenue near Washington street. The bride was graduated from Holy Names Convent, Oakland in 1920, while Mr. Workman a student of old St. Vincent's College is also graduated from Stanford University.

Wedding Date

Invitations are being issued by Mrs. Francis Bruce Wetherby of Madison avenue, Pasadena, for the wedding of her daughter, Miss Christine Wetherby, and Arthur Runyon Dayton, the ceremony to take place in the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, Saturday the 14th inst., 8:30 o'clock. Following the ceremony a wedding reception and supper will take place at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Wetherby and Miss Marjorie Lysle, another attractive bride-elect of Pasadena, have been honor guests at numerous charmingly arranged affairs recently. Miss Lysle will become the bride of Dudley O. Knight some time next month, and is planning a wedding trip abroad.

Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dabney Day of Fremont Place have just returned from a three week's sojourn in the East, where they were visiting in New York City and various other points of interest.

At Home

Mrs. William L. Hunter is planning an "at home" for this afternoon, the affair being in the nature of a bridge luncheon. Mrs. Hunter was formerly Miss Alma MacLean and since her recent coming to Los Angeles has been the honor guest at numerous delightfully planned affairs. Mrs. Hunter will be assisted by Mrs. D. R. Williams of Redondo Beach.

Recent Comers

Among the enjoyable affairs of recent date was the bridge and luncheon with which Mrs. C. S. Loveland entertained Wednesday at the Mary Louise, honoring Mrs. W. W. Mitchell, who has come recently from Philadelphia to make her home here, and of Mrs. R. France, another new arrival from Boston, who is also planning to make Los Angeles her home. The luncheon tables were beautifully adorned with pink sweet peas, violets and ferns, a color scheme of pink and lavendar being effectively carried out in the fragrant blossoms combined with maidenhair ferns and tulle ribbons. Tall candelabra with lighted tapers carried out the same color scheme. The centerpiece was formed of corsage bouquets which were given each guest after the luncheon. Covers were arranged for twenty.

Black Teeth Style Among Moro Flappers

Manila, P. I.—Black teeth, as shiny as ebony, are the style among the Moros.

Margaret Merry, an American girl, who landed in Manila recently shuddered to think that her flapper sisters of the Orient are rated as beautiful, according to the blackness of their teeth. She called them crude, barbaric!

But, Miss Merry does not realize that the girls of her country foster a superstition just as crude. They believe the handed down notion that cleaning is injurious to clothes when in reality only the complete removal of the fine dust accumulated in clothes can prevent them wearing out. BABY'S FRETFULNESS

May come from this least suspected source

Baby is fretful. You say, "His stomach is out of order" or "He is tired out" or "He is teething." But perhaps none of these is the cause of his fretfulness. The real source of his trouble may lie in irritation of his tender skin due to bathing him with soap that is rancid or alkaline.

Tomorrow morning, when you bathe the baby, use Castolay, The Modern Castile Soap. It is so pure, so mild, so free from alkali that it causes none of the irritation so common to ordinary soaps.

Castolay has all the good qualities of old genuine Castile and advantages that Castile at its best never had. It is pure, delicate; it lathers freely, rinses quickly. Ideal not only for children, but also for every day use on hands and face, and for shampooing.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

SUMMARY ON HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT

You have been advised never to eat unless you enjoy your food and to avoid eating as a mere duty. I tell you to discard that advice. Do eat whether you enjoy it or not, and do eat as a matter of duty.

Once the food is in your system, whether you like it or not, a large part of it will be assimilated. Perhaps not so well nor so readily, for we know that the enjoyment of food adds to the efficiency of the digestive juices.

There is a small bird, called the ortolan, which is highly esteemed by the Italian gormands. When it is fat it is very delicious, but as it feeds normally only once a day, when the sun rises, it naturally has no fat on it. So the Italians confine these birds in a darkened room and succeed in getting them to eat four or five times a day in the following manner:

They put a lantern at a little window in the room. The ortolans, thinking the sun has risen, hop around and eat. The lantern is withdrawn and they are left in darkness four or five hours. Now the lantern is again put in place. The ortolans, evidently an unsuspicious, guileless type of bird, thinking the sun has risen again to perform its duty by telling them it is time to eat, hop down from their perches and busy themselves very seriously and dutifully with their breakfast.

Apparently they keep track of time and do not suspect that only four hours of the 24 have elapsed. This same sun rises for them four or five times during the day and each time they obey its summons and gallantly eat. The result is that they are converted into little balls of delicious fat.

You can get a lesson from these birds.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

SOBERING UP THE SONGS

Of course, we might have known that some of those disreputable old songs would have to be sobered up under prohibition. Even if the old tunes are still considered respectable.

So when my high-school son started singing "There's a tavern in the town" around the house and I recklessly joined in—with my own sinful words of by-gone days—he listened in shocked amazement.

You remember how it goes:

"There's a tavern in the town, in the town,
Where my true love sits him down,
sits him down,
And drinks his wine, midst fun and laughter free,
And never, never thinks of me, thinks of me."

Most improper, of course. So I listened to the revised version as sung by the scholars of today with respectful interest. And this is what the old song has evolved into:

"There's a tavern in the town, in the town,
Where I rest and sit me down, sit me down,
Until the village clock strikes ten,
strikes ten,
When we all go home again, home again."

Thus has the reformation of the tavern been encompassed.

THE TAVERN REFORMED

Do you remember that other fine old drinking song, which concludes with:

"For I bear no grudge to any man when I'm drinking, drinking, drinking."

Of course you do. Well, that drinking has been transformed into "thinking"—and how quite too delightfully wonderful if it has. So obviously the proper way to celebrate.

Then there is that catchy little rondeau song about the boat and the ferry, and "We laugh and quaff and drink good sherry."

Well now "We laugh and play and eat good berries," strictly unfermented.

As for the "old buffer that lies low"—you may recall that six stalwart men should carry his bier and "drink to the buffer below."

Well, they don't do anything so outrageous today—even if bootleg whisky occasioned his discomfiting death—nay, nay "Pray for the buffer below," which is much more seemly.

PRAY FOR HIM

I think it is still comme il faut to "drink to me only with thine eyes, and I'll not ask for wine" because really, in a way, that was a quite good prohibition song, written under premature inspiration.

One regrets that our modern poets and song writers have not risen more effectually to the prohibition inspiration. This tinkering with the words of the old songs and expurgating history is beneath them.

You know, they say that the history of a country is written in its songs and poetry. What are our modern poets thinking of? It is surely time some of them were flooded with the proper inspiration of their own day. As it is the best prohibition songs I can think of were those inspired in the earliest days of the movement—"The lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine," and "Give me to drink of the crystal spring."

But, of course, those were the dear souls that had the vision and not the reality to contend with. We may have to wait until all the bootleggers are dead.

Philanthropy and Civics

"Citizenship and Crime" will be Buron Fitts's subject tomorrow when he speaks before the members and guests of the Philanthropy and Civics Club. Mr. Fitts, who is Chief Deputy District Attorney, served as lieutenant in the Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry, Ninety-first Division, and was wounded twice in the battle of the Argonne. He was elected State Commander of the American Legion of California in 1920 and is now captain of the Reserve Corps, attached to the flying service.

Travelogue Programs

Mrs. Guy Bush will give a musical travelogue program tomorrow at the South Side Ebell Club on England, France and Italy.

Many dates will be filled by Mrs. Bush in the near future. She will give her lecture on "Great Hymn Writers and Their Hymns" for the Woman's Club of the Wilshire Methodist Church on the 11th inst., and a recital with Blanche McTavish, contralto, at the Ebell Club on the 16th inst. On the 18th inst. she will appear before the Hollywood Woman's Club with Maurice La Vore, Russian baritone.

When the Southern California Women's Press Club gives a vaudeville program on the 19th inst. Mrs. Bush will do some pianologues, and on the 24th inst. she will again appear with Blanche McTavish at the San Pedro Woman's Club.

Women's University Club

Mark Daniels, landscape architect, who was in charge of the national parks under President Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Interior under President Wilson, and author of "Green Symbols" and other works, will address the Women's University Club Saturday on "The Personality of Trees," following a luncheon prepared and served by the charter members of the club and in charge of Mrs. Warren Smith.

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin will speak on "Universal Peace: Is It a Dream?" on the afternoon program, and Mrs. Frederick Faulkner of Oakland, acting sectional director of the American Association of University Women, will discuss "Our National Headquarters." Mrs. Herman Fleishman will be in charge of this program.

Birthday Luncheon

The attainment of the subdeb age of the Los Angeles Travel Club will be marked tomorrow with a seventeenth anniversary birthday luncheon. Ten speakers are scheduled for the luncheon program. Each member of the club who has presented a candidate will be called upon to introduce the new member and give a testimonial of her capabilities as an asset to the club.

After a short program, including "The Floral Shop," presented by Miss Lucile McGuire, and a vocal selection by Miss Enid Dees, accompanied by Mrs. Chester Smith, a reception will be held, when Mrs. F. W. Fuller, club president, will cut the birthday cake.

The regular meeting of the executive board will be held Friday in the conference room of the Bank of Italy.

Talented mothers of the Laurel P.-T.A. will give the program at the regular March meeting, to be held in the auditorium of the building at Willoughby and Edinburg streets in West Hollywood, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, according to announcement made yesterday by Mrs. George McDonald, president of the organization.

Mrs. Louise Brown, known professionally as Miss Louise Hammond, will sing a group of songs, and Mrs. R. N. Baily will be the reader on the program. Mrs. F. R. Little's song numbers will include "Wild Flower," by Mantague Phillips, and "Once Upon a Time," from "Clinging Vine." Mrs. Fritz Pulpaneck will render "Melody in G," by Rachmaninoff, and also the "Chopin Waltz" as piano numbers.

Mrs. William Beaudine, wife of the motion-picture director, will lead the singing of the P.-T.A. song. The program chairman is Mrs. G. M. Doolittle.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Sonny's Gloves

The knitted gloves or mittens for the small boy are constantly slipping off unless some drastic step is taken. Narrow elastic may be attached on the inside of the glove tight enough that it will hold the glove firmly to the sleeve of his coat. If the glove is loosely knitted at the wrist the elastic may be woven in and out.

All in a Day's Work

Use peroxide of hydrogen to remove perfume stains from bureau scarfs.

Damp bran scattered over the very dirty carpet will take dirt with it when swept up.

Sew the buttonholes of the sweater together before washing so they do not stretch out of shape.

A Light in the Darkness

If you have a light in your home that has no switch connection, but just a pull chain, purchase one of the chains that ends in a knob made of phosphorescent material, which is easily seen in the dark. They are not expensive and certainly do away with that search in the dark for the pull chain.

Beaded Work

To string small beads on silk before kitting a bead bag lay the end of the thread on which the beads come on the end of the silk thread. Fasten carefully together with a little glue. Let dry and then slide the beads from the thread to the silk.

Old Rubbers

When giving away the children's outgrown shoes don't forget to include their outgrown rubbers. The old rubbers will rarely fit the new shoes and will prove a joy to the mother receiving the shoes.

Care of the Mop

The best way to get the dirt out of the oiled mop is to brush it out with a whisk broom kept just for this purpose. The mop will keep clean an amazing length of time if brushed out after each using.

The Kitchen Waste-Paper Basket

A fireproof waste basket kept under the kitchen sink for wrappings, empty boxes, cans, etc., will save many trips to the cellar and keep all your kitchen rubbish in one place. The white enameled ones are nice, as they can be washed when necessary.

Fill Them With Water

Do you fill your kitchen utensils with water as soon as you have emptied their contents? They are so much easier to wash and so much nicer to handle when thus treated.

To Keep Their Color

You can set the color of your colored linen handkerchiefs by soaking them in salt water before laundering them. Then you will enjoy them until they wear out.

Spots on Wool

Spots can be removed from woolen clothes by wiping off with water in which as much borax as it will hold has been dissolved.

Go Investigate

If you should smell smoke in the house, don't wonder where it is, go investigate. It may be merely a neighbor building a fire—but then it may not.

Better Results

The secret of rice and macaroni is to give them plenty of water to cook in, so they need not be stirred. Allow two teaspoonfuls of salt to each quart of water.

Stains on Marble

Grease stains on marble can be removed easily by covering the spot with a paste of Fuller's earth and water and allowing it to remain for several days.

TRIO JAILED IN DOPE CASE

Juan Avalon, Charles Cornet and Ed Hoffman are held in the County Jail on a charge of violating the Harrison Narcotic Act. The prices paid for the dope, the agents said, ranged from $7.50 to $20 a bindle.

VIEWS CITY AS COMING PLAY BASE

Al H. Woods, Producer, Says Los Angeles Audiences Are Discriminating

Los Angeles should eventually develop into a theatrical center ranking in importance with New York, in the opinion of Al H. Woods, one of the leading play producers of that city, who arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

Mr. Woods said he had come to Los Angeles to see a couple of plays in local theaters with a view of producing them in New York. He added that he would also make arrangements for the production here in the near future of one of his plays, "The Pelican," now running in London.

"I am so much impressed with Los Angeles as a theatrical city that I am planning to send many of my plays out here before showing them in New York," said Mr. Woods. "I know from experience that if they are favorably received in Los Angeles they will go in New York."

Mr. Woods said his opinion as to the theatrical possibilities of Los Angeles is based particularly on the fact that this city presents a type of theater patrons as discriminating as any to be found in the country.

"A Los Angeles theater audience reminds me of the people that attend first-night performances in New York," he said. "They appreciate good plays and are even more critical than New Yorkers.

"One advantage here is the fact that the legitimate theaters are not overdone. In the city of Boston, for instance, whose population is just under that of Los Angeles, there are eleven first-class theaters devoted to the legitimate drama. In Los Angeles there are only two houses of that particular type. This permits more discrimination in the selection of plays, results in less competition among producers and leaves the theater-goer less surfeited with a vast number of productions."

Wife Alienation Denied in Reply to Damage Suit

Charles Weeks, real estate operator of San Fernando Valley, yesterday entered a categorical denial of the charges made by I. C. Clodfelter of Lankershim that Weeks alienated the affection of Mrs. Rosalie Clodfelter, to whom Clodfelter was married in 1899. The denial came in the form of an answer Weeks filed to the suit for $125,000 damages brought against him by Clodfelter.

In his complaint, which was prepared by Attorney W. Cloyd Snyder, Clodfelter stated Weeks first met Mrs. Clodfelter in Palo Alto in 1920 and immediately attempted to make love to her and win her away from her husband. Weeks was said to have taken Mrs. Clodfelter to places of amusement and on long automobile rides, and Clodfelter stated he moved his family to Los Angeles county in 1921 to take his wife away from the asserted influence of Weeks.

Weeks, according to the complaint, followed six weeks later and renewed his asserted attentions to Mrs. Clodfelter, who was said to have left her husband in July, 1924. Clodfelter, who is 57 years of age, said he suffered great anguish because of the asserted estrangement of his wife.

Weeks refuted all the allegations in his answer, which was filed by Attorneys Woolwine, Giesler and Comegys. With the filing of Weeks's reply, the case is now in a position to be set for trial.

All Readers Are Eligible to Enter Humor Contest

Have you ever tried your luck with "Local Laughs" yet?

Every reader of The Times is eligible to enter the competition of sending in humorous contributions for the famous "Local Laughs" film, a new edition of which appears each week at the California theater, Los Angeles.

Hundreds of readers have won prizes thus far, ranging from $1 up to $5. The weekly awards consist of $5, $3, $2 and twelve $1 prizes.

All there is to do is to send in what you consider a good joke that will make motion-picture audiences laugh. It may be one you overheard, or one you have made up yourself. The only rule to observe is that jokes must not exceed thirty words.

Try your hand at this fun-making game that thousands of Southern Californians are enjoying. Winners are announced every week on the screens of more than a score of theaters where "Local Laughs" are shown, as listed in the coupon printed elsewhere.

HERO OF SMYRNA TO SPEAK HERE TODAY

Asa K. Jennings, hero of Smyrna, will speak at Central Y.M.C.A. Schools at 11:15 a.m. today on "The Truth About the Turks." Mr. Jennings was responsible for the safe conduct of more than 10,000 refugees when the Turks captured Smyrna after the retreat of the Greeks. As the representative of the American Y.M.C.A., he was trusted by both sides and commandeered fifty vessels for the removal of the noncombatants from the burning city. Since then he has continued to reside at Angora as a special Y.M.C.A. representative for Turkey.

INAUGURAL AT STUDIOS

Universal to Suspend All Work to Hear Coolidge on Radio

They will all assemble at the operahouse built for the picture, "The Phantom of the Opera," where a radio receiving set has been installed and where the President's address will be transmitted.

"WATCH ME SINK THIS PUTT," SAYS SKIPPER

GOLF AT SEA IS POPULAR

Los Angeles Steamship Company Says Passengers Pleased With Latest Ocean Liner Game

Golf aboard ship—not a tee shot practicing machine but a scientific game—is proving of absorbing interest to passengers sailing on the liners of the Los Angeles Steamship Company between this port and Hawaii, according to an announcement by J. H. Hall, port steward of the company.

"The first passenger steamship in the world to install equipment for table golf was the City of Los Angeles," said Hall. "We placed two sets for the game in the veranda cafe of the ship before she left on her January 31 sailing for Honolulu. I made the round trip myself and found a constant waiting list of passengers to join in the playing from immediately after breakfast until midnight. The idea was conceived by E. F. Wilkinson during a recent trip to the Orient, after hearing a tourist remark that it was peculiar that no one had ever invented a game comparable to pool or billiards that could be played aboard a steamship. All the skill and chance of pool and billiards are presented in this sport and it holds the interest of passengers stronger than any of the many games which I have known in all my experience at sea."

The demand for an opportunity to join in this game by passengers is so insistent, it is said, that two additional sets were placed aboard the City of Los Angeles before she sailed Saturday for the mid-Pacific isles. On this trip, Billy Williams, who is introducing the game from the company's manufacturing headquarters in Los Angeles, was a passenger and announced his intention of holding table golf tournaments during the round-trip voyage with capital prizes of parlor sets of table golf for the winners.

Selfishness is Suicide, Ad Club Speaker Avers

"Selfishness is suicide. Service is self-expansion. The will to live, augmented by the will to love, is the great redemptive force in the world today. In this dawn of civilization that shall be worthy of humanity and an honor to man's Maker, men are learning to put the thing of the spirit above muscle, mentality and money and are discovering that mutual understanding and sympathy are more productive of social and individual good than the jungle law of crushing competition."

These sentiments were voiced by Orra E. Monnette, president of the Bank of America, in an address given yesterday before the Advertising Club at the Biltmore.

The three-minute speaker yesterday was Mrs. Lena R. Pepperdine, vice-president of the Soroptimist Club, who emphasized the value of close co-operation between employers and employees, declaring that loyalty, the greatest asset to a business, cannot be purchased with money but results from the development of confidence.

Irving R. Smith, who presided, introduced Arthur M. Loomis, the chairman of the day, and the latter announced that the speaker next Tuesday will be Don Francisco. Don Thomas, secretary of the club, announced that Bill Chadwick will be the speaker at the Round Table meeting at the City Club next Friday at noon.

Geologist Testifies for Defense in Malibu Ranch Case

F. P. Van Horn, formerly connected with the United States Geological Survey, testified yesterday that he had surveyed millions of tons of oil shales on the Malibu ranch north of Santa Monica. Van Horn was summoned as a witness for the defense at the trial of the suit brought by the county to condemn a highway right of way through the ranch. Van Horn's testimony was given in support of the defense contention that the ranch contains valuable mineral deposits.

He was followed on the stand by William H. Akin, real estate operator, who gave testimony relative to the value of the ranch lands for subdivision purposes. The trial will be resumed this morning before Judge Frederick C. Valentine.

DECREE FOR GLADYS AUBLE

Gladys Brassington, daughter of the late Police Captain Auble, who was shot to death by a bandit some years ago, won a divorce in Judge Summerfield's department of the Superior Court yesterday from Earl Brassington. She stated that her husband deserted her after eleven years of marriage.

SOUTHLAND SEARCHED FOR GIRLS

Parents Fear Pair May Have Been Spirited to Town Below Border

Police in Southern California as far south as the Mexican border were enlisted yesterday in the search for Maizie Wright Russell and her chum, Frances Covert, both 14 years of age, who have been missing from their homes here since February 26, last. The parents of the missing girls fear that they have been kidnaped or have met with harm. Detective Aselin of the crime-prevention bureau of the local police is in charge of the local search. Police in San Diego have been requested to look for the girls below the border because of the fear that they may have been abducted and taken to Tia Juana.

MAIZIE WRIGHT RUSSELL

Fears for the safety of the missing girls, their parents told police, are increased because of the fact that neither has left home before and because both were apparently swallowed up shortly after they disappeared.

The Russell girl lived with her parents at 1220 East Twenty-second street and the Covert girl resided with her family at 1526 Central avenue. The former is described as 5 feet 3 inches tall, 106 pounds in weight, with greenish-blue eyes, light-brown bobbed hair. When she disappeared she was wearing a one-piece black dress, a tan coat. She also had a diamond ring and a white gold wrist watch. The Covert girl is described as 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 110 pounds, gray eyes, brown bobbed hair. She was wearing a black dress, tan coat and a string of pearl beads and a wrist watch.

FRANCIS COVERT

Married, but Didn't Brag of It to Friends

Wedded but not boasting about it was the attitude of Frances E. Martin and Gaylord N. Martin, according to accusations each made against the other in a complaint and cross-complaint for divorce, it was revealed yesterday when the pair appeared before Judge Fleming in proceedings over the custody of their minor son pending trial.

Martin insisted on introducing her as his sister, Mrs. Martin charged. He countered by accusing her of posing as single and refusing to wear her wedding ring.

The proceedings yesterday were brought by Martin, who complained that his wife's parents barred him from visiting his son. Judge Fleming ruling that if Mrs. Martin wished to retain custody of the child she will have to move away from her parents.

FEBRUARY TOTAL HIGH IN POLICE COURT FINES

Chief Clerk Martin of the Los Angeles Police Courts reported yesterday that $98,000 was turned into the City Treasury in fines during February, despite the fact that the month contained only twenty-eight days. Fines in January, which had thirty-one days, totaled $96,000.

Film Producers' Wives Menaced by Cash Demand

A man with a dented nose and cauliflower ear, dressed as a chauffeur, is being sought by the police of the Wilshire Station at the suggestion of Mrs. H. M. Warner, 501 South Rossmore avenue, wife of one of the Warner brothers of the studio of that name. Late Monday night, Mrs. Warner reported, he came to her door and thrust forward an old greasy letter with a demand that she read it. She refused. He did the same thing Sunday night, she said.

Detective Lieutenant Barrada, investigating, learned, he said, that the same man had called upon Mrs. Jack Warner, 250 South Plymouth Boulevard, wife of another of the motion-picture producers, with the same or a similar letter. Mrs. Warner told him the letter was signed Mr. and Mrs. Kid Thomas and asked money on the ground that they were about to become parents.

MRS. LATHROP GIVEN DECREE AND ALIMONY

A divorce decree, together with $285 a month alimony, was awarded by Judge Summerfield of the Superior Court yesterday to Mrs. Marjorie Pond Lathrop wife of Alfred Lee Lathrop, banker. She testified that her husband left her without an explanation after several years of marital discord.

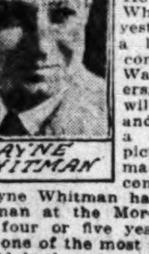
GAYNE WHITMAN LEAVES STAGE FOR SCREEN

By Grace Kingsley



The Morosco has again fulfilled its destiny by furnishing another star to pictures. And now let all the little matinee girls mourn, for another Apollo has quit the stage for the movies. He is Gayne Whitman, who yesterday signed a long-term contract with Warner Brothers, and who will be starred and featured in a number of pictures to be made by that company.

Gayne Whitman has been leading man at the Morosco for the past four or five years. He has been one of the most popular matinee idols that theater has known, playing many important romantic roles. Recently the picture producers, looking about for leading men, have been taking a keen interest in Whitman's work, and have made him many offers. The one from Warner Brothers seemed most advantageous, however. So he accepted it. He will commence the picture work as soon as the run of "Sweet Seventeen" is finished. His first starring vehicle is not yet ready to announce.

It was Jack Warner and Harry Edwards who were responsible for Whitman's signing. They have seen him lately in a number of good roles, and decided that the good-looking young actor should play to a wider circle than is possible in stock.

The Morosco has furnished the largest number of stars for the pictures of probably any theatrical institution in the country. From this stock company have come Douglas MacLean, Richard Dix, Edmund Lowe, Warner Baxter, David Butler and a number of others.

Harland Tucker, who has been sharing leading honors with Whitman was formerly in pictures, and it is said that a big company is angling for him now. He is proving highly popular at the Morosco, and the big directors are looking him over. He is very fond of the stage, however, and as there seem to be some big things in view for him at the Morosco, it is possible he may stick to the stage.

Gayne Whitman in the meantime throws his stage make-up away, and is buying some picture make-up. This won't be his first venture in pictures, as he appeared in several Vitagraph features a few years ago, when Corinne Griffith was a bright light of that company.

The newest Warner Brothers star, before coming to the Morosco, played in a number of important stock companies in the East.

The Warners express themselves as delighted at having discovered Whitman, as they consider him one of the most finished actors they have yet signed.

"I'm very much pleased at the prospects offered me by Warner Brothers," said Mr. Whitman. "The Warners have the real artistic spirit; they have vision; they wish to give the world the most worth-while stories which can be told on the screen, and it is an inspiration to be allied with such an organization."

HENRY KING FINDS NEW CLEVER ACTOR

Henry King has gone into the Columbusing business. He began preparations yesterday to introduce to fame another embryo genius, to follow in the footsteps of Ernest Torrence, Douglas MacLean, Ronald Colman and half a dozen other King finds. This new find of King's is named Ernest Gillen, and he is to play opposite Alice Terry in "Any Woman," which King is directing for Paramount at the newly christened De Mille studio in Culver City.

Gillen's real name, it appears, is Ernesto Guillen, and he has been in pictures less than a year, having recently been playing in two-reel westerns. His signnig brought to an end a quest that extended over a period of four weeks during which King made screen tests of famous and near-famous leading men.

It is said that Gillen somewhat resembles Bryant Washburn. He is six feet tall and weighs 160 pounds, and has brown hair and eyes and a thorough American appearance which belies the fact that he was born in Mexico City of Spanish parents. His stepfather, Francisco Contreras, is a Mexican mining and oil operator.

The new leading man was seen here in amateur theatricals by Walter Hampden, and given a role in "The Light of Asia." He tried unsuccessfully for a long time to get into pictures.

Margarita Fischer also comes back to the screen in "Any Woman." So does Henry Kolker, stage and film director. Others who have been engaged to appear with Miss Terry are Lawson Butt, Evelyn Sherman, James Neill, Thelma Morgan, George Periolat, Aggie Herring and De Sacia Mooers.

Star in Plaster Cast

Colleen Moore continues to play rather a long engagement in a plaster cast. She says it is the worst cast she ever had to play in. It will be another fortnight before she will be able to discard her plaster lingerie, she says.

Miss Moore was injured in falling off a handcar while playing a scene in her latest First National picture, "The Desert Flower," when it was found that several of the neck vertebrae had been dislocated and a ligament torn. She is able to be up and about, but the weight of the cast is too great to allow of her moving around very much.

Ramon Novarro Signs

It looks as though Ramon Novarro won't have time to turn author after all. At least not for a while. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have big plans for him, following the completion of "Ben Hur," in which Fred Niblo is directing him, according to an announcement by Louis B. Mayer, vice-president in charge of production.

Novarro, it seems, has signed a five-year contract, and the star's future activities will be centered in the making of super-special features.

Three stories have already been selected as starring vehicles for Novarro, and work on the first will be started soon after "Ben Hur" is completed. The director is not yet announced, but it is surmised that Rex Ingram will be the man.

Company in Yosemite

Alice Calhoun called me up the other day to let me know that she was back from Truckee, where she had gone with the Tom Mix company to play opposite the Fox star in "Everlasting Whispers." The company didn't light long in Hollywood, but left on Sunday for Yosemite, where most of the scenes of the picture will be made.

O'Brien Plays Havoc

George O'Brien has been selected to play the leading role in "Havoc," when it is brought to the screen at the William Fox West Coast Studios, under the direction of Rowland V. Lee. Casting Director James Ryan and Mr. Lee are in daily conference deciding on the balance of the cast.

"Havoc" marks the sixth of the 1925-26 William Fox productions, five of which have already been completed; "The Iron Horse," which is now playing at Grauman's Egyptian Theater; the Rowland V. Lee production, "The Man Without a Country," now playing at the Central Theater in New York; the screen version of "The Fool," Channing Pollock's celebrated play will have its first showing on Broadway within a few weeks.

In addition to these, John Ford has completed two other productions, "Kings of the Turf," a racing picture with Henry B. Walthall and J. Farrell MacDonald and "Once to Every Man," in which George O'Brien is featured.

Several of the John Golden plays for which William Fox paid more than $1,000,000, will go into production within the next few weeks. "Lightnin'," will be directed by John Ford and Emmett Flynn will wield the megaphone on "Seventh Heaven." "The First Year" will also be screened before long but no director has as yet been assigned to it.

Sparkling Forth in Hillstreet Bill

Marvel Dobbs

Ostriches from a local ostrich farm furnished the trimming for the costume worn by this member of the Wright Dancers troupe, which is appearing this week at the Hillstreet.

HILLSTREET BILL FEATURES DANCERS

There's dancing and more dancing with plenty of lively tunes sprinkled in as seasoning down at the Hillstreet this week. And no matter what your preference in terpsichore may be, you're sure to find it there.

If your taste runs toward elaborate stage settings, and flashing, glittering gowns, you'll probably prefer the Wright dancers. For their presentation gives you a sample of dances and atmosphere of every country from snow-covered Russia to the feather-bedecked American Indian with his war dance. And more important still is the delightful young sprite, Helen Pachaud, whose adaptability is such that she charms in all the varied dance characterizations she is called upon to make.

And while you're still under the spell of the Russian Imperial dance of the Wright group, along comes Dave Apollon and his troupe of Russian folk dancers. They're quite captivating as they cavort about in their native costumes, and besides being a veritable whirling top in dancing, Apollon can make anyone sit up and take notice when he plays the mandolin with one hand and accompanies himself on the piano with the other.

Jean Boydell in her eccentric dances and singing garnered a large share of applause for herself, leaving many disappointed that her appearance was so brief.

Van Biene and Ford head another dance act but this is in an old fashioned garden, with their dancers blooming as posies there.

Maker and Bedford were highly entertaining as they comically pointed out the morals of city and country life. Miss Maker was especially charming and when it comes to singing there is no one else on the bill who has her equal in sweetness.

Howard's Spectacle is quite positively a misnomer, because there's nothing whatever of the spectacle about it. That is, unless you call four vest-pocket ponies cantering about the stage with dogs riding their backs, a spectacle. At that, though, the dogs got several hearty rounds of applause as they leaped from horse to horse over a platform.

The less said about "Lend Me Your Husband," the photoplay in which Doris Kenyon is featured, the better. It's one of those things that the normal minded person will refuse to sit through. Its plot was probably dug out of the mid-Victorian archives, and what the plot didn't ruin the director did.

"Paris Creations," the novel fashion reel on the Criterion Theater program with "The Great Divide" is proving extremely interesting to women and a sensation to those interested in color photography.

GLENDALE ARTISTS GIVE UNIQUE PLAY

If you agree with the evidence that's presented out at the Playhouse in Glendale you'll certainly maintain that "Barnum was right" and that there's more than one born every minute.

For with Spanish doubloons as the lure, it's quite conclusively proven that people will ride their imaginations even as witches do broom handles and soar into the clouds of unreasonableness. And if there had been enough hatchets or hammers to go around not a few in last night's enthusiastic audience would have climbed over the footlights and joined the frenzied treasure hunters.

Starting with the premise that there's a sucker born every minute, a young man, hopelessly in love, of course, utilizes this as a building block in the fortune, which he hopes to and does lay at papa's mercenary feet. Undoubtedly the idea is unique enough. For even the most skeptical of us will always lend an interested ear to tales of treasure troves. Pride may dictate an exterior air of scoffing, but the interest and intrigue is there underneath.

But in a dozen places and ways the authors of this play fell down in maintaining interest in the story. Here and there they foretold the plot development. The lines lacked snap and vivacity, and only once or twice was there an evidence of the sparkling, scintillant humor that should have been there.

This effect was somewhat heightened by the amateurishness and nervousness of a couple of the players. A little more familiarity with their lines will probably bring a briskness that will bolster up these dragging situations.

By its naturalness and breezy insouciance Charles Gregg's performance as Burke was by far the most entertaining. His little tricks of intonation brought instant spurts of laughter and a bubble of giggles. And his was a polish that none of the others attained.

Joseph McManus at times was the perfect Fred Farrel, gambling on the gullibility of others, playing his cards with suavity and cocksureness, even when he did not exactly know who would top these same cards. To him fell one of the best lines of the play: "The less you've got to say, the more emphatically you've got to say it." Lurking back of McManus's nervousness is a personality that with a little limbering up ought to provide a colorful future for him.

Mary Isabelle Alpaugh made the most of an unimaginative routine part, lending it some of her own grace of manner.

COMMUNITY ORCHESTR PROGRAM TOMORROW

Hollywood's Community Orchestra, augmented to more than fifty players, with musicians recruited from the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, will present its first free spring concert in the Hollywood Woman's Club auditorium on March 6, at 8:15 p.m. The organization has existed for the past five years, and has been sustained, up to this season, by the Hollywood Community Chorus. Jay Ploye, flutist in the Los Angeles Philharmonic, is its conductor, and has served in that capacity ever since the first little group of earnest music students met, five years ago, simply for the love of music.

Friends of Music, Hollywood's youngest community-wide organization, recently founded by Mrs. J. J. Carter, is sponsoring the concert next week. Mrs. Carter, as chairman, also, of the music section of the Woman's Club, has united the two interests in expectation of an overwhelming success on the night of March 6. Mrs. Celeste Nellis Ryus, well-known pianist, is the president of Friends of Music, and states their aim as "a community-wide group prepared to extend a frienly, helping hand to young artists or to musical organizations meriting and needing it." Membership is open to everyone who wishes to be a part of this commendable work.

OPERA STARS IN FINAL WEEK

Five More Performances by San Carlo

STELLA de METTE
MARIO BASIOLA
BIANCA SAROYA

Fortune Gallo's Songsters at Philharmonic

THE San Carlo Grand Opera Company, now in its final week at Philharmonic Auditorium, has four old favorites as well as one novelty in its repretoire still to be presented.

"Aida" is to be presented tonight by a cast including Saroya, Gentle Tommasini and Basiola. Thursday is "Lucia di Lammermoor," Donizetti's masterpiece, based on Sir Walter Scott's novel. The bills for Saturday are "Butterfly," with Miura for the matinee, and "Il Trovatore" in the evening.

The one novelty offered by Fortune Gallo's company is "Andrea Chenier," to be given with an exceptionally well-balanced cast Friday evening, the cast including Bianca Saroya, who as guest artist with the San Francisco Opera Association sang the leading soprano role in the first presentation of the opera on the Pacific Coast. Stella De Mette, Gaetano Tommasini, Mario Basiola, Natale Cervi and Pietro De Biasi complete the cast.

"Andrea Chenier" is a four-act opera by Giordano, and is based on the story of a romance of the French revolution. The opera is marked by many beautiful arias and duos. The orchestration is effective, and the reading of the score by Maestro Guerrieri is exceptionally brilliant, and has received the praise of the critics in every city where the San Carlo Company has played this season. From the old Italian school melodrama, interwoven with melody and highly dramatic climaxes, this opera promises to prove to be one of the outstanding successes of the season.

SILVERWOOD'S KHJ SPONSOR

Oboe Trio is Broadcast for First Time in Radio

Beginning of Great Wood Wind Ensemble is Seen

Frank Soares, Portuguese, in Baritone Solos

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

The program last evening was arranged by our famous Hart, Schaffner & Marx store, known to us as "Silverwoods," at the corner of Sixth and Broadway. This institution, which was so carefully nurtured by beloved "Daddy" Silverwood, has grown into the criterion of masculine good taste. A distinguished guest at KHJ for the occasion was Mr. Frank B. Richards, vice-president of the John B. Stetson Hat Company, who is at present visiting Los Angeles as a guest of Mr. Nagle, president of Silverwoods.

J. Howard Johnson, who is the studio representative for Silverwood's, presented two hours of Spanish music by artists who included the Biltmore Hotel concert orchestra, composed of Edward Fitzpatrick, violin and director; Joseph Heindl, 'cellist; Carl E. Angelotti, organ; A. Jankowsky, obligato violin; M. Chernoff, double bass, and Israel Mendelsohn, piano; Gladys Blackwell Pickering, soprano; the Philharmonic Oboe Trio, composed of Henri De Busscher, oboe; Philip Memoli, oboe, and O. W. Hoffman, English horn (which is a member of the oboe family.) This was the first time an oboe trio has been broadcast from a radio station.

OBOE RADIO GEM

We have found by observation that of all the family of wind instruments the oboe is the most perfect for broadcast, and as I have said many times before in this column you are indeed a fortunate radio family to have been able to learn of its manifold beauties from such a great master as Henri De Busscher. We enjoyed the fine artistry of Mr. Memoli and Mr. Hoffman.

We trust that this appearance of the Philharmonic Oboe Trio marks the beginning of a really great wood wind ensemble for the city of Los Angeles, as under the direction of such a mind as Henri De Busscher's it will certainly win national notice.

Every artist on last night's program was a friend of long standing at KHJ and all gave of their usual fine talents and enthusiasm. The evening opened and closed with Daddy Silverwood's own song, "I Love You California."

PORTUGUESE SINGS

Our noontime guests were Major and his Forum Roof Ballroom Orchestra and Frank Soares, Portuguese baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Soares. The personnel of Major and his orchestra, who play each evening at the Forum Roof Ballroom, is as follows: Forrest Major, leader, saxophone and clarinet; Leighton Guffin, trumpet; Albert Major, bass; Henry Frye, pianist; W. Baker, second saxophone; Paul Bucks, banjo; Merrill Burt, drums, and Joe Marengo, violin.

The matinee program yesterday through the courtesy of the Pacific States Electric Company, presented the Immanuel Male Quartet, Joseph Kleinsasser, first tenor; Joseph Kearnes, second tenor; Arthur L. Reimer, baritone, and Peter D. Eitzen, bass, and Joseph Heindl, 'cellist, accompanied by Edyth Petesch.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH

The Children's Hour found Queen Titania and her ever faithful Sandman and court musician, Louis F. Klein, in the studio. Master Charles Leslie Hill, 4 years of age, gave several delightful readings.

At the fairy queen's command, the veil which separates the present from the Land of Ought-to-Be, lifted and the three friends found themselves in the realm of love, standing beside the Lakes of Loyalty. At their feet, drawn up on the shore of the lake, was what appeared to be a leaf, its ends curled up. Uncle John recognized this as one of Titania's fairy boats.

Even as he spoke, the boat seemed to grow rapidly in size, but Queen Titania explained that what really was happening was that Uncle John was assuming the size of a fairy and it was but a moment before all three of them had become small enough to embark on the fairy boat, which they did at once. Calling to her aid one of her great white butterflies, the Fairy Queen instructed the butterfly to carry them across the lake.

The butterfly propelled the boat swiftly to the opposite shore. Here they entered the Temple of Truth, where many wonders were disclosed to Radioland. One thing in particular caught our attention while here, that being the great rays of light radiating in all directions from the Temple of Truth, and which Queen Titania said reached out all over her country, for, as she said: "Truth spreads its mantle of light over everything and covers the land of love wherein is found the fairyland of right thoughts and right actions."

OLGA PETROVA HEARD

At 7:30 p.m., Fred L. Goddard, travel lecturer, gave us some interesting facts about "Honolulu as Seen from Cloudland." This is the first talk Mr. Goddard has given at KHJ, but we have his promise to again entertain Radioland in the near future.

Yesterday at 3:30 o'clock our studio was graced by the eminent actress, Mme. Olga Petrova. We can only express our deep gratitude that she gave the shut-ins of Radioland a glimpse of the emotional beauties of her rich nature.

Fifty-six street cars of the newest type will be placed on the "E" line of the Los Angeles Railway system between Eagle Rock and Hawthorne starting next Monday. A new schedule will be installed to provide for 7 1-2-minute service instead of 10-minute service on the main line and for a 15-minute headway to replace 20-minute headway now given the terminals of the line.

Cloudy Teeth
How to give them dazzling whiteness
Delicate Gums
How to Firm them. Give them that healthy coral tint you envy

This NEW way will work great changes quickly. It combats the film authorities warn as inviting "off-color" teeth and unhealthy gums .... make this unique test

"OFF-COLOR" teeth; gums that are softening, that lack firmness—you can't be attractive if you have them.

Now modern science has made important, new discoveries in overcoming them. A way that foremost dentists now are urging ... the most remarkable of all dental methods.

This offers you a test. In fairness to yourself, send the coupon.

THAT FILM—the enemy of teeth and gums

Dental science now traces scores of those troubles, directly or indirectly, to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

You can't see it with your eyes, but run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it ... a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea and decay.

You can't have pretty teeth, unless you combat it. Highest authorities all tell you this.

Brushing won't end it

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent — different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice the world has turned to it. Tooth and gum troubles hence are on the decline.

It removes that film. And Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums. No harsh grit, judged dangerous to enamel.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt. Why cling to old methods when world's authorities urge a better way?

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

HUNT WINS 'LIGHTNIN'' ROLE

Veteran Player Chosen by Fox From Among 1200 to Enact Frank Bacon Characterization in Films

Jay Hunt, veteran stage and screen actor and director, yesterday was selected by William Fox to play the much-sought-after role of Bill Jones in the screen version of "Lightnin'."

More than 1200 applications and seventy-one screen tests were gone over by Mr. Fox, as well as John Golden, who produced the original stage play, before the choice finally rested with Mr. Hunt.

Mr. Hunt was a close friend of the late Frank Bacon, who created the role, and he admits that his highest ambition was to play Lightin' Bill on the stage or the screen. He is 59 years of age and has been in the motion picture or theatrical profession since childhood.

In the selection of the actor to play the role of Bill Jones the advice of film and dramatic editors of leading newspapers in the United States was asked and hundreds of names were suggested.

Mr. Hunt started his stage career with the Arch-street Theater Company of Philadelphia, which was organized by Mrs. John Drew, mother of Georgia Drew Barrymore, whose three children, John, Lionel and Ethel Barrymore, have attained fame on screen and stage. Hunt played comedy parts. His first experience as a stage producer or director was in Boston, Mass., where he directed William Farnum in the first play in which he appeared.

He entered the films in 1910 as a director for Vitagraph, wielding the megaphone for such stars as John Bunny, Flora Finch and Lillian Walker. Since then he has directed many of the leading film productions. He was married forty years ago to Florence Hale, an actress of Philadelphia, who is now in pictures.

The remainder of the cast of "Lightnin'" will be selected within a week, according to word from the Fox studios. "Lightnin'" will be directed by John Ford, who produced "The Iron Horse."

FISH MADE NORWAY WET

Tourist Says Spain's Retaliation Killed Dry Law; Prefers Southland Far Above Florida

Fish figured largely in modifying the bone-dry state of Norway after the adoption of prohibition in that country along about the time Uncle Sam decided on aridity here, according to R. Opsahl of Oslo, to use the Norwegian capital's new name, who arrived at the Alexandria yesterday.

Opsahl, who is accompanied by his father, T. Opsahl, owner of a large estate near Oslo, is a medical student in the University of Norway. Father and son are here on a sight-seeing tour, having visited several eastern and southern cities before reaching Los Angeles.

"You know the Norwegians found themselves in a serious predicament after the dry law went into effect," said young Opsahl. "It was worse than the bootlegging, of which there was aplenty, because it threatened the fish industry, which is one of Norway's chief sources of revenue.

"For years we had imported our wines from Spain and Portugal, and when we went dry, of course, this trade ceased. To retaliate, the Spaniards and Portuguese banned Norwegian fish—wouldn't import even a sardine. It cut off one of our best markets at a moment when economic conditions were none too good. So we changed the law by permitting light wines up to a 12 per cent alcoholic content. This helped some, but not enough. A short time ago all bars were let down on wine, which is now imported in quantity and quality as before, running up to 21 per cent in alcohol. And our fish industry is once more as flourishing as before the war."

Speaking of the change in the name of the capital from Christiania to Oslo, which was the city's appellation almost for 1000 years, Mr. Opsahl said this alteration which went into effect the first of the present year, had not been brought about without a fight.

"When the change was first proposed the conservative newspapers opposed it strenuously on account of the confusion that would result," he said. "But the other side won out, and now nothing is heard about it. The people are trying to get used to the new name the best they can.

Mr. Opsahl expressed himself as more charmed with California than any other section of the country he had thus far visited.

"We spent some time in the South but did not like it," he commented. "Palm Beach was fairly attractive, but we made our stay in Miami as short as possible. There is no comparison, in our minds, between the attractions of Florida and California. Here we feel perfectly at home and would like to prolong our stay indefinitely, but we were glad to say good-by to Florida."

JUDGE GIVES DECREE TO MOVIE STAR

May Allison Wins Divorce from Robert Ellis, Also of the Screen, for Desertion

Robert Ellis, motion-picture actor, desired above all else to lead his own life, his wife, the petite May Allison, who is also in the films, told Judge Fleming of the Superior Court yesterday.

But he found his style rather cramped because of her presence, she said, and began to complain that marriage irked him. So one evening, early in 1924, he packed up and decamped, she said. He never even stopped to say farewell, though his departure was entirely against her wishes. He had left her once before, she added, but she persuaded him to return.

Ivan St. John, film publicity man and husband of Adele Rogers St. John, the writer, corroborated Miss Allison. He said that Ellis, who in real life is Reel, told him that his work made marriage impossible.

The court, after hearing the evidence, granted the actress a decree.

STATE CITES AGENTS FOR FILM LABOR

Department Begins Quiz Which Will Cover Whole Picture Industry

The first move of the State Department of Labor in undertaking a survey of the motion-picture industry with a view to bettering conditions resulted yesterday in citations being issued to two employment agencies to appear before the department and show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

The agencies are the Motion-Picture Players' Association, Inc., 1614 Cahuenga avenue, and the Tiffany Casting Office, 6331 Hollywood Boulevard. Dr. Louis Bloch, chief statistician of the bureau, who has been detailed by Labor Commissioner Mathewson to make the survey, said that the agencies were notified to appear at a hearing to investigate possible violations of their licenses under which they have been securing employment, principally for extras, in the films.

It is the intention of the department, Dr. Bloch said, to make a thorough survey of conditions in employment agencies before proceeding with other phases of the industry.

Preliminary studies have shown, he declared, that some irregularities exist in this branch of the industry, especially in connection with the commissions made in securing employment. For the most part film extras are required to deduct part of their salaries for each day's employment, although the employment may continue several days, the department has found, Dr. Bloch said.

Investigation also has shown that employment in the industry fluctuates to a considerable degree and the department will endeavor to relieve the condition. Dr. Bloch said that producers and executives in the industry are expected to cooperate with the department in making the study.

Officers Expect to Solve Poison Mystery Today

Deputy sheriffs and detectives from the District Attorney's office yesterday continued their investigation in an attempt to learn the identity of the person reported to have sent a quantity of poison received last Sunday by Mrs. Naomi McKee, 545 Roseberry street, Huntington Park.

Mrs. McKee told authorities that a strange man brought the drugs, analyzed as a weak solution of nitric acid by County Chemist Walker, to her door last Friday and told her it was from her physician. She is said to have been suffering from a nervous disorder for some time.

After questioning several members of the family and neighbors, the investigators declared last night they will continue the investigation today and expect a solution to the case by tonight.

NAVY REPAIR JOB IS RECORD

U.S.S. Tennessee, After Overhaul by Crew at Sea, to Be Fit for Best Fight of Career

The U.S.S. Tennessee, only unit of the United States Battle Fleet remaining at Los Angeles Harbor, will on the coming week-end add another world's record to her long list of laurels. The Tennessee, first battleship in history to be overhauled at anchor and by her own crew, will on the 7th inst. finish the job that naval experts have heretofore deemed impossible.

When the huge fighter tied up alongside the new fleet repair ship Meduso in the outer harbor here January 19, last, she was given two months as the shortest possible time in which her 1400 men could work her over, from truck to double bottoms and from peak to taffrail.

She will steam out to the drill grounds next Monday morning a better ship than the day she was commissioned. Her chief engineer, Commander Vaughn V. Woodward, and her crew will have done a better job, under sea conditions, and quicker than it could have been done by a Navy Yard force with the ship in dock.

The Tennessee is out for yet another record as the greatest fighter on the seas. On the 16th inst., 100 miles north of this port, she will attempt a secret gunnery practice which, if successful, will greatly increase the long range battle efficiency of the United States Fleet.

The U.S.S. New Mexico, flagship of Battleship Division Four, sailed yesterday morning for the Puget Sound Navy Yard where she will undergo annual overhaul, rejoining the fleet in late April. The U.S.S. Pennsylvania, flagship of Battleship Division Three, is now completing overhaul at the Puget Sound yard and will return to this port on the 28th inst.

To take passengers for San Diego, the destroyer Farquhar put in yesterday afternoon from Mare Island and got underway for her home base an hour later. She has just completed annual overhaul.

ADMISSION OF BOOKS AS EVIDENCE FOUGHT

Highly technical points, raised by counsel for W. J. Shaw & Co. in objecting to testimony being introduced against the company, which is under investigation by the State Corporation Department, consumed most of yesterday's hearing before Chief Deputy Commissioner Walther.

Part of the argument arose over the question of whether the Corporation Department has the authority to require the Pacific Stores, Inc., for which Shaw is said to have sold stock, to produce its books and records. The documents are expected to be produced at the hearing today and objection to their introduction probably will be strenuously made again.

Stockholders in the Morosco Holding Company, A. Meister Sons Company, and in the Pacific Stores, have complained to the department in connection with the sale of stock by Shaw's agents and upon these the present investigation is based.

Warrant Issued for Arrest of Memorial Agent

With $10,000 he took from members of the Los Angeles French colony as subscriptions to a mythical publication, Charles Blumenthal is on his way to Chicago, according to charges on which Police Judge Pope yesterday issued a warrant for his arrest. The warrant was placed in the hands of Detective Lieutenants Bligh and Yarrow, and the Chicago police have been asked to look for him.

Blumenthal, it was said, represented himself as an agent for the Alsace-Lorraine Memorial album, and got more than 1000 subscriptions at $10 each. According to Louis Sentous, Jr., French Consul at this port, and his secretary, Amaury Mars, there is no such publication. They called the attention of the police to the reputed imposture. Blumenthal is said to have come here from Brooklyn.

SALESMANSHIP CLASS FREE TO EX-SOLDIERS

The course will consist of ten lessons to be given on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and is free to all ex-service men. It will be in charge of Prof. Van Houtte, psychologist and business analyst. On the same evening new classes in oxyacetylene welding and typewriting will also be started for ex-service men.

KLAN'S SUIT CHANGED TO NEW COURT

Federal Tribunal to Try Dispute Over Rights to Name and Insignia

Action brought in the Los Angeles Superior Court on December 22, 1924, by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan against the Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klan to enjoin use of the organization name was transferred yesterday to the United States District Court. Trial in the Federal Court is asked on the ground of diversity of citizenship, the plaintiff being a Georgia corporation and the defendants having their residence in California. Damages to the amount of $50,000 are asked.

Individual defendants named are James F. De Borde, Charles H. Hayes and T. H. Hanna, Venice; Leon C. Francis, Edward L. Arnest and C. N. Murray, Oakland; R. G. Klingerman and C. T. Myers, El Monte; Dr. L. F. Luckie, Fresno; Dr. W. H. McInnis, Stockton, and Paul G. Taylor of Los Angeles. It is alleged Hayes and De Borde induced certain local klans in California to secede from the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan after the two defendants had been suspended from the organization. The Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was then organized, it is said, with headquarters at Carson City, Nev.

The plaintiff organization claims property rights in the name and insignia used by the defendant organization.

Habeas Corpus Stays Sentence on Liquor Count

An order granting a writ of habeas corpus was issued by Federal Judge Bledsoe yesterday on behalf of Dominic Pelliccina, who recently pleaded guilty to an information charging violation of the prohibition law and was sentenced to pay $500 fine and serve eighteen months at Leavenworth. The writ was granted on a petition filed by J. Robert O'Connor, counsel for Pelliccina. It was argued the judgment and commitment of the defendant are void, inasmuch as a penitentiary sentence can be inflicted only on an indictment. A hearing will be had before Judge Bledsoe next Monday.

The information charged that Pelliccina manufactured twenty-five gallons of intoxicating liquor in April, 1924, at 1821 May street. It was set forth in the information that Pelliccina pleaded guilty in July, 1923, to a similar information and was fined $400. It is contended on behalf of the defendant that the information placed him under a misdemeanor charge, whereas his sentence was on a felony charge, and consequently illegal.

HEALTH INSPECTOR INJURED IN CRASH

Theodore F. Shaw, 24 years of age, an inspector for the State Board of Health, was severely hurt yesterday in a collision between his motorcycle and an automobile, in front of 735 San Julian street. Shaw was taken to the Receiving Hospital and from there sent to Angelus Hospital, suffering from a compound fracture of his right leg and possible internal injuries. His condition is considered critical. The police have not learned the identity of the owner or driver of the car with which Shaw collided.

JUDGE RUNS BIG BUSINESS

Caryl M. Sheldon of Police Court Takes in Almost Million Dollars Annually in Fines and Liquor

Police Judge Caryl M. Sheldon is the head of what is undoubtedly the most thriving business in the city considering the capital invested and the cost of operation. Justice Sheldon's receipts approximate $375,000 a year; his overhead is negligible.

The business is the Police Court in the university district, where all the city's liquor cases come up for consideration at some time or another. During the average month the fines aggregate approximately $40,000. One month they went as high as $65,000. In addition, liquor valued at probably $500,000 annually finds its way into Judge Sheldon's hands for confiscation.

PART TO HOSPITAL

So rapidly does the confiscated liquor accumulate in Justice Sheldon's court that it is necessary to destroy what is on hand twice a month. Every month, then, liquor valued at approximately $50,000 is destroyed or apportioned to hospitals in accordance with the existing liquor laws. The greater part is destroyed—poured into the sewer.

Yesterday was pouring day at the court, and liquor which would bring in the neighborhood of $30,000 on the local market went down the sewer into the Pacific Ocean. The accumulation of liquor was about 2000 gallons, about 30 per cent of which was bonded goods including champagne, fine French liquors and the standard brands of Scotch, bourbon and rye whiskys. Pure grain alcohol to the extent of 250 gallons was included in the accumulation, but this has not yet been destroyed and most of it probably will find its way into hospitals where it can be put to legitimate use.

ONLY TENTH GO FREE

Between 500 and 600 cases involving liquor charges are handled monthly in Justice Sheldon's court. Ninety per cent of these cases result in convictions; 50 per cent plead guilty. All violations of the Wright Act, in which the arrests are made by the city go to Justice Sheldon and with the exception of a small percentage heard before a jury elsewhere, are tried by him.

Considering the value of the liquor placed in the custody of Justice Sheldon's court in conjunction with the fines assessed and collected the business done mounts close to the million-dollar mark annually, which, it may be remarked, is a fair sort of business.

GIRL TO BE TRIED IN EMBEZZLEMENT CASE

Elizabeth C. Reyna waived preliminary hearing in Justice Scott's court on an embezzlement charge and was held for Superior Court. She was accused of embezzling $16,953 from the Dickinson & Gillespie Company between August 4 and September 11, last.

When she was arrested in Miami, Fla., it was said, a detailed account of her peculations, giving the names and amounts, was found in her riding boot.

NOVICE PICK-POCKET PICKS WRONG VICTIM

Alfonso Cladel, a novice at the art of picking pockets, according to police, was held for trial in Superior Court yesterday by Justice Scott on a pocket-picking charge. The suspect, according to testimony, made the blunder of attempting to extract several bills from the pocketbook of Marie Boston, an operative for the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association, under the every eyes of another operative for the same organization and was promptly arrested. His bail was set at $2000.

DR. MARTIN WILL SPEAK

At the regular luncheon today of the Kiwanis Club at the Biltmore, Dr. Charles E. Martin, head of the Political Science Department of the University of California, Southern Branch, will be the principal speaker. His subject, "The United States and the World Court," will be interesting in that it occurs on Inauguration Day. Dr. Martin studied this particular subject under John Bassett Moore, American member of the World Court.

A GOOD USED CAR

HOSPITAL FUND SUIT THREATENS

Murphy Memorial Donor Charges Bad Faith

Board Members Resign in Practice Act Protest

Whittier Institution is in Throes of Upheaval

Rather than throw open the Murphy Memorial Hospital in Whittier to practitioners other than physicians and surgeons holding medical degrees from schools accredited by the American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons, five members of the board of trustees of the institution tendered their resignations several weeks ago, it was announced yesterday when Mayor William Smullin was elected president of the new board, chosen to replace the five members who resigned.

In a letter filed with both the Board of Trustees of Whittier and also of the hospital, Simon J. Murphy, Jr., wealthy retired capitalist of Pasadena, who built and donated the hospital to the city of Whittier as a suitable memorial to his parents, accused city officials and others of a grave breach of faith and threatened legal action unless the original agreement, entered into at the time the hospital was built should be adhered to.

CITES CONTRACT

In his letter, Mr. Murphy called attention to the agreement and contract which stated that the hospital should be for the exclusive use of accredited physicians. Upon the advice of his attorneys, Mr. Murphy also stated that the recently enacted ordinance opening the hospital to practitioners of all faiths and creeds was in direct violation of the State law, and although passed by a referendum vote, became a law only because the citizens of Whittier, voting for the measure had been misinformed as to the exact nature of the original hospital endowment.

With the completion recently of an additional wing to the building, raising the bed capacity of the model institution from fifty to 150 beds, Col. Murphy said that he had expended more than $325,000, all of which was with the express understanding that the high standard of the institution should continue to be maintained at all times.

At a joint meeting of the hospital board with the City Board, February 10, last, A. C. Johnson, F. W. Hadley, L. A. Brundige, Jeff G. Wingert and M. Orban, Jr., members of the Hospital Board resigned. A. C. Johnson, who was president of the board, has been replaced by William Smullin, Mayor of Whittier, and William Milhous, L. C. Swain, Mrs. Minnie Clayton and Mrs. C. A. Lent have also been elected to the board, it was stated yesterday.

MAY DEMAND MONEY

If the city of Whittier refuses to adopt a resolution barring all practitioners other than those specified in the original agreement, Mr. Murphy declares the city will have acted in bad faith and in direct violation of the sacred promise extended at the time the institution was donated to Writtier. In this latter event, Mr. Murphy in his letter, demands that the city refund to him all moneys expended.

Pending action by the city of Whittier on the letter of protest filed yesterday, no legal steps will be taken, attorneys for Mr. Murphy stated yesterday.

CHURCHMEN FOR JUDGE BLEDSOE

people came to me and said that here was an opportunity of a lifetime to be of service to my community.

HEARS CALL OF DUTY

"They did not say to get a job but to be of service to our community. I have a good job for a lifetime, if I conduct myself properly. But I believe it my duty to accept the call. We only live once. I believed I had no right not to accept the call as a duty.

"God helping me and with your prayers, your counsel and your assistance, I shall do it. I ask your assistance, for it is your community as well as mine. Don't you hold up your hands and say that you don't want to mix with that unclean thing, politics, but get into the fight to lift up politics.

"If I am elected it will be only after a fight. It will be a big fight. You can't force people who are intrenched in places where they reap without having sown, to give up those places without a fight.

"I want your assistance, not because of me, but because we want to make certain that our city is above the control of crooks and the forces of evil; because we want our City Hall to be open and aboveboard, where the light of day can shine at any time, where justice and right shall prevail and because we want to see our city conducted as a city dear to our hearts should be conducted.

"If I am elected, I shall ask some of the best men in the city to accept the places of responsibility under our charter. I shall select them on the basis of their disposition to serve rather than on the basis of disposition to seek.

"If you wish to know more in detail about what I shall do, just ask me."

JUDGE IS APPLAUDED

The assembly repeatedly applauded Judge Bledsoe as he spoke. When he had concluded there were a number of individual appeals from persons in the audience for support for the judge, and John M. Chamberlin, a member of the executive committee of the brotherhood, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas: the city of Los Angeles at the coming municipal election, will be called upon to fill the office of Mayor for the ensuing four years, and

Whereas, under the new city charter, the extended powers and enlarged scope of duty require for the office of chief executive of this city a man of the highest ability and integrity, and

Whereas, by reason of his splendid ability, wide experience, and unquestioned integrity Benjamin F. Bledsoe is eminently qualified to discharge the duties of this office, and

Whereas, he has consented to become a candidate for this office, therefore be it

Resolved: That the United Church Brotherhood of the City of Los Angeles, through its members and representatives assembled at this meeting, does hereby indorse and recommend to the voters of this city Benjamin F. Bledsoe for Mayor of Los Angeles, and urges that all laymen and pastors unite in giving him their enthusiastic and loyal support.

Respectfully submitted.
Executive Committee, United Brotherhood of Los Angeles,
By Harry O. Cady, secretary.

ACKNOWLEDGES SUPPORT

On suggestions from the floor the adoption was made to pledge support for the judge if elected Mayor. Judge Bledsoe acknowledged the indorsement simply. He said:

"It gives me courage the better to perform the duty you seem to think I am capable of."

When Charles T. Butts, president of the brotherhood, spoke just after adoption of the resolution, he said:

"To ask Judge Bledsoe to do this may take years off his life. I feel that we ought not to do so unless we stay on the job with him.

"I am sorry to say that the underworld in this city is so well intrenched that it will be no easy fight for him and we must get on the job early and stay with it and give him our support after he is elected.

"When conditions in this city have become such that a man can commit murder and never come to trial it is time for citizens to wake up."

FIGHT ON UNDERWORLD

"It's a fight between decency and the underworld," James Donovan, a speaker from the floor said. "We need a man like Judge Bledsoe with the spirit of Theodore Roosevelt. Think of it! Here we are a great city in which a man can commit murder in the morning and the next day it is passed up, and we have 3000 policemen, an army of them."

"You are asking Judge Bledsoe to stand up and be criticised," H. H. MacDonough, another speaker from the floor, said. "They will crucify him, but we can stand by him and keep his heart full of courage for his work and he is the man to put decency into the government of our city and we must do this thing."

Several speakers commended Robert Allan, who was a candidate for Mayor before Judge Bledsoe accepted the candidacy, but withdrew in favor of the judge's candidacy, for his action.

In his scheduled address Judge Bledsoe deplored the tendency on the part of many to ignore laws and restraint which they do not personally like. He said:

"The outstanding duty of a citizen is to give respect to law and authority, to hold one's self in restraint insofar as to do otherwise would run counter to the general welfare. The individual's personal desires are of lesser importance as compared to the importance of the development of society.

"Jesus Christ was a lowly man, yet He did and said more for the world and it had a greater effect on the world than the work of any other man. His life, His thoughts, His words and His deeds all reflect and revolve around the idea of useful service to others.

"To save the youth of our land is an essential thing and we must put into it the proper respect for law and authority and the ability to restrain itself when otherwise its desires would run opposite to the public good.

"If we teach this and put it into our youth there will be fewer boys in Ione and fewer men in the courts."

The brotherhood authorized its executive committee to do what it can in opposition to Assemblyman Wright's bill in the Legislature, which would require churches to pay taxes if their structures are used in any way for meetings of a political nature or even in which to make announcements of a political character.

SAN PEDRO BANK HEAD SUCCUMBS

Edward Mahar Dies After Lingering Illness; Rites Set for Tomorrow

Edward Mahar, 61 years of age, president of the First National Bank of San Pedro and for forty years interested in the development of Los Angeles Harbor, died last night at 6:45 o'clock at his home at 1137 South Palos Verdes avenue, San Pedro. Death was due to a lingering illness of more than a year.

Mahar, who came to Southern California in his early youth, became interested in many early water-front financial ventures, and the basis of his large fortune was laid through his connection with the Banning Company, owners of Catalina Island before William Wrigley purchased it. Since then he had become known at the harbor as a leader in social and financial circles. He was a native of Vancouver, Wash.

The deceased is survived by a widow, Mrs. Katharine R. Mahar, and a daughter, Mary Elizabeth Mahar, and by two brothers and a sister living in Wilmington.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. from the family home under the auspices of B.P.O.E. Lodge No. 966. Requiem mass will be observed at the Mary Star of the Sea Church at 10:30 a.m. Interment will take place in Calvary Cemetery. The mortuary of Cunningham & O'Connor will direct the funeral.

BRANT FORCES WIN TRUST CASE

Court Holds Easton Failed to Prove Agreement

Judge Rules Asserted Trust Not Established

Oral Opinion Given After Six-Hour Argument

court must pursue in this case, and constantly have in mind in this case, is that whenever a living person attempts to establish an express trust, an express secured trust, by the declarations of a deceased person, that the rule is very strict in the amount of proof and the quality of evidence that he must produce. Some of the decisions establish the rule that he must prove his case beyond a reasonable doubt. I think perhaps that is an exaggerated extension of the true rule, and the true rule, I think, is the one that the Supreme Court of California has announced in several cases that there must be a clear preponderance of proof, a clear preponderance of the evidence, that it must be established so clearly that it is more than probable that the trust was created in the manner alleged in the bill.

GUIDING PRINCIPLE

"Now that is the guiding star in the case and the case must follow that principle. The other chart is the bill of complaint and we must deviate from the bill. The bill of complaint is predicated upon an express secured trust that has not been proven at all. I think counsel for the plaintiff have very properly and very honestly admitted that fact.

"The bill proceeds upon the allegation that there was a trust, a secured express trust between these two men, Mr. Easton and Mr. Brant, the purpose of it being to keep from Mr. Brant's associates the fact that he was befriending Mr. Easton and to keep from them the true relations that existed between Mr. Easton and Mr. Brant concerning the Imperial Valley land.

"Now there has been an entire failure of proof on that score."

"Mr. Easton's life has been devoted, and I speak entirely from the record, to the promotion of schemes," the court continued. "He is not an unsophisticated unlettered, untutored man. He is a man of the world who has had an extensive experience with men and motives. His deals have been extensive and they have been involved. The record shows him to be that type of man. It is not likely that he could be deceived and lulled into security in this matter of a secret trust from November of 1917 until August, 1922. I don't believe that he was."

ASSERTED KIDNAPING

"I am not prepared to say that I believe the testimony relative to this alleged kidnaping as it was presented by the defendants," Judge McCormick said. "It may be true. The more experience we have in these matters the less surprise we experience when matters that are apparently incredible or illustrated in a court, but there are some features to the kidnaping incident which I believe are not quite in accordance with the fact.

"I do feel, however, that these documents which have been offered here were not obtained from Mr. Brant as voluntary documents. I can't find and can't believe that Mr. Easton gave the court the true situation when he testified that he left these matters entirely to Mr. Brant and did not concern himself with them.

"The minutes of the Engineers' Exploration Company indicate to my mind that this property was corporate property and was not the property of Mr. Easton.

FRAZIER DEAL

"Now I think the Frazier deal has been definitely removed from the case. It appears that all of these persons interested in this Imperial syndicate, at least the three men who were the most interested knew of this Frazier deal, and it appears throughout that Mr. Brant was desirous of affording Mr. Easton some way of getting out of this project so he could realize some profit on his activities therein.

"But it is equally as clear that his associates were of the contrary opinion, at least one of them, Mr. Chandler, and that Mr. Chandler would not acquiese in any plan that was suggested by Mr. Brant that would have for its purpose the relief of Mr. Easton unless it appealed to Mr. Chandler's business judgment, and this Frazier deal did not so appear. I think the value of the Frazier deal has been shown to be entirely inadequate and it would not have been a deal that would have been sanctioned by the board.

"The fact that Easton withheld bringing suit until after Mr. Brant's death is a circumstance that cannot be avoided, and for instance the testimony of these men as to what Mr. Easton said concerning Mr. Brant after the transaction of March 19; the testimony of the associates of Brant that he had told them that he had bought out Easton, the failure of Mr. Easton to attend the funeral of the man concerning whom he would have the court to believe that he loved like a brother and concerning whom he would have the court believe that he had the same feeling of affection toward.

"I feel that Mr. Easton has not established his case; that there has been no secured express trust proven; that if there were a trust proven at all it is a trust by operation of law and then that trust is barred by the statutes of limitations, and then moreover the documentary evidence here establishes that there is no such constructive trust. For the reasons given, the decree will be entered against the plaintiff and in favor of the defendant.'

DYNAMITE DISCOVERY EXPLAINED BY QUIZ

Discovery by hikers of two boxes of dynamite yesterday on the property of the Reliance Rock Crushing Company, west of Azusa, caused an investigation by Deputy Sheriffs Allen and Sweesy and Constable Hamblin on suspicion that it was evidence of sabotage. It developed, however, that the explosive was placed there by permission by workmen of the flood control project working in San Gabriel Canyon. Reports that several attempts have been made to damage the plant were denied yesterday by officials of the company.

Something New
for Over-Stout Women

You can wrap a 250-pound woman in a beautiful garment and bring her down to the most shapely figure. For it is exquisitely designed and beautifully made and finished piece of apparel. You may call it a corset or supporter and yet it is a delight to the eye and a contribution to comfort never before attained. It is

The W. S. Rice Reducing Surgical Corset

The front and back are so designed that those great layers of fat that bulge over the abdomen and roll in waves down the back of the waist, are all smoothed out and gently but firmly kept in place to show 50 to 75 pounds reduction. It lifts up and supports the bust, snugly rounds over the hips, curves the waist line to give a symmetrical appearance and brings the entire figure into slenderizing proportion.

On Free Trial

Made in the famous W. S. Rice factory at Adams, N. Y., and designed by a noted corsetière, it needs but a try-on to prove it the first and only perfect Reducing Corset ever made for stout women.

In every neighborhood and community are women who have undergone surgical operations leaving weak places that sometimes break and cause unfortunate results. A simple attachment of air cushions to the corset gives perfect support and protection.

Mrs. F. E. Williams, the personal representative of W. S. Rice, is anxious to give the ladies of Los Angeles every opportunity to fully test this Reducing Corset.

Put it on and see how charmingly it feels, how perfectly it brings you into shape, how nice and comfortable you feel, how easily you breathe, how actively you become, how you can bend over without strain, walk upright like a girl, and wear modern gowns with all the appearance and freedom of a perfect figure.

It is made by W. S. Rice, Inc., in the largest and most complete factory of its kind in the world. And if you have been so unfortunate as to have undergone a surgical operation that has left the abdomen weak, a simple attachment of air cushions gives perfect protection.

Carroll Nye, who plays an interesting role in "White Collars" at Egan's Theater, admires tremendously the suggestion shown here by Mullen & Bluett for Spring attire for the well-dressed man. For Spring Fashion decrees the very lightest tones in grays and tans for the discerning man's clothes. Quite the newest shade in "Koko tan," made in soft flannels, hardy worsteds and clingy Shetland fabrics. This two-button sack coat with low notch lapel and faintly traced waistline is a combination of the best points in the most popular English and American styled coats. Harry Carr's Page

THE keenest criticisms in Hollywood are those you never hear.

That the public never hears.

Without starting a civil war in motion pictures, I couldn't give you names. But I can slip you a few hints as to what the "talent" thinks about this picture and that.

"Thief of Bagdad"

Doug Fairbanks's "Thief of Bagdad" is still one of the most talked-of pictures in Hollywood.

As a general thing, it is considered to be less of a picture than "Robin Hood." Opinions are divided as to why it fell short.

Some of the Hollywood people think it is because Douglas is not an actor of romantic charm. The public thinks of him in terms of fights with rough villains; not in terms of perfumed rose petals and rajah's daughters.

One of the best directors in Hollywood had an interesting analysis of the picture. He said that the worst fault of it was the very thing of which Mr. Fairbanks is most proud: The gorgeous sets.

"In order to have made this a fantasy of really moving charm," said this director, "it should have been warm and luxurious—that's the way we think of Bagdad. We always think of Bagdad as of soft exotic perfumes, of regal and sensuous ease. But Doug's Bagdad sets were ice palaces. They were beautiful, but cold and chilling. You expected to see him blowing on his hands after he embraced the beautiful princess."

Bad Cutting

Some one wrote me a letter the other day from San Diego asking why William De Mille's picture, "Locked Doors," was not a more successful picture.

I have talked to several wise men of Hollywood about this. In general, they think that Mr. De Mille is too intellectual ever to make much of a go of melodrama.

In this particular case the opinion seems to be that the picture suffered from bad cutting.

The climax was in the young wife's bedroom. Her lover was there with her. The house was on fire. They were in a dramatic predicament. If they came out, they exposed their relation to the elderly husband. If they didn't come out, they were due to be burned to death.

Much-Debated Pola

Pola Negri is probably the most discussed woman in Hollywood.

As a general thing, the experts—the writers and the directors and the actors and all the rest of them—regard Pola as the most interesting personality who ever had anything to do with pictures.

But they feel that she has been badly handled.

This seems to be a fair digest of the "wise" opinion as to her American pictures:

"Bella Donna" was an awful thing. They picked a "bad-woman" part for Pola, then tried to make a Pollyanna out of the bad woman.

"Men" and "Lily of the Dust" both made a bigger hit with the populace at large than with Hollywood.

Hollywood felt that "Men" started out brilliantly, but ended in a jumble of cheap theatricalism; failed to be convincing.

"Lily of the Dust" was the screen version of Sudermann's "Song of Songs." Like "Men," it started out well, but muffed the big situation. Also it departed too much from the atmosphere and point of the story.

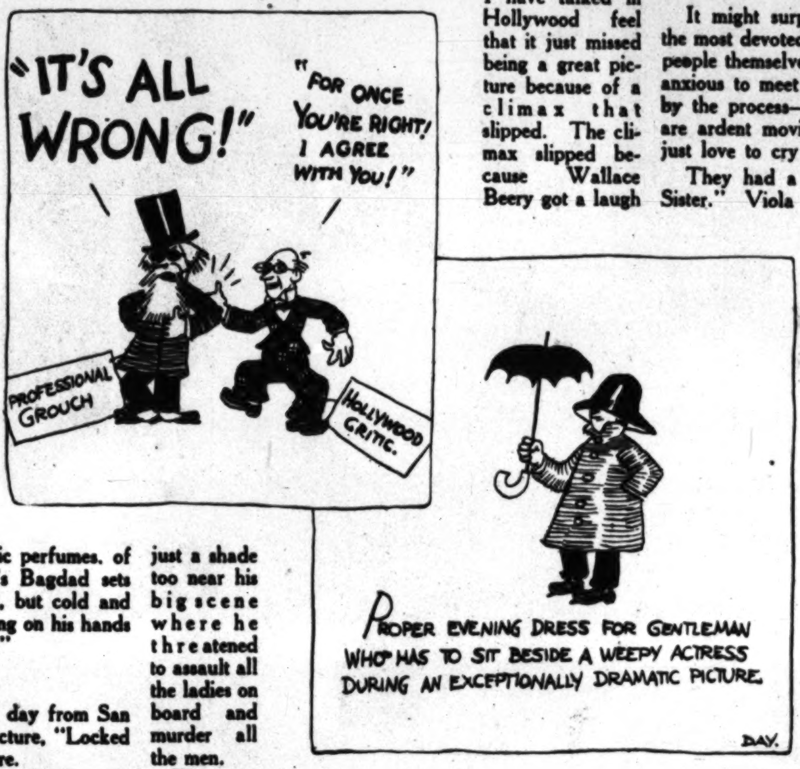
Hollywood loved Pola in "Forbidden Paradise;" but feels a little dubious as to its fate in the "sticks."

"East of Suez" was Pola's most recent picture. That, they think, failed of complete success because it began with a really dramatic story, but fizzled off into a lot of incredible nonsense about a mysterious Chinese villain with long finger nails.

Too Funny

"The Devil's Cargo" has also been a much discussed picture.

This was a dramatic and interesting story of early California life. The Vigilantes put all the bad folks of Sacramento out on a river steamer and refused to let them land. A giant stoker with a clouded mind broke out and terrorized the cowering refugees.



"IT'S ALL WRONG!"

HOLLYWOOD CRITIC.
DAY.

PROPER EVENING DRESS FOR GENTLEMAN WHO HAS TO SIT BESIDE A WEEPY ACTRESS DURING AN EXCEPTIONALLY DRAMATIC PICTURE.

Those to whom I have talked in Hollywood feel that it just missed being a great picture because of a climax that slipped. The climax slipped because Wallace Beery got a laugh just a shade too near his big scene where he threatened to assault all the ladies on board and murder all the men.

The comedy gag where he tried on the captain's cap was so delightfully funny that it killed the menace that followed. This laugh was carried on to his murder of the mate. The director never could make the danger intense after that. You can't "kid" a murder and thereafter get tragedy in that same picture.

As to "Tarnish"

If Hollywood is to be believed, one of the most interesting pictures of the year fell somewhat short because of an interesting reason.

The picture is "Tarnish." The wise guys feel that the character of the father in that picture was too difficult a dose for the movie fans to swallow. He was an old reprobate who squandered the family's slender funds on gay parties; then sobbed in self-pity. The fans, it seemed, couldn't quite fathom crocodile tears. They didn't know why he was crying.

When They Guessed Wrong

Sometimes Hollywood makes a great mistake.

Its worst guess was about the Rockett brothers and "Abraham Lincoln."

This picture was written down as a failure—a certain, sure flop. The "talent" didn't believe that it had enough suspense. Also, it was felt that flapper love stories—not historic characters—were what the fans demanded.

"Abraham Lincoln" is now running neck and neck with "The Sea Hawk" as the biggest box-office picture ever put out by First National.

The Rockett brothers—Al and Ray—occupy a position of deep respect as a result.

The Wrong Direction

Another topic of conversation is the Paramount western epic, "North of 36"—put out as a follow-up of "The Covered Wagon."

It failed to meet to meet the same crashing success as "The Covered Wagon" because the people in the story did not have an interesting objective.

In "The Covered Wagon" the Argonauts were on the way to California to found an empire. In "North of '36" they were on the way to Abilene, Kan., to sell steers.

Copious Tears

One picture, out last year, was the biggest hit with the girls of Hollywood of any within my recollection.

This was "The White Sister."

It might surprise the world at large to know that the most devoted and adoring of all fans are the picture people themselves. The people of the movies are just as anxious to meet the big stars—and are just as thrilled by the process—as the telephone girls. Just so, they are ardent movie theatergoers. Like other girls, they just love to cry at the movies.

They had a grand chance to cry at "The White Sister." Viola Dana told me that she wept so copiously that she was afraid the ushers would put her out. Frances Marion told me she went two or three times and cried all over the place.

"Peter Pan"

What did Hollywood think of "Peter Pan"?

Most of them loved it. I think they all admired Betty Bronson; but there were a few who felt that mistakes were made in the production.

Those I have heard criticise it most are foreigners who are educated to symbolism—art effects, etc.

Their criticisms are based upon three grounds:

That a real ship should not have been used for Peter's fight with the pirates. It should have been a fantastic craft.

That a real island should never have been selected for Never-Never Land, with bathing girls in fish tails lying around the real breakers.

Also that the pirates should have been "between decks" and not on the open deck. This because it had already been shown that the children knew how to fly and so could easily have escaped the pirates.

Hollywood's Hero

What figure in motion pictures most interests Hollywood?

I think I am safe in answering this large question. I think it is Ernst Lubitsch.

The actors feel that to be selected by Lubitsch for a part in a picture is to be "made." Also they like him personally better than most actors like most directors. Also they have an almost superstitious faith in his power to teach them to act.

He is the only director I have ever known—with the exception of Griffith—whom the actors always approach with submissive and contrite hearts.

New York or Here?

Where do the actors like to work—here or in New York?

What they really like is living here and being sent for to go to New York.

It gives them a pleasing feeling of self-satisfaction to be sent for—3000 miles to play in a part. They like to parade around New York; but they don't like to live there.

This is partly due to our salubrious climate, etc.; partly due to the fact that they are the heroes of this town, but play second fiddle to stage actors in New York.

Also, of course, they have an agreeable routine of life that they enjoy here. To be frank about it, they miss the prizefights. All Hollywood goes religiously and faithfully to the fights every week.

Favorite "Parts"

What parts do Hollywood actors like?

Naturally, they like the "fat" ones; but in addition to that, the men almost invariably like westerns, where they can wear six-shooters and hairy "chaps." Even when they can't ride, they hanker after western pictures.

The girls like two opposite kinds of parts—rags and fine feathers. They get an almost equal thrill out of playing gutter ladies and society queens.

YOUTH AGAIN!

fer somewhat from those which have gone before, it will nevertheless be a virtual fact. This is indicated particularly in that several in the younger group, notably Miss Shearer in "The Lady of the Night," have already essayed roles of some sophistication.

Altered Standards

It seems, as a consequence, that entirely different standards regulate the progress of the younger players than in the past. The advent of the springtime personality has not meant resuscitation of the old Polyanna notions about picture-making. If it did mean this the chances for the success of such pictures would probably now be slight.

Curiously enough, several of the players in the new group, despite their youth, reflect a rather amazing maturity of manner in their screen performances. This is not only true of Miss Shearer, who can with equal appeal assume the role of a married woman or a debutante, but is also in a degree typical of Miss Astor, Miss Philbin and others.

The fact is that these girls are flexible as types. They seem to be able to meet a wide demand in roles. Miss Philbin, even, is rare in her adaptability. In "Merry-Go-Round" she conveyed with a curious certainty the effect of that tragic lapse of time that comprised the war. In "The Phantom of the Opera," the less important "Fifth-avenue Models" and various other plays she has presented rather distinctive contrasts. Yet every portrayal that she gives has a girlhood charm, a curious old-fashioned grace.

Unusual expectations are cherished for Jobyna Ralston and Marian Nixon. Miss Ralston, of course, is under contract as leading woman to Harold Lloyd, but has already been offered many chances to go into features did this engagement permit. [illegible] has a rather effulgent beauty that should prove very telling in certain dramatic roles, and when she does attempt these it may be that she will astonish with her versatility.

Miss Nixon is distinctively a personality. She is utterly different from any other girl who is appearing before the camera. She is popularly described as pretty rather than beautiful, but it is generally admitted that she will go far because she is such an unusual type. Thus far, her work has been confined to leads in the less spectacular productions of the Fox organization, and just now she is playing opposite Reginald Denny at Universal.

Most of the younger group of players appear to verge on the brunette type, but Laura La Plante sustains the honors for the blondes. She is already known to photoplaygoers for her work in "Smouldering Fires," "Butterfly" and various Denny pictures, and because of her radiant brightness as a presence she appears destined for a high degree of success in leads from which at least the trace of sophistication is not absent.

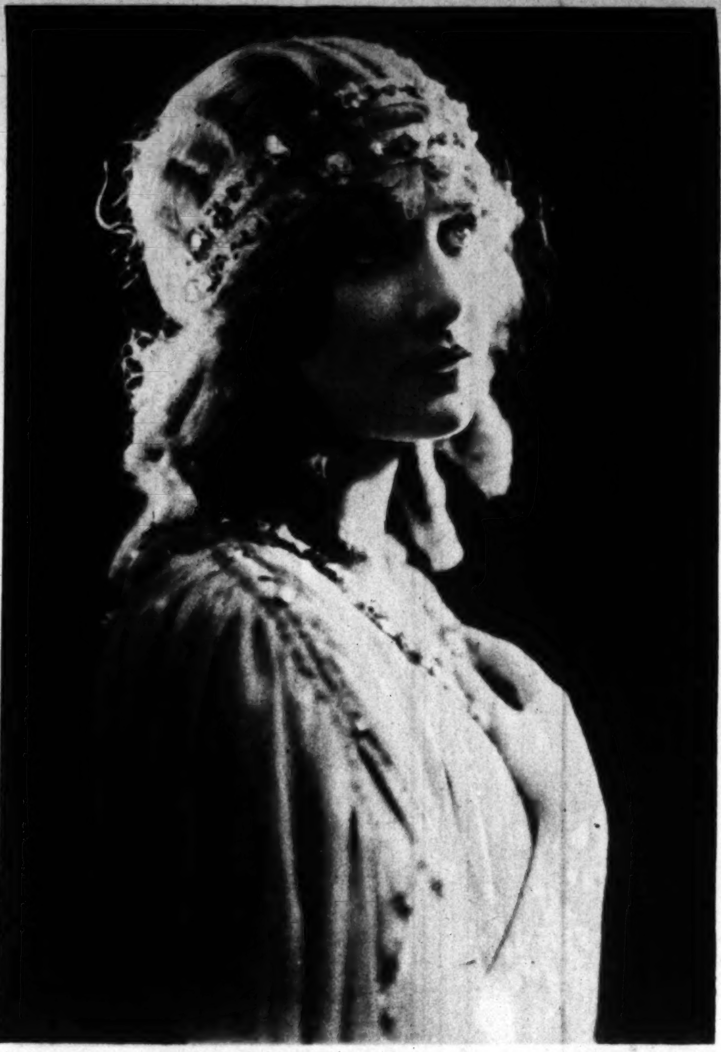
Achieves Fame in Italian Film



HALL DAVIS

An Englishwoman by birth, Miss Davis appears in one of the leading roles in "Quo Vadis," made in Italy. She seems more attractive than many of the feminine players who have taken part in foreign productions.

THE SISTER PROBLEM

cause the girl dies, and the man eventually returns to Joan.

In the telling the plot may appear even more conventional than it seems on the screen. Many of the weak situations are strengthened by the acting and direction.

The picture does not bear analysis of a penetrating sort. There is much that pertains to the political part of the story, and also the assuming that Joan is the guilty one, which lacks reality.

The strongest interest is not in her so much as in the younger girl. Despite the unhappiness that Polly brings to the others, she gains a larger sympathy than might be anticipated, because her own fate appears rather tragic.

In a sense, therefore, the picture defeats its purpose, because Joan is assumed to be the heroine.

Miss Sebastian real carries her part amazingly. She has a great deal of personality, and though not all of her scenes have the depth of conviction that they should, because she lacks technique, she evidently caught the spirit of the interpretation.

Miss Terry is photographically lovely. It is her misfortune to be cast in a part, though, which is almost utterly negative. Her best scenes are toward the climax, and elsewhere she is calm, reposeful and very genuinely attractive. She presents a very pleasing appearance because the gowning of the role seems especially satisfactory.

The sincerity of Orville Caldwell's work cannot be doubted, and in some of the scenes he is very effective. Expression seems to bother him at times. and he has a tendency to overdo the registering of certain feelings. I feel, though, as I see him from picture to picture, that he may yet go far as a romantic actor on the screen.

John Miljan is thoroughly worth while. He has a fine grade of repression. Clarissa Selwynne also is very convincing.

Kathleen Kirkham, Otto Matiesen and the little boy, Sidney Allen, Jr., are others in the cast. The picture was photographed by Robert Kurrle and William Schurr. Sets and natural backgrounds are more than ordinarily rich and pleasing to the eye, even if at times they distract somewhat.—[Edwin Schallert.

bread and butter? But, of course, Ricardo might risk breaking his contract. I suppose he could easily get another one if they did permit him to go, but naturally now that he's growing so popular they wouldn't be likely to do that."

"DEARIE, I saw little Phil De Lacy the other day. I've known him ever since the Red Cross nurse brought him from France, you know, after finding him sick and sore-eyed in a dugout over there, with his mother dead beside him.

"He's the quaintest little chap. His nurse brought him to my apartment to call, and he's been living in a bungalow and isn't used to elevators. He ran ahead of her as they were leaving to watch it arrive, and when his nurse stood and talked to me he screamed out, as it passed on its way down 'Oh, it's gone! It's gone!' as if elevators never came back again.

"He told me he didn't like being called a baby sheik.

"'Everybody I met on the boulevard called me sheik, and I don't like it,' he said very seriously. 'I want to be a real actor, and when I grow up I want to be a big director. How can a fellow be a big director if they call him a sheik?'" how, though close account of every cent he has in the world is kept by the severe Rena. Gene stands in dire fear of his mother, so he cannot go to her and confess.

So the father, in order to help the son, steals $2000 from the bank in which he has been a trusted employee for many years. He immediately confesses, and disgrace is averted only by Arthur giving Rena the money to return to the bank. The father is reinstated in his position, but on the same evening kills himself.

Then Arthur, urged on by the mother, makes his advances even more urgent and when word finally comes that Lyman has been killed in action in Cuba, Mildred realizes that there is no other way out. So she marries Arthur, much to the delight, needless to say, of her mother.

Mildred is brought back to the present from her musings by the entrance of her husband. Twenty years have changed him considerably, but one would recognize instantly in the smug, comfortable looking, middle-aged man the Arthur Ryan of old.

Mildred's reminiscing has done much to show her that perhaps, after all, she should not stand in the way of her daughter's happiness in the way her own mother spoiled hers. So she goes to Dorothy's room to tell her of the decision. When she enters, though, she finds not only Dorothy, but Bob as well. They have not waited for her consent, but, unlike herself so many years before, have slipped out and have been secretly married.

Naturally, Miss Windsor is the source of the greatest interest, but her appeal is less determined than that which she generally registers. Her usual poignancy is lacking and at a time when it should be most in evidence. But enough vivacity remains in her portrayal of the old-time girl to make the part both interesting and brilliant.

The boyishness of William Haines seems to be one of his most pleasing attributes and this, coupled with the spirit of clean young manhood with which he manages to imbue his performance, makes him very acceptable as a leading man. He is especially good in his role of Lyman Webb, but the part is not at all a powerful one.

Edward Connelly as the father, Emily Fitzroy as the mother, and Bert Roach as Arthur all give very deft characterizations, and the ability they display in their roles would be difficult to improve on. Vivia Ogden, too, as Aunt Effie, contributes to the quality of the cast in a part well filled with humor.

Others capably supporting the principals are Robert Agnew, Lucille Rickson and Billy Eugene. Ben Reynolds is responsible for the photography and much credit is due Cedric Gibbons for his sets.

To Henley should go the credit for a well-balanced and consistent piece of work in directing. But he has not been altogether successful in relegating the spectacular, which is his forte, to the background, for he reproduces a few scenes of an old-time variety show.

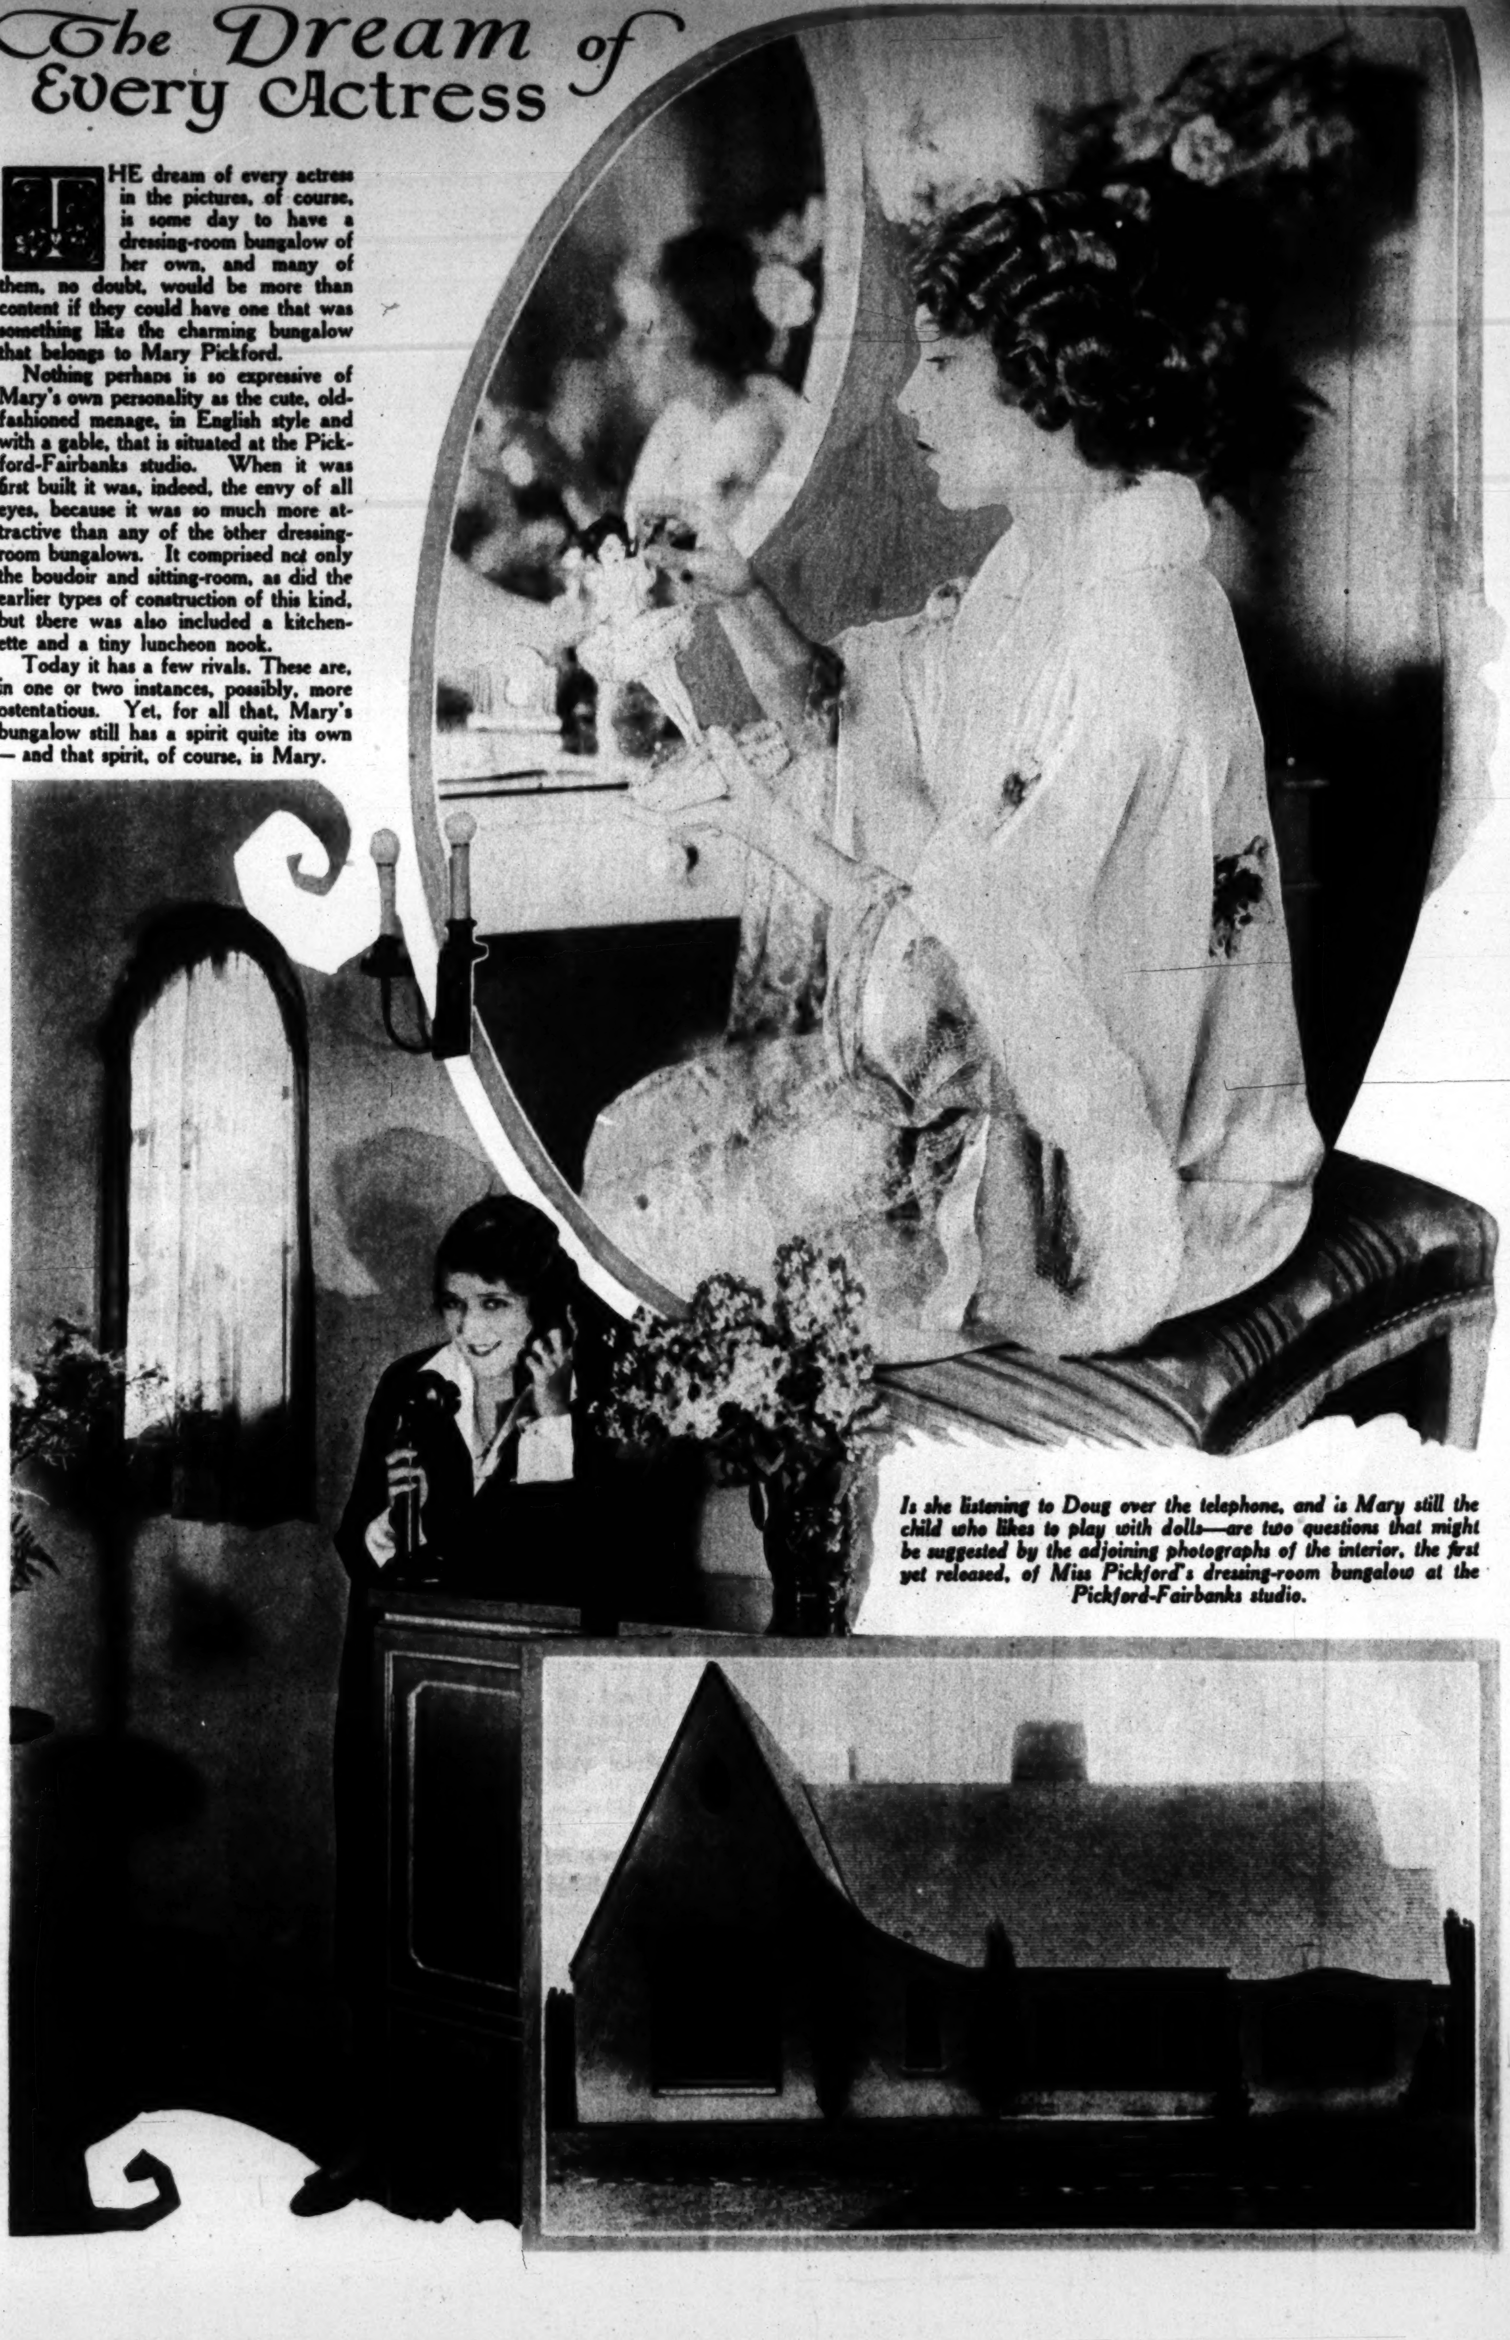
The way in which he handles the situation of Mildred marrying Arthur is very effective, but credit for this bit of technique should go to the scenarioist, Agnes Christine Johnston, as well.—[Whitney Williams.

The Dream of Every Actress

THE dream of every actress in the pictures, of course, is some day to have a dressing-room bungalow of her own, and many of them, no doubt, would be more than content if they could have one that was something like the charming bungalow that belongs to Mary Pickford.

Nothing perhaps is so expressive of Mary's own personality as the cute, old-fashioned menage, in English style and with a gable, that is situated at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio. When it was first built it was, indeed, the envy of all eyes, because it was so much more attractive than any of the other dressing-room bungalows. It comprised not only the boudoir and sitting-room, as did the earlier types of construction of this kind, but there was also included a kitchenette and a tiny luncheon nook.

Today it has a few rivals. These are, in one or two instances, possibly, more ostentatious. Yet, for all that, Mary's bungalow still has a spirit quite its own — and that spirit, of course, is Mary.



Is she listening to Doug over the telephone, and is Mary still the child who likes to play with dolls—are two questions that might be suggested by the adjoining photographs of the interior, the first yet released, of Miss Pickford's dressing-room bungalow at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio.

Tea-cup Tete-a-tete With Stella, the Star-Gazer

By GRACE KINGSLEY

If all goes well, Ramon Novarro will soon be the proud possessor of two of the beautiful Arabian steeds formerly belonging to the Emperor Franz Josef of Austria.

Phillipe De Lacy may be only 5 years of age, but he is already old enough to make strenuous objections to being called a sheik.

Apparently bathtubs hold a peculiar fascination for Louise Fazenda, for she braved a rainy day recently to attend a display of them. Reason, of course, her new home.

OH, there's Ramon Novarro—just back from Rome! And that witty manager of his, Herb Howe! I do hope they see us. Yes, they do!"

Ramon and Herb came and sat down at our table, and we all had tea together. Herb used to be anti-tea before he went to London, but he says the habit is compulsory there, so he got used to it.

Naturally, Stella wanted to know all about royalty and nobility, and didn't care who knew it. Ramon really wanted to tell us, I think, about the art galleries, and about the poor old actor who sent word to Fred Niblo that he couldn't get work, so he was ending his life, but Stella just insisted on the ermine atmosphere.

SO RAMON told us about the time the King and Queen of Italy came to see some of the "Ben Hur" scenes made, and how the princesses came incognito on the visit to the set—not because they were so crazy about actors, but because they wanted to find out about motion-picture art. They were especially curious about the camera, it seems.

"All the film players were there," chuckled Herb, "wearing their pearls and putting the Queen to shame, for she didn't wear a single jewel!"

"Oh, I suppose you know an awful lot of counts and princes and other scions of nobility, don't you?" inquired Stella eagerly.

"Why," Herb Howe explained, "there are so many titles over there nobody pays any attention to them. To come back here and say that you know an Italian count is like an Italian coming over here and going back to Italy saying he had met here a person worth $5000. That's just how exciting it really is."

RAMON told us about driving the chariots, saying he really wasn't afraid in the least. In fact, he says he really began, while playing in "The Arab," to have something of the Arab's feeling for a horse. And he means to buy two of the beautiful creatures, a number of which, you know, are being shipped to this country for further scenes of "Ben Hur."

Then they told about how every European city has its so-called American bar, and about one place where they made a drink called a gin fizz—which was simply gin with whipped cream on top!

Ramon, who has an odd, quizzical little sense of drollery, told us about the irrepressible Dorothy Gish and her imported Italian furniture.

"The family was seriously describing to me a certain beautiful table," said Ramon, "when up spoke Dorothy:

" 'Yes,' she exclaimed, 'and you should just see how the little worms creep out of it at eventide and romp around!' That's as much impressed as Dorothy was!"

STELLA took another sip of tea and looked up to behold Louise Fazenda. Louise came over and sat down, and we saw at once that she, Ramon and Herb would fraternize nicely. There are some people who do Mocha-and-Java and some who just don't, you know.

Louise told us about building her new house. She said she wanted it all Chinesy inside and all colonial outside, and she supposed the exterior and interior would have awful quarrels, but she was going to do it anyhow.

"Don't think I'm not serious about this home, though," said Louise. "I never was so serious in my life about anything. If you don't believe me—I went out yesterday in all that pouring rain to attend a bathtub display.

"POOR Ricardo Cortez!" exclaimed Stella. "He and Alma Rubens are over there in the corner looking quite sad. Know why? Her divorce from Dr. Goodman? My goodness, no, dearie! It's all on account of the clause in his contract with Paramount which says that he cannot marry during the life of the agreement! And there are those sweet things so adorably in love and everything. Divorces aren't so hard, but how are you going to be married if you can't earn your

THE keenest criticisms in Hollywood are those you never hear.

That the public never hears.

Without starting a civil war in motion pictures, I couldn't give you names. But I can slip you a few hints as to what the "talent" thinks about this picture and that.

"Thief of Bagdad"

Doug Fairbanks's "Thief of Bagdad" is still one of the most talked-of pictures in Hollywood.

As a general thing, it is considered to be less of a picture than "Robin Hood." Opinions are divided as to why it fell short.

Some of the Hollywood people think it is because Douglas is not an actor of romantic charm. The public thinks of him in terms of fights with rough villains; not in terms of perfumed rose petals and rajah's daughters.

One of the best directors in Hollywood had an interesting analysis of the picture. He said that the worst fault of it was the very thing of which Mr. Fairbanks is most proud: The gorgeous sets.

"In order to have made this a fantasy of really moving charm," said this director, "it should have been warm and luxurious—that's the way we think of Bagdad. We always think of Bagdad as of soft exotic perfumes, of regal and sensuous ease. But Doug's Bagdad sets were ice palaces. They were beautiful, but cold and chilling. You expected to see him blowing on his hands after he embraced the beautiful princess."

Bad Cutting

Some one wrote me a letter the other day from San Diego asking why William De Mille's picture, "Locked Doors," was not a more successful picture.

I have talked to several wise men of Hollywood about this. In general, they think that Mr. De Mille is too intellectual ever to make much of a go of melodrama.

In this particular case the opinion seems to be that the picture suffered from bad cutting.

The climax was in the young wife's bedroom. Her lover was there with her. The house was on fire. They were in a dramatic predicament. If they came out, they exposed their relation to the elderly husband. If they didn't come out, they were due to be burned to death.

Much-Debated Pola

Pola Negri is probably the most discussed woman in Hollywood.

As a general thing, the experts—the writers and the directors and the actors and all the rest of them—regard Pola as the most interesting personality who ever had anything to do with pictures.

But they feel that she has been badly handled.

This seems to be a fair digest of the "wise" opinion as to her American pictures:

"Bella Donna" was an awful thing. They picked a "bad-woman" part for Pola, then tried to make a Pollyanna out of the bad woman.

"Men" and "Lily of the Dust" both made a bigger hit with the populace at large than with Hollywood.

Hollywood felt that "Men" started out brilliantly, but ended in a jumble of cheap theatricalism; failed to be convincing.

"Lily of the Dust" was the screen version of Sudermann's "Song of Songs." Like "Men," it started out well, but muffed the big situation. Also it departed too much from the atmosphere and point of the story.

Hollywood loved Pola in "Forbidden Paradise;" but feels a little dubious as to its fate in the "sticks."

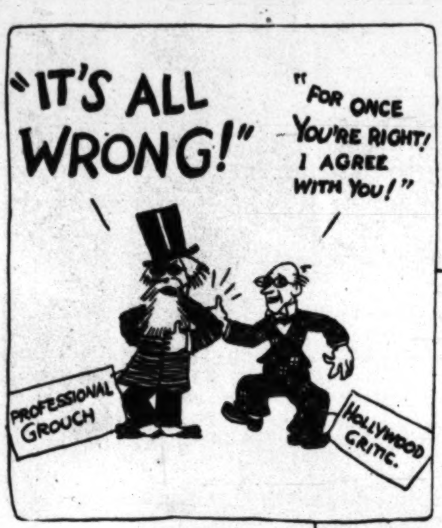
"East of Suez" was Pola's most recent picture. That, they think, failed of complete success because it began with a really dramatic story, but fizzled off into a lot of incredible nonsense about a mysterious Chinese villain with long finger nails.

Too Funny

"The Devil's Cargo" has also been a much discussed picture.

This was a dramatic and interesting story of early California life. The Vigilantes put all the bad folks of Sacramento out on a river steamer and refused to let them land. A giant stoker with a clouded mind broke out and terrorized the cowering refugees.

Those to whom I have talked in Hollywood feel that it just missed being a great picture because of a climax that slipped. The climax slipped because Wallace Beery got a laugh just a shade too near his big scene where he threatened to assault all the ladies on board and murder all the men.



"IT'S ALL WRONG!"

PROFESSIONAL GROUCH

PROPER EVENING DRESS FOR GENTLEMAN WHO HAS TO SIT BESIDE A WEEPY ACTRESS DURING AN EXCEPTIONALLY DRAMATIC PICTURE.

The comedy gag where he tried on the captain's cap was so delightfully funny that it killed the menace that followed. This laugh was carried on to his murder of the mate. The director never could make the danger intense after that. You can't "kid" a murder and thereafter get tragedy in that same picture.

As to "Tarnish"

If Hollywood is to be believed, one of the most interesting pictures of the year fell somewhat short because of an interesting reason.

The picture is "Tarnish." The wise guys feel that the character of the father in that picture was too difficult a dose for the movie fans to swallow. He was an old reprobate who squandered the family's slender funds on gay parties; then sobbed in self-pity. The fans, it seemed, couldn't quite fathom crocodile tears. They didn't know why he was crying.

Film salesmen also feel that, like "Cytherea," this picture had a bad name. The average picture fan couldn't be sure how "Cytherea" was pronounced, and this is fatal to a picture. To those who understood what "Tarnish" meant, it didn't sound interesting.

When They Guessed Wrong

Sometimes Hollywood makes a great mistake.

Its worst guess was about the Rockett brothers and "Abraham Lincoln."

This picture was written down as a failure—a certain, sure flop. The "talent" didn't believe that it had enough suspense. Also, it was felt that flapper love stories—not historic characters—were what the fans demanded.

"Abraham Lincoln" is now running neck and neck with "The Sea Hawk" as the biggest box-office picture ever put out by First National.

The Rockett brothers—Al and Ray—occupy a position of deep respect as a result.

The Wrong Direction

Another topic of conversation is the Paramount western epic, "North of 36"—put out as a follow-up of "The Covered Wagon."

It failed to meet to meet the same crashing success as "The Covered Wagon" because the people in the story did not have an interesting objective.

In "The Covered Wagon" the Argonauts were on the way to California to found an empire. In "North of '36" they were on the way to Abilene, Kan., to sell steers.

Copious Tears

This was "The White Sister."

It might surprise the world at large to know that the most devoted and adoring of all fans are the picture people themselves. The people of the movies are just as anxious to meet the big stars—and are just as thrilled by the process—as the telephone girls. Just so, they are ardent movie theatergoers. Like other girls, they just love to cry at the movies.

They had a grand chance to cry at "The White Sister." Viola Dana told me that she wept so copiously that she was afraid the ushers would put her out. Frances Marion told me she went two or three times and cried all over the place.

* * *

"Peter Pan"

What did Hollywood think of "Peter Pan"?

Most of them loved it. I think they all admired Betty Bronson; but there were a few who felt that mistakes were made in the production.

Those I have heard criticise it most are foreigners who are educated to symbolism—art effects, etc.

Their criticisms are based upon three grounds:

That a real ship should not have been used for Peter's fight with the pirates. It should have been a fantastic craft.

That a real island should never have been selected for Never-Never Land, with bathing girls in fish tails lying around the real breakers.

Also that the pirates should have been "between decks" and not on the open deck. This because it had already been shown that the children knew how to fly and so could easily have escaped the pirates.

Hollywood's Hero

What figure in motion pictures most interests Hollywood?

I think I am safe in answering this large question. I think it is Ernst Lubitsch.

The actors feel that to be selected by Lubitsch for a part in a picture is to be "made." Also they like him personally better than most actors like most directors. Also they have an almost superstitious faith in his power to teach them to act.

He is the only director I have ever known—with the exception of Griffith—whom the actors always approach with submissive and contrite hearts.

* * *

New York or Here?

Where do the actors like to work—here or in New York?

What they really like is living here and being sent for to go to New York.

It gives them a pleasing feeling of self-satisfaction to be sent for—3000 miles to play in a part. They like to parade around New York; but they don't like to live there.

This is partly due to our salubrious climate, etc.; partly due to the fact that they are the heroes of this town, but play second fiddle to stage actors in New York.

Also, of course, they have an agreeable routine of life that they enjoy here. To be frank about it, they miss the prizefights. All Hollywood goes religiously and faithfully to the fights every week.

Favorite "Parts"

What parts do Hollywood actors like?

Naturally, they like the "fat" ones; but in addition to that, the men almost invariably like westerns, where they can wear six-shooters and hairy "chaps." Even when they can't ride, they hanker after western pictures.

The girls like two opposite kinds of parts—rags and fine feathers. They get an almost equal thrill out of playing gutter ladies and society queens.

Contrasting Conventions

Human Contrasts

"DENIAL"

(Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

"Denial" stands forth as a production of a homely flavor, one in which everyday people act in an everyday fashion. It is the narrative of a girl and her mother and the unhappiness caused by the mother in her attempt to rule her family with an iron hand.

ORIGINALLY known as "The Square Peg," "Denial" was adapted from the Lewis Beach story by Agnes Christine Johnston and was directed by Hobart Henley. Though the title is not of the strongest, still it sufficiently suggests the nature of the plot. The word "denial" in this case means the attitude of the mother towards her daughter, her bearing in regard to the daughter's pleasure and conduct.

While the action of the story commences in the present day, the greater part of the footage is a cut-back to twenty-eight years ago. In its last few hundred feet, the action resumes at the point it left off in the beginning. Because of this juggling of periods in the story, its strength is necessarily undermined and less effective than if an even tenor had been adhered to throughout.

In this picture, too, for the first time, Claire Windsor, its foremost featured player, is metamorphosed into an old woman—or, at least, a middle-aged woman—showing all the marks time, care and suffering impose. As is so often the case with the younger actresses who portray an old-age role, the make-up is too exaggerated to carry the conviction that it should.

Miss Windsor's opportunity for characterization in her aged role is also limited by the footage allotted to the modern part of the story, and this modern sequence, all things considered, is of negligible import, aside from serving as a medium of comparison between the two ages.

At the start of the story Dorothy, a subdeb, and Bob, a young aviator, are very much in love with each other. The latter asks the girl's mother, Mildred, if he may marry her daughter, but she refuses to give her consent, declaring that the two are yet too young to marry.

The daughter has never been refused anything before, and, being crossed for the first time, is furious and runs to her room, sobbing, "What if your mother had tried to interfere with you and the man you loved?"

Dorothy's words have recalled a tragedy in the mother's life and she sinks into a chair, burdened with heavy, unhappy memories.

In the year 1897, Mildred, a beautiful girl, was living in a middle western town. Her mother, Rena Huckins, a woman with an austere and dominating personality, guided with a whip hand the members of the household, who, besides Mildred, were the husband and father, James Huckins, a meek, wincing, kindly man; the son and brother, Gene, a perfect product harbored under the wing of his tyrannical mother, a weakling in every way; and Aunt Effie, who echoed in a timid way everything Rena, her elder sister, said.

Mildred has two lovers. Arthur, the richest man in town, is her mother's choice. He has the only automobile in the county, which completely conceals in the mother's eyes the fact that he is fat and overfed and heavy-minded.

The other, Lyman Webb, is greatly loved by Mildred, and he adores her. Their romance is brought to a sudden head, however, when he is called to the Spanish-American War to serve under Col. Roosevelt. The mother turns a deaf ear to him when he asks for Mildred's hand in marriage. This causes the pair to think of eloping, though Mildred never quite gathers the courage to combat the effect upon her mother.

So Lyman marches away and, though he writes fervently and frequently, he never receives a reply. His letters are intercepted by Rena.

Meanwhile, Mildred wonders and waits and finally loses hope, thinking, of course, that Lyman has forgotten her.

New difficulties arise when the brother, Gene, gets into an entangling affair with one of the crudest and fastest women in town. This person demands that Gene either marry her or pay a cash settlement of $2000.

In desperation he tells his sister and father the whole circumstance and the latter promises to get the money some-

Claire Windsor has rarely looked more charming and the evident sincerity of Edward Connelly as the father is wholly sympathetic.

Miss Windsor has some scenes as the mother of a grown daughter, wearing old-age make-up. Lucille Ricksen and Robert Agnew are the young lovers.

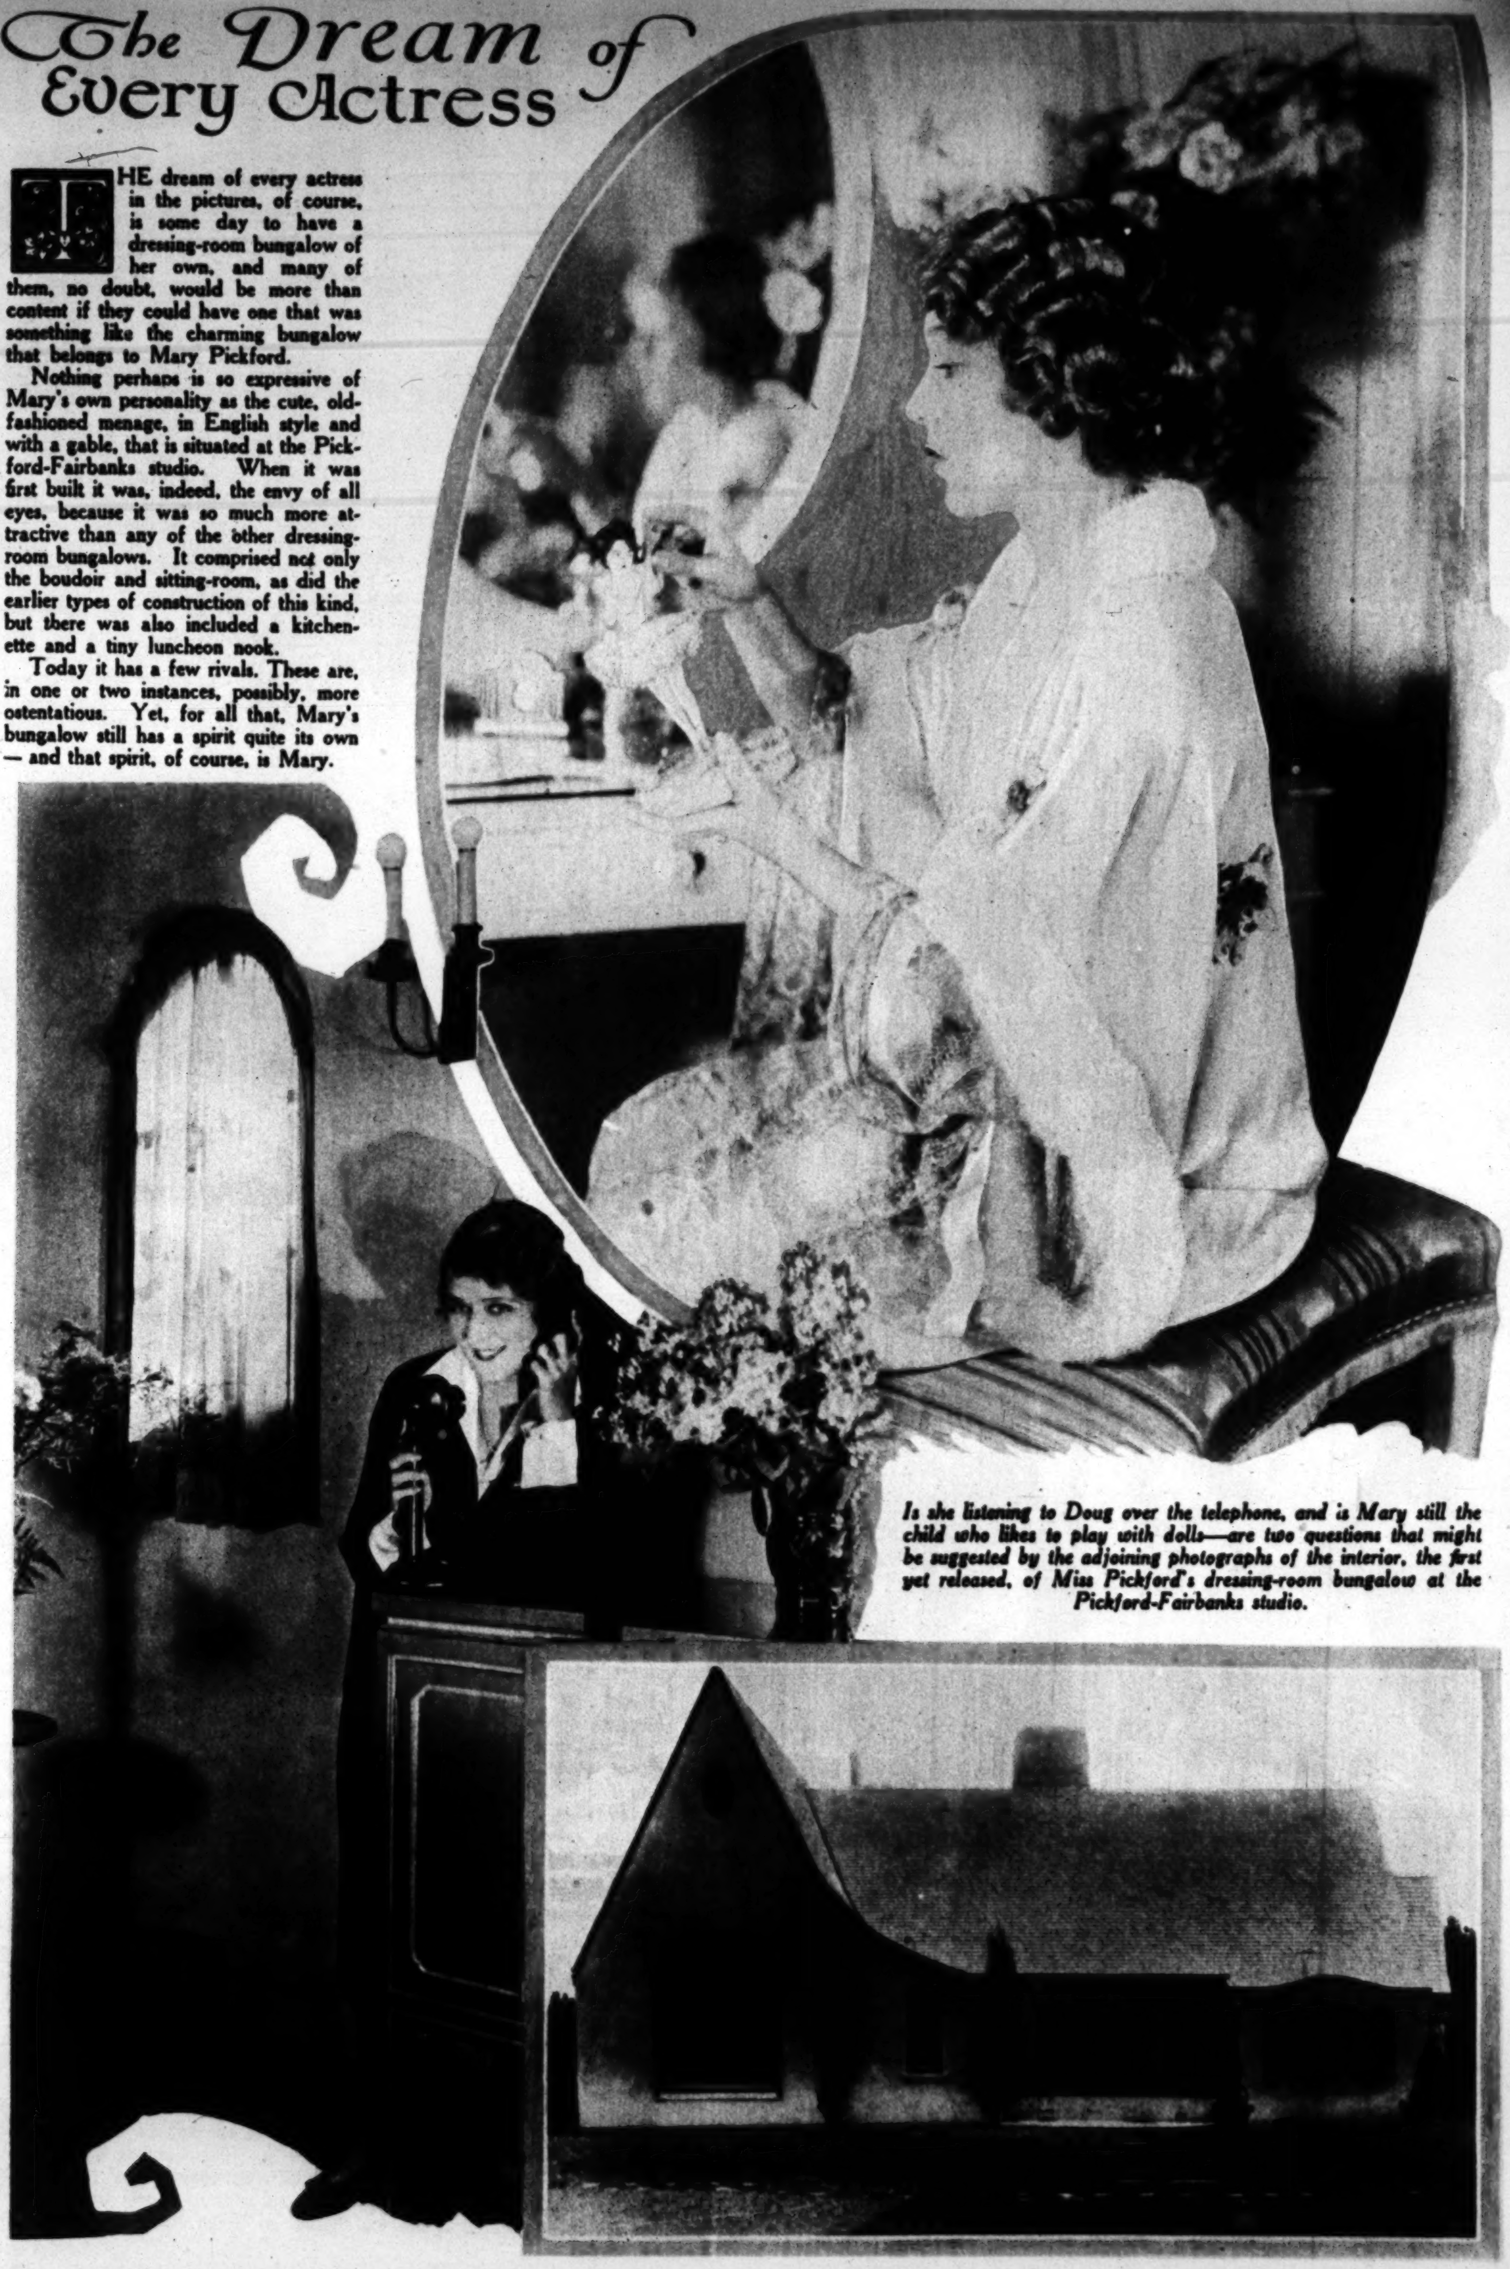
Emily Fitzroy's interpretation of the domineering mother is one which will be remembered for its strength and coldheartedness.

The Dream of Every Actress

THE dream of every actress in the pictures, of course, is some day to have a dressing-room bungalow of her own, and many of them, no doubt, would be more than content if they could have one that was something like the charming bungalow that belongs to Mary Pickford.

Nothing perhaps is so expressive of Mary's own personality as the cute, old-fashioned menage, in English style and with a gable, that is situated at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio. When it was first built it was, indeed, the envy of all eyes, because it was so much more attractive than any of the other dressing-room bungalows. It comprised not only the boudoir and sitting-room, as did the earlier types of construction of this kind, but there was also included a kitchenette and a tiny luncheon nook.

Today it has a few rivals. These are, in one or two instances, possibly, more ostentatious. Yet, for all that, Mary's bungalow still has a spirit quite its own — and that spirit, of course, is Mary.



Is she listening to Doug over the telephone, and is Mary still the child who likes to play with dolls—are two questions that might be suggested by the adjoining photographs of the interior, the first yet released, of Miss Pickford's dressing-room bungalow at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio.

Pre-release—Impressions of NEW PICTURES

The Sister Problem

"SACKCLOTH AND SCARLET"

(Henry King-Paramount)

"Sackcloth and Scarlet" sets forth the theme of a sacrifice made by one sister for another. It offers a motif, therefore, that is frequently exploited, but in this particular case it receives, as a whole, rather clever treatment on the screen. The concise unfolding of the story and the fact that the suspense is well maintained right from the beginning offset to some extent the lack of novelty in the plot. Alice Terry is the player principally featured, and Orville Caldwell and Dorothy Sebastian have the other leads. Miss Sebastian is a newcomer, and very interesting.

IT IS from a novel by George Gibbs that the adaptation of "Sackcloth and Scarlet" was made. The screen play was written by Jules Furthman and Julie Herne. Henry King directed the picture, which is the initial one that he has made under independent contract, and also the first since his return to the West some months ago.

The key character in the story is that of Polly Freeman, played by Miss Sebastian. She is the sister who necessitates the sacrifice, and her developing selfishness, her caprices and her other various changes of feeling and character are what keep the sequences moving along.

Dorothy Sebastian evinces a primitiveness of emotion in her scenes with Orville Caldwell that makes them particularly effective.

One of the attractive moments in the picture is the awakening of Joan's mother love for her sister's baby.

Despite the cold nature of Dorothy Sebastian's role, hers is the more interesting and sympathetic part. A later sequence showing Miss Terry, Kathleen Kirkham, John Miljan, as well as Miss Sebastian.

Orville Caldwell portrays in an interesting manner the masculine lead.

A certain craving for romance on her part—rather malicious than otherwise; her shirking of the responsibilities of motherhood that result therefrom, and the way things work around so that she finally has to marry the man whom her sister loves to set things right are all elements in the story which grow out of the drawing of her character.

The opening sequence in the picture is effective. The locale is the High Sierras, and Polly on a trip west, taken, as is learned later, without her sister's knowledge, is tasting of freedom.

The reaction on herself verges rather mischievously on romance. She has, while on a horseback jaunt, sought to intrigue the romantic interest of her guide, a rather uncouth type. Though for a time he resists the tricks with which she seeks to attract him, out of a sense of chivalry and duty, the lure finally proves too great.

He is cleared from practically all blame because of his attitude of resistance. He also proffers, in fact, virtually insists on marriage.

Having gotten into trouble, however, the girl prefers to take her griefs home to her sister, Joan. She is to all indications not so sure that she would be permanently happy with the crude individual toward whom whim had allured her. She decides to seek the comfort of the Long Island home where she and the elder girl (parentless) reside.

The elder sister takes the younger one's griefs on herself. She has just about consented to the announcement of her engagement, but she breaks this off and goes abroad with the younger girl. They take up their residence in France, and a child is born to the girl.

Pretty much as a result of coincidence, Joan's fiance, while on a tour of France, discovers their retreat. He comes to the conclusion that the elder girl, rather than Polly, is the mother of the child. He assumes immediately that this is the reason she refused to marry him. He makes known these conclusions to his sister, who broadcasts the news to the world.

An illness of the baby awakens mother love in Joan's heart, but leaves the younger sister adamant. In fact, she tires of the restraint and the responsibility and finally leaves.

Joan returns to America and then settles in Washington. Through chance she meets the father of the child, all unaware, of course, of this relationship because she has never seen him. By virtue of certain reclamation activities he has become a Congressman, and is closely associated with Joan's former fiance.

Gossip spreads the news that he is seen in Joan's company, and it is regarded as dangerous to his political status. Joan becomes aware of this gossip about the same time and decides to leave.

On the eve of her departure the younger sister returns. She has gone through all the money in her part of the estate, and is penniless.

The outcome of this situation may be surmised. Polly and the man meet, and Joan prevails upon them to marry for the sake of the youngster. Their marriage lasts only a short while, be-

Too Funny

"The Devil's Cargo" has also been a much discussed picture.

This was a dramatic and interesting story of early California life. The Vigilantes put all the bad folks of Sacramento out on a river steamer and refused to let them land. A giant stoker with a clouded mind broke out and terrorized the cowering refugees.

Those to whom I have talked in Hollywood feel that it just missed being a great picture because of a climax that slipped. The climax slipped because Wallace Beery got a laugh just a shade too near his big scene where he threatened to assault all the ladies on board and murder all the men.

The comedy gag where he tried on the captain's cap was so delightfully funny that it killed the menace that followed. This laugh was carried on to his murder of the mate. The director never could make the danger intense after that. You can't "kid" a murder and thereafter get tragedy in that same picture.

As to "Tarnish"

If Hollywood is to be believed, one of the most interesting pictures of the year fell somewhat short because of an interesting reason.

The picture is "Tarnish." The wise guys feel that the character of the father in that picture was too difficult a dose for the movie fans to swallow. He was an old reprobate who squandered the family's slender funds on gay parties; then sobbed in self-pity. The fans, it seemed, couldn't quite fathom crocodile tears. They didn't know why he was crying.

Film salesmen also feel that, like "Cytherea," this picture had a bad name. The average picture fan couldn't be sure how "Cytherea" was pronounced, and this is fatal to a picture. To those who understood what "Tarnish" meant, it didn't sound interesting.

When They Guessed Wrong

Sometimes Hollywood makes a great mistake.

Its worst guess was about the Rockett brothers and "Abraham Lincoln."

This picture was written down as a failure—a certain, sure flop. The "talent" didn't believe that it had enough suspense. Also, it was felt that flapper love stories—not historic characters—were what the fans demanded.

"Abraham Lincoln" is now running neck and neck with "The Sea Hawk" as the biggest box-office picture ever put out by First National.

The Rockett brothers—Al and Ray—occupy a position of deep respect as a result.

The Wrong Direction

Another topic of conversation is the Paramount western epic, "North of 36"—put out as a follow-up of "The Covered Wagon."

It failed to meet to meet the same crashing success as "The Covered Wagon" because the people in the story did not have an interesting objective.

In "The Covered Wagon" the Argonauts were on the way to California to found an empire. In "North of '36" they were on the way to Abilene, Kan., to sell steers.

Copious Tears

This was "The White Sister."

It might surprise the world at large to know that the most devoted and adoring of all fans are the picture people themselves. The people of the movies are just as anxious to meet the big stars—and are just as thrilled by the process—as the telephone girls. Just so, they are ardent movie theatergoers. Like other girls, they just love to cry at the movies.

They had a grand chance to cry at "The White Sister." Viola Dana told me that she wept so copiously that she was afraid the ushers would put her out. Frances Marion told me she went two or three times and cried all over the place.

"Peter Pan"

What did Hollywood think of "Peter Pan"?

Most of them loved it. I think they all admired Betty Bronson; but there were a few who felt that mistakes were made in the production.

Those I have heard criticise it most are foreigners who are educated to symbolism—art effects, etc.

Their criticisms are based upon three grounds:

That a real ship should not have been used for Peter's fight with the pirates. It should have been a fantastic craft.

That a real island should never have been selected for Never-Never Land, with bathing girls in fish tails lying around the real breakers.

Also that the pirates should have been "between decks" and not on the open deck. This because it had already been shown that the children knew how to fly and so could easily have escaped the pirates.

Hollywood's Hero

What figure in motion pictures most interests Hollywood?

I think I am safe in answering this large question. I think it is Ernst Lubitsch.

The actors feel that to be selected by Lubitsch for a part in a picture is to be "made." Also they like him personally better than most actors like most directors. Also they have an almost superstitious faith in his power to teach them to act.

He is the only director I have ever known—with the exception of Griffith—whom the actors always approach with submissive and contrite hearts.

New York or Here?

Where do the actors like to work—here or in New York?

What they really like is living here and being sent for to go to New York.

It gives them a pleasing feeling of self-satisfaction to be sent for—3000 miles to play in a part. They like to parade around New York; but they don't like to live there.

This is partly due to our salubrious climate, etc.; partly due to the fact that they are the heroes of this town, but play second fiddle to stage actors in New York.

Also, of course, they have an agreeable routine of life that they enjoy here. To be frank about it, they miss the prizefights. All Hollywood goes religiously and faithfully to the fights every week.

Favorite "Parts"

What parts do Hollywood actors like?

Naturally, they like the "fat" ones; but in addition to that, the men almost invariably like westerns, where they can wear six-shooters and hairy "chaps." Even when they can't ride, they hanker after western pictures.

The girls like two opposite kinds of parts—rags and fine feathers. They get an almost equal thrill out of playing gutter ladies and society queens.

Does Springtime Make For Fame Now?

Producers Have Apparently Renewed the Call for Youth, and Now the Question Is Will Their Newer Finds Win a Place Beside the Established Favorites

By EDWIN SCHALLERT

YOUTH again will be victorious on the screen this year. The trend toward sophistication will be checked. Maturity and experience are fast losing ground, and the springtime personalities are coming into their own as never before.

These are the predictions heard on many hands with the opening of 1925 activities, and they seem to be borne out by the success of the newcomers in "Peter Pan" and the present tendency to give greater opportunities to the younger players in all the more striking productions for the screen.

Norma Shearer's place as a featured player, if not actually as a star, seems now secure. Mary Astor has lately won some coveted leads. Mary Philbin and Laura La Plante need no further introduction, because they have been appearing prominently in film after film.

Big plans are entertained for the future of Betty Bronson and Mary Brian, both still in their teens, while high hopes are held for the success of Jobyna Ralston, Marian Nixon and Alice Day, a little girl of the Sennett comedies, as soon as they have their chance in the bigger sort of roles.

Last Year's Reactions

To be sure, it is a question in the minds of some, as yet, what all these golden prophecies mean, but enough of the productions have given promise of their appeal so far to make the outlook more than bright for all the younger group who aspire to fame.

During the past year there were, of course, many changes in the character of productions. There was a heavy call apparently for the more grown-up—often what might be called the sexy—type of plays. The popular portrayals demanded from their interpreters an attitude more worldly-wise, an almost unheard of authority of experience.

The screen was dominated temporarily by maturer types. There was a sweeping demand for the presences of such actors as Conway Tearle, Milton Sills, Lewis Stone, Adolphe Menjou and others in the prime of life, or at least approaching it. Notable success also went to Florence Vidor, Irene Rich, Aileen Pringle and Anna Q. Nilsson, who, while not actually mature in years, still give distinctly the impression of experience.

The Gains in Acting

The actual results of this more adult form of entertainment have not been entirely gratifying. The great trouble has been in the quality of the plays. Attempts were made to depict upon the screen plots and situations that were bound to counter with censorship. The changes and alterations from the original story idea often placed the whole burden of putting the picture over on the shoulders of the players.

That they met this task very successfully cannot be denied, and the contributions that have been made to screen acting itself in many cases have been sufficient to alter the viewpoint of the picturegoer regarding the films in general.

The task that faces the more youthful group of the present is as a consequence a complicated one. They are to have thrust upon them apparently the duty of competing with a group of seasoned experts. Whether the competition will be actual or not, because the plays in which they appear may dif-

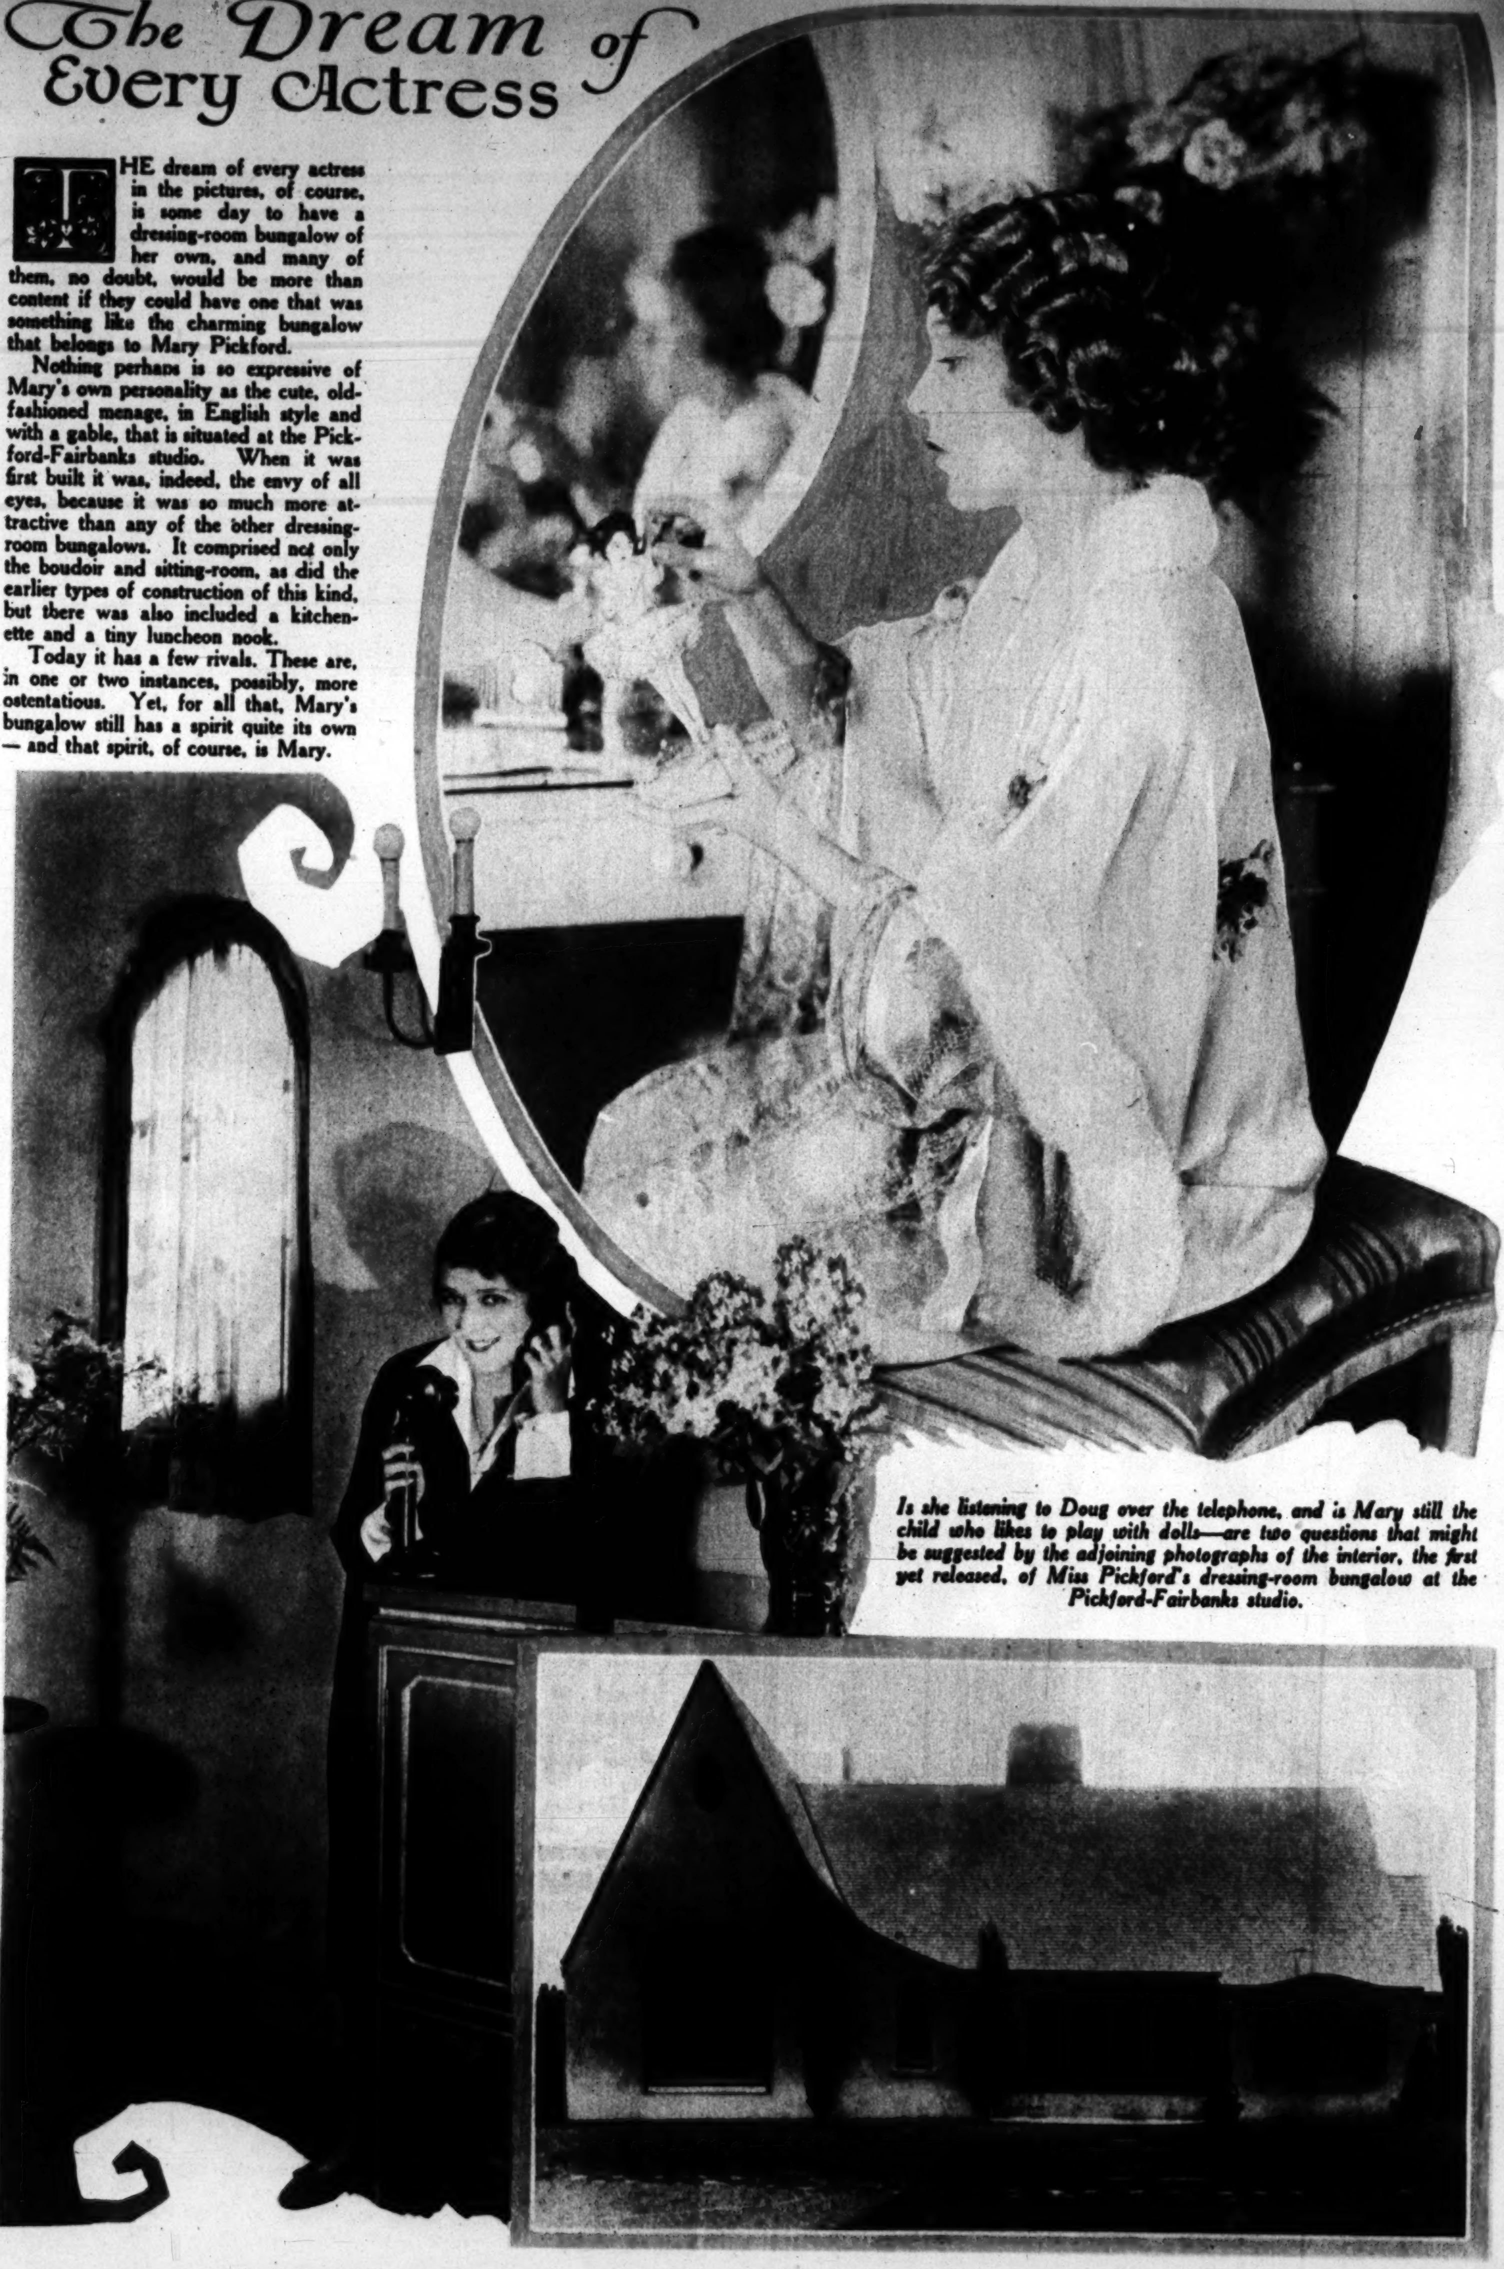
The Dream of Every Actress

THE dream of every actress in the pictures, of course, is some day to have a dressing-room bungalow of her own, and many of them, no doubt, would be more than content if they could have one that was something like the charming bungalow that belongs to Mary Pickford.

Nothing perhaps is so expressive of Mary's own personality as the cute, old-fashioned menage, in English style and with a gable, that is situated at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio. When it was first built it was, indeed, the envy of all eyes, because it was so much more attractive than any of the other dressing-room bungalows. It comprised not only the boudoir and sitting-room, as did the earlier types of construction of this kind, but there was also included a kitchenette and a tiny luncheon nook.

Today it has a few rivals. These are, in one or two instances, possibly, more ostentatious. Yet, for all that, Mary's bungalow still has a spirit quite its own — and that spirit, of course, is Mary.



Is she listening to Doug over the telephone, and is Mary still the child who likes to play with dolls—are two questions that might be suggested by the adjoining photographs of the interior, the first yet released, of Miss Pickford's dressing-room bungalow at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio.

Can They Cook?

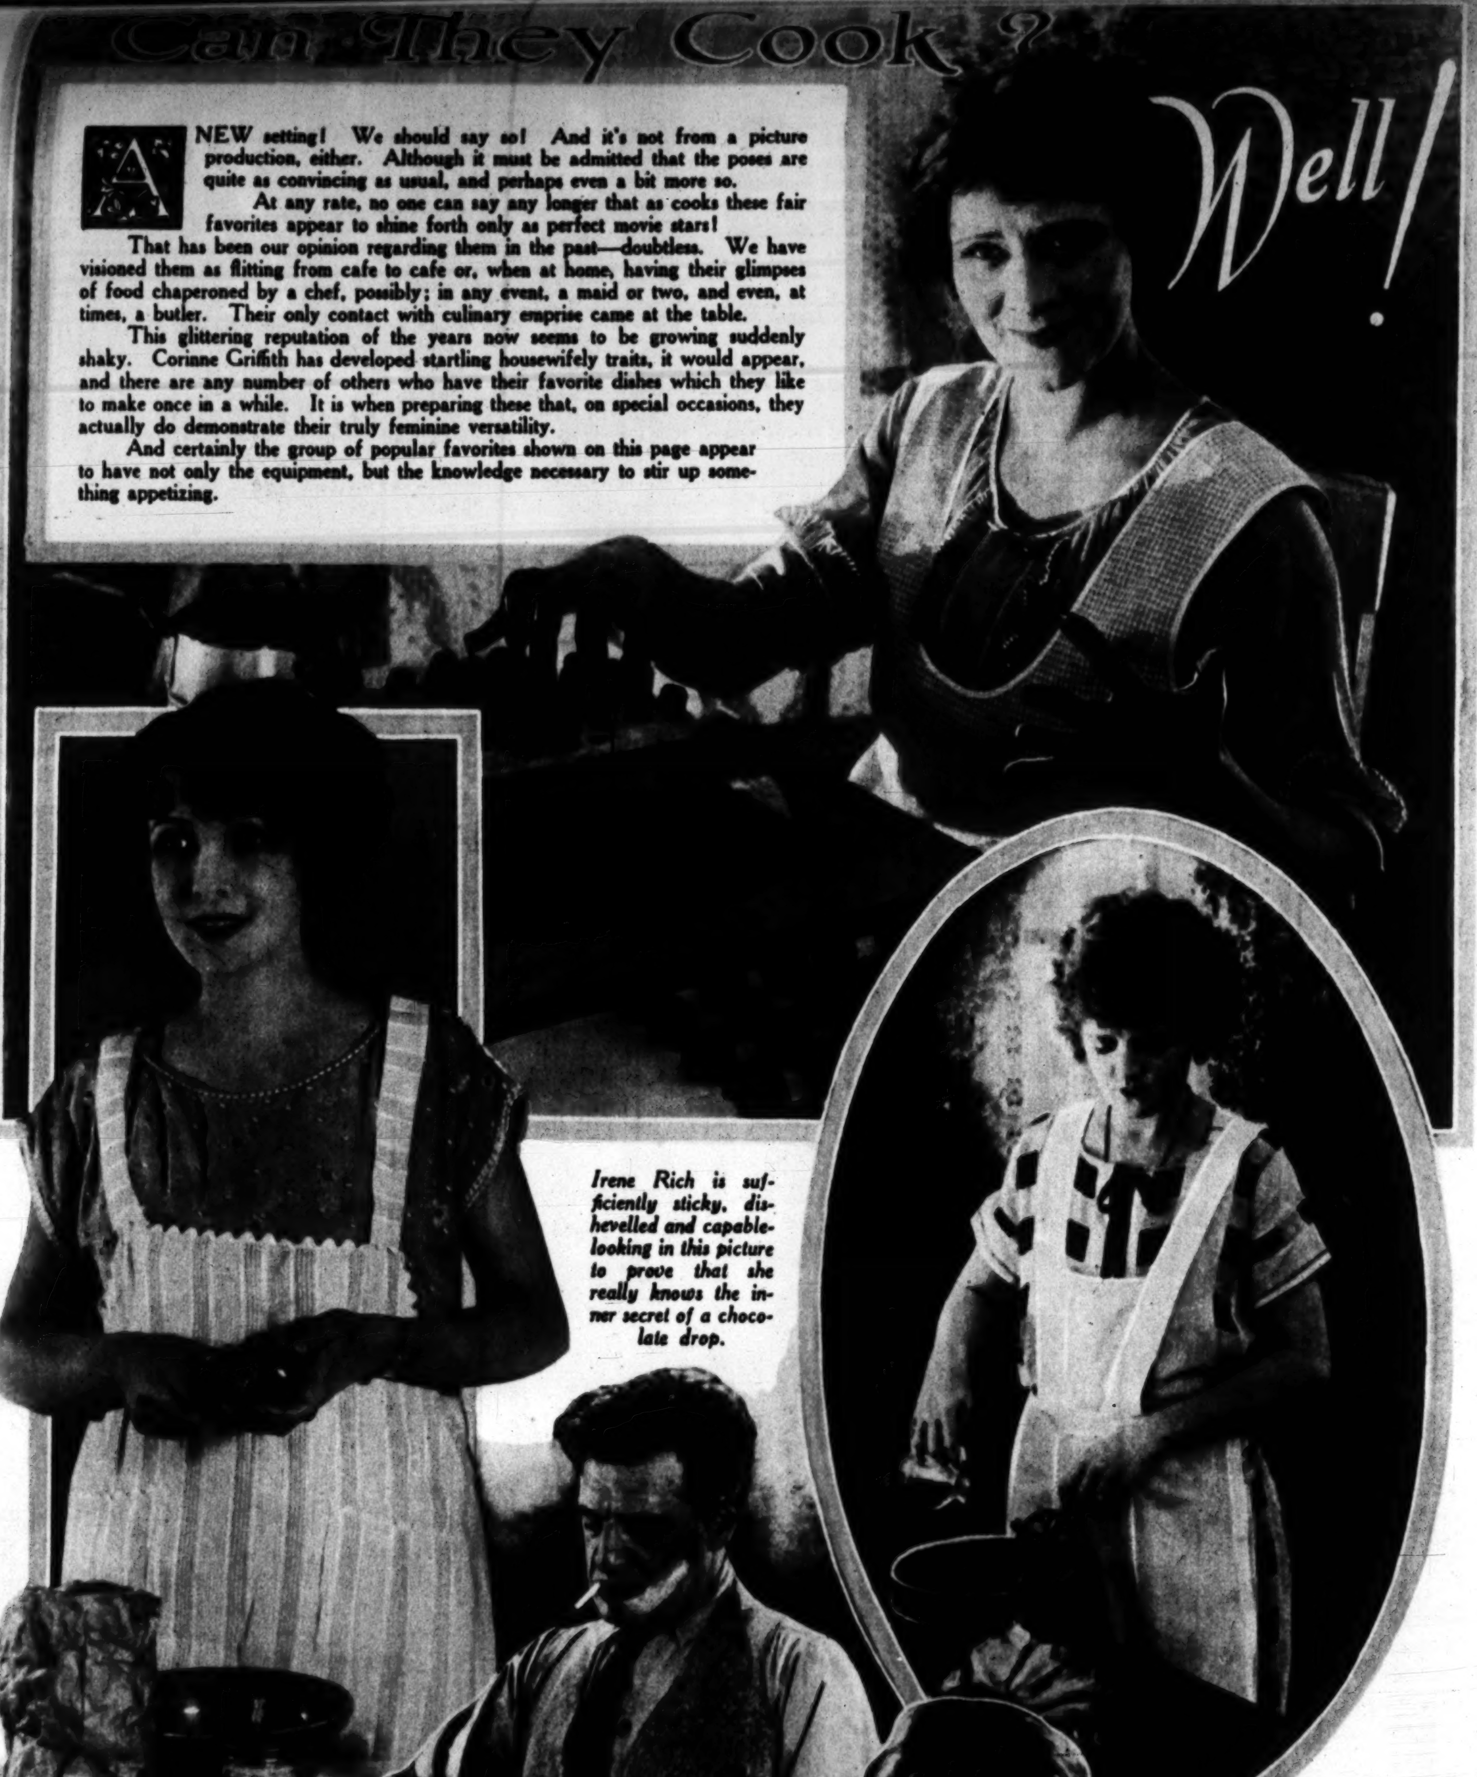
A NEW setting! We should say so! And it's not from a picture production, either. Although it must be admitted that the poses are quite as convincing as usual, and perhaps even a bit more so.

At any rate, no one can say any longer that as cooks these fair favorites appear to shine forth only as perfect movie stars!

That has been our opinion regarding them in the past—doubtless. We have visioned them as flitting from cafe to cafe or, when at home, having their glimpses of food chaperoned by a chef, possibly; in any event, a maid or two, and even, at times, a butler. Their only contact with culinary emprise came at the table.

This glittering reputation of the years now seems to be growing suddenly shaky. Corinne Griffith has developed startling housewifely traits, it would appear, and there are any number of others who have their favorite dishes which they like to make once in a while. It is when preparing these that, on special occasions, they actually do demonstrate their truly feminine versatility.

And certainly the group of popular favorites shown on this page appear to have not only the equipment, but the knowledge necessary to stir up something appetizing.



Irene Rich is sufficiently sticky, dishevelled and capable-looking in this picture to prove that she really knows the inner secret of a chocolate drop.

From the expression on Miss Dupont's face — preparing mayonnaise has taken on the aspect of a huge and serious endeavor.

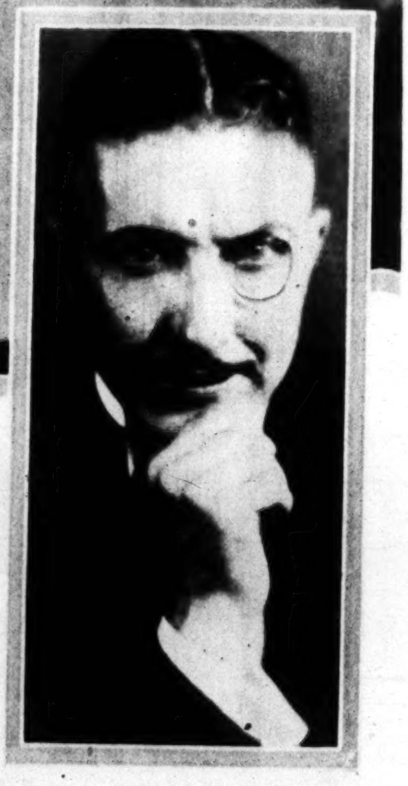
Whether Claire Windsor knows how to peel a tomato or not—she certainly makes an attractive impression. Walter Long, with cigarette, pancake flour and determined grasp of his spoon, recalls man in the aggregate unexpectedly forced to devise his own meal.

Even the busiest of picture stars might be tempted by Pauline Starke's present occupation—decorating ginger-bread dolls with sugar lace.

The Hegira [illegible] Again

William J. Kelly chiefly has won attention in stage plays given at the Writer's Club since residing in Hollywood, but he also appears in "Parisian Nights" and "Proud Flesh" on the screen.

The debut of Frances Howard is one of the few lately bringing a prominent actress of the spoken drama into a leading role in a film feature.



Hurrah for Trixie! Miss Friganza is now taking another venture in pictures, and should doubtless materially help the comedy. Though, as things go, she may surprise by turning out to be a serious actress instead.

Roy Giusti's name is so difficult to pronounce that he is to be renamed Roy D'Arcy in "The Merry Widow." It is somewhat problematical, however, if the question of easy pronunciation has been solved by this transition of cognomen.

FROM the stage comes the screen's best talent. This used to be an axiom in the films; today it doesn't mean a thing.

The number of newcomers to pictures who have really attained a big place in the glow of footlight and spotlight amounts to a very small percentage now. At least, this is true as regards leads. The only one in this group, for example, is Frances Howard, who appeared in "The Swan."

With character players it is different. A large number of them are still in transit from the stage. Their maturity of experience is valuable. It adds a telling expressiveness, in many instances, to minor roles.

Lately the group has been somewhat augmented. Chiefly, the additions run strongly to type. The most versatile herewith shown are perhaps William J. Kelly and Roy Giusti, who played in Los Angeles in "The Clinging Vine" musical show. Trixie Friganza is bound to imbue with comedy any role in which she appears. And in his way George Ali is an actor of varied attainments, because he not only appeared as the dog, Nana, in "Peter Pan," but also doubled as the crocodile.

George Ali's laurels as an animal impersonator were all gained before the footlights, but he is likely to be in some demand for the films since "Peter Pan."

So this is Paris

STREETS lined with cobblestones . . . flower girls . . . shuttered shops . . . funny stout gendarmes . . . glittering furniture . . . frock coats and dapper mustaches.

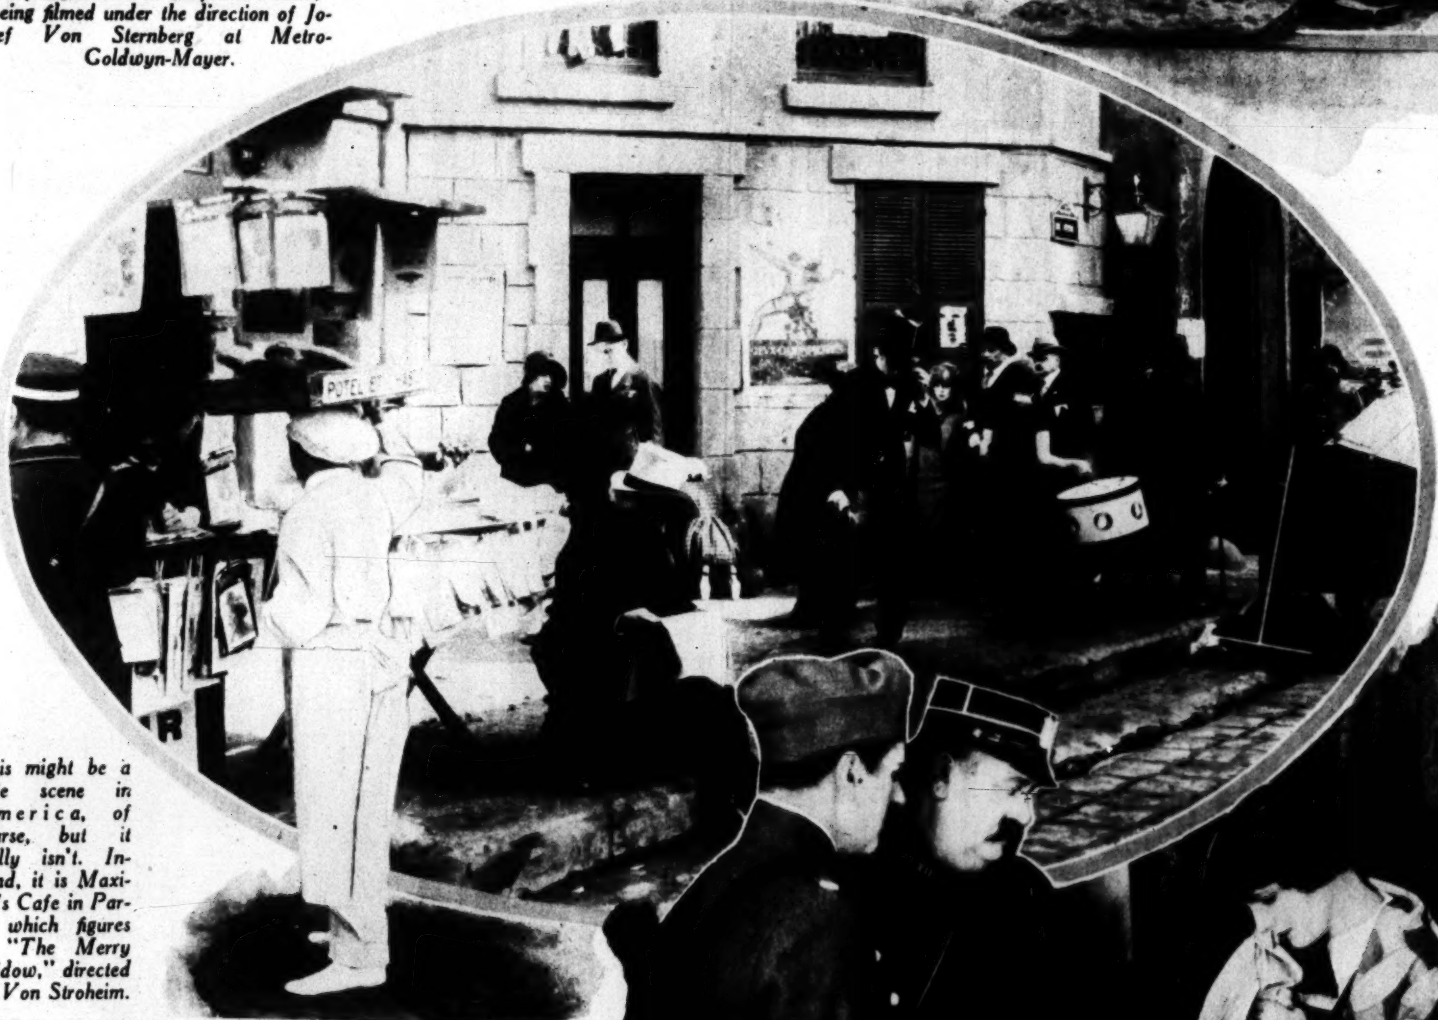
Ah, mes amis, you are right. It is Paris! Paris indoors—Paris outdoors—Paris, at any rate, as it is to be discovered, especially right now in pictures. And, although the scenes are created on the set in the various studios, there is a convincing air of accuracy about most of them which makes it all very real and—as they say on the boulevard—atmospheric.

In "Kiss Me Again," the Lubitsch picture now being filmed at Warner Brothers, the ornate, glittering chandelier, the furniture, men in frock coats, and Willard Louis decorated and adorned with a mustache and a goatee, suggest forcibly, if only through minor details, the French setting of the production.

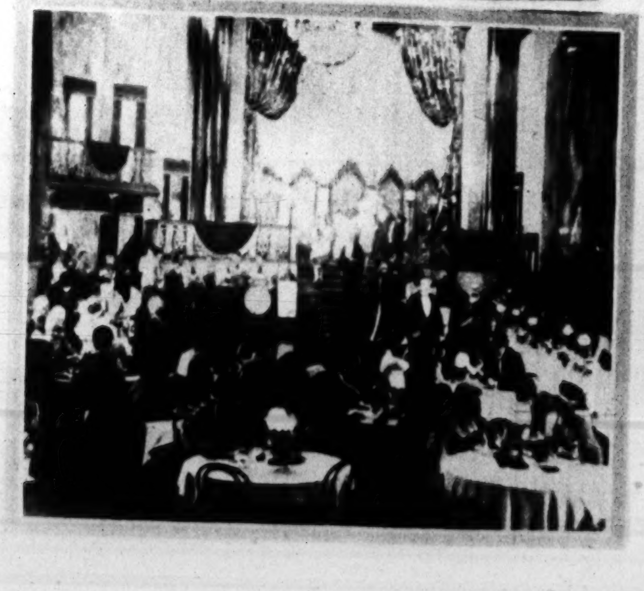
"The Exquisite Sinner," with Conrad Nagel, carries the memories of Paris in the street scenes as well as interiors. In "A Dressmaker From Paris" it needs but a glimpse of a fat gendarme to evoke a truly Gallic note.

"In "The Merry Widow," Maxime s, the famous French cafe, is reproduced with remarkable accuracy by Von Strohelm, who knows his Paris thoroughly. In fact, Von Stroheim, Lubitsch and Paul Bern (who is directing "A Dressmaker From Paris") are familiar enough with France to make their scenes all breathe authenticity.

Mais oui! In this scene from "Kiss Me Again," the Lubitsch picture, France is recognized in the distinctive furnishings, and the garb of the men.



From the posters, the magazine stand, the cobblestones—everything—the suggestion of Paris is recreated in this glimpse from "The Exquisite Sinner," being filmed under the direction of Josef Von Sternberg at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.



This might be a cafe scene in America, of course, but it really isn't. Instead, it is Maxime's Cafe in Paris, which figures in "The Merry Widow," directed by Von Stroheim.

Every French picture has its American soldier and French gendarme. So this view of "The Dressmaker From Paris," starring Leatrice Joy, has elements Parisian.
